Mr. Eastwood, of the Ontario Bank, moved the second resolution, viz:—"That it is highly expedient and desirable that a Young Men's Christian Association be organized in this town, forthwith."

This resolution was seconded by D. W. Dumble, Esq., in very appropriate terms and supported by the Rev. Mr McDonnell, of the Old Kirk.

Mr. William Cameron moved the third resolution, seconded by D. Pentland, Esq., and supported by the Rev. J. M. Roger,—"That a Committee be now appointed to prepare a Constitution and By-Laws, and to report at the next meeting. The Committee to consist of Messrs. D. W. Dumble, W. J. Mason, D. S. Eastwood, T. M. Fairbairn, D. Pentland, S. Balmer, J. W. Dunnet, I. Robinson, W. Cassels, J. Stratton, J. A. Hall, J. W. Gilmour and W. Cameron, the latter gentleman to act as convener.

The meeting then, on motion of Mr. Eastwood, seconded by Mr. Stratton, adjourned till Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, then to meet to receive the report of the committee, and to organize.

The committee met immediately and after discussing some matters connected with a Constitution, By-laws and Rules of Order agreed to meet on Saturday evening half an hour before the time of the general meeting.

A very pleasing feature of the whole proceedings, the great unanimity with which all the denominations enter into this affair, and it is a favorable omen of certain success. Let Christians pray that the association may prosper.

The French man Seymour, with whom was found the numerous stolen articles, and who was tried last week was sentenced to three years in the Provincial Penitentiary. His wife escaped through the legal quibble that she, being his wife, was supposed to receive the goods through fear of her husband, and therefore as his wife not guilty of receiving stolen goods. The sentenced man considers it a great hardship that he must suffer while the brother who received the most of the money and the goods, is out of the way, and it is much to be regretted that they are not together. When the constable went to Belleville, the bird had flown. Mr. Loch, however, got some of his fire—picked them up as best he could. It is well that Seymour was found out, as it will remove the blame that otherwise would have fallen on innocent parties.

LOYAL ORANGE ASSOCIATION

At the last regular meeting of Victoria Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 196, held in their Lodge Room, December 2nd, 1868, the following members were elected officers for the ensuing year:—

Bro. J. W. Miller, Master.
" Wm. F. Armstrong, Deputy Master.
" Robert Lannister, Secretary.
" Charles Cooke, Treasurer.
" James Agnew, Chaplain.
" John Henry, 1st Committee.
" Charles Sairey, 2nd Committee.
" Richard Jiss, 3rd Committee.
" John Thompson, 4th Committee.
" John Dexter, 5th Committee.

Also, at a regular meeting of Prince of Wales Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 484, held in their Lodge Room, December 9th, 1868, the following members were elected officers for the ensuing year:—

Bro. J. B. McWilliams, Master.
" John Smith, Deputy Master.
" Maxwell Hall, Secretary.
" Wm. Brownscombe, Treasurer.
" Robert Weir, Chaplain.
" R. Pallett, 1st Committee.
" George Stanton, 2nd Committee.
" J. H. McWilliams, 3rd Committee.
" John Stanton, 4th Committee.
" William Green, 5th Committee.

COMPLIMENTARY CONCERT.

We understand that there is to be a Concert on Monday evening next, complimentary to, and for the benefit of Mr. Rackett, our excellent Bandmaster. We commend this concert to our townspeople; we think that they ought, and hope that they will turn out and fill the hall upon that occasion. Mr. Rackett is a professional musician, and judging by the proficiency that the Band has already attained to, considering the short time they have been organized, he must be a most efficient Bandmaster. The Band fund will not admit of a greater salary than four hundred dollars per annum being paid. Some of Mr. Rackett's friends, feeling that that was a small amount on which to maintain his large family, have gotten up this concert to supplement it. The concert will be of a varied character, the principal lady and gentlemen amateurs of the town having kindly volunteered their assistance. Let there be a full house so that Mr. Rackett may receive a generous Christmas box.

A Clever Thief.—On Thursday last a man whose respect for the 8th commandment was not strong enough to prevent a breach of it, took a web of cloth from Mr. M. Galvin's sleigh while Mr. Galvin was in the post office enquiring after some letters, the act was under the light of day in the presence of the Sheriff and some others who were standing close by at the time, but imagined the man was taking his own cloth, he went about it so coolly. Mr. Galvin had to go and get more cloth and allow the unknown thief to enjoy his ill-gotten gains. What is also very remarkable, this occurred about 10 minutes or so after the Judge had passed sentence on the French man Seymour, on denning him to three years in Kingston for theft. Neither the fear of God nor of the law prevents some men from perpetrating crime.

Mr. Costello, of Enniskmore, lost a span of horses on Friday in Mud Lake. He was crossing with a load of 40 buscels of wheat, when both horses and sleigh broke through. The weight of the load prevented the party from saving his horses. We understand that afterwards the wheat was got out.—This should be a warning to others not to venture on the lakes until the ice is well formed. Many of the accidents that occur are the result of too much venturesomeness on the part of those who live near the Lakes.

A Father and Son Drowned.—We learned that last week on one of the back Lakes, a father and his son were crossing on the ice when it gave way and let the son through, the father immediately went through also, but laboured for some time to get out again but all in vain. An axe that he had with him when he left the settlement was found on the ice, near by where they whore lost.—Our informer was unable to gain the names of the unfortunate parties.

Below is the list of those who received Certificates at the late Examination in Peterboro.

Aaron Maguire, 1st B, 2 years.
Wm. O'Brien, 2nd B, 2 years.
Walter Keswick, 1st C, 1 year.
J. J. Middleton, 2nd B, 2 years.
Jas. Armstrong, 2nd B, 2 years.
John Mason, 2nd C, 2 years.
John Murphy, 2nd C, 2 years.
Samuel Sherin, 3rd, Six months.
J. T. Whyte, 2nd C, 2 years.
D. Cummings, 3rd, 1 year.
Wm. Smith, 3rd, 1 year.
Mary Clark, 2nd B, 2 years.
Julia Boswell, 2nd C, 1 year.
C. B. Sanderson, 2nd F, 2 years.
Sarah Jane Donel, 2nd C, 2 years.
Margaret Britton, 2nd B, 1 year.
Jamie McDonald, 3rd, 1 year.
Margaret Mair, 3rd, 1 year.

Two were unable to obtain any, and three candidates were under age unless engaged as assistants, viz:—Miss Mary Jane Smith, Miss Ford, and Miss Borrowman. Miss Smith particularly did well.

Lynch Law at Indianapolis.—Our Readers will perhaps remember the Rose and Anderson case, in which three Rose brothers and one Anderson were extradited on the charge of robbing the express in Indiana. They were given up to the American authorities and lodged in New Albany Jail, to await their trial. On the 12th instant, about 60 men, a gang of regulators, entered the jail before day-light, overpowered the jail authorities, took the four unfortunates and hung them just beside the jail waiting till they were sure they were dead and then left. The prisoners, no doubt, were noted robbers, but what security of life or property can there be in a country where such outrages are perpetrated and allowed to go unpunished?

A Board of Examiners for Masters and Mates of vessels is about to be established at Quebec and Halifax, for the Dominion. Heretofore they have had to go to England for that purpose, the cost of which deterred many. The Quebec Board of Trade is about to lay the matter before the Minister of Marine at Ottawa, and also before the Imperial Board of Trade in England.

Correction.—In the advertisement of Farm and Town property to be sold on the 24th instant, there was an error last week in the first parcel. It should read the West half (east west) of Lot No. 29 in the 11th concession of Otonabee. It is corrected in this issue.

Soiree at Springville on Christmas Day.—The annual Soiree in connexion with the Comde Presbyterian Church will be on Christmas day. Tea will be served at 6 o'clock, and [illegible] The [illegible] Speeches will be delivered by [illegible] and Rev. Mr. Roger. The Committee of Management [illegible] the Soiree [illegible] of Committee [illegible] Tickets [illegible]

Temperance Soiree.—We have been requested to state that the British Templars of this Town intend having a Soiree in the Music Hall, on the 29th inst., under the patronage of the County Lodge which will be in session here that afternoon. After tea, we understand that several Reverend gentlemen will deliver addresses.

The communication of "Another Ratepayer," in this week unavoidably crowded out. It is in type, but the holiday business compels us to delay its appearance till next issue. We trust the parties will have patience for another week.

Soiree.—We have been requested to state that a Soiree will be held in the Baptist Chapel communication line, on the evening of New Year's day. The proceeds to go towards repairing the chapel.

We learn that the Rev. Mr. Punshon is expected here to deliver a lecture on the evening of Wednesday, January 6th. We are promised full particulars for our next issue.

Township Clerks would confer a great favor by sending us the result of the nominations on Monday.

A man named John Haag, was executed at Walkerton, on the 15th inst., for the murder of one Stephen Neubecker. To the young men present he said:—"Whiskey is the beginning of all evil, and I hope that you will take warning before it is too late," and again, "especially shun and keep away from whiskey, fast young women, and the United States.

Spain.—The insurgents made a rising at Cadiz, but in a short time were dispersed. It is supposed to be the work of the ex-Queen and the Jesuits. It can hardly be expected that the revolution can be effected without blood.

BELMONT COUNCIL.

The Council met according to appointment. The Reeve in the chair. All the members present except Mr. Burges.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and signed.

The Reeve informed the Council of W. Burges, Esq., being elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late A. Wade, Esq.

On motion of Mr. Young, Mr. B. Holcomb was allowed to purchase the timber on the allowance for road between lots 10 and 11 in the 2nd concession, and that he be allowed until January, 1871, to remove the same, in case the said road is not required for travel before that time, and that the Reeve sign this resolution.

Mr. Thomas Davidson reported that he and Mr. John Maguire have performed a stipulated amount of labor in opening the 7th concession line, and that more work is yet required to complete the same.

On motion of Mr. Preston, the claim of Mr. Hulett for compensation for a road was laid over till next session of Council.

On motion of Mr. Dafoe, Mr. Thomas Davidson was instructed to make 20 rods of crossway on the 7th concession line, the same to be paid for when funds are available.

On motion of Mr. Dafoe, Mr. T. Menzies' bill for $6.50 was ordered to be paid.

A By-law appointing the place for holding the Municipal election for 1867, was finally passed.

Several bills were presented for work performed in repairing roads, and were ordered to be paid.

The Clerk was instructed to make a reduction in Mr. Simon Sixsmith's taxes, of $5.26, in consequence of a mistake having been in his assessment.

On motion of Mr. Preston, it was resolved that parties claiming compensation for lands taken for roads will not be paid until good and sufficient titles to such lands are produced.

An order was given on the Treasurer for $4.50 for sessional allowance of the late J. A. Wilde, Esq., who was a member of Council.

On motion of Mr. Young, Mr. G. W. Holcomb was ordered to be paid for opening a road at his place by removing his fence, during the winter.

The Council adjourned till Saturday, 2nd January, 1869.

S. A. Order of Good Templars.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—As you have always taken a lively interest in Temperance matters, and through the medium of your valuable paper, done a great deal towards the advancement of the cause in Peterborough and its vicinity: It was therefore with much pleasure I saw you appointed chairman of the very large and respectable Temperance meeting lately addressed by the Agents of the Alliance in the Wesleyan Methodist School Room,—a meeting which deserves more than a passing notice, it being the best attended and most influential Temperance meeting I ever had the pleasure of attending in Peterborough, which shows that the people are beginning to take a lively interest in this very important movement.

Honorable mention was made of your kindness at our late Grand Lodge Session, for publishing the very lengthy proceedings of our County meetings on several occasions free of charge, and our County Lodge has more than once returned you thanks for the very excellent manner in which you have printed its notices of meetings, &c., and for the trouble you have always taken to accommodate the Lodges under its jurisdiction, in every way that lay in your power. Our Order, as a whole, throughout the province of Ontario, is very prosperous, as we are now organizing many new Lodges—five Lodges having been organized since the Grand Lodge Session,—in addition to which, the Prince Albert Lodge, Peterborough, which had gone over to the British Templars, was on Thursday evening the 26th ult., organized afresh under the broad olds of the British American Order of Good Templars.

When we see our Order so prosperous in other parts of the province it may reasonably be asked one nothing be done in the Town of Peterborough? In this Town of Four Thousand Inhabitants, cannot the Unity Lodge be again restored to its former standing and influence? Or will it be allowed to wither away and fall to the ground? These questions are of interest to every British American, every British American parent, every British American Good Templar, and to every citizen of the Town of Peterborough. Who will come forward and aid us in this work?

I remain, Mr. Editor,

Yours truly,

A British American Good Templar.

Peterborough, 9th Dec., 1868.

Our Toronto Correspondence.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—As a [illegible] from the [illegible] the [illegible] of the eighty-two statesmen, who for a consideration assume themselves for a short period each day in the long, low house on Front street west.

Previous to the frosty weather which has recently set in, a walk through the streets of this city was not attended with much comfort, it was not alone that they were rocking with mud and filth, which to some extent was unavoidable, but dilapidated sidewalks and treacherous crossings were the rule and almost every street, had to an extent that would not be tolerated even in a town of small pretensions; but thanks to Jack Frost who has relieved the disciples of Macadam the streets are now in a tolerable condition.

A large quantity of grain finds its way still to this city by farmer's teams; but one misses the long lines of well-fed teams which used to wend their way down Young and Queen streets with enormous loads, of [illegible] in the good old times prior to the era of railways. The heavy hauling of those days is now performed by the iron horse, whose shrill shriek is constantly heard by night and day, and instead of the ponderous lumber waggon of former years, farmers now drive to town in their comfortable spring waggons or carriages.

People at a distance can scarcely realise how little interest is taken in the proceedings of our legislators. Few trouble them for tickets of admission; even at the opening there was but a small assemblage, and although Governor Howland would have given much for a cheer, or other sign of enthusiasm or mark of respect, yet it wouldn't come. It is evident that we are rapidly becoming a matter-of-fact sort of people and that we are indifferent to tinsel and glitter and only take things for what they are worth. The members of the House on the whole are a rather decent looking lot of fellows. It is true that the physique of some do not indicate the possession of very brilliant mental powers, but, with a few exceptions, as a lot they are passable. On the ministerial side the Attorney General is both head and tail; the other members of his cabinet and his supporters as well, being merely used as a sort of ballast and to fill up space. It is not that his associates are deficient in abilities, for one at least certainly is not. For nearly 30 years the soul of J. S. McDonald has yearned for power, but like a phantom it has always escaped him. It is true, that in the political storm of 1861 he boarded the ship of State, but after a brief period was forced to yield the helm to other hands. On, on, however, has been his motto, like a red Indian pursuing his prey, and allowing nothing to stand between him and his long coveted goal. Undoubtedly, if the spirit of his aboriginal ancestor could but witness what is passing, it would regard with grim pleasure the pertinacious efforts he is making to obtain the mastery over his fellows, and all opportunity to enable him to be revenged on real or imaginary foes. It may seem strange but it is a fact well understood here both in and out of the House, that the thorn thrust of the Premier are constantly occupied in devising schemes to scourge those who have in any manner crossed his path. A railway company is punished by granting a charter to a rival line. Acts of Parliament are passed and others repealed, not so much for the public good as to afford the Premier an opportunity to "trip up" somebody, and by this means gratify an old grudge. True to the blood that is in him, it is said he has never forgiven an injury or a slight, and for a certainty, judging by the effect produced on him, he must have received many. Thin and wan, almost to transparency, he appears tenacious of life and office, only that he may give vent to the gall and wormwood of his vindictive nature. His colleagues and supporters too, at times are made the subjects of his venom. Indeed he seems to take a malicious pleasure in openly insulting and humiliating them. Matt. Cameron was made to do penance in sackcloth and ashes anent the Whalen affair. Richards is compelled to advance and back up like a well trained mule, repudiating to-day the acts of yesterday, and the flagellations others have received has had such a salutary effect on cunning John Carling that he takes good care not to expose his knuckles to a rap, and is therefore as obedient as a school boy.—When expostulated with and threatened with the defection of his conservative supporters on account of his treatment of them, the reply of the Premier is, "they may go to h—" "they dare not do it;" "if they attempt it I will hand the Government over to the Grits;" I don't thank them for their supports;" "I am like the fly leaf between the Old and New Testaments, they cannot do without me." Oh, Ontario, people of Ontario, by your petty squabbles see what a petty position you have placed yourselves in. Guided, controlled and disgraced as you are by a frantic old man whose acts border on weakness. It is but justice, however, to many of the leading conservatives in the House, to say that they are weary and sick of this sort of thing. To such men as Cumberland, Shaw, Rykert, McCall, Monteith and many others who might be named, the crazy and overbearing insolence of the Premier is becoming intolerable, and they long for relief from it, come how it may. The restiveness of his refractory supporters is a source of sore annoyance to the Attorney General, and the public may be assured that it will tax his cunning nature to the utmost to hold together much longer the discordant elements composing the combination abortion. His supporters were more than usually obstreperous on Tuesday evening of last week and let their inner complacency in the lurch, and a pitiable spectacle he presented. It was on the occasion of moving the second reading of Mr. J. S. McDonald's bill for the establishment of central prisons. After going into committee, a point of order was raised by Mr. Blake which was referred to the chairman, who decided against the Attorney General. Not satisfied with this he appealed to the House and on a vote found himself in a minority of thirty to thirty-four. Sandfield looked aghast at the result of this vote, and the pale face of Matt. Cameron became paler still. On going again into committee a fresh point was raised by Mr. Blake in that cruelly logical style so peculiar to him, and so clearly and convincingly did he put it, that half a score arose one after another on the ministerial side and declared their intention to vote against their leader. By an effort of his well-trained will, Sandfield tried to look bold and essayed to argue the point; but the terse, logical and masterly reply of Blake fell on his amazed senses like a thunder bolt and crest-fallen and silent he writhed into his seat. Once again he arose, and after casting a yearning glance at his former friends on the other side of the House, turned to his supporters and stretching forth his thin, bony hand informed them with a scowl on his countenance and lips compressed that if the vote about to be taken was adverse, he would resign immediately. Matt. Cameron followed, and in a quiver of excitement made a similar declaration. It should be one purpose however, the refractory ministerialists were inexorable, and it became evident, to use a vulgarism, that somebody must cave. At this juncture Sandfield left his seat and the debate was prolonged, evidently to gain time, at length an arrangement was effected, and what an arrangement! It was nothing less than an agreement on the part of the Premier, right in the face of [illegible] back down from his [illegible] altogether the objectionable [illegible] including the members for Peterboro, but must defer till my next.

X.

Mr. Carnegie and the College Question.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Your contemporary seems not a little put about with regard to the action of the protege in the College question, and it is no doubt done much hard fact after having expended so much talent to the extent of six or seven closely written columns in defence of the enthusiasm of the guests the result should be that Mr. Carnegie should be found recording his vote in favour of a resolution declaring that—"this House firmly adheres to the view that Denominational Colleges should not be supported by the State."

But as the interests of your excellent Member" are of much more importance in the eyes of the Review than even those of the unfortunate Colleges it rushes to his defence with a degree of valour (not to say rashness) worthy of a better cause. The main ground of defence is that Mr. Blake's amendment was less objectionable than that of Mr. Rykert's. Now, though ordinary mortals who have not the superior powers of discernment possessed by our friend of the Review, would fail to see very much distinction between a motion declaring that "this House is still of the opinion that no College or educational institution under the control of any religious denomination should receive aid from the public treasury," and the motion of Mr. Blake they would also fail to see why such a noted champion of these Colleges should of necessity vote for either amendment and not for the original motion. But, pays our friend, Mr. Blake's amendment "was in the line of the principle contended for by Mr. Carnegie at the election, and contended for by him to this day." How long the line and how straight and at what distance apart on the said line, straight or curved, the two principles are situated is not so clear. As our worthy friend has not been long amongst us and has probably to take his opinions on this point at second hand, we can excuse him for supposing that what ought to have been Mr. Carnegie's principles were those actually enunciated by him, but if he would refer to the report of the debate on this question last session he would discover what really were the principles contended for by "our excellent Member." Mr. Carnegie said "he felt that he would fail in his duty to his constituents and to himself were he not to enter his earnest protest against the policy of the government. This may appear an easy way for ministers to solve the question of sectarian grants, as they are called, but he could tell them and the House that this is a question that came up fair and square in his own contest. His opponent came out in his address—"No grants to Denominational Institutions;" but such were the feelings of his supporters on this question that he was compelled to say that if elected he would vote for the continuance of these grants"

How nobly "our excellent Member" has redeemed his pledges on this question, and how bravely he has stood by the breach in defence of the devoted Colleges. We have learned by his vote for Mr. Blake's resolution, and no doubt his supporters by this time have also learned how much dependence they can put in a representative who on the only question in which he was pledged so basely deserted his trust.

Yours, &c.,

X.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—As I notice you hold a second letter from "Another Ratepayer," to-day, I will delay replying to Mercator's laboured jumble of labour verbiage, until I can dispose of both together.

"Mercator" is very free in using other persons names, but he is careful that his own should not appear, still, I cannot object to his nom de plume, as it is so suggestive and appropriate to the man. Not being a Latin scholar, I turn to Webster, and find that the meaning of the word "Mercator" is An Inventor.

W. GLUXTON.

The natives in some parts of Herefordshire are not celebrated for their urbanity, or their happy choice of expressions. A lady whilst riding unattended in the neighborhood of L——, approached a closed gate at the entrance to the park, on which a rustic was seated, discussing his bread and bacon with the help of a large knife. The lady hesitated about accosting the lad; but to her great surprise and pleasure he jumped down, and opening wide the gate, allowed her passage through. Charmed with this unexpected civility, she bestowed sixpence on him, remarking at the same time, 'I am sure my boy, from your behaviour, that you cannot be a native of these parts;' but she was shocked by the answer, 'Then I'm a loyer (liar)—I am.'

It is related of Lord Cecil that during a visit to the Townships surrounding Ottawa he came across a poor widow who was in danger of losing her farm, it being mortgaged for $100. He presented her with a cheque for the amount, and thereby secured a full release.

Our Fortifications.—It is now nearly fifty years since our fortifications have been looked after in any way, we think it is now high time and that it behoves our government to put them in a proper state of defence, and have our Lakes and Rivers well protected, "one ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure; but while we are protecting ourselves against a foreign enemy we should not forget to fortify ourselves against bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, pains in the back and side, colic, cholera morbus, the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is the most effectual medicine. Sold by all Dealers in Medicine, at 25 cents per bottle.

Twenty years experience in using Bryant's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or extreme exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryant's Pulmonic Wafers, ex Cough and Voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25cts per box.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical "philosophy;" the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished in Anatomy what is at last accomplished in Hygiene by the Great Rheumatic Remedy, which has so often shocked the hatred of those long diseases of the throat which imprudence and exposure have united to make so common.

Jacobs' Rheumatic Liquid Cures Lameness.

IAMATOLOGIA!

At a Public Meeting held in Buffalo a few days since Ex-President Fillmore is reported to have said, that he would do nothing to excite the ire or provoke the hostility of his Canadian neighbours, they were a worthy people, and were for the most part friendly; an immediate outbreak was not to be anticipated, still he would advise his fellow citizens to heed the lessons which history had taught all continents—that of peace prepare for war," hence it would be well to have our Northern frontiers manned.

Is it not also well to fortify our Northern frontiers? and while doing so would it not be well to thereby conceive against the attacks of rheumatism, coughs, colds, cholics, bowel complaints, and all other diseases peculiar to this climate by keeping constantly on hand the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," Can be had of Horses Saved—Thousands of horses have been saved during the past year, and [illegible] to "Darley's Canadian Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." [illegible] extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half so successful in giving such universal satisfaction, it cannot be excelled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who are troubled with Heaves, Coughs, Distemper, Yellow Water, or Galls on Horses. Our men all say it acts like magic."

IAMATOLOGIA!

J. W. HEWITT,
Foreman for American, Wells, Fargo's and Haraden's Express.

"The Sprain of my daughter's ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your cele rated Mustang Liniment.

ED. HEALY."

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1868.

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on men

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a complaint of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Flatulency or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, sprains, Diptheria, pains in the side, joints and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a popularity among households and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an efficient and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, chelera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Keapt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, trembling coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and self-administered to the child drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N. B.—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 23

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the congealable lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the dilated vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. HURD, Successor to HURD & Co.,
Maiden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.
NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canadas
PRICE SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Keapt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH OF IT what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in from fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICE:—218 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October 29th, 1868. 44-1yr

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all Diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and its formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
37 Sole Agents for Canada.

New Advertisements.

HEIFER STRAYED.

DRIVEN out of the pasture in the Township of Harvey, some time in the fall, a year old Heifer (red). Such information as will lead to her recovery will be thankfully received.

S. NELSON.

Lakefield, Dec. 16, 1868. 51

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864,

AND AMENDMENTS THERETO.

THE Creditors of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Cassels, in the Town of Peterborough, on THURSDAY, the THIRTY-FIRST day of DECEMBER, A.D. 1868, at Twelve o'clock, noon, to receive statements of his affairs, and to name an Assignee.

Domicile of Debtor, Town of Peterborough

Dated this Sixteenth day of December, A. D. 1868.

JAMES STEPHENS.

51-3in

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicit the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS.

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.

Account and Blank Books.

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy.

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS!

The subscribers beg to intimate that having made considerable alterations in their premises, they are now prepared to show an entire assortment of

FANCY GOODS!

Which for quality and richness of design surpass any they offered heretofore. We cordially invite all who are admirers of this class of Goods to call and examine our assortment, feeling assured it will afford them pleasure in doing so.

PART OF OUR STOCK CONSISTS OF

Very fine London made Jewelry, of elegant designs, also Rich Gem Rings, Ear Rings, Breast Pins, Chains, Lockets, Pencil-cases, Pen Holders, Electro-Plated Silver Ware, Spoons, &c., Fancy Cabinet and Leather Ware, and a large variety of London and Parisian Fancy Goods.

Toys! Toys! Toys!

FOR SANTA CLAUS.

We are prepared to show a large assortment of Durable, Ingenious, Mechanical Toys, Magnetic Toys, Play Toys, Games, Dolls in all varieties.

J. R. ORMOND & Co.,
December 16, 1868. 51-tf Hunter Street.

PRESENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Russell's Watches! Sewill's Watches! Waltham Watches!

JOHN McCLELLAND,

WATCH-MAKER AND JEWELLER,
GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO',

Has much pleasure in announcing to the public, that he has on hand a large and well selected stock of

GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES,

By the above and other eminent makers. Also

GOLD CHAINS, BROOCHES, EAR RINGS, FINGER RINGS, Lockets, Pins, &c.,

Of the Finest Quality and Workmanship. Also FANCY GOODS, &c, for the season, at the Lowest Prices.

Peterborough, December 17, 1868. 51

TOYS FOR THE HOLIDAYS

If you want something nice for a Christmas Box,

CALL AT

GOODWIN'S, GEORGE STREET,

Where you will find the Largest and Cheapest Assortment of

GERMAN, AMERICAN TIN AND CANDY TOYS

In Town, bought expressly to supply the wants of the little ones during the Holidays.

☞ Don't forget the place, ☜

Dixon's Block, George street, Peterborough.

Peterborough, December 17, 1868. 51-3in

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting. Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.

Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.

December 16, 1868. 51

$20 Reward.

THE undersigned will give the above reward to any person who will give information that will lead to the conviction of the party who took my Ram from the field and killed him.

W. WEBSTER.

Otonabee, Dec. 16, 1868. 51

FOR SALE.

A GOOD LOT, in a beautiful situation, in the Village of Hastings. Asphodel. For further particulars apply to

H. SEDGWICK, Hastings,
or C. ARMSTRONG, Peterboro.

December 16, 1868. 51

The subscriber offers for sale a large stock of

PLUM, POUND, CITRON AND RAISIN CAKES!

XXX OYSTERS,

APPLES, FRESH FIGS,

SUPERIOR

Table Raisins, Nuts, Lemons, &c.

Also, a very large stock of

Confectionery, Sugar Toys,

And Nick Nacks generally suitable for the season.

GERMAN TOYS AT COST.

A. HALL,
Confectioner, George st.
Peterboro, Dec. 16, 1868. 51-3in

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

CHANCERY SALE OF Farm Property!

IN ASPHODEL.

IN pursuance of the order of the Court of Chancery for Ontario, made in a cause of HELLEWELL vs. CARNEW, revived as HELLEWELL vs. ROBERTSON, will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, at the Court House, in the Town of Peterborough, on

Friday, 8th of January, 1869,

at Twelve o'clock, noon, by the undersigned Local Master of the said Court, or his Clerk, in two parcels, the following Farm Property:

PARCEL ONE.

The South part of Lot number 18 in the 12th concession of Asphodel, containing sixty acres, more or less, and being that portion of said lot 18 not conveyed to the defendant, Thomas Robertson, and the North part of Lot 17 in said 12th concession, containing one hundred acres, more or less, described as follows:—Commencing at a point in the Eastern limit of said Lot 17, 11 chains and 25 links distant from the South-east angle of the said lot; thence North 19° West 18 chains and 75 links, more or less, along said Eastern limit, to the North-east angle of said lot; thence South 74° West 53 chains 45 links, more or less, to the Western limit of said lot; thence South 16° East 18 chains 75 links; thence North 74° East 53 chains 45 links, more or less, to the place of beginning. There are about 90 acres cleared; also a Frame Two Story House, with Frame Kitchen attached, a Frame Barn 36 x 40, and a Frame Shed attached. The property is rail fenced, about four miles from Norwood village with a very good road to it. There is a Common School about a mile and a half from the property, and the country in the neighborhood is all very well settled.

Parcel Two.

The North part of lot 18 in the 12th concession of Asphodel, aforesaid, containing one hundred acres of land. This property is adjacent to parcel number one, and upon it there are a Frame House, unfinished; a Log House; a Log barn and Frame Stable. There are about 60 acres cleared and the balance is hardwood land. The property is rail fenced. A creek runs across the south-west corner of this parcel.

Terms.

Ten per cent, down; the balance within one month from day of sale, without interest.

There will be a reserved bid on each parcel. In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of the Court.

Further particulars and conditions of sale may be had gratis at the law offices of Messrs. Fairbairn & Cassels and Messrs. Weller & Hatton, Peterborough, and at the office of the said Master.

Dated this seventh day of December, A. D. 1868.

(Signed) W. H. WELLER.
FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Vendor's Solicitor. 50

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Apply to
FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.
Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all articles in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,

And of best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place,

Directly opposite Mr. John Sherin's.

SHORTLY & HARPER.

Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 42-13in

NEW

Singer Patern Hand Shuttle

(OR LOCK STITCH)

SEWING MACHINE,

AT THE

Peterboro Sewing Machine Rooms.

THE BEST YET OFFERED.

All Machines warranted, and instructions free.

☞ Rooms over DONNELLY'S Store, ☜
George street.

Peterboro, Dec. 9, 1868. 50

TEACHERS WANTED!

FOR the Senior and Junior Common School department at the Norwood Union Grammar School. Applications will be received from male Teachers, with first class certificates and good references, for the Senior department; and from male and female Teachers, with second class certificates and references, for the Junior department—till noon of Saturday 19th December, inst. Applicants to state salary expected. Address

WM. E. ROXBURGH,
Secretary to Board.
Norwood, December 5th, 1868. 50

School Teacher Wanted.

WANTED, A TEACHER holding a Third Class Certificate, for Union School Section No. 8, in the Township of Minden. To commence teaching first of January next.—Application to be made to the undersigned Trustees, if by letter, to Minden Post office,

JAMES FEE.
JOSEPH McNEIL.
PETER DAWSON.

Minden, Dec. 7, 1868. 50

Teacher Wanted.

A SECOND CLASS MALE TEACHER for No. 1 School Section, North Monaghan. Apply to

GEO. TULLY,
or WM. ROBSON,
School Trustees.

November 25, 1868. 48

NOTICE!

THE annual meeting of the Share-holders in the Cobourg, Peterboro and Marmora Railway and Mining Company, will be held at Cobourg, on the 4th day of JANUARY, 1869.

JOHN BEATTY,
Secretary.

Cobourg, Dec. 2, 1868. 49-4in

OXEN! OXEN!!

FOR SALE—a good span of heavy oxen in good working order; price $160. Apply at this office.

G. J. GALVIN,
Residence—near Lakefield.

Nov. 4, 1868. 45

FOR SALE.

A GOOD YOKE OF OXEN. Price One Hundred and Twenty Dollars. Apply to the undersigned.

THOS. GEO. CHOATE.

Warsaw, Nov. 18, 1868. 47

FOUND!

A GOLD CHAIN. The owner can have it by proving property, and paying expenses, in applying to

EDWARD THOMPSON,
George St.

Peterboro, Dec. 8, 1868. 50-3in

PETERBOROUGH

Union and Grammar Schools!

Public Semi-Annual Examination.

The classes in the Peterborough Union and Grammar Schools will be examined according to the following Programme:

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18th, 1868.

North Ward School, in Reading, Spelling, Writing, &c., 1.30 to 4 p.m.

Primary Division Union School (Mrs. Charlier's) in First Book, 1.30 to 4 p.m.

Second Division, girls (Mrs. Flavelle's) Reading, Arithmetic, &c., 1.30 to 4 p.m.

Second Division, boys (Miss Curtis) Reading, Arithmetic, &c., 1.30 to 4 p.m.

MONDAY, 21st DECEMBER, 1868.

Third Divisions (Mr. Taylor's and Miss Borrowman's.)

Third Reading	10 to 10.30 a.m.
Second Arithmetic	10.30 to 11 "
Dictation	11 to 11.30 "
First Reading	11.30 to 12 "
Second Reading	1.30 to 2 p.m.
First Arithmetic	2 to 2.30 "
Spelling Book Superseded	2.30 to 2.45 "
1st and 2nd Grammar	2.45 to 3.30 "

Fourth Divisions (Mr. McPaull's and Miss Beatty's.)

Dictation	10 to 10.30 a.m.
Reading	10.30 to 11.30 "
Geography	11.30 to 12 "
Arithmetic	2 to 2.40 p.m.
Grammar	2.40 to 3.30 "
History and Penmanship	3.30 to 4 "

Tuesday, 22nd December, 1868.

Junior Grammar School, girls (Miss Hatton's)

Geography	10 to 10.30 a.m.
Arithmetic and Algebra	10.30 to 11 "
Grammar	11 to 11.30 "
Physiology and Mental Arithmetic	11.30 to 12 "
Botany and Zoology	1.30 to 2 p.m.
British and Canadian History	2 to 2.30 "
English Literature	2.30 to 3 "
French Gram. & Translation	3 to 3.30 "
Essays	3.30 to 4 "

Junior Grammar School, boys, (R. Hardie, B.A.)

Arithmetic, junior	10 to 10.30 a.m.
Grammar, junior	10.30 to 11 "
Latin, girls	11 to 11.15 "
Ancient Geography	11.15 to 11.40 "
English History	11.40 to 12 "
Latin, junior	1.30 to 2 p.m.
Grammar, senior	2 to 2.30 "
Reading	2.30 to 3 "
Arithmetic, senior	3 to 3.30 "
Latin, senior	3.30 to 4 "

Senior Grammar School (Principal's.)

First Greek Book	10 to 10.30 a.m.
Virgil	10.30 to 11 "
Homer	11 to 11.30 "
Horace	11.30 to 12 "
Algebra	1.30 to 2.15 p.m.
Euclid	2.15 to 3 "
Reading	3 to 4 "

The public are respectfully invited to attend.

JAMES B. DIXON, M.A.,
Principal.

IVAN O'BERNE,
Sec'y of Board.

Peterboro, Dec. 9, 1868.

Auction Sale OF FARM AND TOWN PROPERTY.

THE undersigned has received instructions to sell by Public Auction, on

THURSDAY, 24th DECEMBER Inst,

at Calese's Hotel in the Town of Peterborough, the following valuable parcels of Farm and Town Property, in the Town and County of Peterborough, viz:—

No. 1.—The West half of Lot No. 29 in the 11th concession of Otonabee. There are about 10 acres cleared, and 50 acres of good land, and a Log House and Stable. This lot is about a mile from the Town of Peterborough.

No. 2.—Three building lots of nearly a quarter of an acre each; one off North end of Town Lot No. 14, and one off North end of Lot No. 15, South of Murray and West of George streets, and one adjoining said last named lot to the South thereof.

No. 3.—Parts of Town Lots Nos. 1 and 2, South of Simcoe and East of Water streets, being 50 feet frontage on Water street, opposite Market Square, and 228 feet deep.

No. 4.—The West half of Lot No. 15 in the 6th concession of Douro. There is a comfortable Log House on the lot. There are from 60 to 70 acres cleared. The land is good farm land, and lies well for farming purposes, and is within a mile and a half of the Village of Lakefield.

No. 5.—Part of Town Lot No. 2, North of Simcoe and East of Water streets, being 69 feet frontage on Queen street, immediately South of the residence of N. Shaw, Esq., and 90 feet deep.

No. 6.—The East half of Lot No. 17 in the 2nd concession of the Township of Otonabee.

No. 7.—The East half of Lot No. 7 in the 5th concession of Burleigh.

No. 8.—The West half of Lot No. 9 in the 9th concession of Dummer.

No. 10.—Village Lot No. 1, South of Sophia and East of Mark streets in Ashburnham.

Terms of Sale:—Ten per cent of the purchase money will be required to be paid down at time of sale, and the terms of payment of balance will be made known at the sale, and in the meantime may be obtained from Geo. Dunsford, Esq., or Messrs Scott & Green, Solicitors, Peterborough, to whom application may be made for the purchase of any of said parcels at private sale.

Sale to commence at One o'clock.

CHAS. STAPLETON,
Auctioneer.

Peterboro, Dec. 9, 1868. 50

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Municipal Council of the United Townships of Belmont and Methuen, will meet at Garrison's School House, on SATURDAY, the 2nd day of JANUARY, 1869, to pass a By-Law to establish the following line of road viz:—

Commencing on the East side of the first concession of Methuen, between Lots Nos. 2 and 4; thence S. 78½°, W. 36 chains; thence S. 14°, E. 2 chains 45 links; thence N. 13°, E. 4 chains 50 links; thence S. 85°, W. 9 chains 25 links; thence S. 74°, W. 12 chains; thence N. 16°, W. 6 chains; thence N. 19°, E. 2 chains; thence S 66°, W. 8 chains 50 links, along Mr. Downs road; thence S. 79°, W. 9 chains, along said road; thence S. 64°, W. 15 chains, on said road; thence N. 14°, W. 1 chain 50 links, on said road; thence S. 79°, W. 16 chains 50 links, on said road; then e S. 43° 30', W. 4 chains 50 links, to Otter Creek; thence N. 74°, W. 4 chains, to Depot Shanties; thence N. 74°, W. 4 chains; thence N. 32°, W. 1 chain 75 links; thence N. 74°, W. 3 chains, to post between Nos. 2 and 4, on allowance for road between the 2nd and 3rd concessions, close by the Depot Shanties of Mr. Downs or Page & Co.; thence S. 30°, W. 5 chains, up a ravine; thence N. 48°, W. 5 chains; thence S. 69°, W. 5 chains; thence S. 45°, W. 10 chains; thence S. 67°, W. 10 chains; thence N. 33°, W. 4 chains; thence W. 6 chains 50 links; thence S. 7° 30', W. 20 chains; thence N. 66°, W. 5 chains 50 links, to concession line between 3rd and 4th concessions, and 2 chains North of post of Lots Nos. 3 and 4; thence on same course as the last 1 chain 50 links; thence N. 66°, W. 5 chains; thence S. 85°, W. 3 chains 50 links; thence S. 46°, W. 23 chains 50 links, to side line between Nos. 3 and 4; thence on said side line S. 74° 15', W. 36 chains, to corner of Lots Nos. 3 and 4 on the West side of the 4th concession in said Township of Methuen; the marked line to be the centre, and the width of the road to be 40 feet.

WM. READ, Township Clerk.

Methuen, Dec. 9, 1868. 50

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

CHRISTMAS GOODS!

Just Received AT THE DOMINION HOUSE!

A Complete Assortment of

Staple and Fancy Dry Goods,

Consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS, in great variety,
SHAWLS,
MANTLES,
MANTLE CLOTHS,
PRINTS,
COTTONS,
BALMORAL SKIRTS,
GLOVES,
HOISERY,
FLANNELS,
BLANKETS,
CLOTHS,
TWEEDS,
HATS, CAPS, &c

Also a complete assortment of

Carpets, Window Damasks and Hollands, Table Linen, Towelling and General House Furnishing Goods.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE DEPARTMENT

Are now open with every novelty of the season.

GREEN & ROCHE.

Dominion House, Dixon's Block.

N B—A First Class Cutter on the premises to attend to the Clothing Department G. & R.

Peterborough, December 3, 1868. 49

CHEAP SALE OF DRESS GOODS

DURING THE

MONTH OF DECEMBER.

Choice of a pile of Fancy Dress Goods, at 7½d per yard.

" " Plain and Fancy Cobourgs, at 9d per yard.

" " Fancy Winceys and Lustres, at 1s per yard, formerly 1s 3d to 1s 6d.

" " at 1s 3d " 1s 6d to 1s 10½d.

" " at 1s 6d " 1s 9d to 2s 6d.

Union Dress Plaids, yard wide, offered at 1s 3d per yard, formerly 1s 8d to 2s.

Crape Cloths, y'd to 1½ y'd " 1s 3d to 1s 9d per y'd, sold as high as 2s 3d.

Magdala Corde, all colors, offered at 1s 3d per yard, usually sold at 1s 8d to 1s 9d.

All-wool Empress Cloths, " 2s " 2s 9d to 3s 9d.

☞ White English BLANKETS also offered at cost this month.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PURCHASE A CHEAP DRESS.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterborough, December 3, 1868. 49

A Fresh Supply of

Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,

BLANKETS,

DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,

CARPETS,

And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.

Just received by

I. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

W. G. THOMSON & Co's

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞ INSPECTION INVITED. ☜

Peterboro, Sept. 30, 1868. 40

Great Bargains IN FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

FURS! FURS!

CAUTION.

THE public are hereby cautioned to beware of purchasing Coloured and Bastard Mink for Canadian Mink. The Canadian is superior to any in the world, and is therefore the most valuable. This has induced wholesale dealers to imitate our Canada Mink, not only by coloring Russian, but also by coloring United States Mink. The Canada seems more than double that of any other country, which enables dealers to make a large profit on the spurious article. Those buying Furs in Montreal or other places should beware least they get the inferior article for which they will no doubt have to pay full prices. Take care, therefore, for I have been shown articles purchased as genuine in Montreal, which I can certify were coloured and of inferior quality.

Parties wanting any alteration made to their furs will please to call before the end of October.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, Sept 16.

CHANGE OF BUSINESS.

MESSRS. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG beg to return thanks to their numerous friends and the public for the patronage so liberally bestowed on them, also state that they have sold the Book and Stationery business to Mr. A. B. KIDD, for whom they solicit a continuance of public favor. Mr. KIDD will continue the business in the same stand, Coulter's Block, and will promptly attend to the wants of all those who may favor him with a call.

All persons indebted to the late firm of Stratton & Armstrong, will find their accounts at Mr. Kidd's Book Store, and he is empowered to receive payment and grant receipts for the same.

The partnership of Stratton & Armstrong was dissolved by mutual consent.

Peterboro, November 21, 1868.

N. B.—Any person having business with Mr. Stratton will find him at the Examiner Office.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Municipal Council of the Township of Otonabee intend, on THURSDAY, the 31st day of DECEMBER, 1868, to pass a By-law to establish the following new line of roads, viz:—Commencing at the Eastern limit of the allowances for road between the twelfth and thirteenth concessions of said Township, at a point Southerly seven chains and sixty-six links from the North-west angle of the fourteenth lot in said twelfth concession; thence North twenty-three degrees thirty minutes, East seven chains; thence North eighteen degrees, East six chains and forty-two links; thence North fourteen degrees, West three chains; thence North thirty degrees, West six chains and forty-three links; thence South eighty degrees, West five chains and ninety-six links, more or less, to the aforesaid Eastern limit. The above described new road to be forty-four feet wide and the described line to be the centre thereof.

GEORGE READ,
Township Clerk.

Otonabee, Nov. 14, 1868. 47-4in

PROSPECTUS FOR 1869

OF THE

Publications of John Dougall & Son,

MONTREAL.

THE phrase "GET THE BEST" has passed into a proverb; and all will agree that the best Family Paper is one that has something interesting and profitable for every member of the family, not excluding the children, and which includes within its scope all the best interests of humanity, temporal and eternal. Such a paper the MONTREAL WITNESS has aimed to be from its commencement, 23 years ago; and that the country was prepared for such an enterprise is shown by its success. The WITNESS in its three editions—"Daily," "Semi-Weekly," and "Weekly"—issues about 150,000 copies; and, consequently, reaches probably Eighty Thousand readers; but what are they out of a population of four millions, all of whom we desire to reach?

Our publications are as follows, and we respectfully call attention to their cheapness as well as quality, and ask all the friends of interesting and wholesome literature everywhere to aid us in extending their circulation. Nor will their circulation interfere with that of local papers, which are a necessity in their respective localities, and which are generally speaking, very meritorious:—

1.—The DAILY WITNESS contains as much reading matter as the ordinary Dailies, and of a choice quantity, at about half the price, viz., $3 per annum. Besides being a first-class Family Paper, it is especially valuable to business men on account of its abundant commercial intelligence, prices current &c.

2.—The MONTREAL WITNESS, Eight Pages, Semi-Weekly, $2 per annum, containing all that appears in the Daily, except part of the purely city matter and advertisements.

3.—The WEEKLY WITNESS, Eight Pages, $1 per annum, contains the greater part of the News, Contemporary Press, and Editorials of the SEMI WEEKLY, with a portion of the Family-Reading and Prices Current.

4.—The CANADIAN MESSENGER, containing Eight Pages, is published twice a month, at the very low price of 37½c. per annum, Postage paid; or Seven Copies for $2 to one address. It contains Religious, Temperance, Agricultural, Scientific, Educational matter, Stories for Children, &c., &c. This paper is recommended to the public generally, and it is hoped that its adoption for circulation through School will greatly extend its usefulness.—It has at present upwards of 2,000, representing, probably, 100,000 readers, but as the very low price (namely, 25 cents per annum, Post-paid, if 100 copies are sent to one address), it is hoped that its circulation will greatly increase.

5.—The NEW DOMINION MONTHLY is a handsome Monthly Magazine, containing a rich selection of original and copied articles every month, together with one or more choice pieces of music, and pictorial illustrations.—Price $1 per annum, Post-paid. This Magazine has been favorably noticed by nearly the entire Press of the Dominion.

The terms of all these publications are necessarily CASH IN ADVANCE, and the periodicals are unquestionably stopped when the subscription expires.

Any one who will kindly make up a club for the above subscriptions to the value of $5, and remit the same Post-paid, in Bankable funds, will receive, if asked for at the time, the WEEKLY WITNESS or the NEW DOMINION MONTHLY gratis, and one Dollar's worth of our Publications for every additional Eight Dollars remitted for them in P. O. Money Order or Canadian Bills.

N.B.—Postmasters are authorized and requested to receive individual subscriptions in Silver (but not Club-Subscriptions), and convert the same into Bankable funds at our expense.

JOHN DOUGALL & SON.

Montreal, Nov., 1868.

Who would not be beautiful? Who would not add to their beauty? What gives that marble purity and distingue appearance we observe upon the stage, and in the city belle? It is no longer a secret. They use Hagans Magnolia Balm. Its continued use removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness, from the face and hands, and leaves the complexion smooth, transparent, blooming and ravishing. Unlike many cosmetics, it contains no material injurious to the skin. Any Druggists will order it for you, if not on hand, at 50 cts. per bottle.

W. E. HAGAN, Troy, N. Y., Chemist.
DENAS BARNES & Co.,
Wholesale Agents, N. Y.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

$20.00 REWARD!!

WILL BE GIVEN to any person who can give information to secure conviction of the individual, who, on Tuesday the 27th of October last, broke the windows of my workshop, or give information as to who on Saturday night the 31st of October, filled the lock of my store on George street with rubbish to prevent opening. Undoubtedly both acts have been done by the same individual. Has he no windows which might be broken, or does he live in communion with hogs?

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Poetry.

THE SHADY SIDE.

The hill of life we're travelling, John,
Has been a long one to us two;
But all the world are travelling on
The self-same hill with me and you.
Some are up; some are following;
Others climbing,—just have tried;
But we have passed the top, John,
And are creeping down the other side.

As we came up, we saw the Sun, John,
Gilding the hillside fair;
Beauty smiled o'er all; and Fame, John,
Sparkled o'er Life, and beckoned, ever.
Past the Summit, now the day
Sends shadows only for our guide;
The Sun shines cold and far away,
As we hobble down the other side.

Give me your honest hand, John;
There's a grasp so strong and true
Will be as an affectionate hand, John,
To bind in love the hearts of two.
Thus patiently jogging along,
The days of our life swiftly glide,
While we look in hope to the time—
When we're down the shady side.

We're journeying, soon 'neath the sod, John,
We both shall quietly rest,
Bow lowly; pass under the rod, John;
In the future we shall be blest.
Hands grow weak, but hearts are strong;
Nearer we approach the Tide;
A few grasp of the hand,—not long John,
And we're safe down the shady side.

Varieties.

HOLIDAYS.

BY MAY BRADFORD.

'Papa, can't we have a Christmas tree, with some pretty things hung on it for us children?' asked little Arthur Merry, about a week previous to Christmas.

'Nonsense, child! I can get along well enough without any such foolishness.'

'But, father, persisted the little pleader, 'the Archers and Campbells and Grays are going to have one, and we want one very much.'

'I haven't got money to throw away for such trumpery, so be off to bed with you, and don't bother me any more,' said Mr. Merry, who, by the way must have been named in direct contradiction to his temperament; for, although he was 'Merry' every day, by name, he was never known to be so by nature.

At the close of his father's sentence, Arthur withdrew to the other side of the room and joined the circle of disappointed brothers and sisters. Soon after Mrs. Merry gave them a lighted candle, and they withdrew to their bed-chambers with no bright smiles on their faces or cheerful 'good-nights' on their lips.'

After sitting a while in silence, Mrs. Merry timidly said:

'James I think we might let the children have a little treat on Christmas eve: they will enjoy it so much.'

'I don't believe in humoring every whim that happens to enter a child's head,' said Mr. Merry.

'If you choose to call it a whim, then I think it a very reasonable one,' said Mrs. Merry. 'Nearly all the neighbors are to have a tree for the amusement of their children and relatives; our children hear their playmates discussing their expected presents, and planning little surprises for each other, and I think it very natural and reasonable for them to desire similar amusement. I really wish you would gratify them.'

'I never had any thing of the kind when I was a child, and I guess I am as well off to day as though I had.'

'You may be as well in health and the comforts of life, but, James you know you are not rich in recollections of a happy, joyous childhood,' said Mrs. Merry, who had known something of the stern precision which had ruled all the heart-sunshine out of his father's household.

Mr. Merry, following his usual method of ending such family consultations, took his hat and went to the store, leaving his wife to sigh over the mistaken management that was clouding the brows of her dearly loved children.

Some mother, upon reading this exclaims: 'I think if I wanted my children to have a Christmas tree, I shouldn't take the trouble to ask any one's consent. If Mrs. Merry answered at all she would say, somewhat sadly, 'you do not know what you would do, were you in my situation. No one can judge accurately of anothers sorrow.

Mr. Merry was a man who didn't believe in any kind of 'woman's rights,' excepting, of course, her right to obey her husband in unquestioning submission. He believed that a woman's place was to attend to the 'cooking and baking,' that she must never be trusted with exceeding money, lest she waste in extravagance all her husband's earnings.' Consequently, the spending of Mrs. Merry's 'pin money' was rigorously looked after, and, with her scanty allowance, she had never the means of giving her children a pleasant surprise in the way of a new book or toy.

Ah, what a change must come over the spirit of such men's dreams are the Millenium will arrive, and what a long distance off that happy day must be!

Christmas came, but it brought no joy to the hearth-stone of Mr. Merry. In gloomy silence the children partook of their evening meal, and at an early hour, sought their beds and whispered of their discontent.

Years went by, and as soon as each child was old enough, he passed out from the cheerless home and sought for himself a brighter one; and when Old Age crept stealthily over the threshold and fastened itself upon Mr. Merry, as he sat alone by his cheerless fire, the old man found that he had only himself to blame,—that far away from him his children sought and found happier homes.

The Christmas holidays are just at hand. There are many parents whose little ones have passed out forever from their loving earthly care, since one short year ago. To such wounded hearts may God send his sure consolation. To you who have them still clustering around your knees, I would say, make their lives joyous and happy. Give them bright holidays to look back upon, when the cares of life shall have come upon them. Let them have a Christmas tree if they wish, and if your purse is small, let the gifts come within its reach; it does not depend so much upon the value of a gift as upon the value of the endearing associations connected with its reception. Some article of clothing may be needed by your little girl, buy it, and hang it on a tree; your little boy wants a sled,—make it for him, and see how the dear little fellow's eyes will sparkle when it is drawn forth from the green boughs. Money expended in a well selected book or paper is never thrown away in a family of children. In short whatever you are able to do for your children, do it heartily and cheerfully, thus making glad the little hearts that full soon will meet enough of sorrow.

When is a clock on the stairs dangerous? When it runs down.

What is better than a promising young man? A paying one.

What is the least popular kind of cuff? The hand cuff.

A TOUCHING INCIDENT.—At the Shawanois Festival in Medina, on June 24th, there was a banquet in the evening. Among those present was Orsino E. Dodge, who of course, was called on to sing. The song he selected was the "Snow Storm," written by Seba Smith. Mr. Dodge, before singing the song, narrated the incident to which it related. In the year 1821, Mrs Blake, with her husband and child, were crossing the Green Mountains, in Vermont, during a snow storm and lost their way. When discovered by some parties in search of them, Mrs. Blake was frozen to death, and Dr. Blake almost unconscious. Near the dead body of Mrs. Blake was a little billock of snow, on removing which was found a bundle, which when unwrapped, was found to contain the baby alive and well, wrapped in the clothing the mother had taken from her own person. When taken up the child looked into the face of its rescuer and smiled. During the singing of the piece a lady and gentleman in the audience were deeply affected, and wept copiously. The majority of the audience sympathized with the couple and wept also. The gentleman was the Hon. H. G. Blake, son of her who perished in the snow, and brother of the babe, and the lady was his wife.—Cleveland Herald.

THE BROKEN PLEDGE.—A gentleman in Virginia had a boy six or seven years old who wanted to sign the pledge. All the family had done so, but the father thought him too young and would not let him. At last, however, after much entreaty, permission was given him—Soon after, the father went on a journey. At one stopping place away from the town he called for some water. It did not come, so he calls d again; still he could not get it; but cider was brought, and, being thirsty, he so far forgot himself as to drink that. When he returned home he related the circumstance.—

After he had finished, the little boy came up to his knee, with eyes full of tears, and said, 'Father, how far were you from James River?' 'Rather more than fifteen miles, my boy.' 'Well,' said the little fellow, sobbing, 'I'd have walked there and back again rather than have broken my pledge.'

God bless the children! We have thousands such as these children; children who understand the principles and keep to the practice.

A Mr. Benjamin Franklin is exciting great attention in England by an ingenious steam engine of his invention. The engine is extremely simple—piston, crank, steam chest, &c., being dispensed with. It depends entirely on centrifugal force; friction is almost entirely overcome, and it will produce 1,500 revolutions per minute with one-fourth the steam usually required, although the same amount of horse power is developed. The centrifugal steam engine condenses almost all its steam, while, from its simplicity, it can be constructed at one-fourth the ordinary cost, and is not liable to get out of order.

A Yankee becoming incensed at the boastfulness of an Englishman in the train of Sir Morton Peto, as to the superiority of British inventions, exclaimed—Pshaw! they are of no account. Why a house painter in my neighbourhood grained a door so exactly in the imitation of oak, that last year it put forth leaves, and grew an excellent crop of acorns; and another fellow up in Iowa has taught ducks to swim in hot water, and with such success that they laid boiled eggs! The Englishman from that time forth exhibited a more modest and subdued air.

Mr. Dow, a noted wag was one day accosted by a neighbor, Mr. Goss, who was also fond of jokes, with "Good morning, neighbor Dow; I hope yourself and all Dow-lings or young Dows are well this morning." "Tanks, Mr. Goss, all well, and I doubt not, your entire brood of Goslings, or young Geese, are enjoying themselves amazingly, with such an old Goose and Gander to superintend the featherings of their nest." The old gander left.

A nurse girl eighteen years of age while left in charge of three children of the Mc Culloch family, near Corning, N Y., last Wednesday, in a fit of rage at the youngest child for being fretful, threw it upon the floor, stamped upon it until it was almost lifeless, and then roasted its hands on the hot stove. When the mother returned home at night it was dead. The girl was arrested and the coroner's jury is investigating the case.

A man named Cabel, in North Carolina, wagered two gallons of tar against a quart of brandy, that he could drink the quart of brandy and then walk to his home, a mile distant, before becoming insensible. He drank the brandy, walked half the distance then sank down, saying, "Boys, I've lost the bet," and instantly expired.

"Ma, if I should die and go to heaven should I wear my moira-antique dress?" "No, my love; we can scarcely suppose we shall wear the attire of this world in the next." "Then tell me, ma, how the angels would know that I belong to the best society.

It is related of Lord Cecil that during a visit to the Townships surrounding Ottawa he came across a poor widow who was in danger of losing her farm, it being mortgaged for $100. He presented her with a cheque for the amount, and thereby secured a full release.

I pressed her gentle form to me, and whispered in her ear, "if, when I was far, far away, she'd drop for me a tear!" I paused for some cheering words, my throbbing heart to cool, and with her rosey lips she said, "oh, Ike, you're such a fool!"

A vigilance committee recently hanged a man for murder, in Iowa, before the victim had died. It is now said that the victim is likely to recover.

Secret marriages are so common in an Ohio town that the young women can't get beaux. Every man is afraid of courting some other man's wife.

Weston, the pedestrian is now preparing for his great walk 5,000 miles in one hundred consecutive days.

What is the best adhesive label a traveller can put on his baggage? To stick to himself.

The Dean of Carlisle says that smoking is sure to play Old Nick-otine with one's coat.

When a man's face turns as yellow as a guinea he is said to have a rich complexion.

The trees are introducing their Fall fashion which is the fashion of falling leaves.

No man can avoid his own company, so he had better make it as good as possible.

Prepare for sickness in the day of health, and for old age in thy youth.

If you cannot please without being false yourself, you had better displease.

We must tell some men a great deal to teach them a little.

Slander is a coward's revenge, diminution his defence.

A Bridal Read—Courtship.

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES

GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. HARRIS is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,

From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lannin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. J. H. AMES. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and tocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter O. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hoey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞ Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

☞ For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

BARLEY, OATS, PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 26nd August, 1867. 34

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $300 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept, 16, 1868. 38

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from E. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said E. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

LYON'S EXTRACT OF PURE JAMAICA GINGER for Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c., where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity makes it a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere, at 50 cts. per bottle. Ask for "Lyon's" Pure Extract. Take no other.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists

PETERBOROUGH

SEWING MACHINE COMPANY,

Rooms Over T. Donnelly's Store.

The following FIRST CLASS Machines for sale at our Rooms:

RAYMOND'S $12 Machine,
CHAMPION $18 Lock-stitch Machine,
SINGER'S Manufacturing "
SINGER'S Family "
WILLIAMS' Family and Manufacturing

1 or 2 second hand Wanzer Machines.

Special Notice.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

(Established 1825,)

With which is now united

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Head Office for Canada,

MONTREAL,—STANDARD COMPANYS BUILDINGS,

No. 47, Great St. James Street.

Manager .....W. M. RAMSAY
Inspector.....RICHARD BULL.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The EIGHT DIVISION of the Company's Profits is appointed to be made at 15th NOVEMBER 1870, and all Polices now effected will participate.

The FUND TO BE DIVIDED will be the profits which have arisen since 15th November 1865.

The COMPANY'S BUSINESS YEAR will close on 15th NOVEMBER 1868, and in order to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the PROFIT SCHEME, Proposals should be lodged with the Agents on or before that date.

Agent for Peterborough,

ALEX. SMITH,

Peterboro, Oct. 26, 1868. 44

MILLER'S Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 25c. 75c. and $1.00. A 25c. box will clean 20 of sep.

HUGH MILLER & Co., Proprietors.

187 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 43

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 48

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN ANVIL!

I WOULD invite attention to my Stock of Hardware, which is large and well assorted.

Story's Hand-made and other Chopping Axes, Tobin's Patent Cross cut Saws; Bent Saws; Grindstones and Rollers; Draw-knives; Sargent's Augers; Warranted Washing Boards; Cast Steel Grain Scoops; Russia Plough Line; Tea Kettles; Round Pots; Bake Pans and Covers; Oneida Traps; Powder; Shot; Fly's Caps; Hunting Axes; Knives; Shot; Pouches; Flasks.

Bar, Rod, Hoop, Sheet and Band Iron; Octagon and Square Cast Steel; Sleigh Shoe Steel; C. D. F. J. and W. Horse Nails; Farrier's Knives and Pincers; Jowett's Celebrated Files and Horse Rasps; Mansehale Anvils; Blacksmith's Bellows; Stocks and Dies; Vices; Carriage Bolts.

Builders' Hardware.

Best Boiled Oil; Genuine White Lead; Paints; Colours; Turpentine; Varnish, &c. Lightning Apple Parers; Thurber's Anti-friction Metal.

JOHN BERTRAM, Hardware Merchant.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville.
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Sole Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE, Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Creswell, Pres't. E. W. Creswell, Vice-Pres't. P. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phenix Insurance Company,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams; and two good frame barns, 50 x 26; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS, North Douro P. O.

December 8, 1868. 50

A VALUABLE

Farm for Sale!

THE Subscriber offers for sale that Excellent Farm, Lot No. 21, in the 9th Concession of Otonabee. It is situated about 6 miles from Peterboro and the same distance from Keene. There are 85 acres cleared and in a good state of cultivation, and a comfortable Dwelling House, Sheds, Barns and Stables; a good young Orchard bearing choice fruit. The soil is of the very best quality; about 6 acres in Fall Wheat, looking well, and 40 acres ploughed ready for spring sowing.

For terms apply to the proprietor on the premises,

JOHNSTON COONEY,

Or to JAMES STRATTON, Examiner Office, Peterboro.

Otonabee, October 6th, 1868. 41-13in

A Farm to Rent or Sell!

CONTAINING fifty acres of excellent land in the Township of Otonabee, No. 27 in the 7th concession. Good Buildings, well watered, and in a good state of cultivation. There are nine acres of Fall Wheat. Stock can be had if desired.

For terms and further particulars apply, on the premises, to

GEO. GRAHAM, Proprietor.

Allandale Mills, March 11, 1867 11-3*13-tf

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 20. 1868. 32-tf

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor, &c., Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor, Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26. 1868. 48

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kinnaird's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 3-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. MCFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

LOOK OUT!

FOR

F. LEMAY'S TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT,

Where you will find a very complete stock of

Fall and Winter Ready-made Clothing

Of all Descriptions and Prices, Made on the Premises, and WORK GUARANTEED!

A FINE LOT OF UNDERSHIRTS AND DRAWERS.

ALSO,

English, Scotch and Canadian Tweeds,

WHITE AND GREY CANADIAN BLANKETS

FOR SHANTIES.

200 Pieces of White, Light, Grey and Dark Fulled Cloths,

Expressly made for his Trade.

All to be Sold at a Very Low Price FOR CASH.

Call and See before Buying Elsewhere.

F. LEMAY,

Peterborough, Sept. 30, 1868. 40 Hunter Street.

W. WADDELL

Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of

CARRIAGE HARNESS,

Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also

HEAVY TEAM HARNESS,

Made of the very best material.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.

In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS

In Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.

Children's Carriages

From $2.00 each to $15.00.

Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.

Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking

Kept constantly on hand.

Peterboro, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

FUR SHOP REMOVED.

MR. LECH

HAS REMOVED

One Door north of Mr. Lannin's Tin Shop.

Parties desirous of having goods sent will please leave them at Mr. Lech's residence, Lansdowne street, No. 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 14

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction of the County of Peterboro', for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

in the Town of Peterborough, on Thursday, December 10th, 1868

Commencing at 10 o. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,

J. EDWARDS, Secretary.

Peterborough, July 6, 1868. 26

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

OF

CONSUMPTION!

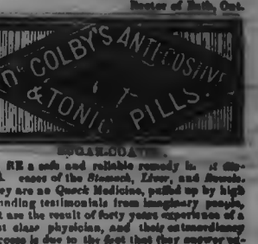
IN CANADA.

MESSRS YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Dr. Boschee's Schoboschees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the reaking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different receipes, but all without any good effect. Squire Plummer of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Schoboschees Remedy; I procured three bottle, at once, with the Pills; so soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing its use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER O. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman, Peter O. V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.

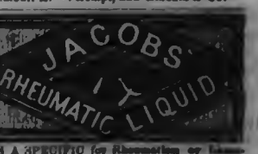


ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all cases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people, but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. Two formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. H. GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
O. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Bedford.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSKINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENIS, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MIGIS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BREADON, M. D., Sergeant R. E.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Compton.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
F. D. MUNSY, M. D., Boston.
W. MARSDEN, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Riverbrooke.
E. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Riverbrooke.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.



IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c., &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an Internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

THE BEST Taste Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely grey, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H. Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE.—The North half of No. 4, in the 4th Concession of Ennismore.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro,' Feb'y 18, 1868.

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIII. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1868. No. 52.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing

☞ Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,
CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,
COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

JAMES F. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office, Hunter street, Peterborough.
Peterboro, July 23, 1868. 21

JOHN BURNHAM,
BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 39

SCOTT & GREEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
WILLIAM BENNETT SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Clinton's, George street, Peterborough.
Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. Y

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,
SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,
Conveyancers, &c.,
Peterborough, Ontario.
T. W. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN,
Keene.

J. O'SULLIVAN, M. D., L. R. C. P. S., L.
Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR.
☞ Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 21-tf

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,
Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.
Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.
Ashburnham, October 23, 1867. 43

J. W. GILMOUR,
DRUGGIST, Chemist and Gentleman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smellings and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro' 19

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.
OFFICE AND STORE, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.
Nov. 27, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,
INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.
CAVAN, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 30

GEORGE BROWNLEE,
ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES, W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

JAMES STEVENSON,
DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,
DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.
☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

Business Directory.

ROBERT WALTON,
SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,
PAINTER, Paper Hanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce.

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General, Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Queen, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.
Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C. W.
Peterboro', October 19, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO.
GEORGE Street, Peterboro', Interest allowed on deposits.
A SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.
FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.
Wm. OGILVY, Agent.
Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,
PETERBOROUGH.
SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.
From this date until further notice, the rate of intest in the above department will be
FIVE PER CENT.
PER ANNUM.
D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.
Peterboro', April 1st. 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.
ALL payments to be made on account of the
ONTARIO GOVERNMENT
MAY BE MADE TO THE
Royal Canadian Bank
And Its Agencies.
E. B. WOOD,
Treasurer of Ontario.
Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,
TOBACCONIST,
George Street, Peterborough, Ont.
March 12, 1868. 11-1y

FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE OFFICE.
T. J. WINSHIP, Agent,
☞ Acting for First Class Reliable Companies.
Peterboro', Ont. 29-6m.

GEORGE ALLEN,
GUN & WHITE-SMITH,
Hunter Street, Peterborough,
BEGS to inform the public, that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and White-smithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired.
☞ Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.
Peterboro, October 25, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,
DENTIST.
Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.
D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodians of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodeon, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.
Peterboro', February 5, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!
Teeth Extracted Without Pain
D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.
Peterboro, November 20 1866. 48

REMOVAL.
DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hamitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.
Peterboro, July 9, 1868. 26

R. S. HOWELL,
FORWARDER,
Commission Merchant,
AND
GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,
Dealer in Lumber, &c.,
PORT HOPE, ONT.

Money! Money!
MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.
Apply to J. A. HALL,
At the Court House
Peterboro', May 9th, 1867. 19

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE
LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,
AND
Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Lindsay, Depart	9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive	1 10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart	3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	4.25 "
Lindsay, Arrive	6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Lindsay, Depart	12 35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive	4.20 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart	5.45 p. m.
Millbrook,	7.20 "
Lindsay, Arrive	9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Peterborough, Depart	3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	4.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive	8.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart	10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	11.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive	12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Peterborough, Depart	5.30 a. m.
Millbrook	6.20 "
Port Hope, Arrive	8.05 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart	1.15 p. m.
Millbrook	2.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive	3.20 "

A. T. WILLIAMS,
Superintendent.
May 20, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
TRAINS LEAVE
PORT HOPE STATION
AS FOLLOWS:
GOING EAST.

Express (day)	9.30 a.m.
Mixed	7.00 p.m.
Express (night)	9.20 p.m.

GOING WEST.

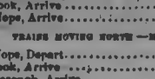
Express (night)	10.30 p.m.
Mixed	9.00 p.m.
Express (day)	10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time
Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
OF CANADA.
TORONTO LINE.
TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.
Accommodation trains leave Longe street Station at 7.00 a.m., 9.50 p.m. and 6.55 p.m.
Express at 12 55 p.m.
HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.
Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 7.25 p.m.
Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME
IN THE
Norwood and Peterboro'
STAGE.
ROYAL MAIL LINE!
LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a m.
LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.
Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.
Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates
J. A. JOHNSON,
Proprietor
Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.
Rates of Passage from Peterboro':
CABIN, - - $74 to $83. STEERAGE - $30.
Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.
For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to
GEORGE A. COX, Agent.
Canadian Express Co'y.
Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,
No. 20 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.
JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.
This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Depots, Steamboat Landings, and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞ Fare $1.50 per Day. 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,
WALTON STREET,
PORT HOPE, ONT.
T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.
Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868, 43

Poetry.

DORCAS.

Who is this little patient laborer,
Coats and garments deftly making,
Not herself with purple decking,
But for love she bears her neighbor?

Who is this who glides around,
To every tale of grief to listen,
With patient ear and eyes that glisten,
Whenever weakness was to be found?

Is she come direct from heaven,
A faithful ministering angel,
Or preacher of the new Evangel,
Whose lessons are in alms-deeds given?

In each marr'd visage hath she seen
The pleading of the Son of God?
And in every gift bestowed
A tribute to the Nazarene?

Dorcas, thy name shall aye stand forth
In letters brighter far than gold,
Wherever the Gospel tale is told,
From age to through all the earth!

And see through all time there than
A gentle, lovely, loving throng
Still practising the angels' song,
Glory to God, good-will to men!

—New Dominion Monthly.

Selections.

THE OLD KEEPER'S STORY.

It was a quaint room in which I sat with the firelight flashing into each corner, and the stuffed birds, foxes and polecats looking life-like in the leaping blaze. A quaint cottage room, but the essence of comfort. As I pulled at the stiff glass of water and whiskey and puffed my meerschaum, I felt excessively comfortable. I was in no hurry to get my boots dried, which lay streaming on the ample hearth.

My temporary host sat opposite; a fine athletic old man, with snow-white hair and whiskers. The cut of his coat and wary look on his weather-beaten, honest face sufficiently told the ex-game keeper, had not the retriever pup at his feet and the gun behind him added evidence. A fine specimen of his class, he was well-knit even at eighty years of age, with a frank, cheery look in his eye that told of straight-forward truth and worth.

I had been snipe shooting on some marshes, I rented from the manor, and having got soaked in a deep rivulet from a fall had sought shelter in the keeper's cottage. To be a sportsman was, to be sure, a passport to his favor, added to which, his grand, son, Tom, was my invariable attendant and bag carrier. The old man I had seen but once when on my renting the shooting from Lady Linwood, he, as her herd keeper, had shown me the boundaries. The great hall was closed, for Lady Linwood, a child-less widow, lived permanently at Nice and her fair estates were all let.—She was the widow of a poor Lieutenant Colonel, knighted for gallant service, and succeeded to the property in lack of direct heirs.

Seamer, my host, was something more than head-keeper. Evidently he had been one of those ancient trusted servants to whom the honor and welfare of a family are dear as to its own members. And by the sad look on his face whenever he spoke of the squires of Linwood I fancied some portion of the family history was mournful and unhappy.

"Do you see much of Lady Linwood?" I asked.

"Never, sir. She always is abroad. And there's never been a Linwood here since the last squire died."

"That was long ago?"

"Yes sir, long ago. Five and forty years agone, sir," said he musingly, his eyes fixed on the fire. "Five and forty years agone—and like yesterday."

I was interested. The keepers manner, action and expression were all unlike his class, and I felt a comrosity, as we all do when something tells us of a hidden history.

'I suppose the last squire had a good stock of game?' said I.

"Yes, sir. Hundreds of pheasants he turned out. I was a youngster then—underkeeper—and used to fetch all the sacks of barley to feed 'em."

"And was he much of a sportsman?"

"Yes sir. With the gun, rod and horse he was unequalled in all the country round. He was a tall, fine man, with coal black hair and whiskers, pleasant and kind to his tenants, but with a fearful temper, if anything should go wrong. He'd rave, and swear, and smash all around him in the room when he was in one of his storms. The only person who managed him was Miss Dora."

Here the keeper became silent, and a look of deep sadness came over his rugged face.

"You'll have to stay a longish time, sir, for your things are soaked. So, if you like to hear it I'll tell you the story. I suppose I'm like an old man, sir, and like to wander," he added, with a smile of natural dignity and courtesy which might have befitted a prince.

"Mr. George Linwood, five and forty years ago, was the squire. He lived with his mother, a gentle lady. She was always on her sofa, and never well, but kind as an angel to the poor. Miss Dora Maitland, her neice, came to stay up at the hall with them. Her parents were very poor, and she'd six sisters; so they were glad—Miss Dora's parents, I mean—when Mrs. Linwood said she'd adopt her as a daughter. I heard this, you know, from the lady's maid at the hall, who was afterward's my wife.—She died years ago." And the old man sighed, and glanced at an empty chair near his own.

"Well, sir," he resumed, "Miss Dora came, and Mrs. Linwood was very fond of her. So was everybody, for she was so sweet and gentle, and her voice was like a blackbird's. Everybody about the estate knew Miss Dora, and she used to go about in a broad hat and carol her songs for all the world like a blackbird in the holly. The cottages used to know her, for whenever anyone was ill there Miss Dora was, petting and nursing them.

'So, sir, by-and-by Mr. George became fond of Miss Dora. He used to follow her about and watch all her wishes. He broke in a chestnut filly himself, and used to ride with her. But she seemed shy of him. His temper was so shifty, and she heard his curses once when he was bitterly angry, though he did'nt know she was in hearing, and she seemed to shrink of him. She was such a beauty—golden hair, and eyes, sir, just like the sky on a clear day, such a deep, clear blue, while her complexion was like some girls third to call rosebud bliss.—I've heard it said that a great portrait painter came down to paint her face, and showed it in London at the great-est beauty he'd seen anywhere.

"Mrs. Linwood, sir, the servants could tell you was very anxious about Mr. George. She'd scarcely leave her bed for hours about him, and she was always looking at him, and Dora so wistful like, as if she didn't dare to say what was on her tongue. So things went on, till one day a company of soldiers marched into the village. The officer in command was invited by Mr. Linwood to dine, and he did so, but he didn't see Mrs. Linwood or Miss Dora, for they were both in with colds, and they stayed up stairs. The officer was a handsome young man, with keen, grey eyes, and a quiet manner, and a look of real honesty about him, sir. Mr. Linwood asked him as soon when he could get leave and stayed.

"Well, by and by he came—Captain Colton was his name, and he wore the Waterloo medal, for he'd been in the heat of that; and he came in late one night after dressing into the drawing-room,—There were Mrs. Linwood and Miss Dora. The Squire introduced him; when suddenly the Captain grew very agitated, and Miss Dora gave a little shriek, and then looked so charming that half an eye might see, Polly, my wife said, where her heart was.

The Squire didn't see this, and fortunately, too, for only the day before he'd asked Miss Dora to marry him, and she, trying bitterly, had refused him.

The Squire went off wild duck shooting with me, but he said his gun down in the punt, and kept staring morosly in the air and muttering to himself. You may guess, sir, that I held my tongue.

Well, sir, at dinner nothing much was said, for Captain Colton seemed very silent, and so did Miss Dora. The Squire drank a good deal, and talked about the shooting, but now and then he looked at his cousin with such a wild, eager look that it made her blush like a rose whenever he caught her eye.

After dinner, when Polly was putting some embroidery away in the cabinet at the end of the drawing room, she heard Miss Dora tell Mrs. Linwood enough to find out that Capt. Colton was her old lover over whom she'd met at Bath with her parents, and they were to be married when he got rich enough. Polly could not help hearing it, sir; all women are curious about lovers," continued the old man, smiling; "but she loved Miss Dora with all her heart, and wouldn't have said a word about it for the world.

Several days went on, and the Squire and the Captain went out shooting, and Dick Smith, the head keeper, used to go with them.

One day Miss Dora came down in the little pony carriage with the luncheon.—The Squire was just finishing the beat of a copse, but Captain Colton was outside. When Miss Dora came up he kissed her hand. But I saw it, though I wasn't such a booby as to show myself. What was worse, sir, the Squire saw it through the bushes, and her pretty face blushing and looking happy.

I heard him grind his teeth where I stood and whisper a curse. Did you ever hear one whispered, sir? It makes a man creep all over.

Presently he came out with a very jolly air, and after lunch he drank Miss Dora's health and then the Captain's. I was carrying the bags, and the Squire spoke in a bluff sort of a way, so I heard it all:

'My cousin is a pretty girl,' said he.

'Yes,' said captain Colton, nervously like, and I could see his hand tremble.

'Ah, well,' said the Squire, heartily. 'I used to be jealous, for I always admired Dora, that I did. But what's the use now? Never mind, old fellow, I wish you joy of her; you must excuse my temper, it's a devilish bad one.'

That was truer than he thought," muttered the old man musingly.

'Captain Colton answered him in a very friendly way, and the matter seemed all right.

The Squire was in a dreadful temper the next morning with Dick and no because we hadn't killed some stray dogs that had been driving the woods.

He was very savage against poachers, and swore he'd have spring guns set for their dogs in the open runs of the copse.

So matters went on till just about Christmas, when a large party of the neighbors of the Squire came over to shoot under the pleasant covers.

That day we had no peace. All the spring guns were taken up, damaged rains put in the runs to tell the pheasants there, and the woods were watched every night. On the night before we met the Squire, who gave us a curse or two for running against him as he came round the copse. He'd been looking after the raisins, he said, for he was a good hand at seeing his orders carried out.

"The next day all the party went from the Hall to the woods, only the Captain; he loitered to have a few words with Miss Dora. He drew her back into the hall and kissed her; and I never shall forget the way he clapped his hands and looked into his eyes, saying a word or two. The Squire saw it, and I saw his face. It was dreadful to see, for he had bitten his lip in two. He pretended not to see them, and walked on after the party.

The Squire was very particular in his shooting parties about every one going just as he wanted them to. So now he gave everybody their instructions where to go. And Captain Colton he told to take a ride, which was narrow and through hollows, but a good one for woodcock. He himself went into the middle of the copse, with me and Dick Smith headed the beat at the end.

Well, sir, the beating began, and the pheasants got up well, and there were several shots fired. 'Twas odd to me that the Squire never shot anything, though, for all that, several birds went by him. I didn't dare to speak, though, for he looked so stern.

By and by he turned like Captain Colton in another part. He swore, but that I took no notice of.

"We'll beat this wood again before lunch," he said; so of course we all came out after an hour or two, during which the Squire missed everything. We all went back to the wood again.

Here the old keeper paused and drew a deep breath.

"What's coming, sir," he said, "has never been out of my mind since, day or night, for fifty years, I assure you.

We came back to the copse, and were all put in our old positions, and the Squire told the Captain to take the holly ride again.

"I suppose Dora will be here soon with the luncheon," he said, with a laugh.

"Soon enough—soon enough," said the Squire with a dreadful sort of laugh, and his black eyes gleaming like coals.

The shooting went on, and suddenly a shot sounded from near the holly ride.

"What's that?" said the Squire, suddenly.

"Captain shot a cock, sir, outside the copse," said Dick Smith, quietly working at me, he knew how savage the Squire was at men changing positions.

"Here comes Miss Dora," said I, "she's going through the holly ride."

"What!" screamed the Squire, as he wheeled round and saw her; "Dora! Dora! not there! Back! for heaven's sake, back!"

But she didn't hear him, for the spaniels were in full cry, and the beaters' voices drowned the Squire's. "Dora!" he screamed, sir—yes, that's the word—stop! You're—"

Before he got the word out there was a little report like a pistol—a wreath of smoke curled upward from Miss Maitland's seat and she fell—fell, with her pretty white dress all streaked on the bosom with blood.

"Ah, sir," said the old man, shuddering, "it makes my heart cold even to think of it."

I ran up and lifted her; she moaned once when we raised her. Her sweet face was all pinched with pain.

But Captain Colton came up, like a man struck dumb. He knelt down and drew her, poor girl, on his breast, and laid her poor head there as if she was a tired child.

The surgeon of the village was out with us. He came up sir, as we stood round, rough fellows as we were, all sobbing; he knelt down and looked at the wound, and then, sir, shook his head.

Meanwhile the Squire was being held by two men, cursing, swearing, and tearing the grass, cursing himself and his birth, and calling on somebody to blow his brains out, and they dragged him into the bushes so as not to be heard by the dying girl.

She looked up at her lover once, and her sweet blue eyes were all dim. Do you know the glazing, filmy look that creeps over one dying from gunshot wounds?

Ah, it is enough to break ones heart.

She caught her breath several times.

Her lover kept his handkerchief over the wound, but it didn't bleed much outwardly; only you could see her going; and she looked so beautiful, just like a wax mask, sir, white as a lily.

"Poor, poor Freddy!" she murmured, and put her little hand on his heart.

"My darling!" he said, and then he gave such a sob that seemed to tear his very heart up, sir.

"Kiss me, my own," she said, as her beautiful, dimming eyes, with her last look of love, were turned to his. "I can't see—its all dark, but I'm on your bosom, Freddy dear—on your bosom—love."

These words she murmured one by one; and then she gave a long sigh; and 'twas all over.

He took her up, sir, with such an awful look of grief on his face that he seemed turned to stone. He'd let no one touch her, and he carried her in his arms home.

"She said, she was on my bosom," he said, in a voice that you wouldn't have known for his; and then he walked on like a man in some dream.

Well, sir, there is no more to tell. The Squire only lived two years, and died in a mad house.

He had set a spring gun in the ride, meaning it for the Captain. As for the Captain, he went to the East Indies, I heard, and died. "That's my story, sir."

A GHOST STORY.—A young lady of high family in Paris was some time ago spiritually possessed by the influence of a knight of the old days, under whose escapu-lop she rose from her bed at night, and spent long hours in writing involuntary rhapsodies to herself. Her ghostly admirer wore her out with his unreasonable attentions, compelling her fingers to sketch his portrait, the place where he lived, the grave, and even to draw a picture of the wound which let his life out through his skull. At length the doctors recommended travel, and the girl was taken to Sicily. There the possession seemed to leave her, until one morning she was found dead on the mound, said by the peasantry to be haunted by the ghost of a knight slain during the catastrophe of the Sicilian Vespers.

There is a yankee out West so thin, that when the sheriff is after him, he crawls into his rifle, and watches his adversary through the touch-hole.

An old bachelor thinks that the trains of ladies' dresses are infernal machines, from the fact that a blowing up took place directly after he put his foot on one.

THE NAUGHTY MEN.

The young lady who signs herself "Dora Matilda," seeks to rebuke the young men for certain objectionable practices to which they addict themselves when dancing attendance upon favored fair ones. She says she went the other evening to the theatre to hear Rossi, anticipating a very pleasant time, because Charles Augustus is really a very agreeable fellow, and, being comfortably headmore, helped to draw attention from the slender purse, or my evening of other attractions. He made an excuse to purchase a book of the play, and went out before the overture was concluded. He brought the libretto all right, but when he came back his breath smelt strongly of alcohol. She is confident that he went out, on one pretext or another, at least fifteen times during the evening, leaving her sitting alone and feeling as uncomfortable as a fish out of water.—He dropped the bill into the parquette (accidentally, of course), and went out to get another. Was absent just ten minutes. On his return, noticed that his face was flushed and his eyes (he has beautiful eyes!) sparkled strangely.—End of act I. Charles Augustus attracted to the side walk by the ringing of the fire bells. Came back in midst of scene I, act II, with a piece of champagne cork in his whiskers. Intermission.

Charles went out again to consult the usher about getting a better seat. On his return noticed the color was heightened; beard sprinkled with crumbs of crackers; breath smelt of juniper—one must sure it was juniper. Act III. Went out in a hurry to see a gentleman afar off, to whom he had touched his hat, and made sixteen people get up to let him pass. Was gone nearly an entire act. Returned, making great clatter in the midst of the most interesting scene. Dropped his hat. Sixteen people looked annoyed. More juniper. Obliged to use smelling bottle. "By Jove, there's Harry Tompkins—must have a word with him."—Charles Augustus struggled through the crowd and out. Gone twenty minutes. Returned smelling of stale cigar smoke. Voice husky, nose red at the tip. Spoke loud enough to attract the attention of sixteen people. Said he had been talking politics and forgot himself. Gave her a paper of candy. Another intermission. Charles actually hiccoughed as he took his seat, smelling of absinthe. Applauded everything extravagantly.—Act IV—Had lost a glove, and went go out to look for it. Act V—Must go for a bouquet. Brought it back drooping and rumpled. Found the heat oppressive; must seek the lobby for air. Each time fair friend observed that his color was brighter; nose and face all over red; smelt of gin. A pint of pea nuts and an orange fell from his hat on removing it; also cigars. Scene last. Came back decidedly obfuscated, and smelling of gin more horribly than ever. Cravat tied in a not under left ear, as if he had been going to be hung. Tumbled over the sixteen indignant people into the lap of a strange lady. Squirted a stream of tobacco juice over my new satin skirt. Remarked regular stunner, 'stons—capperal piece—he li'l to trjes—curcur tail it, hay? Do don't she sling it out, though! Pitch in ole acrobs.—Whoo-oo-o! Violent applause, usher obliged to interfere. Charles Augustus incensed. Threw his bouquet at the pate of a very bald gentleman sitting in parquette. Yawned and said, running his words together, "Dory, my dear, less get-router this coop soon as possible—misleep, misquarrer-wel realreery," remained to the end notwithstanding.—On going out, noticed his coat had been torn up the back, and his hat had a dent in it. Of course its all over between Dora Matilda and Charles Augustus.

A Living Child Without a Head.

In the vicinity of Sona River, Illinois, is a child who was born and lived five years without a head. Mrs. —, the mother, is the widow of a soldier formerly living in Marshall Co., who enlisted in the Sixty-fifth, or Scotch regiment, and was killed at the battle of Devington, Va. She was standing beside her husband during the engagement, when a cannon ball carried his head completely away, his body falling into her arms, and covering her with blood.—The shock affected her greatly, and when seven months afterwards her child was born, there was not the semblance of a head upon it. The limbs are perfectly developed, the arms long, and the shoulders where the neck and head should be, smoothly rounded off. But the most surprising of all is, that the face is situated in the breast. Of course, there being no neck, the power of turning its head is wanting, except as the whole body is moved, but this difficulty is overcome by the singular faculty it possesses of turning its eyes in their sockets, enabling it to see quite as well on either side, as those more perfectly formed. The upper portion of its body is white as the purest Caucasian, from the waist downwards it is blood red. This strange creature, now an active boy of five years old, as if to compensate for its deformity, possesses the most clear and bird like notes ever listened to, singing with singular correctness anything it may hear, and its voice at this early stage accomplishing two octaves easily.

The fellow was witty who, at a dinner down East, lately, gave the following—"Here's a health to poverty—it sticks by us when all our friends fore ke us"

An old lady announced in court that she had no counsel, that God was her lawyer, my dear madam, replied the Judge, He does not practice in this court.

At Biarritz last summer the Russian princess a Galitzine was one of the boldest swimmers. She would go out a mile or more attended only by a big black dog.

"I have not loved lightly," as the man said when he married a widow weighing three hundred pounds.

THE GRECIAN BEND.

The Grecian Bend is without exception the very essence of absurdity, and as a natural consequence it only requires to be seen to ensure its general imitation. The fashion first originated at Saratoga, and therefore is a purely American invention, which may, as yet not have even reached Paris. Like all great inventions, that of the Grecian Bend was accidental. Corry O'Lanus relates:

"The bugging belle, at Ballyragh, while on a visit one morning to Congress Spring was suddenly affected with a cramp, and not having an escort with her, she went home on her own hook, and being obliged to keep down Broadway on her personal carry, the originality and grace of her figure struck every beholder, and the next day all the young ladies in Saratoga were practising the Bend. The lady was a Greek—from Tipperary—no, in her honor, they called it the Grecian Bend."

So much for its origin; but its final development has since taxed to the uttermost the ingenuity and inventive genius of fashionable belles. Hoops have been discarded and the old fashioned "bustle" has again been called into requisition—modernized enlarged, and styled a "puffer"—in aid in producing the desired curve. High heeled shoes are required higher than before, to lift the body forward on the toes, so that the proper degree of angularity may be maintained. These prerequisites secured, and the fashionable goes strut practised diligently in private for a week or two the fair devotee can exhibit on the promenades, and at once become the "observed of all observers." A lady on a full blooded Bend, with the upper part of her head back, looks as if she were trying to catch a soap bubble on the end of her nose. The enormous height of her gaiter heels—three to four inches—compels her to walk on the tips of her toes, and as a matter of consequence the posterior portion of the frame belges far in the rear, after the manner of a woman standing over a wash tub, or a cat on a fence with "back up." The height of the fashion is to enhance that latter angle by a certain puffy, bood like article of dress, resembling the tail plumes of an ostrich, thus giving a delightful exaggeration to the triangular figure which is meant to be, particularly ravishing. A young lady, then got up trips, or rather pegs, along the street with a studied, anxious expression of countenance, as if under a perpetual apprehension of loosing her equilibrium. If she meets a gentleman friend, she responds to his gallantly lifted hat by a distorted wriggle, as a wag of her ostrich-like tail and a forced smile by which she vainly endeavors to cover the physical anguish she is suffering. Such is the 'Grecian Bend,' 'Corinthian Curve,' 'Celtic Stoop;' 'Back Crook,' 'Washerwoman's Wriggle,' or whatever else it may be known as which is creating such havoc among our young beauties. white stand matrons are not proof against its insidious wiles, Ah! ladies what next?

They said you wore your dresses short
To show your pretty feet:
You wore no veils or bonnets large,
To hide your faces sweet,
And now, because Dame fashion chose
A Pannier to you send,
They say you stoop like grandmammas,
And call it "Grecian Bend."

A Fifeshire man brought his child to the minister to be baptized, who asked him, "Are you prepared for so important an solemn an occasion?" 'Prepared!' he echoed with some indignation; 'I hae a flicht o' bannocks bakeu', twa bacon hams, a gude fat kebbuck, an' a gallon o' the best Ulistan' whiskey; an' I would just like to ken what better preparation ye could expeck frae a man in my condition o' life!' He meant 'the circumstances' at home.

Hardly anything is more contemptible than the conceit which rests merely upon social position—the conceit of those who imagine that thus they are divorced from the clay of common men, of those who shrink with horror from the idea of work, as something which degrades by its very contact.

Mr. Swallow will you take soda water or something else? Thank ee, sir, I—I'd take something else. 'Grees with my constitution better. Brandy, and a very stiff horn.

In a country churchyard this epitaph may be seen:—"Here lies the body of James Robinson and Ruth his wife;" and underneath, "Their warfare is accomplished."

What is that dog barking at? asked a fop, whose boots were more polished than his brain. Why, said a bystander, he sees another puppy in your boots.

Nose—The snubbing post of the body.

"Hunting parties"—mothers with daughters to marry.

Base inhospitality—Turning out your toes.

The terminus of the Bourbon "Line"—Punch!

The stone to do a good turn—the grindstone.

Note in which to catch young flats—brunettes.

Capital punishment—being smothered with kisses.

Dedicated to Lord Lytton—The rightful heir: Fresh Air.

The way for girls to be taken up—get attached to a battalion.

'Largest circulation in the world'—The elephant's.

Old maids—Embers from which the sparks have fled.

Pride—Polly strutting in the cast off cloth'ing of common sense.

Artifice—Hiding behind a lamp-post, showing more than we conceal.

Equivocation—Dancing on a tight rope between two lies, in presence of truth.

The fruit of the Tree of Knowledge—The first pair.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

An assortment of Electro Plate Cruets, Toast Racks, Butter Coolers, Jellie Dishes, Cups, Cake and Card Baskets, Napkin Rings, Pickle Forks and other goods in this line.

Sixties, Pocket and Table Cutlery.

Hoe & Co's Tuttle × Cut Saw.

Kenyon's Files and Steel.

G. STETHEM & Co.

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Lecture on Macaulay—Rev. W. M. Punshon
Galway Mining Co—John Burnham.
Farm for Sale—W. Adams.
Trick, &c., for Sale—H. Calcutt.
Handsome Christmas Gift—Peterboro Sewing Machine Co.
List of Convictions—C. A. Weller.
Strayed—Joseph H. Walton.
Strayed—B. Green.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1868.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS.

We have much pleasure in again wishing our numerous readers a "merry Christmas." The revolutions of the seasons too often bring back sad recollections and remind us of events that can afford but little comfort. Not so, however, with Christmas. To all it is a season of hope and pleasure. To the young it presents an opportunity of merry-making, visiting and enjoyment that no other season affords, and to the more serious and staid a season of reflection and promise. We trust that all our patrons will fully realise all that is contained in the usual salutation—"A Merry Christmas," and not only be merry, but also enjoy peace and good-will. To our best wishes for all their happiness, we beg to add all the "compliments of the season."

LEGISLATURE OF ONTARIO.

The Legislature of Ontario is adjourned till the 6th of January. In another column we give the Bills thaht have become law; there are several important measures yet to be discussed. Those relating to Grammar & Common Schools are not the least. The Municipal and Assessm't Act is also to be discussed, besides numerous private Bills to be pushed through. Hasty Legislation on many of these will lead to endless troubles and annoyance in the country. The Municipal Law has already become a piece of complete patch-work, and ere long will require to be consolidated to be intelligible. In view of this it would be better to postpone intermeddling with it until pressing Legislation be gone through with, and then have the whole Municipal and Assessment Law arranged and perfected so that it will not require annual dobbling. At present there is no way of collecting poll tax off those in villages and towns who have nothing to destrain, while provisions are made for collecting a similar tax in the townships. This must be an oversight of the Legislature which could and should be put right at once, if the Law is to be amended th e session, perhaps some of our representatives will see to it. The School Bill, too, should be before the country for a year. Dr. Ryerson, it is true, has given considerable attention to it, but is well known that many of his schemes are not agreeable to the will of the people, and are considered uncalled for and unwise. Our Legislature would best consult the interests of education by careful Legislation—which will be best obtained by granting time to consider the matter more fully. It is well known that when Dr. Ryerson paid his flying visit to the counties, about two years ago, that in very few instances did he wait to hear the questions proposed discussed; he generally made his speech and left. He, therefore, was not able to judge fairly of the arguments of the opponents of the proposed measures, as he never heard them, and hence of course would remain of his own opinion. It is just so with the present Bill; it has been prepared in a hurry and has not received that careful consideration it deserves.

Upper Canada College will have to give an account of the receipts and expenditure, and its labor, for the past five years. There appears a disposition on the part of M C. Cameron to burk enquiry on this matter. We hope, however, that his plans will be watched, and that justice shall be done to the Grammar Schools; they concern the whole country; Upper Canada College concerns Toronto. All depends on John Sandfield. His followers are like so many sheep—wherever the leader goes they follow.

It is a pleasing sign of the times that John Sandfield is forced to accept the terms of the opposition. The Tory members make wry faces, but accept the dose for love of office; poor J. Carnegie and Geo. Read, among the rest. What a pitiable spectacle they must be—whipped up to vote for the principles of the detested Reformers. They have neither the ability nor the courage to advocate the principles on which they were elected. John Carnegie would never have misrepresented West Peterboro but for his promise to vote for denominational grants. His supporters know how he fulfilled his promise.

The people of East Peterborough chose a dummy, believing that by doing so he would not advocate views contrary to those of the respectable part of the community. As a politician he is a miserable failure, without principles, he votes as J. Sandfield directs j. and without a tongue—he is a complete nonentity in the House.

What have Messrs. Read and Carnegie done for this county? Nothing. What have they done for those who elected them? nay, but how much have they done against them? Mr. Carnegie sold the denominations wholly, and Mr. Read sold his Methodist and Roman Catholic friends for fear of John Sandfield. There is not a county in Ontario represented by men so void of political honesty, so completely at the mercy of an unscrupulous premier, and so completely void of intellect and ability.

Mr. Read is a nice man in a private capacity, and the more private he remains the better will he fill the niche nature intended for him. His colleague from the west of the river, we shall leave to be dealt with by those shockers whom he first bought and then sold on the College question, and to those poor unfortunate settlers on the rocks of Burleigh, &c., whose lands he thought to put into the hands of money lenders.

NOMINATION ON MONDAY.

SMITH.—For Reeve; John Walton, Isaac Garbutt and James Dixon, Esqs: For Deputy Reeve; James Garbutt Jas. Dixon and Geo. Fitzgerald, Esqs: For Councillors; Michael Sanderson, Andrew Montgomery, John Beckett and Joseph Nelson.

ASHBURNHAM.—For Reeve; R. D. Rogers Esq: Councillors; H. Bennett, H. Calcutt, Jas. Z. Rogers and John Burnham, Esqs.

TOWN.—For Mayor; W. H. Scott, Esq: reelected.

In the North-ward; D. W. Dumble, W. H. Wrighton, Geo. Edmisson and A Rutherford.

In the East-ward—S. Dixon, Thomas Chambers and Jno. Brown, Esqs.

South-Ward—E. Burnham, I. O'Beirne, Tho. Beavis and Ed. Lawder.

Centre-Ward—John Doherty, reelected.

DUMMER.—Reeve; Wm Mober, reelected: Councillors; Jas. Hogan Sen., Robert Casement, Robert Brown, John Barry, John Walsh and Wm. Gill.

MONAGHAN.—Reeve; Geo. Young, J. W. Gilmour and D. Hopkins: Councillors; R. Laing, Geo. Birney, Geo. Tully, Wm. Robson, H. Collins, Geo Hocey, W. Brownscombe and Robert Harper.

OTONABEE.—Reeve; Wm. Lang, reelected by acclamation: Deputy Reeve; Jas. Millar, reelected by acclamation: Councillors; T. Blizard, H. H. Burnham Wm. Duffis and John Millar.

HARVEY.—For Reeve, W. H. Scott, reelected; for Councillors, David Brodie, Wm. Weir, Archibald Johnston, Wm. Ventres, and I. Dollier Hall.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.—Reeve; John Kerr and Wm. Rutherford, Councillors: Richard Nurse, George Garnett, Joseph Barnard, Robs. Riddell, John A. Turnbull, William Nurse and John Watterman.

WHELAN.

The Court refused to grant a new trial in the case of Whelan. Judge Morrison dissenting from the others; all agreed against the ruling of Chief Justice Richards, on the matter of challenging for cause before the peremptory challenges were exhausted; but Chief Justice Richards and Judge Wilson hold that the prisoner received no injury by the ruling. On the day the discussion of the Judges will be argued in the Queen's Bench, but there is little hope that the result will be otherwise than as decided by the Judges. His counsel may still appeal to the Privy Council of England. This they will scarcely do, as the expenses would be very heavy—perhaps more than the prisoner's friends are prepared to expend. A new trial, however, would be of no avail; a jury to acquit him could scarcely be found in the Dominion. All sober minded people regret the taking of the life of even a criminal, and would willingly avert it if the safety of life and property could be maintained without it. But there is less sympathy for Whelan than is generally manifested for men in his position.

The examinations in the Union School, terminated on Tuesday. The number of visitors was not equal to what it should be on such occasions. Parents and friends of education should manifest their interest by their presence at those exhibitions of the labours of both teachers and pupils. The Grammar and Union School is under very efficient management, and very great unanimity prevails amongst the teachers. At the close of the examinations of Miss Borrowman's division, Miss Richardson and Miss Craig presented the Teacher with a very nice watch stand, accompanied by a very appropriate address, to which Miss Borrowman made an extempore reply, in fitting terms. It is very satisfactory, to learn that the attendance is large and on the increase; several of the rooms are full to crowding, and in two cases at least too many are under the management of one teacher. To remedy this, the Board contemplate erecting a ward school, so situated as to meet the requirements of the South and Centre Wards, and commodious enough to suit employing two teachers, if required. This, we understand, will be commenced as early as possible n the Spring. At present the female teachers have the largest attendance; the lowest being 26, the highest 71. The attendance in the male teachers department being from 28 to 52. The total average by the last returns is 441.

The following Teachers received Certificates at the late examination, at the Norwood Board of Instruction:

Samuel Duff, 1st B, 3 years.
Alex H. Kidd, 2nd C, 1 year.
John Shears, 3rd, 1 year.
Robt. Tudehope, 1st B, 2 years.
Eugene McNichol, 2nd B, 1 year.
John McGuire, 1st C, 2 years.
Sarah Wilkinson, 2nd B, 1 year.
Amelia Scott, 2nd A, 2 years.
Eliza Harper, 2nd B, 1 year.
Sarah Ferguson, 2nd C, 1 year.
Olivia Coffe, 2nd C, 1 year.
Janet Douglas, 3rd, 1 year.
Isabella Garrison, 3rd, 6 months.
Lizzie Rae, 2nd C, 1 year.
Mary O'Neil, 3rd, 6 months.
Mary E. Cather, 3rd, 1 year.
Alice Weller, 3rd, 6 months.
Ellen Cumming, 2nd C, 1 year.
Annie Doherty 2nd B, 1 year.
Maggie Coughlin, 2nd B, 1 year.
Mary Fitzpatrick, 2nd B, 1 year.

PUNSHON ON MACAULAY.—We refer our readers to our advertising columns, for particulars as to the lecture promised from the Rev. W. Morley Punshon, on the evening of the 6th January next. Mr. Punshon has for some time ranked amongst the first pulpit orators in England, and that is to class him amongst the most celebrated orators in the world. But his admirers claim that the platform is where he appears to the best advantage. Many a time did he literally pack Exeter Hall with enthusiastic thousands of listeners. His fame is great in many of the principal cities of the United States and Canada where he has already lectured, and we feel sure that the Trustees of the Wesleyan Church are furnishing the inhabitants of Peterboro and vicinity with no ordinary treat, in securing the services of such a man. The lecture is to commence at 8, the doors opening at 7, and is to be in the Canada Presbyterian Church. As only a limited number of tickets will be sold, we advise our readers to apply early.

THE "SUN" AGAINST THE "WORLD" FOR TERRESTRIAL HONORS.—Mr. McNaughton, Editor of Cobourg Sun, opposes Mr. Hough, of the World, as Counsellor at the approaching election. We trust that the chariot of the Sun will keep the proper course lest it set the World on fire.

GALWAY MINING COMPANY.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Company was held at the Town of Peterboro, on the 15th December, when the reports of the Directors of the operations of the past year was read. The President's report showed the Company to be in a good position and from it we should judge that the stockholders will realize a handsome thing from this venture. The following is the new Board of Directors for 1869: Messrs. W. H. Scott, A. H. Campbell, Henry Calcutt, John J. Hall, John Burnham, Henry C. Rogers and Jonathan Stephenson. At a meeting of the Directors, held immediately afterwards, W. H. Scott, Esq., was elected President of the Company for 1869.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—At a meeting of the Directors on Monday evening Mr. Wm. Cameron was chosen President; D. W. Dumble, Esq., Vice President; D. S. Eastwood, Esq., Treasurer, J. A. Hall, Esq., corresponding Secretary; and W. Mason, recording Secretary. The first meeting of the Society will take place on the 1st Monday in January, 1869; of the time and place due notice will be given. In the meantime committees are making arrangements for suitable rooms, for getting By-Laws and constitutions printed, and such other business as may be necessary for the proper organization of the Association. The twelve Directors from whom the officers were selected are: Messrs. Eastwood, Dumble, Fairbairn, W. Cameron, Pentland, J. W. Gilmour, T. Donnelly, W. J. Mason, J Stratton, I. Dobinson, J. W. Dunnett, and J. A. Hall.

THE FAIR.—A large number of people, of all sexes, visited the town on Tuesday; but like all other fair-days, not more than the usual amount of business was done. The The great majority came to see and be seen. Not a few got on the Bend (not the Grecian) towards evening, one old man, of about 60 years entered the Otonabee Bridge for a tavern door, and swore fearfully because he could not find the bar.

SALE OF FARM TOWN AND VILLAGE PROPERTY.—We ask our readers to remember the sale of Farm and Town property, to day, at one o'clock, p. m., at CAISSES HOTEL. The greater part of the property is in favorable situations. Intending purchasers will do well to attend the sale.

GONE TO PENITENTIARY.—Mary Nix and Ann Brennen, too well known here, and Jas. McCabe and Jas. Higgins were sentenced at the Cobourg Quarter Sessions to five years in the Penitentiary for stripping clothes lines in the vicinity of Cobourg. They should have been there long ago.

SOIREE:—The Soiree in connection with the Canada Presbyterian Church Lakefield, will be held on New Year's day, and we have no doubt but that many will avail themselves of the Holiday to visit the aspiring little village on the occasion. Tea to be served at 3 o'clock.

SERMON ON CHRISTMAS.—We are requested to state, that the Rev. John Gilmour will preach in the School Room of the Wesleyan Church, on Christmas Day, 10.30, a. m.—At the close of the sermon, a collection will be taken up for the poor.

Some of Mr. Lech's furs stolen by Seymour, to the value of 40 or 850, were found in Fur Stores in Kingston. Seymour's accomplice sold them there. Seymour formerly belonged to the New York Police force, and there, no doubt, learned his trade of burglary.

NEW POST OFFICE IN OTONABEE.—A new Post Office has been opened in Otonabee, near Swan's Corners. It is named after Mr. Grayslock, who is also appointed the first Post Master.

The Protestant Home Committee beg to thank the St Andrews Society for a Donation of Twenty Dollars, received through Alexr. Smith, Esqr., after their Annual meeting.

Why is the Local Member for East Peterboro in Parliament like the guest at the Marriage Feast, who had not on a wedding garment? Because there, he—is—speechless.

The British Templars will have a Soiree in Hill's Music Hall, on Tuesday 29th inst. Tea to be at 7.30 p. m.

A frame house at the Railway Station, Omemee, was destroyed by fire on Monday night. Loss $600 to $700, insured for $400.

Judge Draper, Kingston, died last Thursday.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—It is a source of satisfaction that there is a prospect of the vexed question of Denominational Grants being set at rest for all time to come, having received its quietus in the Legislature from its friends as well as opponents, and we trust the agitators will learn to behave themselves, and act with more prudence in time to come. The ignominious defeat of the members of the Legislature, who introduced and advocated the measure, must convince them that there is no hope of success in reviving the agitation anew. We may, therefore, expect to receive some appellations the reverse of complimentary from the hankerers after State aid.

I observe in the last two issues of your neighbour of the Review, we are treated to an opprobious epithet which we do not deserve. If the writer is in favour of Church and State, or Denominational endowments, he can advocate his views as he thinks best; but he must know, if he knows anything of the popular feeling in Canada on these points, that such sentiments are not entertained but by an insignificant fraction of the inhabitants—that the voluntary principle is largely on the ascendent here, and when he uses such epithets as "rabid voluntaries," he not only foully slanders a large majority of the people, but is guilty of wilful falsehood, and a breach of the amenities of civilised society. We are voluntaries, we frankly confess and rejoice in the name, but we deny that we are "mad." We simply seek to prevent the calumniators from any longer receiving subsidies from the public chest for denominational purposes. When we opposed the retention of the seventh part of the public domain for denominational purposes, we were called "infidels, firebrands, desecrators of religion, radicals" and I know not what. We have outlived these sectarian outbursts of indignation, and succeeded in setting at rest for ever this prolific source of discord. We must expect some obloquy if we cross some people in a favorite scheme to get public money. When you touch a man's pocket you touch a tender point. It is like trampling on his corns—ten to one but he raises his fist or hand to strike. We trust the Review may will apologise for his breach of good manners, and not repeat so offensive an act as calling ill names.

I notice with pleasure a change come over our Chief Superintendent of Education. He has succeeded in his hobby so far, of ingratiating compulsory education in the Common School system of Ontario, as to get a committee of the Legislature to adopt it to their report, and having gained this point, he will find enough to occupy his time in reforming the part opposed to promotion his darling hobby, in place of uprooting pamphlets depreciating the Toronto University and College. In his special report for 1868 he says, "After reviewing what has been done and is doing in other countries in the matter of education, happy Ontario that has long since abolished denominational and religious monopolies—intial to national peace and instruction, and has combined all parties upon equal terms in the noble work of universal education." Who would think that the man who penned the above had ever written or spoken in favour of State grants for denominational colleges? or had written and labored to destroy our noble University. Let us be thankful that in common with other erratic State aid simonates are coming to a right state of mind. I way with your permission at a future time refer to some more matters in connection with Colleges. Meantime,

I am, sir,
Yours truly,
J. E.

Peterboro, December, 1868.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I have no desire to take up your space or my own time in replying, more fully, to the anonymous writers, who have, through your columns, unprovokingly dragged my private business before the public. If I have occasion hereafter to do so, I will unmask and exhibit them in all their naked deformity.

But, as one of them, "Mercator," has made two specific charges against me, I must notice them. This person has been most persevering in his enquiries about my business. He had sifted the past and present officers of the company, not even forgetting the Fowlers, who, he knows, bear a bitter animosity to the present proprietors, and towards any one who may be friendly to them or the road; and wherewould not scruple to resort to misrepresentation to gratify their own spleen.

The result of these investigations which cover my business transactions with the road for the past 13 years, is given in "Mercator's" last letter, viz.:—"That I received drawbacks on "wheat and flour 'cast down,' and that I only "paid 12½ cents per barrel for flour when others "were paying 16 or 17."

The only flour I ever shipped that paid the road less than the usual rate, was a few hundred barrels manufactured at the Allandale Mills, in Otonabee, and which the company, for the purpose of giving the road business one winter, when it had but little to do, agreed to carry at a cost of 20 cents per barrel from the mill to Port Hope, the same rate we were then giving from Allandale via. Cobourg.

As Mr. Kimball, the late Superintendent of the Port Hope road, has been brought forward as a witness, I beg to submit his letter, and also one from Mr. Short.

This I think should satisfy even the mind of the doubter—"Mercator."

With regard to the drawback on the wheat, which Mr. Fowler has spoken of to certain parties, I may be allowed to state, that this was a simple contract based upon business principles, and similar to other contracts made by the lessees with Lumberers, &c. Even "Mercator's" friend, whom we all respect, contracted for the carriage of 10,000 barrels flour, at not only a less rate than the tariff, but upon more favourable terms than were conceded to any other shipper of flour. But the difference between his and mine was this, I paid the same rate as others, while he paid less.

In making the tariff for the Port Hope road, I took the tariff of the Cobourg and Peterboro railway as my guide. In this tariff, which is registered in the Registry office here, the lessees were bound not to exceed the maximum rates of the Cobourg road for a term of years, but, of course, they were not prevented from charging at much less as they pleased In this tariff the maximum rate for lumber and wheat was $1 90 per thousand feet, and 5 cents per bushel from Peterboro' to Port Hope.

About that time I began to buy wheat on the Line for shipment. I found that the freight on wheat from Millbrook was 8½ cents per bushel, and 4 cents from Bethany, Franklin and Omemee, to Port Hope, on the Lindsay Road. I saw that I could not buy wheat here and pay 5 cents, and, in consequence, I informed the Lessees, that if they could not carry for a less rate, or equal to what I was paying on the Lindsay Road, I would stop buying in Peterboro, as I could buy from the farmers who were delivering to me here, the same wheat at Millbrook. The Lessees had no interest in the earnings of the Lindsay Road, but they were anxious to get business for their Branch, and to secure it, they at once agreed to carry my wheat at 4 cents per bushel. But the agent here billed the wheat at the tariff rate, viz.:—5 cents per bushel, and the freight on each shipment was collected from my agent at Port Hope, and hence the necessity of refunding to me at the end of the year the overcharge of one cent per bushel. But that these drawbacks ever amounted to $700 in one year, is another of "Mercator's" INVENTIONS.

This course was persued, I think, for two years, when I objected to pay them money in this way and lie out of it until the end of the year, and the difficulty was overcome by sending the wheat forward at the contract price—4 cents—and by changing the tariff to 4 cents per bushel, at which rate it has remained ever since.

I never had a bushel of grain carried on the road, in any shape for less than the present tariff of 4 cents per bushel, or for less than any one else paid. Indeed, no person ever paid 5 cents. I was the only shipper of grain on the road at that time.

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Dec. 20, 1868.

LINDSAY, 17th Dec. 1868.

WM. CLUXTON, Esq:

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of the 11th inst., I beg to state that I have never authorized any person to use my name in connection with your business on the Railway during my superintendence of the same. I may have said in reply to questions asked, as a simple matter of fact, that the Road carried a few hundred barrels of your flour manufactured at Allandale Mills, which only paid a freight of 12½ cents per barrel, but I did not do this to convey the idea that you got your business done cheaper, or upon better terms than others; and so far as I can remember you never asked me for special favours nor more advantageous terms than were conceded to others, nor were they given you by me.

Yours truly,
H. R. KIMBALL.

ALLANDALE MILLS, 14th Dec. 1868.

WM. CLUXTON, Esq.,
Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your favour of the 11th inst. (which only came to hand on the evening of the 12th,) I beg to say that the rate of freight paid on flour of the joint account between yourself and Richard Short, Sen., was twenty cents per barrel from Allandale Mills to Cobourg. Also, that the rate paid for a portion of the flour, sent via Peterborough to Port Hope, was the same, say 7½ cents from Allandale to Peterborough and 12½ cents from Peterborough to Port Hope.

To the best of my recollection the arrangement with the railroad was made at my suggestion and was similar to one I had previously made with the railroad on my own account.

There was no sawing secured by forwarding the flour via Peterborough and the larger portion of it was sent via Cobourg.

Yours truly,
THOMAS SHORT.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—In addressing myself again, through the columns of your journal, to Mr. CLUXTON, I regret that my last communication, designed in all but gentleman an opportunity of explaining his conduct, has evidently been inclined to the fullest extent, inasmuch as the facts being in remembrance with the fearless position he would occupy it would be difficult to advance them in a more unbecoming manner. He undertakes to establish and no doubt does conclusively enough to his own mind, that he has never been the subject of any special regard on the part of the Railway Company, and that he merits the ever-living laurel for his participation in the Bethune street extension. I purpose treating briefly on these questions, with the truly commendable intention of assisting him from the horns of an unfortunate dilemma upon which he has got himself in the outset. I cannot refrain from expressing my sincere approval of the entire truthfulness pervading that portion of his letter referring to his relations with the Railway. It is gratifying that these questions may be intelligently discussed with a due regard to that eminently christian virtue. There are few who will not readily admit that he has frequently denied, before large audiences, these trifling Railway transgressions, and there are many who will recognise several grains of veracity in his language when he states that if he had sworn to it such men as "Another Ratepayer" would not believe him. Acquitting him, therefore, of any breach of veracity as to this portion of his letter, I trust he will not feel offended with the friendly suggestion that he has been much wanting in his usual discretion as to the manner of his defence. The occasional insinuations indulged in by these "many bodies," so courteously alluded to under many euphonious titles through his quotation from Dr. Clarke, is that he has enjoyed various advantages from the company in the shape of reductions and drawbacks, together forming the key to his patriotic course in the Council and in corroboration of his own constant assertions to the contrary. He adduces with much flourish of trumpets the letters of three employees who agree in ruthlessly depriving him of these little perquisites. I certainly think he presumes a little too much upon the credulity of the public if he intends these letters to prove anything in his favour. He must remember the old story of the man who could bring fifty witnesses to swear they did not see him steal the horse in opposition to any one that did. Now, does he really think, or would any man of even common capacity believe for a moment that if there had been any thing like drawbacks going, any one of these three gentlemen would know anything about it. The essential meaning of the word conveys the inevitable impression that the favoured individual has the advantage of secret reduction, and he as ex-President of a road for which he has done such good service that any thing in the management, whose privacy is to be observed, is carefully shielded from employees. I do not for a moment admit with him the necessity of sustaining his own irreproachable word, by the estimate of other parties, but I think it is much to be regretted that while he was in the mood he did did not see fit to adduce the declarations of those who ought to know something about it, it would have had a happy effect, and of course they would have been ready and willing to vouch for him. If my memory serves me the "abominable race!" derided the foundation of their ingenious insinuations against him; a year ago or more, from the alleged statement of the Messrs. Fowler, that he had a drawback of $700, in grain, and of Mr. Kimble, that he had been similarly so in regard to flour, and if my memory be not at fault, he at that time announced in public his determination of enforcing these gentlemen to sustain their averments before a court of justice. With due defference to his superior discretion I cannot but think that this would have been much the wiser course to adopt if his equilibrum be really disturbed by these groundless rumours. I do not desire to leave for a moment the impression that the double, triple assertion of these gentlemen is entitled to the slightest weight against his simple denial, although the Messrs. Fowler must have been particularly conversant with the facts of the case, but refer to them merely in support of my argument against the propriety of his defence. I am not aware that these preparations have been proceeded with, and if they have not, I would urge him as a friend to lose no time in commencing them. His duty to himself demands it; the interest of the community calls for it, and they would be followed by the double consequence of teaching, a wholesome lesson to Messrs. Fowler and Mr. Kimball in daring to venture reckless assertion detrimental to personal character, and placing his conduct squarely before those of Dr. Clarke's impertinent meddlers, who infest this community, and who might otherwise ground his objection to such proceedings upon a wholesome fear of future revelations. But he should, my dear sir, repeat his disavowal of railway patronage, either on the platform or through the mediation of the press, for he may take my word for it, the depravity of human nature will warrant the conclusion that the more he does so the more he wont be believed. And, moreover, although I am truly his friend, candour compels me to admit that there is something to be said on both sides of the question. If he will kindly yield a little of that attention which has hitherto been undivided in favour of Dr. Clarke, to the writings of a poet whose productions are somewhat extensively read now-a-days you may discover the effect that will naturally flow from his repeated denials in the times.

A lie that is wholly a lie may be met and fought with outright:
But a lie that is partly the truth is a harder matter to fight.

And if the poet were as well up in the more salient points of human nature as Dr. Clarke is in moral law, the "human devils" of the latter may reasonably conclude from the desperate fight he is making against this ugly imagination, that it may be after all about half true.

As to swearing, dear sir, I would strongly urge a much milder course of expostulation, for there might not be wanting, a score or two of his neighbours who would be ungracious enough to take him at his word, and fail to be convinced even upon his oath, and in this connection, dear sir, I would ask him to accept the advice given in a truly friendly spirit, that Punch is said to have given to those about to marry—"don't."

As to the latter portion of his letter in which he so highly commends the creditable course he pursued in relation to the Bethune street extension, I greatly fear his position in that respect had been the subject of serious misconstruction, and in endeavouring to underteach as it were his own part in securing that great boon to the Town, and place his priceless efforts partly before the community, I may be called upon to criticise somewhat closely minor parts, but with all in a friendly spirit. When the By law granting this right of way was first introduced and which was advocated openly by him, it contained a clause that it should not interfere with the rights of adjoining land owners against the Company. As a matter of law this clause was a dead letter, as the right of way being once conceded, effectually deprived these parties of any remedy against the Company. Now, dear sir, between ourselves he either knew this at that time as well as the gentleman who introduced the By-law or he did not. If he did, it was no doubt highly creditable to his ingenuity in rases of character, but his best friends will acknowledge that it was glaringly inconsistent with those manifold protestations of candour and fair dealing he is wont to indulge himself in. If he did not know it the advocacy of the By-law in its then shape committed him completely to its principles of granting the right of way only on condition of the Company compensating those parties. This is fair talking. The consequences follow directly upon the antecedents, and when the ruse was discovered, if ruse there was, he found himself in a little bed of a box, as a Councillor. With his enviable reputation for consistency, he would be expected to follow up the principles to which he was committed, and insist upon compensation, had you been representing the railway board instead of his constituents his natural course would have been to sacrifice the principle, put on a bold front and carry it through if he could. I do not for a moment, my dear sir, entertain the impression that he attempted the former position at the Council Board, for all who are familiarly conversant with his character, will readily appreciate the reason why he would not applaud a Legislature wanting as much in decorum as would enable them to resist encouragement to corporations conveying away private rights without any shadow of reason or right.

He says that no Councillor ever refused to pay the owners of property on Bethune Street. He knows that the passage of this By law deprived these parties of any remedy against the Company, and notwithstanding his modest opinion of Mr. Cluxton, there are few will believe him ignorant of the fact that the Town cannot possibly grant this compensation,—who besides are to pay these parties? It cannot be denied that they have a trifling interest as to the source of their quid pro quo, and he would do a good turn by obliging them in this respect.

My object has been to endeavour to reconcile the various inconsistencies of his course, and if I have failed in that charitable object he must not attribute to me blame that is properly referable to the stubborn nature of the facts themselves.

If, in conclusion, he would not be disturbed by one or two suggestions I might make, I would esteem it a special favour: Did he ever reflect upon the manifest impropriety of not to say indecency of continuing in his two positions—on the Railway Board and in the Town Council, while the two corporations are so frequently at variance? This is not altogether unworthy of his attention and consideration, to say nothing of his commissionership, being somewhat in antagonism to both? It might be considered delicate if he were to vacate one if not two of these important situations; there is of course the serious difficulty of some of these public bodies being able to want his valuable assistance and great experience.

But in looking at the direction in which the more energetic of his services have hitherto extended themselves, it will be very generally admitted that the Railway Board could least of all afford to spare him.

I remain, Sir,
ANOTHER RATEPAYER.

THAT COLLEGE QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—There has been a good deal said about Mr. Carnegie's vote on the Sectarian grants, but what about Mr. Reade? What will that gentleman's Methodist and Roman Catholic supporters think about it? Why, sir, when that gentlemen was out here in Dummer on his canvass and failed to make a speech—I cannot say broke down, for he had nothing to break down on; he returned again at a subsequent period and brought Dr. McKeas with him, and when neither of them would make a speech the Doctor read a pamphlet purporting to be got up by Dr. Ryerson, thinking by that means to catch the Methodist vote, and I have no doubt succeeded to a certain extent. I was talking the other day to an old Scotchman who said: "Haun, is it not graund to see they old Tories that has been such flibbid supporters of John A. & Co. gulping down their own dirt for the sake of place and power, and voting with the Reformers and contrary to the principles they have advocated for years."

Reformers have a right to be proud of their position to-day. More anon.

Yours, &c.,
A REFORMER.

IAMATOLOGIA!

THE HON. GEO. BROWN was unanimously nominated at a convention at Fergus, to be a candidate to represent Centre Wellington, in the place of the late Dr. Parker. Mr. Brown's services are very much needed in the House of Commons, and it is to be hoped that he will consent to come out. His election is certain, if he only allows himself to be a candidate. It is reported that he has positively declined, we trust that he will yet see it his duty to give way to the will of the people.

The Napanee Standard says:—A Miss Davenport, aged 24 years, was drowned by breaking through the ice on Mud Creek on Sunday 6th instant. She and her mother, brother, sister, and two other Ladies were driving on the ice, it gave way and were precipated into the water. All got out safely but the one.

Twice, during this session of the Legislature, the decision of the speakers has been referred to the House; once sustained and once reversed—both decisions of the House were against the views of the Ministry.

Mr. T. Killan member of the Local House, Nova Scotia, for Digby, died of paralysis, on the 15th inst., while returning home from Halifax.

IAMATOLOGIA!

At a Public Meeting held in Buffalo a few days since Ex-President Fillmore is reported to have said, that he would do nothing to excite the ire or provoke the hostility of his Canadian neighbours, they were a worthy people, and were for the most part friendly; an immediate outbreak was not to be anticipated, but he would advise his fellow citizens to heed the lessons which history had taught all nations. "In time of peace prepare for war," hence it would be well to have our Northern frontiers well fortified.

In not this a lesson to us to fortify our Southern frontiers? and while doing so would it not do well to fortify ourselves against the attacks of rheumatism, coughs, colds, cholics, bowel complaints, and all other diseases incident to this climate by supplying ourselves with the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," Can be had of any Medicine Dealer for 25cts per bottle.

On Saturday, at 2 o'clock, P.M., His Excellency the Hon. William Pearce Howland, C.B., gave assent in State to the Chamber of the Legislative Assembly. His Excellency was accompanied by an escort of the 13th Hussars and was met at the Parliament Buildings by a detachment of the 29th and their Band. A staff of regular and volunteer officers, including Lieut.-Gen. Stisted, met the Lieut.-Governor at the Parliament Buildings and were present in the Chamber while the assent was given to the following Bills:—

1. An Act for continuing the Legislative in case of the Demise of the Crown.
2. An Act to provide for Oaths to Witnesses being administered in certain cases, for the purpose of the Legislative Assembly.
3. An Act to alter the Law of Dower, and to regulate proceedings in action for the recovery of Dower.
4. The Law Reform Act of 1868.
5. An Act to explain the 36th section of the Hamilton Debentures Act of 1864, and to legalize (if necessary) the application of the rates levied by the City of Hamilton, under the by-law referred to in that section.
6. An Act to divide the Township of Gerafraxa into two Municipalities.
7. An Act to amend the Law as to Wills.
8. An Act to authorize and empower the Corporation of the City of Kingston to sell and convey certain lands.
9. An Act to define the privileges, immunities and powers of the Legislative Assembly, and to give summary protection to persons employed in the publication of Sessional Papers.
10. An Act to secure the independence of the Legislative Assembly.
11. An Act to make better provision for the dealing by Executors and Administrators with Mortgages.
12. An Act for the better protection of Game in the Province of Ontario.
13. An Act to legalize and confirm the survey made by Alexander Campbell, Provincial Land Surveyor, of that part of the Township of Seymour lying north-east of the River Trent, and north-west of Crow River.
14. An Act to amend the Registry Act and to further provide as to the certificates of Married Women, touching their consent as to the Execution of Deeds of Conveyance.
15. An Act for the incorporating the Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company.
16. An Act to amend Chapter one hundred and nineteen of the Consolidated Statutes of Upper Canada, so far as it relates to fees to Sheriffs.

His Excellency and staff having retired,

Atty.-Gen. Macdonald moved that when this House adjourns it stand adjourned till Wednesday the 6th January at 3p.m.—Carried.

The House then adjourned.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy; the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished in Anatomy what is at last accomplished in Hygiene by the Great Rhodonese Remedy, which has so often checked the inroad of these lung diseases of the throat which Imprudence and exposure have united to make so common.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's father, on the 10th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Blain, Mr. Israel Payne, youngest son of Lazarus Payne, Esq., to Isabella, youngest daughter of George Young, Esq., all of North Monaghan.

DIED.

At Millbrook, on the 17th inst., Eliza, youngest daughter of Archibald Armstrong, Esq., aged 24 years.

In Otonabee, on the 21st inst., Fanny, wife of Isaac Armstrong, Esq., aged 48 years.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

PETERBOROUGH, December, 24, 1868.

Flour ₱ brl	$4 75	@	$6 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0 95	@	1 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0 90	@	0 95
Peas "	0 75	@	0 80
Barley "	0 90	@	0 95
Oats "	0 50	@	0 55
Potatoes "	0 40	@	0 45
Hay ₱ ton	7 00	@	9 00
Hides ₱ cwt	5 50	@	6 00
Beef ₱ cwt	4 50	@	6 00
Sheepskins	1 00	@	1 00
Wool ₱ lb	0 20	@	0 21
Pork ₱ cwt	6 50	@	7 00
Eggs, per dozen	0 15	@	0 20
Butter,	0 18	@	0 21
Cordwood	3 00	@	3 50
Fowl, per pair	0 30	@	0 50
Geese	0 40	@	0 50
Turkeys	0 40	@	1 00

New Advertisements.

FARM FOR SALE.

SOUTH HALF OF LOT No. 31 in the 11th concession of the Township of Smith.—There are 50 acres under cultivation, and the balance is good hardwood land.

For terms, &c., apply to
WM. ADAMS, Lakefield P.O.
or ALEX. PRESTON, Smith.

Smith, Dec. 23, 1868. 52

Galway Mining Company.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that a call of twenty per cent has been made on the Capital Stock of this Company, and that the same is payable at the office of the Company, on and after Monday, the Fourth day of January, A. D. 1869.

Dated the 21st day of December, A.D., 1868.

By order of the Directors,
JOHN BURNHAM,
Secretary and Treasurer.

52-2in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864,

AND AMENDMENTS THERETO.

THE Creditors of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs. Fairb

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

An assortment of Electro Plate Cruets, Toast Racks, Butter Coolers, Jellie Dishes, Cups, Cake and Card Baskets, Napkin Rings, Pickle Forks and other goods in this line.

Strates, Pocket and Table Cutlery.

Hoe & Co's Tuttle × Cut Saw.

Kenyon's Files and Steel.

G. STETHEM & Co.

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Lecture on Macaulay—Rev. W. M. Punshon
Galway Mining Co—John Burnham.
Farm for Sale—W. Adams.
Brick, &c., for Sale—H. Calcutt.
Handsome Christmas Gift—Peterboro Sewing Machine Co.
List of Convictions—C. A. Weller.
Strayed—Joseph H. Walton.
Strayed—E. Green.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1868.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS.

We have much pleasure in again wishing our numerous readers a "merry Christmas." The revolutions of the seasons too often bring back sad recollections and remind us of events that can afford but little comfort. Not so, however, with Christmas. To all it is a season of hope and pleasure. To the young it presents an opportunity of merry-making, visiting and enjoyment that no other season affords, and to the more serious and staid a season of reflection and promise. We trust that all our patrons will fully realise all that is contained in the usual salutation—"A Merry Christmas," and not only be merry, but also enjoy peace and good-will. To our best wishes for all their happiness, we beg to add all the "compliments of the season."

LEGISLATURE OF ONTARIO.

The Legislature of Ontario is adjourned till the 6th of January. In another column we give the Bills thaht have become law; there are several important measures yet to be discussed. Those relating to Grammar & Common Schools are not the least. The Municipal and Assessm't Act is also to be discussed, besides numerous private Bills to be pushed through. Hasty Legislation on many of these will lead to endless troubles and annoyance in the country. The Municipal Law has already become a piece of complete patch-work, and ere long will require to be consolidated to be intelligible. In view of this it would be better to postpone intermeddling with it until pressing Legislation be gone through with, and then have the whole Municipal and Assessment Law arranged and perfected so that it will not require annual dobbling. At present there is no way of collecting poll tax off those in villages and towns who have nothing to destrain, while provisions are made for collecting a similar tax in the townships. This must be an oversight of the Legislature which could and should be put right at once. If the Law is to be amended th a session, perhaps some of our representatives will see to it. The School Bill, too, should be before the country for a year. Dr. Ryerson, it is true, has given considerable attention to it, but is well known that many of his schemes are not agreeable to the will of the people, and are considered uncalled for and unwise. Our Legislature would best consult the interests of education by careful Legislation—which will be best obtained by granting time to consider the matter more fully. It is well known that when Dr. Ryerson paid his flying visit to the counties, about two years ago, that in very few instances did he wait to hear the questions proposed discussed; he generally made his speech and left. He, therefore, was not able to judge fairly of the arguments of the opponents of the proposed measures, as he never heard them, and hence of course would remain of his own opinion. It is just so with the present Bill; it has been prepared in a hurry and has not received that careful consideration it deserves.

Upper Canada College will have to give an account of the receipts and expenditure, and its labor, for the past five years. There appears a disposition on the part of M C. Cameron to burk enquiry on this matter. We hope, however, that his plans will be watched, and that justice shall be done to the Grammar Schools; they concern the whole country; Upper Canada College concerns Toronto. All depends on John Sandfield. His followers are like so many sheep—wherever the leader goes they follow.

It is a pleasing sign of the times that John Sandfield is forced to accept the terms o the opposition. The Tory members make wry faces, but accept the dose for love of office; poor J. Carnegie and Geo. Read, among the rest. What a pitiable spectacle they must be—whipped up to vote for the principles of the detested Reformers. They have neither the ability nor the courage to advocate the principles on which they were elected. John Carnegie would never have misrepresented West Peterboro but for his promise to vote for denominational grants. His supporters know how he fulfilled his promise.

The people of East Peterborough chose a dummy, believing that by doing so he would not advocate views contrary to those of the respectable part of the community. As a politician he is a miserable failure, without principles, he votes as J. Sandfield directs; and without a tongue—he is a complete nonentity in the House.

What have Messrs. Read and Carnegie done for this county? Nothing. What have they done for those who elected them? nay, but how much have they done against them? Mr. Carnegie sold the denominations wholly, and Mr. Read sold his Methodist and Roman Catholic friends for fear of John Sandfield. There is not a county in Ontario represented by men so void of political honesty, so completely at the mercy of an ambitious premier, and so completely void of intellect and ability.

Mr. Read is a nice man in a private capacity, and the more private he remains the better will he fill the niche nature intended for him. His colleague from the west of the river, we shall leave to be dealt with by those electors whom he first bought, and then sold on the College question, and to those poor unfortunate settlers on the rocks of Burleigh, &c., whose lands he thought to put into the hands of money lenders.

NOMINATION ON MONDAY.

SMITH.—For Reeve; John Walton, Isaac Garbutt and James Dixon, Esqs: For Deputy Reeve; Isaac Garbutt Jas. Dixon and Geo. Fitzgerald, Esqs: For Councillors; Michael Sanderson, Andrew Montgomery, John Beckett and Joseph Nelson.

ASHBURNHAM.—For Reeve; R. D. Rogers Esq: Councillors; H. Bennett, H. Calcutt, Jas. Z. Rogers and John Burnham, Esqs.

TOWN.—For Mayor; W. H. Scott, Esq: reelected.

In the North-ward; D. W. Dumble, W. H. Wrighton, Geo. Edmonson and A Rutherford.

In the East-ward—S. Dixon, Thomas Chambers and Jno. Brown, Esqs.

South-Ward—E. Burnham, I. O'Beirne, Tho. Beavis and Ed. Lawder.

Centre-Ward—John Doherty, reelected.

DUMMER.—Reeve; Wm Moher, reelected: Councillors; Jas. Hogan Sen., Robert Casement, Robert Brown, John Barry, John Walsh and Wm. Gill.

MONAGHAN.—Reeve; Geo. Young, J. W. Gilmour and D. Hopkins: Councillors; R. Laing, Geo. Birney, Geo. Tully, Wm. Robson, H. Collins, Geo Hoosy, W. Brownscombe and Robert Harper.

OTONABEE.—Reeve; Wm. Lang, reelected by acclamation: Deputy Reeve; Jas. Millar, reelected by acclamation: Councillors; T. Blizard, H. H. Burnham Wm. Duffin and John Millar.

HARVEY.—For Reeve, W. H. Scott, reelected; for Councillors, David Brodie, Wm. Weir, Archibald Johnston, Wm. Ventres, and I. Dollier Hall.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.—Reeve; John Kerr and Wm. Rutherford, Councillors: Richard Nurse, George Garnett, Joseph Barnard, Robt. Riddell, John A. Turnbull, William Nurse and John Watterman.

WHELAN.

The Court refused to grant a new trial in the case of Whelan. Judge Morrison dissenting from the others; all agreed against the ruling of Chief Justice Richards, on the matter of challenging for cause before the preemptory challenges were exhausted; but Chief Justice Richards and Judge Wilson hold that the prisoner received no injury by the ruling. On this day the discussion of the Judges will be argued in the Queen's Bench, but there is little hope that the result will be otherwise than as decided by the Judges. His counsel may still appeal to the Privy Council of England. This they will scarcely do, as the expenses would be very heavy—perhaps more than the prisoner's friends are prepared to expend. A new trial, however, would be of no avail; a jury to acquit him could scarcely be found in the Dominion. All sober minded people regret the taking of the life of even a criminal, and would willingly avert it if the safety of life and property could be maintained without it. But there is less sympathy for Whelan than is generally manifested for men in his position.

The examinations in the Union School, terminated on Tuesday. The number of visitors was not equal to what it should be on such occasions. Parents and friends of education should manifest their interest by their presence at those exhibitions of the labours of both teachers and pupils. The Grammar and Union School is under very efficient management, and very great unanimity prevails amongst the teachers. At the close of the examinations of Miss Borrowman's division, Miss Richardson and Miss Craig presented the Teacher with a very nice watch stand, accompanied by a very appropriate address, to which Miss Borrowman made an extempore reply, in fitting terms. It is very satisfactory, to learn that the attendance is large and on the increase; several of the rooms are full to crowding, and in two cases at least too many are under the management of one teacher. To remedy this, the Board contemplate erecting a ward school, so situated as to meet the requirements of the South and Centre Wards, and commodious enough to suit employing two teachers, if required. This, we understand, will be commenced as early as possible in the Spring. At present the female teachers have the largest attendance; the lowest being 26, the highest 71. The attendance in the male teachers department being from 28 to 62. The total average by the last returns is 441.

The following Teachers received Certificates at the late examination, at the Norwood Board of Instruction:

Samuel Duff, 1st B, 2 years.
Alex H. Kidd, 2nd C, 1 year.
John Shears, 3rd, 1 year.
Robt. Tudehope, 1st B, 2 years.
Eugene McNichol, 2nd B, 1 year.
John McGuire, 1st C, 2 years.
Sarah Wilkinson, 2nd B, 1 year.
Amelia Scott, 2nd A, 2 years.
Eliza Harper, 2nd B, 1 year.
Sarah Ferguson, 2nd C, 1 year.
Olivia Cuffe, 2nd C. 1 year.
Janet Douglas, 3rd, 1 year.
Isabella Garrison, 3rd, 6 months.
Lissie Rae, 2nd C, 1 year.
Mary O'Neil, 3rd, 6 months.
Mary E. Cather, 3rd, 1 year.
Alice Weller, 3rd, 6 months.
Ellen Cumming, 2nd C, 1 year.
Annie Doherty 2nd B, 1 year.
Maggie Coughlin, 2nd B, 1 year.
Mary Fitzpatrick, 2nd B, 1 year.

PUNSHON ON MACAULAY.—We refer our readers to our advertising columns, for particulars as to the lecture promised from the Rev. W. Morley Punshon, on the evening of the 6th January next. Mr. Punshon has for some time ranked amongst the first pulpit orators in England, and that is to class him amongst the most celebrated orators in the world. But his admirers claim that the platform is where he appears to the best advantage. Many a time did he literally pack Exeter Hall with enthusiastic thousands of listeners. His fame is great in many of the principal cities of the United States and Canada where he has already lectured, and we feel sure that the Trustees of the Wesleyan Church are furnishing the inhabitants of Peterboro and vicinity with no ordinary treat, in securing the services of such a man. The lecture is to commence at 8, the doors opening at 7, and is to be in the Canada Presbyterian Church. As only a limited number of tickets will be sold, we advise our readers to apply early.

THE "SUN" AGAINST THE "WORLD" FOR TERRESTRIAL HONORS.—Mr. McNaughton, Editor of Cobourg Sun, opposes Mr. Mougb, of the World, as Councillor at the approaching election. We trust that the chariot of the Sun will keep its proper course lest it set the World on fire.

GALWAY MINING COMPANY.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Company was held at the Town of Peterboro, on the 15th December, when the report of the Directors of the operations of the past year was read. The President's report showed the Company to be in a good position and from it we should judge that the stockholders will realize a handsome thing from this venture. The following is the new Board of Directors for 1869: Messrs. W. H. Scott, A. H. Campbell, Henry Calcutt, John J. Hall, John Burnham, Henry C. Rogers and Jonathan Stephenson. At a meeting of the Directors, held immediately afterwards, W. H. Scott, Esq., was elected President of the Company for 1869.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—At a meeting of the Directors on Monday evening Mr. Wm. Cameron was chosen President; D. W. Dumble, Esq., Vice President; D. S. Eastwood, Esq., Treasurer, J. A. Hall, Esq., corresponding Secretary; and W. Mason, recording Secretary. The first meeting of the Society will take place on the 1st Monday in January, 1869; of the time and place due notice will be given. In the meantime committees are making arrangements for suitable rooms, for getting By-Laws and constitutions printed, and such other business as may be necessary for the proper organization of the Association. The twelve Directors from whom the officers were selected are: Messrs. Eastwood, Dumble, Fairbairn, W. Cameron, Pentland, J. W. Gilmour, T. Donnelly, W. J. Mason, J Stratton, I. Robinson, J. W. Dunnett, and J. A. Hall.

THE FAIR.—A large number of people, o all sexes, visited the town on Tuesday; but like all other fair-days, not more than the usual amount of business was done. The The great majority came to see and be seen. Not a few got on the Bend (not the Grecian) towards evening, one old man, of about 60 years entered the Otonabee Bridge for a tavern door, and swore fearfully because he could not find the bar.

SALE OF FARM TOWN AND VILLAGE PROPERTY.—We ask our readers to remember the sale of Farm and Town property, to day, at one o'clock, p. m., at CASSIDA HOTEL. The greater part of the property is in favorable situations. Intending purchasers will do well to attend the sale.

GONE TO PENITENTIARY.—Mary Nix and Ann Brennen, too well known here, and Jas. McCabe and Jas. Higgins were sentenced at the Cobourg Quarter Sessions to five years in the Penitentiary for stripping clothes lines in the vicinity of Cobourg. They should have been there long ago.

SOIREE:—The Soiree in connection with the Cavania Presbyterian Church Lakefield, will be held on New Year's day, and we have no doubt but that many will avail themselves of the Holiday to visit the aspiring little village on the occasion. Tea to be served at 3 o'clock.

SERMON ON CHRISTMAS.—We are requested to state, that the Rev. John Gilmour will preach in the School Room of the Wesleyan Church, on Christmas Day, 10.30, a. m.—At the close of the sermon, a collection will be taken up for the poor.

Some of Mr. Lech's furs stolen by Seymour, to the value of 40 or $50, were found in Fur Stores in Kingston. Seymour's accomplice sold them there. Seymour formerly belonged to the New York Police force, and there, no doubt, learned his trade of burglary.

NEW POST OFFICE IN OTONABEE.—A new Post Office has been opened in Otonabee, near Swan's Corners. It is named after Mr. Graystock, who is also appointed the first Post Master.

The Protestant Home Committee beg to thank the St Andrews Society for a Donation of Twenty Dollars, received through Alexr. Smith, Esqr., after their Annual meeting.

Why is the Local Member for East Peterboro in Parliament like the guest at the Marriage Feast, who had not on a wedding garment? Because there, he—is—speechless.

The British Templars will have a Soiree in Hill's Music Hall, on Tuesday 29th inst. Tea to be at 7.30 p. m.

A frame house at the Railway Station, Omemee, was destroyed by fire on Monday night. Loss $600 to $700, insured for $400.

Judge Draper, Kingston, died last Thursday.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—It is a source of satisfaction that there is a prospect of the vexed question of Denominational Grants being set at rest for all time to come, having received its quietus in the Legislature from its friends as well as opponents, and we trust the agitators will learn to behave themselves, and act with more prudence in time to come. The ignominious defeat of the members of the Legislature, who introduced and advocated the measure, must convince them that there is no hope of success in reviving the agitation anew. We may, therefore, expect to receive some appellations the reverse of complimentary from the hankerers after State aid.

I observe in the last two issues of your neighbour of the Review, we are treated to an opprobious epithet which we do not deserve. If the writer is in favour of Church and State, or Denominational endowments, he can advocate his views as he thinks best; but he must know, if he knows anything of the popular feeling in Canada on these points, that such sentiments are not entertained but by an insignificant fraction of the inhabitants—that the voluntary principle is largely on the ascendent here, and when he uses such epithets as "rabid voluntaries," he not only foully slanders a large majority of the people, but is guilty of wilful falsehood, and a breach of the amenities of civilized society. We are voluntaries, we frankly confess and rejoice in the name, but we deny that we are "mad." We simply seek to prevent the calumniators from any longer receiving subsidies from the public chest for denominational purposes. When we opposed the retention of the seventh part of the public domain for denominational purposes, we were called "infidels, firebrands, deserters of religion, radicals" and I know not what. We have outlived these sectarian outbursts of indignation, and succeeded in setting at rest for ever this prolific source of discord. We must expect some obloquy if we cross some people in a favorite scheme to get public money. When you touch a man's pocket you touch a tender point. It is like tramping on his corns—ten to one but he raises his foot on hand to strike. We trust the Review man will apologize for his breach of good manners, and not repeat so offensive an act as calling ill names.

I notice with pleasure a change come over our Chief Superintendent of Education. He has succeeded in his hobby so far, of ingrafting compulsory education in the Common School system of Ontario, as to get a committee of the Legislature to adopt it in their report, and having gained that point, he will find enough to occupy his time in advancing the purport appointed to promote the intelligent interests, in place of writing pamphlets depreciating the Toronto University and College. In his special report for 1868 he says, "after reviewing what has been done and is doing in other countries on the matter of education, happy Ontario that has long since abolished denominational and religious monopolies—fatal to national peace and instruction, and has combined all parties upon equal terms on the noble mark of universal education." Who would think that the man who penned the above had ever written or spoken in favour of State grants for denominational colleges? or had spoken and labored to destroy our noble University. Let us be thankful that in common with other erratic State aid advocates are coming to a right state of mind. I may with your permission at a future time refer to some more matters in connection with Colleges. Meantime,

I am, sir,
Yours truly,
J. E.

Peterboro, December, 1868.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I have no desire to take up your space or my own time in replying, more fully, to the anonymous writers, who have, through your columns, unprovokingly dragged my private business before the public. If I have occasion hereafter to do so, I will unmask and exhibit them in all their naked deformity.

But, as one of them, "Mercator," has made two specific charges against me, I must notice them. This person has been most persevering in his enquiries about my business. He had sifted the past and present officers of the company, not even forgetting the Fowlers, who, he knows, bear a bitter animosity to the present proprietors, and towards any one who may be friendly to them or the road; and when would not scruple to resort to misrepresentation to gratify their own spleen.

The result of these investigations which cover my business transactions with the road for the past 12 years, is given in "Mercator's" last letter, viz.:—"That I received drawbacks of "wheat and flour heat down, and that I only "paid 12½ cents per barrel for flour when others "were paying 16 or 17."

The only flour I ever shipped that paid the read less than the usual rate, was a few hundred barrels manufactured at the Allandale Mills, in Otonabee, and which the company, for the purpose of giving the road business one winter, when it had but little to do, agreed to carry at a cost of 20 cents per barrel from the mill to Port Hope, the same rate we were then giving from Allandale via. Cobourg.

As Mr. Kimball, the late Superintendent of the Port Hope road, has been brought forward as a witness, I beg to submit his letter, and also one from Mr. Short.

This I think should satisfy even the mind of the doubter—"Mercator."

With regard to the drawback on the wheat, which Mr. Fowler has spoken of to certain parties, I may be allowed to state, that this was a simple contract based upon business principles, and similar to other contracts made by the lessees with Lumberers, &c. Even "Mercator's" friend, whom we all respect, contracted for the carriage of 10,000 barrels flour, at not only a less rate than the tariff, but upon more favourable terms than were conceded to any other shipper of flour. But the difference between his and mine was this, I paid the same rate as others, while he paid less.

In making the tariff for the Port Hope road, I took the tariff of the Cobourg and Peterboro railway as my guide. In this tariff, which is registered in the Registry office here, the lessees were bound not to exceed the maximum rates of the Cobourg road for a term of years, but, of course, they were not prevented from charging at much less as they pleased In this tariff the maximum rate for lumber and wheat was $1 90 per thousand feet, and 5 cents per bushel from Peterboro' to Port Hope.

About that time I began to buy wheat on the Line for shipment. I found that the freight on wheat from Millbrook was 3½ cents per bushel, and 4 cents from Bethany, Franklin and Omemee, to Port Hope, on the Lindsay Road. I saw that I could not buy wheat here and pay 5 cents, and, in consequence, I informed the Lessees, that if they could not carry for a less rate, or equal to what I was paying on the Lindsay Road, I would stop buying in Peterboro, as I could buy from the farmers who were delivering to me here, the same wheat at Millbrook. The Lessees had no interest in the earnings of the Lindsay Road, but they were anxious to get business for their Branch, and to secure it, they at once agreed to carry my wheat at 4 cents per bushel. But the agent here billed the wheat at the tariff rate, viz.:—5 cents per bushel, and the freight on each shipment was collected from my agent at Port Hope, and hence the necessity of refunding to me at the end of the year the overcharge of one cent per bushel. But that these drawbacks ever amounted to $700 in one year, is another of "Mercator's" INTENTIONS.

This course was pursued, I think, for two years, when I objected to pay them money in this way and lie out of it dotil the end of the year, and the difficulty was overcome by sending the wheat forward at the contract price —4 cents—and by changing the tariff to 4 cents per bushel, at which rate it has remained ever since.

I never bed a bushel of grain carried on the road, in any shape for less than the present tariff of 4 cents per bushel, or for less than any one else paid. Indeed, no person ever paid 5 cents. I was the only shipper of grain on the road at that time.

W. CLUXTON.

Peterboro, Dec. 20, 1868.

LINDSAY, 17th Dec. 1868.

WM. CLUXTON, Esq:

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of the 11th inst., I beg to state that I have never authorized any person to use my name in connection with your business on the Railway during my superintendence of the same. I may have said in reply to questions asked, as a simple matter of fact, that the Road carried a few hundred barrels of your flour manufactured at Allandale Mills, which only paid a freight of 12½ cents per barrel, but I did not do this to convey the idea that you got your business done cheaper, or upon better terms than others; and so far as I can remember you never asked me for special favours nor more advantageous terms than were conceded to others, nor were they given you by me.

Yours truly,
H. B. KIMBALL.

ALLANDALE MILLS, 14th Dec. 1868.

WM. CLUXTON, ESQ.,
Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your favour of the 11th inst. (which only came to hand on the evening of the 12th,) I beg to say that the rate of freight paid on flour of the joint account between yourself and Richard Short, Sen., was twenty cents per barrel from Allandale Mills to Cobourg. Also, that the rate paid for a portion of the flour, sent via Peterborough to Port Hope, was the same, say 7½ cents from Allandale to Peterborough and 12½ cents from Peterborough to Port Hope.

To the best of my recollection the arrangement with the railroad was made at my suggestion, and was similar to one I had previously entered into with the railroad on my own account.

There was no saving secured by forwarding the flour via Peterborough and the larger portion of it was sent via Cobourg.

Yours truly,
THOMAS SHORT.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—In addressing myself again, through the columns of your journal, to Mr. Cluxton, I regret that my last communication, designed to afford that gentleman an opportunity of explaining his conduct, has seemingly been utilized to the fullest extent, inasmuch as the facts being in accordance with the fruitless position he would occupy it would be difficult to advance them in a more unbecoming manner. He undertakes to establish and no doubt does conclusively enough to his own mind, that he has never taken the subject of any special regard on the part of the Railway Company, and that he merits the ever-living laurel for his participation in the Bethune street extension. I purpose treating briefly on these questions, with the truly commendable intention of assisting him from the storm of an unfortunate dilemma upon which he has got himself in the outset. I cannot refrain from expressing my sincere approval of the entire truthfulness pervading that portion of his letter referring to his relations with the Railway. It is gratifying that these questions may be intelligently discussed with a due regard to that eminently christian virtue. There are few who will not readily admit that he has frequently desired, before large audiences, these trifling Railway transgressions, and there are many who will recognise several grains of veracity in his language when he states that if he had sworn to it such men as "Another Ratepayer" would not believe him. Acquitting him, therefore, of any breach of veracity as to this portion of his letter, I trust he will not feel offended with the friendly suggestion that he has been much wanting in his usual discretion as to the manner of his defence. The occasional insinuations indulged in by these "lousy bodies," so courteously alluded to under many euphonious titles through his quotation from Dr. Clarke, is that he has enjoyed various advantages from the company in the shape of reductions and drawbacks, together forming the key to his patriotic course in the Council and in corroboration of his own constant assertions to the contrary. He adduces with much flourish of trumpets the letters of three employees who agree in ruthlessly depriving him of these little perquisites. I certainly think he presumes a little too much upon the credulity of the public if he intends these letters to prove anything in his favour. He must remember the old story of the man who could bring fifty witnesses to swear they did not see him steal the horse in opposition to any one that did. Now, does he really think, or would any man of even common capacity believe for a moment that if there had been any thing like drawbacks going, any one of these three gentlemen would know anything about it. The essential meaning of the word conveys the inevitable impression that the favoured individual has the advantage of a secret reduction, and he as ex-President of a road for which he has done such good service that any thing in the management, whose privacy is to be observed, is carefully shielded from employees. I do not for a moment admit with him the necessity of sustaining his own irreproachable word, by the estimate of other parties, but I think it is much to be regretted that while he was in the mood he did not see fit to adduce the declarations of those who ought to know something about it, it would have had a happy effect, and of course they would have been ready and willing to vouch for him. If my memory serves me the "abominable race" derived the foundation of their ingenious insinuations against him; a year ago or more, from the alleged statement of the Messrs Fowler, that he had a drawback of $700, in grain, said of Mr. Kimble, that he had been similarly so in regard to flour. and if my memory be not at fault, he at that time announced in public his determination of enforcing these gentlemen to sustain their averments before a court of justice. With due deference to his superior discretion I cannot but think that this would have been much the wiser course to adopt if his equilibrum be really disturbed by these groundless rumours. I do not desire to leave for a moment the impression that the double, triple assertion of these gentlemen is entitled to the slightest weight against his simple denial, although the Messrs. Fowler must have been particularly conversant with the facts of the case, but refer to them merely in support of my argument against the propriety of his defence. I am not aware that these preparations have been proceeded with, and if they have not, I would urge him as a friend to lose no time in commencing them. His duty to himself demands it; and they would be followed by the double consequence of teaching, a wholesome lesson to Messrs. Fowler and Mr. Kimball in daring to venture reckless assertion detrimental to personal character, and placing his conduct squarely before those of Dr. Clarke's impertinent meddlers, who infest this community, and who might otherwise ground his objection to such proceedings upon a wholesome fear of future revelations. But he should, my dear sir, repeat his disavowal of railway patronage, either on the platform or through the mediation of the press, for he may take my word for it, the depravity of human nature will warrant the conclusion that the more he does so the more he wont be believed. And, moreover, although I am truly his friend, candour compels me to admit that there is something to be said on both sides of the question. If he will kindly yield a little of that attention which has hitherto been undivided in favour of Dr. Clarke, to the writings of a poet whose productions are somewhat extensively read now-a-days you may discover the effect that will naturally flow from his repeated denials in the times.

A lie that is wholly a lie may be met and fought with outright:
But a lie that is partly the truth is a harder matter to fight.

And if the poet were as well up in the more salient points of human nature as Dr. Clarke is in moral law, the "human devils" of the latter may reasonably conclude from the desperate fight he is making against his ugly insinuation, that it may be after all about half true.

As to swearing, dear sir, I would strongly urge a much milder course of expostulation, for there might not be wanting, a score or two of his neighbours who would be ungracious enough to take him at his word, and fail to be convinced even upon his oath, and in this connection, dear sir, I would ask him to accept the advice given in a truly friendly spirit, that Punch is said to have given to those about to marry—"don't."

As to the latter portion of his letter in which he so highly commends the creditable course he pursued in relation to the Bethune street extension, I greatly fear his position in that respect has been the subject of serious misconstruction, and in endeavouring to underbrush as it were his own part in securing that great boon to the Town, and place his priceless efforts partly before the community, I may be called upon to criticise somewhat closely minor parts, but with all in a friendly spirit. When the By law granting this right of way was first introduced and which was advocated openly by him, it contained a clause that it should not interfere with the rights of adjoining land owners against the Company. As a matter of law this clause was a dead letter, as the right of way being once conceded effectually deprived these parties of any remedy against the Company. Now, dear sir, between ourselves he either knew this at that time as well as the gentleman who introduced the By-law or he did not. if he did, it was no doubt highly creditable to his ingenuity in rases of character, but his best friends will acknowledge that it was glaringly inconsistent with those manifold protestations of candour and fair dealing he is wont to indulge himself in. If he did not know it the advocacy of the By-law in its then shape committed him completely to its principles of granting the right of way only on condition of the Company compensating those parties. This is fair talking. The consequences follow directly upon the antecedents, and when the ruse was discovered, if ruse there was, he found himself in a little bed of a box, as a Councillor. With his enviable reputation for consistency, he would be expected to follow up the principles to which he was committed, and insist upon compensation, and had you been representing the railway board instead of his constituents his natural course would have been to sacrifice the principle, put on a bold front and carry it through if he could. I do not for a moment, my dear sir, entertain the impression that he occupied the former position at the Council Board, for all who are familiarly conversant with the matter can plainly, still standing inquiries of him bring his two somewhat inconsistent positions to conflict, notwithstanding it unfortunately happens that this is just the course he did pursue; unfortunately, because the conclusion may not eventually follow to some of Dr. Clarke's "tell tales" that there was somewhat remarkable coincidence between his own honest views and the pecuniary interests of the Company. If he will permit himself to reflect upon the discussion, he may possibly recall the past—that he had recourse to a seemingly formidably argument, viz: That he had it from some confidential railway source; that in the event of the Company not obtaining the right of way gratuitously, they would not extend to Lakefield, a consummation in his estimation doubly to be avoided. This position, it may be wisely conceived, is somewhat distinct from the justification he now assumes, and I cannot therefore but yield to my pressing anxiety in his behalf and suggest in a friendly tone. This cucothes scribendi, which is ever parading him before the public is somewhat of a bane in its way and not unfrequently induces a gentle vault from the frying pan into the fire. He suggested then, as indeed he now advocates, that the ratepayers generally should come to the rescue, and contribute to this compensation. Now, speaking seriously, dear sir, if the community at large are unwilling to attribute to him an over waning confidence in his own abilities which his natural modesty, in speaking of his own great efforts in building up the Town, forbids; to believe that his various qualifications are such as to lend any degree of sincerity to his charitable idea of the Town making up this compensation. He knows that this cannot be done without an Act of Parliament, super added to the declared wish of a majority of the ratepayers; and he knows there is no probability of these two conditions being complied with. Granting that the first was possible, even he would not applaud a Legislature wanting as much in deporum as would enable them to resist encouragement to corporations conveying away private rights without any shadow of reason or right.

He says that no Councillor ever refused to pay the owners of property on Bethune Street. He knows that the passage of this By law deprived these parties of any remedy against the Company, and notwithstanding his modest opinion of Mr. Cluxton, there are few will believe him ignorant of the fact that the Town cannot possibly grant this compensation,—who besides are to pay these parties? It cannot be denied that they have a trifling interest as to the source of their quid pro quo, and he would do a good turn by obliging them in this respect.

My object has been to endeavour to reconcile the various inconsistencies of his course, and if I have failed in that charitable object he must not attribute to me blame that is properly referable to the stubborn nature of the facts themselves.

If, in conclusion, he would not be disturbed by one or two suggestions I might make, I would esteem it a special favour: Did he ever reflect upon the manifest impropriety, not to say indecency of continuing in his two positions—on the Railway Board and in the Town Council, while the two corporations are so frequently at variance? This is not altogether unworthy of his attention and consideration, to say nothing of his commissionership, being somewhas in antagonism to both? It might be considered delicate if he were to vacate one if not both of these important situations; there is of course the serious difficulty of some of these public bodies being able to want his valuable assistance and great experience.

But in looking at the direction in which the more energetic of his services have hitherto extended themselves, it will be very generally admitted that the Railway Board could least of all afford to spare him.

I remain, Sir,
ANOTHER RATEPAYER.

THAT COLLEGE QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR.—There has been a good deal said about Mr. Carnegie's vote on the Sectarian grants, but what about Mr. Reade? What will that gentleman's Methodist and Roman Catholic supporters think about it? Why, sir, when that gentlemen was out here in Dummer on his canvass and failed to make a speech—I cannot say broke down, for he had nothing to break down on; he returned again at a subsequent period and brought Dr. McRea with him, and when neither of them would make a speech the Doctor read a pamphlet purporting to be got up by Dr. Ryerson, thinking by that means to catch the Methodist vote, and I have no doubt succeeded to a certain extent. I was talking the other day to an old Scotchman who said: "Maun, is it not graund to see they old Tories that has been such fabbid supporters of John A. & Co. gulping down their own dirt for the sake of place and power, and voting with the Reformers and contrary to the principles they have advocated for years."

Reformers have a right to be proud of their position to-day. More anon.

Yours, &c.,
A REFORMER.

IAMATOLOGIA!

THE HON. GEO. BROWN was unanimously nominated at a convention at Fergus, to be a candidate to represent Centre Willington, in the place of the late Dr. Parker. Mr. Brown's services are very much needed in the House of Commons, and it is to be hoped that he will consent to come out. His election is certain, if he only allows himself to be a candidate. It is reported that he has positively declined, we trust that he will yet see it his duty to give way to the will of the people.

The Napanee Standard says:—A Miss Davenport, aged 24 years, was drowned by breaking through the ice on Mud Creek on Sunday 6th instant. She and her mother, brother, sister, and two other Ladies were driving on the ice, it gave way and were precipated into the water. All got out safely but the one.

Twice, during this session of the Legislature, the decision of the speakers has been referred to the House; once sustained and once reversed; both decisions of the House were against the views of the Ministry.

Mr. T. Killan member of the Local House, Nova Scotia, for Digby, died of paralysis, on the 15th inst., while returning home from Halifax.

IAMATOLOGIA!

At a Public Meeting held in Buffalo a few days since Ex-President Fillmore is reported to have said, that he would do nothing to excite the ire or provoke the hostility of his Canadian neighbours, they were a worthy people, and were for the most part friendly; an immediate outbreak was not to be anticipated, but he would advise his fellow citizens to heed the lessons which history had taught all nations. "In time of peace prepare for war," hence it would be well to have our Northern frontiers well fortified.

Is not this a lesson for us to fortify our Southern frontiers? and while doing so would it not be well to fortify ourselves against the attacks of rheumatism, coughs, colds, cholics, bowel complaints, and all other diseases incident to this climate by supplying ourselves with the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," One be had of any Medicine Dealer for 25cts per bottle.

On Saturday, at 2 o'clock, P.M., His Excellency the Hon. William Pierce Howland, C.B., proceeded in State to the Chamber of the Legislative Assembly. His Excellency was accompanied by an escort of the 13th Hussars and was met at the Parliament Buildings by a detachment of the 29th as their Band. A staff of regular and volunteer officers, including Lieut.-Gen. Stisted, met the Lieut. Governor at the Parliament Buildings and were present in the Chamber while the assent was given to the following Bills:—

1. An Act for continuing the Legislative in case of the Demise of the Crown.
2. An Act to provide for Oaths to Witnesses being administered in certain cases, for the purpose of the Legislative Assembly.
3. An Act to alter the Law of Dower, and to regulate proceedings in action for the recovery of Dower.
4. The Law Reform Act of 1868.
5. An Act to explain the 36th section of the Hamilton Debentures Act of 1864, and to legalize (if necessary) the application of the rates levied by the City of Hamilton, under the by-law referred to in that section.
6. An Act to divide the Township of Garafraxa into two Municipalities.
7. An Act to amend the Law as to Wills.
8. An Act to authorize and empower the Corporation of the City of Kingston to sell and convey certain lands.
9. An Act to define the privileges, immunities and powers of the Legislative Assembly, and to give summary protection to persons employed in the publication of sessional Papers.
10. An Act to secure the independence of the Legislative Assembly.
11. An Act to make better provision for the dealing by Executors and Administrators with Mortgages.
12. An Act for the better protection of Game in the Province of Ontario.
13. An Act to legalize and confirm the survey made by Alexander Campbell, Provincial Land Surveyor, of that part of the Township of Seymour lying north-east of the River Trent, and north-west of Crow River.
15. An Act to amend the Registry Act and to further provide as to the certificates of Married Women, touching their consent as to the Execution of Deeds of Conveyances.
15. An Act for the incorporating the Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company.
16. An Act to amend Chapter one hundred and nineteen of the Consolidated Statutes of Upper Canada, so far as it relates to fees to Sheriffs.

His Excellency and staff having retired,

Atty.-Gen. Macdonald moved that when the House adjourns it stand adjourned till Wednesday the 6th January at 3p.m.—Carried.

The House then adjourned.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy; the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished in Anatomy what is at last accomplished in Hygeine by the Great Shoshonees Remedy, which has so often checked the inroad of those lung diseases of the throat which imprudence and exposure have united to make so common.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's father, on the 10th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Blain, Mr. Israel Payne, youngest son of Lazarus Payne, Esq., to Isabella, youngest daughter of George Young, Esq., all of North Monaghan.

DIED.

At Millbrook, on the 17th inst., Eliza, youngest daughter of Archibald Armstrong, Esq., aged 24 years.

In Otonabee, on the 21st inst., Fanny, wife of Isaac Armstrong, Esq., aged 48 years.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

PETERBOROUGH, December, 24, 1868.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	75	@	$6 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	95	@	1 40
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	90	@	0 95
Peas "	0	75	@	0 80
Barley "	0	90	@	0 95
Oats "	0	50	@	0 55
Potatoes "	0	40	@	0 45
Hay ₱ ton	7	00	@	9 00
Hides ₱ cwt	5	50	@	6 00
Beef ₱ cwt	4	50	@	6 00
Sheepskins	1	00	@	1 00

THE RETURN OF CONVICTIONS

Made by Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace,

WITHIN THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH,

from the

SEPTEMBER SESSIONS, 1868, TO THE DECEMBER SESSIONS, 1868.

PROSECUTOR.	DEFENDANT.	NATURE OF CHARGE.	DATE OF CONVICTION.	CONVICTING JUSTICE.	AMOUNT OF FINE.	TIME WHEN PAID OR TO BE PAID.	TO WHOM PAID OVER BY SAID JUSTICE.	REMARKS.
Thomas J. Smith	Massey Gaspey	Assault	September 9	J. Edwards	$1 00	Forthwith	Town Treasurer
James Hall	John Donovan	Trespass	" 10	do	1 00			Committed.
David Henthorn	Andrew Kane	Breach of Market By-law	" 14	W. H. Scott	1 00			Not paid yet.
Jas. McFadden	John Campbell	Using abusive language	" 15	do	5 00		Town Treasurer
" "	John Lane	Drunk and disorderly	" 15	do	5 00			Remitted.
William Arnot	Jos. Wilson	Breach of By-law	" 20	do	1 00	4 days		do
" "	Benjamin Green	" "	" 20	do	1 00	"		do
" "	Edward Phelan	" "	" 20	do	1 00	"		do
William Leech	Wm. McCullough	Using grossly insulting language	" 29	J. Edwards	1 00	Forthwith	Town Treasurer
" "	Thomas Lamont	Breach of By-law	" 29	do	50	"	do
Lewis McGregor	Mrs. Bird	Malicious injury to property	October 8	W. H. Scott	1 00		do
Jane Cope	William Ward	Using abusive language	" 8	do	4 00			Committed.
Lake Berry	William Fowler	Neglecting to perform statute labor	June 23	J. Edwards and Geo. Young	20	Forthwith	Treasurer Monagan
"	Wm. S. Scott	" "	" 23	do do	20	"	do
"	George Fowler	" "	" 23	do do	20	"	do
Benjamin Cope	William Ward	Assault	October 8	W. H. Scott	10 00			Committed.
Jas. McFadden	Denis Slyon	Drunk and disorderly	" 17	J. Edwards	1 00		Town Treasurer
— Hayes	John Cook	Assault	" 17	W. H. Scott	6 00		do
William Hedron	Lewis Prentis	"	" 26	do	5 00			Order for commital, left [town.
George Kane	George Cox	"	" 28	do	10 00		Town Treasurer
Gregor McGregor	Jas. Ainsworth	"	November 14	do	8 00			Committed.
Jas. McFadden	Wm. Kennedy	Breach of Market By-law	" 20	J. Edwards	50			Appealed.
Absalom Ingram	Adam Thompson	" "	" 21	do	50		Town Treasurer
Mercelene Labounte	Matilda Paufet	Using grossly insulting language	December 5	do	1 00		do
Thomas Russell	Ambrose Sullivan	Malicious injury to property	September 24	do	1 00		Complainant
William J. Edwards	John Langevin	Leaving employment	October 5	do	20 00			Committed.
" "	Antonie Laugevin	" "	" 5	do	20 00			do
" "	Archie Mione	" "	" 5	do	20 00			do
" "	John Corrin	" "	" 5	do	20 00			do
Wm. Kidd	Jas. Sutton	Assault	" 28	do	1 00		Town Treasurer
Matthew Switzer	Almond Phinn	Non-payment of wages	November 19	Peter Pearce	2 67	December 19
Wm. Quinlan	Peter Bolton	Obstructing Highways	" 3	James Fife	2 00	November 3	Treasurer Asphodel
Edward Patterson	Municipality of Asphodel	Sheep killed by dogs	October 28	R. Morrison and T. Coughlan	9 00	Forthwith	To Complainant
James Wason	Municipality of Dummer	" "	November 6	R. Morrison and P. Pearce	5 00	"	do
"	" "	" "	" 28	do do	4 00	"	do
Daniel Wetung	Charles Shaw	Assault and battery	" 19	M. S. Dean	5 00	"	Treasurer of Smith
John Farlington	Andrew Stabler	Non-payment of wages	August 20	Wm. Wood	12 00	"	Complainant
Samuel Johnston	Wm. Johnston	Return of property	" 24	Wm. Wood and Wm. McC. Hall			do	Property returned.
Wm. Stockdale, jr.	Joseph Hurl	Non-payment of wages	September 1	Wm. Wood	9 20	21 days	do
Joseph Anders	Alex. Johnston	Assault and battery	November 7	do	One cent	Forthwith	Treasurer of Harvey
"	James Johnston	" "	" 7	do	3 00	"	do
Thomas Hatton	Alex Johnston	" "	" 7	do	5 00	"	do
Michael O'Riley	Patrick Sullivan	Dogs killing sheep	September 16	J. T. Henthorn and T. Chambers	2 00	"		Not paid.
"	Maurice Gorman	" "	" 19	do do	2 25	"	Plaintiff
Robert Hamilton	Denis Hickey	Assault	October 22	J. T. Henthorn	50	"		Not paid.
Mary O'Brien	Henry Sonvain	Non-payment of wages	November 5	do	15 00	21 days	Plaintiff
Wm. McTaggart	Geo. Cronn	" "	" 7	do	12 30	Forthwith		Not paid.
Alex. Stewart	John Stewart	Assault	" 14	do	50	"		Paid.
Wm. McElwain	Wm White	Non-payment of wages	" 18	do	8 00	"	Plaintiff
David Conroy	J. S. Hontoon	" "	" 30	do	12 00	"	do

I hereby certify the above to be a correct list of the Convictions, filed in my office, by Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Peterborough, from the September Sessions, 1868, to the December Sessions, 1868.

Clerk of the Peace.

Peterborough, December 8th, 1868.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICE:—216 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1yr

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which it prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,

37 Sole Agents for Canada.

HEIFER STRAYED.

DRIVEN out of the pasture in the Township of Harvey, some time in the fall, a pure old Heifer (red). Such information as will lead to her recovery will be thankfully received.

S. NELSON.

Lakefield, Dec 16, 1868. 51

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.

Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.

December 16, 1868. 51

$20.00 REWARD!!

WILL BE GIVEN to any person who can give information to secure conviction of the individual, who, on Tuesday the 27th of October last, broke the window of my workshop, or given information as to who, on Saturday night the 31st of October, filled the lock of my store on George street with rubbish to prevent opening. Undoubtedly both acts have been done by the same individual. Has in no window which might be broken, or does he live in connection with both?

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, Nov. 4, 1868. 48

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS!

The subscribers beg to intimate that having made considerable alterations in their premises, they are now prepared to show an entire assortment of

FANCY GOODS!

Which for quality and richness of design surpass any they offered heretofore. We cordially invite all who are admirers of this class of Goods to call and examine our assortment, feeling assured it will afford them pleasure in doing so.

PART OF OUR STOCK CONSISTS OF

Very fine London made Jewelry, of elegant designs, also Rich Gem Rings, Ear Rings, Breast Pins, Chains, Lockets, Pencil-cases, Pen Holders, Electro-Plated Silver Ware, Spoons, &c., Fancy Cabinet and Leather Ware, and a large variety of London and Parisian Fancy Goods.

Toys! Toys! Toys!

FOR SANTA CLAUS.

We are prepared to show a large assortment of Durable, Ingenious, Mechanical Toys, Magnetic Toys, Play Toys, Games, Dolls in all varieties.

J. R. ORMOND & Co.,

December 16, 1868. 51-tf Hunter Street.

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of these countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 8 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb' Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting. Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

$20 Reward.

THE undersigned will give the above reward to any person who will give information that will lead to the conviction of the party who took my Ram from the field and killed him.

W. WEBSTER.

Otonabee, Dec. 16, 1868. 51

FOR SALE.

A GOOD YOKE OF OXEN. Price One Hundred and Twenty Dollars. Apply to the undersigned.

THOS. GEO. OBOATE.

Warsaw, Nov. 13, 1868. 47

FOUND!

A GOLD CHAIN. The owner can have it by proving property, and paying expenses, in applying to

EDWARD THOMPSON,
George St.

Peterboro, Dec. 8, 1868. 50-3in

The subscriber offers for sale a large stock of

PLUM, POUND, CITRON AND RAISIN CAKES!

XXX OYSTERS,

APPLES, FRESH FIGS, SUPERIOR

Table Raisins, Nuts, Lemons, &c.

Also, a very large stock of

Confectionery, Sugar Toys,

And Nick Nacks generally suitable for the season.

GERMAN TOYS AT COST.

A. HALL,
Confectioner, George st.

Peterboro, Dec. 16, 1868. 51-3in

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

Terms reasonable.

Apply to

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

TEACHERS WANTED!

FOR the Senior and Junior Common School department of the Norwood Union Grammar School. Applications will be received from male Teachers, with first class certificates and good references, for the Senior department; and from male and female Teachers, with second class certificates and references, for the Junior department—till noon of Saturday 19th December, inst. Applicants to state salary expected. Address

WM. E. ROXBURGH,
Secretary to Board.

Norwood, December 8th, 1868. 50

School Teacher Wanted.

WANTED, A TEACHER holding a Third Class Certificate, for Union School Section No. 8, in the Township of Minden. To commence teaching first of January next.—Application to be made to the undersigned Trustees, if by letter, to Minden Post office,

JAMES FEE,
JOSEHH McNEIL,
PETER DAWSON.

Minden, Dec. 7, 1868. 50

Teacher Wanted.

A SECOND CLASS MALE TEACHER for No. 1 School Section, North Monaghan.

Apply to

GEO. TULLY,
or WM. ROBSON,
School Trustees.

November 25, 1868. 48

NOTICE!

THE annual meeting of the Share-holders in the Cobourg, Peterboro and Marmora Railway and Mining Company, will be held at Cobourg, on the 4th day of JANUARY, 1869.

JOHN BEATTY,
Secretary.

Cobourg, Dec. 2, 1868. 49-3in

OXEN! OXEN!!

FOR SALE—a good span of heavy oxen in good working order; price $100. Apply at this office.

G. J. GALVIN,
Residence—near Lakefield.

Nov. 4, 1868. 45.

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

FOR SALE.

A GOOD LOT, in a beautiful situation, in the Village of Hastings, Asphodel. For further particulars apply to

H. SEDGWICK,
Hastings.
or C. ARMSTRONG,
Peterboro.

December 16, 1868. 51

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro, December 16, 1868. 51

PRESENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Russell's Watches! Sewill's Watches! Waltham Watches!

JOHN McCLELLAND,

WATCH-MAKER AND JEWELLER,

GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO',

Has much pleasure in announcing to the public, that he has on hand a large and well selected stock of

GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES,

By the above and other eminent makers. Also

GOLD CHAINS, BROOCHES, EAR RINGS, FINGER RINGS, Lockets, Pins, &c.,

Of the Finest Quality and Workmanship. Also FANCY GOODS, &c, for the season, at the Lowest Prices.

Peterborough, December 17, 1868. 51

TOYS FOR THE HOLIDAYS

If you want something nice for a Christmas Box,

CALL AT

GOODWIN'S, GEORGE STREET,

Where you will find the Largest and Cheapest Assortment of

GERMAN, AMERICAN TIN AND CANDY TOYS

In Town, bought expressly to supply the wants of the little ones during the Holidays.

Don't forget the place,

Dixbe's Block, George street, Peterborough.

Peterborough, December 17, 1868. 51-3in

CHANCERY SALE OF Farm Property!

IN ASPHODEL.

IN pursuance of the order of the Court of Chancery for Ontario, made in a cause BELLAMY vs. CARSON, pursued on Behalf the Respondent, will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, at the Court House, in the Town of Peterborough, on Friday, 8th of January, 1869,

at Twelve o'clock, noon, by the undersigned Local Master of the said Court, or his Clerk, in two parcels, the following Farm Property:

PARCEL ONE.

The South part of Lot number 18 in the 12th concession of Asphodel, containing sixty acres, more or less, and being that portion of said lot 18 not conveyed to the defendant, Thomas Robertson, and the North part of Lot 17 in said 12th concession, containing one hundred acres, more or less, described as follows:—Commencing at a point in the Eastern limit of said Lot 17, 11 chains and 24 links distant from the South-east angle of the said lot; thence North 14° West 18 chains and 75 links, more or less, along said Eastern limit, to the Northeast angle of said lot; thence South 74° West 53 chains 45 links, more or less, to the Western limit of said lot; thence South 16° East 16 chains 75 links; thence North 74° East 53 chains 45 links, more or less, to the place of beginning. There are about 90 acres cleared; also a Frame Two Story House, with Frame Kitchen attached, a Frame Barn 30 x 40, and a Frame Shed attached. The property is rail fenced, about four miles from Norwood village with a very good road to it. There is a Common School about a mile and a half from the property, and the country in the neighborhood is all very well settled.

Parcel Two.

The North part of Lot 18 in the 12th concession of Asphodel, aforesaid, containing one hundred acres of land. This property is adjacent to parcel number one, and upon it there are a Frame House, unfinished; a Log House; a Log barn and Frame Stable. There are about 66 acres cleared and the balance in barrowood land. The property is rail fenced. A creek runs across the south-west corner of this parcel.

Terms.

Ten per cent, down; the balance within one month from day of sale, without interest. There will be a reserved bid on each parcel. In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of the Court.

Further particulars and conditions of sale may be had gratis at the law offices of Messrs. Fairbairn & Cassels and Messrs. Weller & Hatton, Peterborough, and at the office of the said Master.

Dated this seventh day of December, A. D. 1868.

(Signed) W. H. WELLER,
Local Master.

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Vendor's Solicitor. 50

Auction Sale OF FARM AND TOWN PROPERTY.

THE undersigned has received Instructions to sell by Public Auction, on

THURSDAY, 24th DECEMBER Inst.,

at Celeste's Hotel in the Town of Peterborough, the following valuable parcels of Farm and Town Property, in the Town and County of Peterborough, viz:—

No. 1.—The West half of Lot No. 29 in the 11th concession of Otonabee. There are about 10 acres cleared, and 50 acres of good land, and a Log House and Stable. This lot is about a mile from the Town of Peterborough.

No. 2.—Three building lots of nearly a quarter of an acre each; one off North end of Town lot No. 14, and one off North end of Lot No. 15, South of Murray and West of George streets, and one adjoining said last named lot to the South thereof.

No. 3.—Parts of Town Lots Nos. 1 and 2, South of Simcoe and East of Water streets, being 50 feet frontage on Water street, opposite Market Square, and 236 feet deep.

No 4.—The West half of Lot No. 15 in the 8th Concession of Douro. There is a comfortable Log House on the lot. There are from 60 to 70 acres cleared. The land is good farm land, and lies well for farming purposes, and is within a mile and a half of the Village of Lakefield.

No. 5.—Part of Town Lot No. 3, North of Simcoe and East of Water streets, being 69 feet frontage on Queen street, immediately South of the residence of N. Shaw, Esq., and 90 feet deep.

No. 6.—The East half of Lot No 17 in the 2nd concession of the Township of Otonabee.

No. 7.—The East half of Lot No. 7 in the 5th concession of Burleigh.

No. 8.—The West half of Lot No. 9 in the 9th concession of Dummer.

No. 9.—Lot No. 18 in the 9th concession of Dummer.

No. 10.—Village Lot No. 1, South of Sophia and East of Mark streets in Ashburnham.

Terms of Sale:—Ten per cent of the purchase money will be required to be paid down at time of sale, and the terms of payment of balances will be made known at the sale, and in the meantime may be obtained from Geo. Dunsford, Esq., or Messrs Scott & Green, Solicitors, Peterborough, to whom application may be made for the purchase of any of said parcels at private sale.

Sale to commence at One o'clock.

CHAS. STAPLETON,
Auctioneer.

Peterboro, Dec. 9, 1868. 50

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Municipal Council of the United Townships of Belmont and Methuen, will meet at Garrison's School House, on SATURDAY, the 2nd day of JANUARY, 1869, to pass a By-Law to establish the following line of road viz:—

Commencing on the East side of the first concession of Methuen between Lots Nos. 3 and 4; thence S. 76½° W. 32 chains; thence S. 14° E. 2 chains 45 links; thence N. 18° E. 4 chains 50 links; thence S. 85° W. 9 chains 25 links; thence S. 74° W. 22 chains; thence N. 18° W. 6 chains; thence S. 18° E. 2 chains; thence S. 66° W. 8 chains 50 links, along Mr. Downs road; thence S. 79° W. 9 chains, along said road; thence S. 64° W. 15 chains, on said road; thence N. 14° W. 1 chain 50 links, on said road; thence S. 79° W. 16 chains 50 links, on said road; thence S. 42° 30' W. 4 chains 50 links, to Otter Creek; thence N. 74°, W. 4 chains, to Depot Shanties; thence N. 76°, W. 4 chains; thence N. 32° W. 1 chain 75 links; thence N. 74°, W. 3 chains, to post between Nos. 3 and 4, on allowance for road between the 2nd and 3rd concessions, close by the Depot Shanties of Mr. Downs or Page & Co.; thence S. 80° W. 3 chains, up a ravine; thence N. 45°, W. 5 chains; thence S. 60°, W. 5 chains; thence S. 45° W. 10 chains; thence S. 87°, W. 10 chains; thence N. 33°, W. 4 chains; thence W. 6 chains 50 links; thence S. 76° 30', W. 20 chains; thence N. 85°, W. 3 chains 50 links, to concession line between 3rd and 4th concessions, and 3 chains North of post of Lots Nos. 3 and 4; thence on same course as the last 4 chains 50 links; thence N. 65°, W. 5 chains; thence N. 88°, W. 5 chains 50 links; thence S. 66°, W. 18 chains 50 links, to side line between Nos. 3 and 4; thence on said side line S. 76° 15', W. 35 chains, to centre of Lots Nos 3 and 4 on the West side of the 4th concession in said Township of Methuen; the marked line to be the centre and the width of the road to be 66 feet.

WM. REA, Township Clerk.

Methuen, Dec. 9, 1868. 50

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all articles in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,

And of best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place,

Directly opposite Mr. John Sherlis's.

SHORTLY & HARPER.

Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 42-13in

FURS! FURS!

CAUTION.

THE public are hereby cautioned to beware of purchasing Colored and Spurious Musk for Genuine Musk. The Canada is superior to any in the world, and is therefore the most valuable. This has induced wholesale dealers to intimate our Canada Musk, not only by coloring Russian, but also by coloring United States Musk. The Canada costs more than double that of any other country, which enables dealers to make a large profit on the spurious article. Those buying Furs in Montreal or other places should beware least they get the inferior article for which they will no doubt have to pay full prices. Take care, therefore, for I have been shown articles purchased as genuine in Montreal, which I can certify were colored and of inferior quality.

Parties wishing any alteration made in their furs will please to call before the end of October.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, Sept. 16. 39

CHANGE OF BUSINESS.

MESSRS. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG beg to return thanks to their numerous friends and the public for the patronage so liberally bestowed on them, also state that they have sold the Book and Stationery business to Mr. A. B. KIDD, for whom they solicit a continuance of public favor. Mr. Kidd will continue the business in the same stand, Coulter's Block, and will promptly attend to the wants of all those who may favor him with a call.

All persons indebted to the late firm of Stratton & Armstrong, will find their accounts at Mr. Kidd's Book Store, and he is empowered to receive payment and grant receipts for the same.

The partnership of Stratton & Armstrong was dissolved by mutual consent.

Peterboro, November 21, 1868.

N. B.—Any person having business with Mr. Stratton will find him at the Examiner Office.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Municipal Council of the Township of Otonabee intend, on THURSDAY, the 31st day of DECEMBER, 1868, to pass a By-law to establish the following new lines of roads, viz:—Commencing on the North side of the allowance for road between the fourth and fifth with concessions of said Township, at a point Southerly seven chains and sixty-six links from the North-west angle of the fourteenth lot in said twelfth concession; thence North twenty-three degrees thirty minutes, East seven chains; thence North eighteen degrees, East six chains and forty-five links; thence North fourteen degrees, West three chains; thence north thirty degrees, West six chains and forty-three links; thence South eighty degrees, West four chains and ninety-six links, more or less, to the aforesaid Eastern limit. The above described new road to be forty-four feet wide and the described line to be the centre thereof.

GEORGE READ,
Township Clerk.

Otonabee, Nov. 19, 1868. 47-4in

PROSPECTUS FOR 1869

OF THE

Publications of John Dougall & Son,

MONTREAL.

THE phrase "GET THE BEST" has passed into a proverb, and all will agree that the best Family Paper is one that has something interesting and profitable for every member of the family, not excluding the children, and which includes within its scope all the best interests of humanity, temporal and eternal.—Such a paper the MONTREAL WITNESS has aimed to be from its commencement, 23 years ago; and that the country was prepared for such an enterprise is shown by its success. The WITNESS in its three editions—"Daily," "Semi-Weekly," and "Weekly"—issues about 16,000 copies; and, consequently, reached probably Eighty Thousand readers; but what are they out of a population of four millions, all of whom we desire to reach?

Our publications are as follows, and we respectfully call attention to their cheapness as well as quality, and ask all the friends of interesting and wholesome literature everywhere to aid us in extending their circulation. Nor will their circulation interfere with that of local papers, which are a necessity in their respective localities, and which are generally speaking, very meritorious.

1.—The DAILY WITNESS contains as much reading matter as the ordinary Dailies, and of a choice quantity, at about half the price, viz., $3 per annum. Besides being a first-class Family Paper, it is especially valuable to business men on account of its abundant commercial intelligence, prices current, &c.

2.—The MONTREAL WITNESS, Eight Pages, Semi-Weekly, $2 per annum, contains the greater part of the News, Contemporary Press, and Editorials of the Semi-Weekly, with a portion of the Family-Reading and Prices Current.

3.—The WEEKLY WITNESS, Eight Pages, $1 per annum, contains the greater part of the News, Contemporary Press, and Editorials of the Semi-Weekly, with a portion of the Family-Reading and Prices Current.

4.—The CANADIAN MESSENGER, containing Eight Pages, is published twice a month, at the very low price of 27½c. per annum, Postage paid; or Seven Copies for $2 to one address. It contains Religious, Temperance, Agricultural, Scientific, Educational matter, Stories for Children, &c., &c. This paper is recommended in the public general; and it is hoped that its adaption for circulation through School will greatly extend its usefulness.—It has at present upwards of 20,000, representing, probably, 100,000 readers, but at the very low price (namely, 25 cents per annum, Post-paid, if 100 copies are sent to one address), it is hoped that its circulation will greatly increase.

5.—The NEW DOMINION MONTHLY is a handsome Monthly Magazine, containing a rich selection of original and copied articles every month, together with one or more choice photos of nearly and pictorial illustrations.—Price $1 per annum, Post-paid. This Magazine has been favorably noticed by nearly the entire Press of the Dominion.

The terms of all these publications are necessarily CASH IN ADVANCE, and the periodicals are invariably discontinued when the subscription expires.

Any one who will kindly make up a club for the above subscriptions to the value of $5, and remit the same Post-paid, in Bankable funds, will receive, if asked for at the time, the WEEKLY WITNESS or the NEW DOMINION MONTHLY gratis, and one Dollar's worth of our Publications for every additional Eight Dollars remitted for them in P. O. Money Order or Canadian Bills.

N.B.—Postmasters are authorized and requested to receive individual subscriptions in Silver (but not Club-subscriptions), and convert the same into Bankable funds at our expense.

JOHN DOUGALL & SON.

Montreal, Nov., 1868.

Who would not be beautiful? Who would not add to their beauty? What gives that marble purity and distingue appearance we observe upon the stage, and in the city belle? It is no longer a secret. They use Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its sanitized use removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness, from the face and hands, and leaves the complexion smooth, transparent, blooming and ravishing. Unlike many cosmetics, it contains no material injurious to the skin. Any Druggists will order it for you, if not on hand, at 75 cts. per bottle.

W. E. HAGAN, Troy, N. Y., Chemist.

DEMAR BARNES & Co.,
Wholesale Agents, N. Y.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

NEW

Singer Patern Hand Shuttle

(OR LOCK STITCH)

SEWING MACHINE,

AT THE

Peterboro Sewing Machine Rooms.

THE BEST YET OFFERED.

All Machines warranted, and instructions free.

Rooms over DONNELLY'S Store, George street.

Peterboro, Dec. 9, 1868. 50

CHEAP SALE OF DRESS GOODS

DURING THE

MONTH OF DECEMBER.

Choice of a pie of Fancy Dress Goods, at 7½d per yard.
" Plain and Fancy Coburgs, at 9d per yard.
" Fancy Winceys and Lustres, at 1s per yard, formerly 1s 3d to 1s 6d.
" " " " at 1s 3d " " 1s 6d to 1s 10½d.
" " " " at 1s 6d " " 1s 9d to 2s 6d.
Union Dress Plaids, yard wide, offered at 1s 3d per yard, formerly 1s 6d to 2s.
Crape Cloths, y'd to 1½ y'd " " 1s 3d to 1s 9d per y'd, sold as high as 2s 3d.
Magdala Cords, all colors, offered at 1s 3d per yard, usually sold at 1s 6d to 1s 9d.
All-wool Empress Cloths, " 2s " " 2s 9d to 3s 9d.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PURCHASE A CHEAP DRESS.

☞ White English BLANKETS also offered at cost this month.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterborough, December 3, 1868. 49

Great Bargains IN FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,
SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

CHRISTMAS GOODS!

Just Received AT THE DOMINION HOUSE!

A Complete Assortment of

Staple and Fancy Dry Goods,

Consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS, in great variety,
SHAWLS,
MANTLES,
MANTLE CLOTHS,
PRINTS,
COTTONS,
BALMORAL SKIRTS,
GLOVES,
HOISERY,
FLANNELS,
BLANKETS,
CLOTHS,
TWEEDS,
HATS, CAPS, &c

Also a complete assortment of

Carpets, Window Damasks and Hollands, Table Linen, Towelling and General House Furnishing Goods.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE DEPARTMENT

Are now open with every novelty of the season.

GREEN & ROCHE.

Dominion House, Dixon's Block.

N B—A First Class Cutter on the premises to attend to the Clothing Department G. & R.

Peterborough, December 3, 1868. 49

A Fresh Supply of

Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,

BLANKETS,

DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,

CARPETS,

And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.

Just received by

I. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

W. G. THOMSON & Co's

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞ INSPECTION INVITED. ☜

Peterboro, Sept. 30, 1868. 40

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES

GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,

From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lannin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

A Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and Knitting Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 15-tf

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hoey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞ Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

☞ For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

BARLEY, OATS, PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $300 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 38

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from R. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said R. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

LYON'S EXTRACT OF PURE JAMAICA GINGER for Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c., where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity makes it a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere, at 30 cts. per bottle. Ask for "Lyon's" Pure Extract. Take no other.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

PETERBOROUGH

SEWING MACHINE COMPANY,

Rooms Over T. Donnelly's Store.

The following FIRST CLASS Machines for sale at our Rooms:

RAYMOND'S $12 Machine,
CHAMPION $18 Lock-stitch Machine,
SINGER'S Manufacturing "
SINGER'S Family "
WILLIAMS' Family and Manufacturing

1 or 2 second hand Wanzer Machines.

Special Notice.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

(Established 1825,)

With which is now united

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Head Office for Canada,

MONTREAL,—STANDARD COMPANY'S BUILDINGS,

No. 47, Great St. James Street.

Manager .....W. M. RAMSAY
Inspector.....RICHARD BULL.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The EIGHT DIVISION of the Company's Profits is appointed to be made at 15th NOVEMBER 1870, and all Policies now effected will participate.

The FUND TO BE DIVIDED will be the profits which have arisen since 15th November 1865.

The COMPANY'S BUSINESS YEAR will close on 15th NOVEMBER 1868, and in order to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the PROFIT SCHEME, Proposals should be lodged with the Agents on or before that date.

Agent for Peterborough,

ALEX. SMITH,

Peterboro, Oct. 26, 1868. 44

MILLER'S Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS. Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 70c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co., Proprietors.

167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 46

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN ANVIL!

I WOULD invite attention to my Stock of Hardware, which is large and well assorted.

Story's Hand-made and other Chopping Axes, Tuttle's Patent Cross-cut Saws; Hack Saws; Grindstones and Rollers; Drawknives; Sargent's Augers; Warranted Weighing Beams; Cast Steel Grain Scoops; Russia Ploughs Line; Tea Kettles; Round Pots; Bake Pans and Covers; Ovenbis Traps; Powder; Shot; Fly's Caps; Hunting Axes; Knives; Shot Pouches; Flasks.

Bar, Rod, Hoop, Sheet and Band Iron; Octagon and Square Cast Steel; Sleigh Shoe Steel; C. D. F. J. and W. Horse Nails; Farrier's Knives and Pincers; Jowett's Celebrated Files and Horse Rasps; Mousehale Anvils; Blacksmith's Bellows; Stocks and Dies; Vices; Carriage Bolts.

Builders' Hardware.

Best Boiled Oil; Genuine White Lead; Paints; Colours; Turpentine; Varnish, &c. Lightning Apple Parers; Thurber's Anti-friction Metal.

JOHN BERTRAM, Hardware Merchant.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq., Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Safe Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE, Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't. F. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phenix Insurance Company,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams: and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS, North Douro P. O.

December 3, 1868. 50

A VALUABLE

Farm for Sale!

THE Subscriber offers for sale that Excellent Farm, Lot No 21, in the 9th Concession of Otonabee. It is situated about 6 miles from Peterboro and the same distance from Keene. There are 85 acres cleared and in a good state of cultivation and a comfortable Dwelling House, Sheds, Barns and Stables; a good young Orchard bearing choice fruit The soil is of the very best quality; about 8 acres in Fall Wheat, looking well, and 40 acres ploughed ready for spring sowing.

For terms apply to the proprietor on the premises,

JOHNSTON COONEY,

Or to JAMES STRATTON, Examiner Office, Peterboro.

Otonabee, October 6th, 1868. 41-13in

A Farm to Rent or Sell!

CONTAINING fifty acres of excellent land in the Township of Otonabee, No. 27 in the 7th concession. Good Buildings, well watered, and in a good state of cultivation. There are nine acres of Fall Wheat. Stock can be had if desired.

For terms and further particulars apply, on be premises, to

GEO. GRAHAM, Proprietor.

Allandale Mills, March 11, 1867 11-3*13-tf

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. N. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 20, 1868. 32-tf

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor, &c., Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor, Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 16, 1868. 13-tf

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26, 1868. 48

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 3-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. McFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes. Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

LOOK OUT!

FOR

F. LEMAY'S TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT,

Where you will find a very complete stock of

Fall and Winter Ready-made Clothing

Of all Descriptions and Prices, Made on the Premises, and WORK GUARANTEED!

A FINE LOT OF UNDERSHIRTS AND DRAWERS.

ALSO,

English, Scotch and Canadian Tweeds,

WHITE AND GREY CANADIAN BLANKETS

FOR SHANTIES.

200 Pieces of White, Light, Grey and Dark Fulled Cloths,

Expressly made for his Trade.

All to be Sold at a Very Low Price FOR CASH.

Call and See before Buying Elsewhere.

F. LEMAY,

Peterborough, Sept. 30, 1868. 40 Hunter Street.

W. WADDELL

Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of

CARRIAGE HARNESS,

Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also

HEAVY TEAM HARNESS,

Made of the very best material.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.

In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS

In Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.

Children's Carriages

From $2.00 each to $15.00.

Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.

Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking

Kept constantly on hand.

Peterboro, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

FUR SHOP REMOVED.

THE Subscriber has removed his Fur Shop to

HAS REMOVED

One Door North of Mr. [illegible]'s Shop.

Parties having Furs to dress, or those who have saved will please leave them at Mr. T[illegible]'s residence, Dublin street, Ward 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 14

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE OF CONSUMPTION!

IN CANADA.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so emaciated that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different remedies, but all without the least effect. Squire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottles, at once, with the Pills; as soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lungs, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing its use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman, Peter C. V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Ernestown, Ont.

SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people, but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. W. GIBSON, M. D., Dunbarton, C. E.
C. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Brome.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSHINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENUS, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MEIGS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BREADON, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Coaticook.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MUSSY, M. D., Boston.
W. MARSDEN, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
E. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c., &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely grey, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest as well as the best, being only 50 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

NOT QUITE SO.

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the essence of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their horses the sufferers, to avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurld & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 19

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO RENT—The North half of No. 4, in the 4th Concession of Methuen.

Apply to [illegible] on the Farm.

Peterboro,' Feb'y 18, 1868.

JANUARY

1869

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1869. No. 1.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

With every variety of Lettering and Bronzing Powders always in stock.

Lawyers' blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,
CLERK of the Bench. Office on Simcoe st. Peterboro'. 16

C. A. WELLER,
COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

JAMES F. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office, Hunter street, Peterborough.
Peterboro, July 9th, 1868. 31

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,
BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 20

SCOTT & GREEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public. Office, opposite Bicknell & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
WILLIAM HENDRIE SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Clinton's, George street, Peterborough.
Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,
SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,
Conveyancers, &c.,
Peterborough, Ontario.
T. M. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN,
Keene.

J. O'SULLIVAN, M. D., L. R. C. P. S., I.
Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR.
Coroner for County of Peterborough.
Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 31-tf

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,
Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.
Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.
Ashburnham, October 22, 1867. 43

J. W. GILMOUR,
DRUGGIST, Chemist and Seedsman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 18

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.
Office Ars Store, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.
Nov. 20, 1861. 49

GEORGE READ,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee.

JAMES McLEAN,
INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.
Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

GEORGE BROWNLEE,
ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

JAMES STEVENSON,
DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,
DEALER in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.
Shop in Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

Business Directory.

ROBERT WALTON,
SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,
PAINTER, Paperhanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent.
Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.
Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C. W.
Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO.
GEORGE Street, Peterboro', Interest allowed on deposits.
A. SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.
FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.
Wm. OGILVY, Agent.
Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,
PETERBOROUGH,
SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.
From this date until further notice, the rate of interest in the above department will be
FIVE PER CENT.
PER ANNUM.
D. S. HASTWOOD, Manager.
Peterboro', April 1st, 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.
ALL payments to be made on account of the
ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!
MAY BE MADE TO THE
Royal Canadian Bank
And Its Agencies.
H. B. WOOD,
Treasurer of Ontario.
Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,
TOBACCONIST,
George Street, Peterborough, Ont.
March 12, 1868. 11-1y

FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE OFFICE.
T. J. WINSHIP, Agent,
Acting for First Class Reliable Companies.
George street (next to the Montreal House) Peterboro', Ont. 29-6m.

GEORGE ALLEN,
GUN & WHITE-SMITH,
Hunter Street, Peterborough,
BEGS to inform the public, and all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and Whitesmithing. Sawing Machines also neatly repaired.
Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.
Peterboro, October 28, 1868. 43

D. PENTLAND,
DENTIST,
Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.
D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodeons of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodeon, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.
Peterboro', February 5, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!
Teeth Extracted Without Pain
D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.
Peterboro, November 29 1866. 48

REMOVAL.
DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. O. Stanlli, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.
Peterboro, July 9, 1868. 30

R. S. HOWELL,
FORWARDER,
Commission Merchant,
AND
GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,
Dealer in Lumber, &c.,
PORT HOPE, ONT.

Money! Money!
MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.
Apply to J. A. HALL,
AT THE COURT House
Peterboro', May 8th, 1867. 19

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE
LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,
AND
Port Hope and Peterboro Railway
ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Lindsay, Depart..... 9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive..... 1.10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Port Hope, Depart..... 3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 4.35 "
Lindsay, Arrive..... 6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.
Lindsay, Depart..... 12.35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 4.30 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.
Port Hope, Depart..... 5.45 p. m.
Millbrook..... 7.30 "
Lindsay, Arrive..... 9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Peterborough, Depart..... 3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 4.20 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 6.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.
Port Hope, Depart..... 10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 11.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive..... 12.25 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.
Peterborough, Depart..... 8.30 a. m.
Millbrook..... 6.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 9.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.
Port Hope, Depart..... 2.15 p. m.
Millbrook..... 3.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive..... 5.30 "

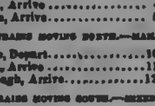
A. T. WILLIAMS,
Superintendent.
May 30, 1868. 22

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
TRAINS LEAVE
PORT HOPE STATION
AS FOLLOWS:
GOING EAST.
Express (down)..... 7.00 p.m.
Mail..... 7.00 p.m.
Express (night)..... 9.20 p.m.
GOING WEST.
Express (night)..... 10.20 p.m.
Mixed..... 3.30 p.m.
Express (day)..... 10.30 a.m.
Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time
Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
OF CANADA.
TORONTO LINE.
TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.
Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 3.55 p.m. and 6.35 p.m.
Express at 12.55 p.m.
HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.
Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 7.25 p.m.
Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME
IN THE
Norwood and Peterboro'

STAGE.
ROYAL MAIL LINE!
LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a. m.
LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.
Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.
Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates
J. A. JOHNSON,
Proprietor
Norwood, 1st September, 1866. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.


Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.
Rates of Passage from Peterboro':
CABIN, - - $76 to $86. STEERAGE - $30.
Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.
For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to
GEORGE A. COX, Agent.
Canadian Express Co's.
Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45

ROCHESTER HOUSE,
No. 79 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.
JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.
This House is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Depots, Steamboat Landings, and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. Rate $1.50 per Day. 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,
WALTON STREET,
PORT HOPE, ONT.
T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.
Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 43

Poetry.

We'er Talk Lightly o' a Woman.

We'er talk lightly o' a woman,
Though she wishes may gang astray,
Till ye ken how much temptation
Has been thrown within her way;
Ask yoursel' could ye withstood it,
If the cause had been the same—
Too to ane but you will answer
That she less much to blame.

They who glibly talk o' women
Often are the very ones
That has wranged them and abused them—
Been the cause o' their sins;
Wrotcher that has got no feeling—
For theirsel's they live and move—
May they never ken the pleasures
O' an honest woman's love.

Nae doubt but there's little kimmers
That you'll meet wi' now and then,
But the maist o' them are better
Than the common run o' men;
Though we're taukl that women brought us
Sorrow wi' a vengeance anee,
Weel ken I that men has wrought her
Plenty sorrow for to since.

Ye wha lightly talk o' women
Aye keep mind there's ane or twa
That ye never ocht to hear them
Lightly spoken o' ava;
Whare's the man but thinks his mither
Was as guid as maids to be—
What's the reason then that ithers
Shouldna ben as good as he.

Would ye learn the worth o' women
Tak' a guid ane to yoursel',
Then you'll find out a' their virtues—
Hair o' them than I can tell;
Do this and you're sure to prosper—
Deil confound the lang-tongued loon
That tak's ony pride or pleasure
Tryin' to run women doon.

Selections.

RED RIVER SETTLEMENT.

The following letter we copy from the Sarnia Observer. It is by a gentleman, brother-in-law to the Rev. Wm. Bleasdell, Springville, upon whose statements implicit reliance may be placed. He is now a resident of the settlement.

[We have been favored with the following description of Red River Settlement, by a gentleman formerly a resident of this Province, who some time ago took up his abode in this ultima thule of Canadian civilization. His description of the settlement is very minute, and what is of more importance, may be implicitly relied upon, as giving no extreme opposites of "things as they are," during the time he has resided there. As a good deal of interest is now felt in this Territory, in view of its probably ere long becoming part and parcel of the Canadian Confederacy, we are sure this description of it will be perused with close attention.—ED. OB.]

Red River Settlement commences about twenty miles north of Pembina, Dakotah Territory, about sixty miles from Fort Garry, at which place there are both a Hudson Bay Co's Fort and an American settlement, with Custom House, Post Office, and the usual staff of officials. From the beginning of the settlement to Fort Garry, the population is mostly French half-breeds. Below Fort Garry, for about ten miles, nearly all are Scotch; and lower down still, near the Stone Fort, or lower Fort Garry, the people are chiefly from the Orkney Islands. Near the mouth of Lake Winnipeg is an Indian settlement, where some missionaries are trying to civilize the red man. The Assiniboine has along its banks a number of old pensioners, who were sent out here as soldiers, and after their time expired, received grants of land from the Company. Further up the river was entirely settled by French half-breeds, until lately, when a number of Canadian and American settlers have come in and bought out the half-breeds, who gladly leave for the newer parts of the country where game is more plentiful. This is thought to be the best part of the country for farming, and nearly all new-comers settle here. On this river, sixty miles above Fort Garry, and consequently out of the jurisdiction of the Hudson's Bay Company, (who only claim fifty miles from the Fort on both rivers), is the Portage Colony, where the Independent Republic of Manitobá was established about a year since; but the government has already gone to pieces, and every man does as seems good in his own eyes. Nearly every lot on both sides of the two rivers is now taken up, as it is principally there that timber is to be had, there being only a belt along the rivers' banks—all the rest of the country, with the exception of an occasional bluff, being one immense prairie, although near the Stone Fort there are considerable forests of spruce, or pine, as the people call it. Some five miles back from the river, and at the portage, there are considerable quantities of large timber. On the Red River, from Pembina to the Town of Winnipeg, there is oak, willow, hornbeck, and cotton wood. From this down to the Lake, it is all poplar and tamarack. Near the Lower Fort, there is plenty of stone for building and lime-burning, and a number of good stone houses can be seen along the river's bank. The Company has posts established at all the points throughout the country which are likely to be of importance where it is opened up. Upper Fort Garry is their principal one, and is a rather imposing structure, with stone walls and towers around it. Here the Governor and high officials reside, and here is also the Court-house and Jail, which has been the scene of so many unjust trials, and from which the people rescued by force the oppressed prisoners.

Lower Fort Garry, about twenty miles nearer the Lake, has also high stone walls around it, and most of the buildings within are also stone. The walls of both are pierced with loop-holes for guns, which have probably been often used with effect in the time of the rival Companies. About a mile from the Upper Fort, near Logan's farm-house, is where about twenty of the early settlers were murdered during these troubles. The only town in the country is Winnipeg, about a quarter of a mile from Fort Garry, just at the confluence of the Assiniboine with Red River; and it will no doubt be a place of some size soon, as it is the centre of all the trade for the different sections of the country,—Traders from the plains, the Saskatchewan, and the Lake Winnipeg country, all getting their supplies there, and bringing back their furs for sale. At this place, also, but on the opposite side of the Red River, is the Roman Catholic Cathedral of St. Boniface, with the Bishop's Palace and College, and a large Nunnery. In the Town there are twelve Stores, two Taverns, two Saloons, one Photograph Gallery, one Butcher, two shoemaker, one painter, one Printing-office and newspaper, two doctors, no lawyers, and one Methodist minister. Presbyterian and Episcopalian ministers also preach here every Sabbath, but reside lower down the river. There are two Churches, but no School, as most of the children attend the Catholic one across the river; one Book store, one gunsmith, one Commission merchant and Insurance agent (Mr. Begg, from Hamilton, Ont.), and one dentist, who is also editor of the New's-Wester. A good baker would do well here, and there is also room for another good hotel, as there is only one that deserves the name, and although it is very well kept, the landlord is getting too rich, and feels rather independent. Blacksmiths, harnessers, tanners, millers and engineers, would all find employment here, and a good brick machine would pay well, as ship is to be had near to the town, and lumber is no very high price after that brick would be used to a great extent if properly made. There is also wanted here a good grist and saw mill. As flour is only one poor affair, comprising a shingle, lath, and planing machine, the most of the lumber is sawn by hand, and is very rough; and this sawyer it sold as high as $25 stg. per 100 boards 10 ft. long by in. wide. Next season it will be more plentiful, as Mr. McKenney, our enterprising sheriff, has put up a first-class steam saw mill on an island in lake Winnipeg, where he will be able to cut plenty of lumber and shingles. He has also built a large schooner, to ply between the island and the settlement, with lumber, fish, and salt, all of which are to be had there in abundance. This is the second vessel ever built here, and the only one of any size, the Company's schooner being only about half the size of this. She was only begun in March, and was fully rigged and launched by September, in the midst of great quantities of rain, by unskilled labour, timber, and rigging. The keel was all brought from Canada, as was likewise the engine and machinery for the mill which was furnished by Beckett & Co. of Hamilton; there being, after their arrival at St. Cloud by rail, a land carriage of five hundred miles; so that some idea may be formed of the expense and trouble of getting such things here.—In Lake Winnipeg there are a number of islands, on which there is considerable pine timber, also on the mainland. Here the soil is poor and rocky, whilst back there are large swamps. The eastern side is mostly granite, and is supposed to be rich in minerals. The Lake is large, about three hundred miles long, and in some places sixty miles wide, but is generally shallow, —three to five fathoms being the average depth, and full of rocks and shoals. Near the mouth of the Lake is Fort Alexander, on the Winnipeg River, and considerably further down, Norway House, where all the York boats call on their trips to the Factory, starting from Fort Garry in June, and returning in September. The only communication between this country and the rest of the world is by Hudson Bay, where a ship arrives yearly from England; and the plain route through Dakotah Territory and Minnesota. From Fort Garry to St. Cloud, a distance of five hundred miles, there is a road formed by nature, through prairie nearly all the way, and most of it very good. The principal difficulties in the way are the many small streams to cross, the water in which, in the Spring, is very high, and usually sweeps away the bridges made over them the previous summer.—They are of course only temporary affairs, made as quickly as possible by those first crossing, without any regard to those who are to come after. When the carts come to a stream without a bridge, if it is narrow enough, a few trees are cut down and thrown over, covered with branches or hides, and they cross over safely; if wider, they make rafts of the wheels and bodies of the carts, and then pass over the goods and make the animals swim. These carts are made entirely of wood, no iron being used; and although large, carrying easily 1,000 lbs., are quite light. They are drawn usually by one ox, with rawhide harness, sometimes driven by reins, and when loaded, led by a rope around the horns —one man often driving three or four carts. By this means nearly all the supplies are brought from the United States, although the Company bring some by teams to Georgetown, and thence by steamer to Fort Garry. Freight by this route is sixteen shillings per 100 lbs.; and if the Canadian Government could only see the vast trade that is carried on between the States and this Territory, they would surely hurry on the completion of the Superior Road, and thus secure at least a portion of the large trade of this country.

From Pembina to Lake Winnipeg, on the Red River, and on the Assiniboine, thousands of acres of beautiful land are to be had for nothing, if you go a little back from the rivers; or many claims may be purchased for small sums, £10 to £50. From the Assiniboine to the Saskatchewan are beautiful prairies, unoccupied, waiting for settlers, with the most fertile soil, and climate as mild as Canada. A few of the old settlers have deeds from the Company and Lord Selkirk, but many others have not paid up all their instalments, and these few years back the Company has not pretended to sell land, but merely enters any lot in their books which a person wishes to occupy. Towards the Portage, all are squatters. Each one takes what unoccupied lot suits, gets it surveyed and staked out, and builds his house, or buys out the claim of some one who has made some improvement on a lot he fancies. The lots are mostly six chain wide, running back two miles, with the privilege of other two miles for hay ground behind it. Having commenced at a time fixed by the Council every season,—this year, July 25th; and no one is allowed to cut before that, under pain of losing what he has cut until it is supplied his own lot for several days, any other person is at liberty to cut in. The hay is all drawn in on carts and sold by the load. Many settlers have mowers and reapers, which pass so close that they are much worried, and it is a splendid country for cattle running and grazing. Herds of cattle and horses are to be seen running over the plains; but few sheep are kept, except in the Scotch settlement, as they could be raised to good advantage.

The season and climate are very much the same as Upper Canada. The Red River will open by the 15th of April, and the snow had all melted before that time. The fine Fall weather, or Indian Summer, extends into November; and whilst the Winter is long, and the cold perhaps greater than in Canada, it is not felt so much on account of the dryness of the atmosphere. The principal crops here are wheat, potatoes, and barley. Oats are not sown to any extent; Indian corn is cultivated in some parts; and buck wheat is not known at all. Flax found to be valuable, and rope manufactured, but it has been given up.—The hay is principally the same as swamp grass in Canada. Timothy does not grow. In some places the wild pea grows in abundance, and is much liked by the animals.—There is not a fruit tree of any kind cultivated in the settlement; although wild plums and berries of all sorts are found in abundance. There are also plenty of wild grapes and hops, and on the shores of the lakes and rivers, wild rice is gathered by the Indians in quantities.—I have not been a live of bees kept here, and believe there are no wild ones in the country; no tame ducks, geese or turkeys, and the breed of pigs is very poor; in fact the whole system of farming is decidedly behind the age, and we want a large emigration of practical, hard working farmers, to make this fine country what it should be. For some years this colony has been troubled with grasshoppers, which partially destroyed the crops; but this year they made a clean sweep of everything, leaving the people to subsist either on what was saved from former years, or to depend on hunting and fishing. However, they have left their eggs this year, so that all intend putting in a good crop next season, and hope that this plague will not visit them again.

Address to the Governor-General.

(From the Ottawa Times.)

In accordance with a notice in the Toronto papers some weeks since, the following address, with one hundred signatures of settlers in Canada, who came from Sir John Young's native County (Cavan) was transmitted to Ottawa and presented to His Excellency. The list of names includes many wealthy mercantile men, clergymen, magistrates, and professional gentlemen from all parts of the Province.

To the Right Honourable Sir J. Young, Bart., K. C. B., &c., &c., &c., Governor-General of Canada.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,—We, the undersigned settlers from your native County (Cavan), request you will accept this expression of our satisfaction for your appointment as Governor-General of this Dominion.

The many high and important offices you have been chosen by both Whig and Conservative Governments to fill, are conclusive proofs of your ability as a statesman, and afford satisfactory assurance to the people of this Dominion of the deep solicitude for their welfare by the Imperial Government.

To us you are known not alone as a wise statesman and moderate politician, but as an indulgent good landlord. Through your duty to your country and our sovereign necessitated repeated absence from home, the wants of your tenantry were not neglected. Many of those who address you lived on your Irish estate, and the fathers of others lived as tenants of your father, Sir William. It may please you to know and feel assured that around the log fires in their Canadian homes, their former landlords are spoken of as among the best of the many good landlords of Cavan.

Hoping your stay amongst us may be long, happy, and pleasant for yourself and Lady Young, you will accept our hearty welcome and the assurance of sincere attachment to your Excellency's person and Government.

SIGNED BY ONE HUNDRED PERSONS.

REPLY.

GENTLEMEN,—I am very much gratified by your address.

I cherish no other hope or ambition but that the experience I have acquired in previous services may prove of use in discharging the duties of the high office with which I am now honoured.

I recognize amongst your signatures many names of families well known to me in Ireland—names which agreeably recall the associations of former years.

I trust that the hopes which induced you to settle in Canada have not been disappointed, but that, as the terms you use would seem to imply, your industry and exertions have been crowned with the desired reward of comfort and independence. Accept my sincere thanks, and believe that I wish you well—as friends and neighbours from the same county—and that I do to all the more heartily, because I know you to be the relations and descendants of men who were faithful in the discharge of their social engagements, and who placed themselves at more than one trying crisis, steadily on the side of law and order.

JOHN YOUNG.

Waggage considers the railway alone to his cottage as in-famed nonsance.

Why are cards like the opposite house? Because they are over they whey.

How to get at the real complexion of some ladies—take a little soap and water.

Miss Augustus Dickens—Statement of the Editor of the Chicago Tribune.

A statement was going the rounds of some American papers that Mr. Dickens the celebrated novelist, had permitted his sister-in-law, his brother's wife, to sink in poverty. The following from the Chicago Tribune contradicts the statement:—

"Miss Augustus Dickens, who recently arrived in this country, and who is now receiving here, at her rest and ingring scene so close that they are much worried, and it is a splendid country for cattle running and grazing. Herds of cattle and horses are to be seen running over the plains; but few sheep are kept, except in the Scotch settlement, as they could be raised to good advantage.

The season and climate are very much the same as Upper Canada. The Red River will open by the 15th of April, and the snow had all melted before that time. The fine Fall weather, or Indian Summer, extends into November; and whilst the Winter is long, and the cold perhaps greater than in Canada, it is not felt so much on account of the dryness of the atmosphere. The principal crops here are wheat, potatoes, and barley. Oats are not sown to any extent; Indian corn is cultivated in some parts; and buck wheat is not known at all. Flax found to be valuable, and rope manufactured, but it has been given up.—The hay is principally the same as swamp grass in Canada. Timothy does not grow. In some places the wild pea grows in abundance, and is much liked by the animals.—There is not a fruit tree of any kind cultivated in the settlement; although wild plums and berries of all sorts are found in abundance. There are also plenty of wild grapes and hops, and on the shores of the lakes and rivers, wild rice is gathered by the Indians in quantities.—I have not been a live of bees kept here, and believe there are no wild ones in the country; no tame ducks, geese or turkeys, and the breed of pigs is very poor; in fact the whole system of farming is decidedly behind the age, and we want a large emigration of practical, hard working farmers, to make this fine country what it should be. For some years this colony has been troubled with grasshoppers, which partially destroyed the crops; but this year they made a clean sweep of everything, leaving the people to subsist either on what was saved from former years, or to depend on hunting and fishing. However, they have left their eggs this year, so that all intend putting in a good crop next season, and hope that this plague will not visit them again.

Address to the Governor-General.

(From the Ottawa Times.)

In accordance with a notice in the Toronto papers some weeks since, the following address, with one hundred signatures of settlers in Canada, who came from Sir John Young's native County (Cavan) was transmitted to Ottawa and presented to His Excellency. The list of names includes many wealthy mercantile men, clergymen, magistrates, and professional gentlemen from all parts of the Province.

To the Right Honourable Sir J. Young, Bart., K. C. B., &c., &c., &c., Governor-General of Canada.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,—We, the undersigned settlers from your native County (Cavan), request you will accept this expression of our satisfaction for your appointment as Governor-General of this Dominion.

The many high and important offices you have been chosen by both Whig and Conservative Governments to fill, are conclusive proofs of your ability as a statesman, and afford satisfactory assurance to the people of this Dominion of the deep solicitude for their welfare by the Imperial Government.

To us you are known not alone as a wise statesman and moderate politician, but as an indulgent good landlord. Through your duty to your country and our sovereign necessitated repeated absence from home, the wants of your tenantry were not neglected. Many of those who address you lived on your Irish estate, and the fathers of others lived as tenants of your father, Sir William. It may please you to know and feel assured that around the log fires in their Canadian homes, their former landlords are spoken of as among the best of the many good landlords of Cavan.

Hoping your stay amongst us may be long, happy, and pleasant for yourself and Lady Young, you will accept our hearty welcome and the assurance of sincere attachment to your Excellency's person and Government.

SIGNED BY ONE HUNDRED PERSONS.

REPLY.

GENTLEMEN,—I am very much gratified by your address.

I cherish no other hope or ambition but that the experience I have acquired in previous services may prove of use in discharging the duties of the high office with which I am now honoured.

I recognize amongst your signatures many names of families well known to me in Ireland—names which agreeably recall the associations of former years.

I trust that the hopes which induced you to settle in Canada have not been disappointed, but that, as the terms you use would seem to imply, your industry and exertions have been crowned with the desired reward of comfort and independence. Accept my sincere thanks, and believe that I wish you well—as friends and neighbours from the same county—and that I do to all the more heartily, because I know you to be the relations and descendants of men who were faithful in the discharge of their social engagements, and who placed themselves at more than one trying crisis, steadily on the side of law and order.

JOHN YOUNG.

Waggage considers the railway alone to his cottage as in-famed nonsance.

Why are cards like the opposite house? Because they are over they whey.

How to get at the real complexion of some ladies—take a little soap and water.

Miss Augustus Dickens—Statement of the Editor of the Chicago Tribune.

A statement was going the rounds of some American papers that Mr. Dickens the celebrated novelist, had permitted his sister-in-law, his brother's wife, to sink in poverty. The following from the Chicago Tribune contradicts the statement:—

"Miss Augustus Dickens, who recently arrived in this country, and who is now receiving here, at her rest and ingring scene so close that they are much worried, and it is a splendid country for cattle running and grazing. Herds of cattle and horses are to be seen running over the plains; but few sheep are kept, except in the Scotch settlement, as they could be raised to good advantage.

The season and climate are very much the same as Upper Canada. The Red River will open by the 15th of April, and the snow had all melted before that time. The fine Fall weather, or Indian Summer, extends into November; and whilst the Winter is long, and the cold perhaps greater than in Canada, it is not felt so much on account of the dryness of the atmosphere. The principal crops here are wheat, potatoes, and barley. Oats are not sown to any extent; Indian corn is cultivated in some parts; and buck wheat is not known at all. Flax found to be valuable, and rope manufactured, but it has been given up.—The hay is principally the same as swamp grass in Canada. Timothy does not grow. In some places the wild pea grows in abundance, and is much liked by the animals.—There is not a fruit tree of any kind cultivated in the settlement; although wild plums and berries of all sorts are found in abundance. There are also plenty of wild grapes and hops, and on the shores of the lakes and rivers, wild rice is gathered by the Indians in quantities.—I have not been a live of bees kept here, and believe there are no wild ones in the country; no tame ducks, geese or turkeys, and the breed of pigs is very poor; in fact the whole system of farming is decidedly behind the age, and we want a large emigration of practical, hard working farmers, to make this fine country what it should be. For some years this colony has been troubled with grasshoppers, which partially destroyed the crops; but this year they made a clean sweep of everything, leaving the people to subsist either on what was saved from former years, or to depend on hunting and fishing. However, they have left their eggs this year, so that all intend putting in a good crop next season, and hope that this plague will not visit them again.

Address to the Governor-General.

(From the Ottawa Times.)

In accordance with a notice in the Toronto papers some weeks since, the following address, with one hundred signatures of settlers in Canada, who came from Sir John Young's native County (Cavan) was transmitted to Ottawa and presented to His Excellency. The list of names includes many wealthy mercantile men, clergymen, magistrates, and professional gentlemen from all parts of the Province.

To the Right Honourable Sir J. Young, Bart., K. C. B., &c., &c., &c., Governor-General of Canada.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,—We, the undersigned settlers from your native County (Cavan), request you will accept this expression of our satisfaction for your appointment as Governor-General of this Dominion.

The many high and important offices you have been chosen by both Whig and Conservative Governments to fill, are conclusive proofs of your ability as a statesman, and afford satisfactory assurance to the people of this Dominion of the deep solicitude for their welfare by the Imperial Government.

To us you are known not alone as a wise statesman and moderate politician, but as an indulgent good landlord. Through your duty to your country and our sovereign necessitated repeated absence from home, the wants of your tenantry were not neglected. Many of those who address you lived on your Irish estate, and the fathers of others lived as tenants of your father, Sir William. It may please you to know and feel assured that around the log fires in their Canadian homes, their former landlords are spoken of as among the best of the many good landlords of Cavan.

Hoping your stay amongst us may be long, happy, and pleasant for yourself and Lady Young, you will accept our hearty welcome and the assurance of sincere attachment to your Excellency's person and Government.

SIGNED BY ONE HUNDRED PERSONS.

REPLY.

GENTLEMEN,—I am very much gratified by your address.

I cherish no other hope or ambition but that the experience I have acquired in previous services may prove of use in discharging the duties of the high office with which I am now honoured.

I recognize amongst your signatures many names of families well known to me in Ireland—names which agreeably recall the associations of former years.

I trust that the hopes which induced you to settle in Canada have not been disappointed, but that, as the terms you use would seem to imply, your industry and exertions have been crowned with the desired reward of comfort and independence. Accept my sincere thanks, and believe that I wish you well—as friends and neighbours from the same county—and that I do to all the more heartily, because I know you to be the relations and descendants of men who were faithful in the discharge of their social engagements, and who placed themselves at more than one trying crisis, steadily on the side of law and order.

JOHN YOUNG.

Waggage considers the railway alone to his cottage as in-famed nonsance.

Why are cards like the opposite house? Because they are over they whey.

How to get at the real complexion of some ladies—take a little soap and water.

A friend in the suburbs tells us that he has lots of free fruit, and that it goes off well—goes off in the night.

Who is the laziest man? The furniture dealer; because he keeps chairs and sofas, and lounges about all the time.

A DEFIANCE OF LAW, SACRED AND CIVIL.—What does our neighbour, The Tablet, think of this transaction? "Last Sabbath," says a Boston paper of Dec. 3rd "two posses attached to a brewery were driven through the streets of Cambridgeport with placards announcing that they would be raffled for at a fair in the Catholic church the coming week. The animals were stationed for a time in front of the church as the congregation passed out.—This was looked upon by many of the citizens of the place as carrying things a little too far, considering that it was done probably with the consent, if not by instigation of, those who claim to be the only true Church. Gambling is made a crime by our laws, and this deliberate attempt to make it appear respectable, is an outrage upon the public morals."—EX.

REMARKABLE GROWTH OF A TREE.—There is a species of tree found in Australia remarkable for the rapidity of its growth. It is named the Eucalyptus, one seed of which was planted near Adelaide four years ago, and is now a tree three feet in diameter at the base. It leaves are valuable, an essential oil, something like camphor, and in addition to its highly promising medicinal qualities, it is said to be a most excellent timber, while its bark, being rich in tannin, imparts to it additional value. Would not this tree prove an acquisition to the Prairies of the West?

CHURCHES GROWN OUT OF UNION SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.—A missionary of the American Sunday school Union in Minnesota writes:—"I have been particularly struck, while visiting the different sections of my field, in witnessing the large number of new houses of worship that are just completed, or in process of erection. Two weeks ago, at my visit o'clock, two o'clock, and four o'clock appointments, in each one I found a new church finished, or building. Two of these are the growth of one Union Sunday-school. Last Sunday I found two similar instances. In another neighborhood that I had not visited for several months, the Union school had just moved into their new church. About six weeks ago, I dedicated a school-W——county, where the small but neat church had just been built, and another is under contract. These two churches grew out of a Union Sunday-school. On my way home from that trip I found another in the same county where I had two new churches, one completed, the other nearly finished; and was informed a third was about to be built in the same township. While I first visited that settlement they had but one small Union Sunday-school, to-day the work goes on; and although I would not, of course ascribe all this to the influence of the Sunday-school, made part of the cannot be denied that it has been the leading influence in bringing it about." Under date this missionary says:—"While the Union school was commenced, four or five years ago, there was but one praying man in the whole settlement; now they have a church of over 30 members."

RELIGIOUS NEWS FROM CHICAGO.—The ministers of Chic

The Leader of last Tuesday has the following remarks concerning the Municipal Fund:

It is true of the fact that the sum Authorized Municipalities to the sum of The Fund extent to Ontario and Quebec of two of those Provinces for the people Four Bank for Upper Canada, hereafter the Fund have largely free it than Lower Canada.

We can now recall the condition of Canada sixteen years ago; when one remembers that the credit of the Government was good whilst that of the municipalities was not yet established, it cannot be questioned that the idea embodied in the first Loan Fund Act was a good one. Its work has been developed in its administration. Carried away by too reckless railway speculations of that period—contemporaneous with the earlier stages of Grand Trunk expenditure—several municipalities were allowed to borrow to freely from the Fund. As two years it became necessary to stop the need career of particular localities by limiting the Fund to $7, 300,000 as for the Upper Canada was announced. A reference to the figures show that not a dollar of this was left unborrowed. The large sum of $6,267,400 was spent by two borrowing municipalities on railways, and $1, 032, 600 on local improvements. The following table shows the amounts borrowed by each municipality and how expended:

Municipalities.	On Railroads.	Local Improvements.
Counties.
Grey		14,000
Huntingdonshire
Bruce	400,000
Perth	200,000	20,000
Oxford		20,000
Lincoln		20,000
Wellington		14,000
Simcoe and Muskoka	556,000
Peel	60,000
Halton		17,000
Ontario		12,000
Durham		6,000
Norfolk and Brant	200,000
Total Counties	$1,220,000	$103,000
Townships.
Brantford	60,000
Brantford	20,000
Brantford	20,000
Waterloo	20,000
Caledonia & Dunnville	20,000
Caledonia & Dunnville	20,000
Norwich		5,000
Dumfries		10,000
Woodstock	50,000
Norwich	200,000
Ops	100,000
Ops	100,000
Scugog	154,000
Total Townships	$813,000	15,000
Cities.
Ottawa	200,000
London	270,000
Total Cities	$570,000
Towns.
Port Hope	200,000	120,000
Belleville	200,000
Cobourg	200,000
Brantford	200,000
Peterboro	100,000
Toronto	100,000
St. Catharines	100,000
Woodstock	100,000
Chatham		12,000
Galtville		20,000
Simcoe	100,000
Brockville	100,000
Stratford	100,000
Guelph		100,000
Guelph		12,000
Chatham		100,000
Stratford		32,000
Guelph	20,000
Peterboro'	100,000
Total Towns	$2,020,000	$396,000
Villages.
Chippewa	20,000	5,000
	$2,020,000	$17,627,000
Total	$7,220,000

Of the entire $5, 267, 400 invested in railways, $3, 223, 400 was by way of loan, and the balance in stock. We doubt if a farthing on these loans has been returned, or a dollar of the stock has ever paid a cent in dividend. The municipalities stand indebted to the Government for the principal, and mainly for large arrears of interest. By the first Act the interest was fixed at 6 per cent, per annum, to which was added 2 per cent, for Sinking Fund. These municipalities which had borrowed too largely, in the faith that the railway enterprises they were favouring would be certain to pay them handsomely, soon found they were unable to meet their liabilities. Parliament had come to their relief, Two Acts were consequently passed. The first, we believe, in 1856, provided with respect to the municipalities in default that, as it might be inexpedient to press the collection of the whole sum due, the Governor might issue his warrant to the Sheriff, directing what rate should be levied, but that it should not be less than 12½cents on the dollar of the assessed yearly value of property. That of 1859, three years later, reduced the rate still further to 5 cents on the dollar, Cheap Silkerves and other means being withheld from municipalities entitled to them until such time as their indebtedness to the Fund was discharged. Even this reduced tax has not been paid, several of the defaulting municipalities keeping their assessment low in order that they might escape payment to the Government, which had become directly responsible for the debt. The municipalities which have paid interest and have no amount to the credit of their Sinking Fund, deserved to be marked with a white stone. They are:

Towns—Belleville, Cornwall, Guelph, Port Hope.

Counties—Bruce, Elgin, Essex, Grey, Huron, Hastings, Lambton, Lanark, Northumberland and Durham, Oxford.

Townships—Burin, Brantford, Canborough, Malahide, Sherbrooke, Middleton, Stanley, Waterloo.

These twenty municipalities borrowed in all $1, 442, 600. They have paid interest, and have at the credit of their Sinking Fund $467, 736, to go in reduction of the original debt. All the other municipalities, whose names are not given above, have taken terribly into account. Unfortunately they owe the largest borrowings, having required $3, 227, 400 of the entire $7, 220, 000. They owe over the whole principal and $2, 227, 323 of accumulated interest. Port Hope alone, which gave its entire $200, 000 to two railways, the Peterboro, and Port Hope, and the Port Hope, Lindsay and Beaverton, owes over a million and a half to the Fund, which is $400, 000 more than the entire assessed value of the real and personal property of the town! Cobourg is in the next worst state, owing $971, 600, whilst its assessment is but a million and a quarter. There is reason to believe, however, as was stated in a recent discussion in the Legislature, that the assessment of some of the defaulting municipalities has been purposely kept down. Built, it is quite clear that they have gone hopelessly beyond their depth, and that one of the most important questions which must engage the attention of the Local Government, when the Arbitration has done its work, is the state of the entire Municipal Loan Fund, and the best means of placing it upon a permanent and satisfactory footing. If the present system is continued [illegible] we owe [illegible] The [illegible] plans indebted to the Fund will be piling [illegible] up interest, and forming an [illegible] which open many headaches in the Province.

LAMATOLOGIA!

A DESPERATE GOOD RESIDENCY.

During the night of July 29, 1868, the jeweler's office of George H. Gooding, No. 29 State street, was robbed of $10,000, and ever since that time the affair has remained a mystery until the evening, when the following facts pertaining to the robbery and the arrest of the robbers, were developed:

In the beginning of July, 1868, Mr. Gooding let all of his store to a book firm except one window. Augustus Penny was the man who represented the book firm. On the afternoon of the 9th of July, Mr. Gooding, when he went away, left carpenters employed by the book firm hard at work on shelves, &c. At 6 o'clock the carpenters left, but their places were at once supplied by rogues disguised as carpenters, members of the said book firm and the work went on. Mr. Gooding's safe was in the back centre of the store. Augustus Penny manufactured a high platform which entered the door, so that it could be opened only a few inches. He was extensively engaged in whitewashing, and when a stranger tried the door he was told that no one could come in, that Mr. Gooding had gone home and they were busy. Another "carpenter" was busy on a screen which shielded the left side of the store and the safe from view. A third "carpenter" moved violently in the middle of the store to hide the creaking of drills, and the other "carpenters" were exercising the drills on Mr. Gooding's safe. In the safe was $10, 000 in gold. When Mr. Gooding came to his store the next morning he found his safe broken open and his money gone.

The robbers put his case in the hands of detectives and he himself went in o the haunts of crime, but he was told that the rogues had gone to Canada. He soon discovered that five persons were implicated. These were the parties arrested, and two more men, named Burton and White, English thieves, fled to New York, and had their share of the gold exchanged there by a fence. Learning afterward that Penny and his band existed the strand, they doubted that the "fence" had "blowed." They followed him to Philadelphia and found him in a bar-room. One put his knee in the middle of the back of the suspected traitor, and the other held down the head and cut the throat of the unfortunate man.

The "fence," however, recovered and his would-be murderers are in Pennsylvania jail. The victim of this outrage gave valuable information. Mr. Gooding went to Canada, where he found and renewed the acquaintance of Penny, who revealed some things concerning the robbery. Last Friday, many months after the renewal of that acquaintance, Penny left Montreal with the book of a burglar to commit a burglary in Ogdensburg, N. Y., on the Canada line. The detective was on his track, and when on Sunday morning, he crossed over to Ogdensburg, he was arrested. Charles Stedman, a notorious pickpocket, and Henry Jennings, were arrested in this city the morning as accomplices.—Ex

JAMATOLOGIA!

Terrific Fight Between a Lion and a Tiger.

During the [illegible] quench a menagerie, (Wombwell's Royal No. 1) to Lincoln, on Monday last, a most exciting scene occurred. In consequence of some repairs being requisite in one of the waggons, a large African lion was removed into a den in another cavern, in which, on a second den, was an immense Bengal tiger. The dens in the cavern was formed by placing a moveable "slide" between the bars, and in the centre of this slide was a small iron grating. The lion quickly discovered who his next door neighbor was. The result was at once evidenced by a roar of rage, and a terrific rush at the frail partition which divided him from the tiger. The latter animal, little fearing his angry companion, returned the salute with energy, and the roar of the two savage beasts alarmed and aroused the whole neighborhood even the menagerie was located. After some little time the claws of the lion told upon the "slide," and he made a large breach in it through which he leaped, and boldly confronted the tiger on his own ground. It was a fearful sight to see the infuriated animals at this juncture. Each was preparing for the conflict. Mr. Fairgrieve, the proprietor and director of the menagerie, hastily began to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WORSE THAN CRAZE TO NEWCASTLE.—The London Telegraph says:—"Recently, in one of the parishes, to a piece of information cried out of the London parliament—a fierce rival of the London parliament—a fierce fellow belonging to an organ which some Newcastle girl had painted, and some Cockney affirmed, Mr. Locker sings: 'Hiq could not know in Pimlico, as little she in Seville, that I should real upon this pond, and with them at the devil.' And, no doubt, in these days of universal traffic and intelligent commerce, the fruits and products of the south do pass about and become interchanged in an amazing fashion. But, perhaps, all things considered, the strangest ship's cargo which ever arrived in England is unloading now at Liverpool. A merchant vessel there is discharging a thousand tons of closely pressed hay, grown in the Bombay Presidency, and imported to feed English horses. One would almost as soon suppose a consignment of ice from Behring's, or of coals into Newcastle, as that the fiery plains of the Concan and Deccan should send out grass to England, where we are always damp and green. The ship may have trudged on this fodder; the cobra wormed its way through it: it very likely will taste of the fragrant lemon grass (Andropogon Schœnanthus), and bring in some strange new insects into Britain. But it 'pays' to fetch fodder from the land of Shiva; and ever so-days, what 'pays' is done, whether it be a question of carrying American lobsters in the shape of ice to India, or Indian heritage in tight pressed trusses to Liverpool.

THE RAMSAY CONTEMPT CASE.—It seems the last of the celebrated Lower Canadian cases, in which Mr. Justice Drummond and Mr. T. K. Ramsay, then acting as Crown Prosecutor, so conspicuously figured, in connection with the extradition of Lemoine—the French forger, has not been heard of. We find the following paragraph in reference to it in Mr. Ramsay's paper the Montreal Telegraph:—"By this mail information has been received that the Queen has been pleased to refer Mr. Ramsay's petition in appeal to the judicial Committee of the Committee of the Privy Council. This proceeding, which was adopted on the suggestion of their Lordships, has the effect of obviating any technical objection as to the form of the appeal or even of the right of appeal.—Telegraph

ARRESTS AND IMPRISONMENT OF AMERICANS IN TURKEY.—Information has been received at Washington of the arrest and imprisonment of a party of Americans and Englishmen in Turkey, who have been engaged in the work of surveying a new railroad route. They are charged with having smuggled arms into the interior for the purpose of overthrowing the government of the Sultan and placing the Pasha in power. The prisoners claim that the arms were for the defence of their employers. The American Consul General of Syria and Palestine had demanded the release of the Americans and their deliverance to him for trial, amounting to the provisions of the existing treaty, but as the latest advices, his request was not acceded to.

HONORS TO A CANADIAN.—A few months ago Mr. Fred. Benson, of St. Catherines, left this country for England, and entered Sandhurst College with the intention of preparing himself for the army. He passed a most successful examination before the Commander-in-Chief a few weeks ago, and has obtained his commission without purchase; also his choice of service. At the examination he was called upon to put a regiment through battalion drill, and the manner in which he performed his work was so pleasing to the Commander-in-Chief that he presented him with a dress sword and belt. Mr. Benson is a young Canadian, having been born in St. Catherines and educated at Upper Canada College.

There is a real idol temple erected and formally established in the United States, at Portland, Oregon. The building is completed, and the Chinamen are actively engaged in furnishing it. The vestibule contains two large oil globes, inside of which lamps are burning, so as to show to advantage the heathenish figures painted on the outside. One of these transparencies represents celestial warriors of saints, some on foot and some on horseback, who go round and round, propelled in some manner by a current of heated air.

During the last three days of the year just closed, we issued about 54,000 copies of the following periodicals, viz: New Dominion Monthly, 4,000; Montreal Witness, (semi-weekly,) 2,000; Weekly Witness, three months, 23,000; and Canadian Messenger, 17,000; and about 73,000 sheets from the job printing department, including 39,000 calendars inclosed in the above periodicals. —Montreal Witness, 2nd Jan.

JUDICIAL DECISIONS.—In the Superior Court at Montreal, judgment was given in favor of the Bank, in the case of the Bank of British North America vs. Torrance.—The same Court has decided that the debts of a man who makes a donation of all his property, and continues to trade on credit, are a legal charge upon his donatee.

A venerable mercantile Brown, who has operated in apples on the St. Louis ferry boats for years, retired from business Friday morning, on being informed by Archbishop Kenrick that he had fallen heir to $150,000 in Ireland. Mr. Brown's basket and the good will of his business are for sale.

The peace of London generally approve of the treaty between China and England recently concluded by Lord Clarendon and Mr. Burlingame.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—In view of President Johnston's amnesty proclamation of the 25th of December, Jefferson Davis, John Slidell, James M. Mason, A. Dudley Mann, and other ex-Confederates are preparing to return to the United States.

The British Government has ordered the Fortress of Gibraltar to be placed on a war footing, which has so annoyed the Provisional Government of Spain that they have addressed a note of complaint to the Cabinet of St. James.

Baron Rothschild left his eldest son four chasseurs and a little capital of $100,000,000 to begin the world with. The other Rothschilds divide the trifling remainder between them.

BRYAN'S WARNER.—The great public remedy have now been in use over twenty years, hence it cannot be said that they are on trial. They have been thoroughly tried, and pronounced (on the authority of those whose lives and health they have preserved) to be a pure, harmless, and eminently salutary preparation, and if taken in season will invariably cure colds, coughs, sore throat, and all Bronchial affections. One fair trial will convince the most sceptical. Sold by all medicine dealers, at 25 cts per box.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy; the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished in Anatomy what is at last accomplished in Hygeist by the Great Shakespeare Remedy, which has never touched the throat of those whose imprudence and exposure have united to make so common.

A writer in the London Times of to-day discusses the present situation of France. He says the year ends with the most prosperous peace the world ever saw, pronounces M. Rouher a young Maire du Palais, realizes the growth of democratic sentiment in France, and declares that the Emperor must either check the press or abandon personal government.

HEMAN SAFFORD.—The first of thousands of lives have been saved during the past year, and the credit is due to "Dunlop's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and comes from all the highest quarter. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half so successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co., is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., Proprietors for Canada. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 37

LAMATOLOGIA!

Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or Cough and Voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate persons, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25cts per box.

At a Public Meeting held in Buffalo a few days since Ex-President Fillmore is reported to have said, that he would do nothing to excite the ire or provoke the hostility of his Canadian neighbours, they were a worthy people, and were for the most part friendly; an immediate outbreak was not to be anticipated, but he would advise his fellow citizens to heed the lessons which history had taught all nations. "In time of peace prepare for war," hence it would be well to have our Northern frontiers well fortified.

Is not this a lesson to us to fortify our Southern frontiers? and while doing so would it not be well to fortify ourselves against the attacks of rheumatism, coughs, colds, cholics, bowel complaints, and all other diseases incident to this climate by supplying ourselves with the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," Can be had of any Medicine Dealer for 25cts per bottle

DIED.

In Dummer, on the 30th ult., Alexander Kidd, sen., a native of Roness, Scotland, aged 88 years and 2 months.

Mr. Kidd emigrated to Canada in 1815, and settled in Perth, County of Lanark.—In 1831, he removed to Dummer, where he spent the remainder of his life, surrounded by his family. He was one of the earliest settlers in that township, and leaves a numerous family and a large circle of friends and acquaintances to mourn their loss.

At Asphodel, on the 2nd inst., Richard Errett, third and only surviving child of R. E. Birdsall, Esq., aged 16 months and 25 days.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

PETERBOROUGH, January 7, 1868.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	95	@	1 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	90	@	0 95
Peas "	0	75	@	0 80
Barley "	0	90	@	0 95
Oats "	0	50	@	0 55
Potatoes "	0	40	@	0 45
Hay ₱ ton	7	00	@	9 00
Hides ₱ cwt	0	00	@	0 00
Beef ₱ cwt	4	50	@	5 00
Chickens	1	00	@	1 00
Wool ₱ lb	0	20	@	0 21
Pork ₱ cwt	0	00	@	7 00
Eggs, per dozen	0	15	@	0 20
Butter,	0	18	@	0 21
Cordwood	2	00	@	3 00
Fowl, per pair	0	30	@	0 30
Geese	0	40	@	0 50
Turkeys	0	40	@	1 00

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alterative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, rendering the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. HURD, Successor to HURD & Co.,
Malden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.
NORTHROP & LYMAN,
NEWCASTLE, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canadas
PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

Over a Million Dollars Saved!

Gentlemen:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad hurt in the leg, and was useless for over a year. I had used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment.—It over effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.

Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1866.

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

This well-known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy, for Female Difficulties and Obstructions from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, heaviness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart lowness of spirits, hysterics, sick headache, whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

N. B. $1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorized Agent will ensure a bottle, containing Pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, Ont.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter, and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and unmistakable fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, heedsess of the baby, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, trembling coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and safe administered to the child: drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, U. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N. B.—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 33

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensable article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches of Galls on Horses. Our men all say it acts like magic."

J. W. HEWITT,
Foreman for Americas, Wells, Fargo's and Haraden's Express.

"The Sprain of my daughters ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.

ED. SEELY."

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1865.

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beast, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery-men and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and the private U. S. stamp of Demas Barnes & Co. over the top.

An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone plate label. Look closely!

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, and PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICES:—215 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 20th 1867. 44-1yr

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
Sole Agents for Canada.
37

New Advertisements.

FARM FOR SALE.

THE West half of Lot No. 4, in the 4th concession of Asphodel, known as the "Trotter Farm." The lot contains 100 acres, of which 50 are under cultivation. There is a good Dwelling House, with Barns and outhouses on the premises. The lot is situated 2 miles from Westwood and 3 miles from the Village of Hastings. For further particulars as to terms of sale, &c., apply to

W. H. MOORE,
Barrister, Peterboro.

☞ This Lot will be sold Cheap.

January 7, 1868. 1

TENDERS WANTED.

TENDERS for the erection of a Wesleyan Church, on the first Lot, 6th concession of South Dummer, will be received until the Fifteenth day of January next.

Plans and Specifications may be seen at the Rev. S. C. Philps, Norwood, to whom the Tenders are to be addressed.

Proper Security required.

The Committee are not necessarily bound to accept the lowest tender.

Norwood, January 6, 1868. 1-3in

School Teacher Wanted,

FOR School Section No. 7, Smith, holding a first or second class certificate.

Apply to

B. SANDERSON,
R. FITZGERALD, } Trustees.

Selwyn P. O., January 6, 1868. 1-4f

NOTICE!

THE Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, will be held at Mr. Thomas Ferry's office, on MONDAY, the 13th inst., at 11 o'clock, a. m.

R. WALTON, Secretary.

Peterboro, Jan. 6, 1868. 1-2in

Notice to the Public.

THIS is to give notice, that from and after this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by any person, without my written order, of which all parties will please take notice.

MICHAEL SHEEHAN.

January 6, 1868. 1-3in*

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Municipal Council of the United Townships of Belmont and Methuen, will meet at Garrison's School House, on SATURDAY, the 8th day of JANUARY, 1868, to pass a By-Law to establish the following line of road viz:—

Commencing on the East side of the first concession of Methuen between Lots Nos. 3 and 4; thence S. 78½° W. 32 chains; thence S. 14° E. 2 chains 45 links; thence N. 13° E. 4 chains 60 links; thence S. 86° W. 9 chains 35 links; thence S. 74° W. 22 chains; thence N. 15° W. 6 chains; thence N. 19° E. 2 chains; thence S 66° W. 8 chains 50 links, along Mr. Downs road; thence S. 79° W. 9 chains, along said road; thence S. 64° W. 16 chains, on said road; thence N. 14° W. 1 chain 50 links, on said road; thence S. 75° W. 16 chains 50 links, on said road; thence S. 43° 30' W. 4 chains 50 links, to Otter Creek; thence N. 74° W. 4 chains, to Depot Shanties; thence N. 76° W. 6 chains; thence N. 32° W. 1 chain 75 links; thence N. 14° W. 2 chains, to post between Nos. 3 and 4, on allowance for road between the 2nd and 3rd concessions, close by the Depot Shanties of Mr. Downs on Page & Co.; thence S. 89° W. 5 chains, up a ravine; thence N. 45° W. 3 chains; thence S. 80° W. 5 chains; thence S. 45° W. 10 chains; thence N. 87° W. 16 chains; thence N. 33° W. 4 chains; thence W. 6 chains 50 links; thence S. 72° 30' W. 20 chains; thence N. 68° W. 3 chains 50 links, to concession line between 3rd and 4th concessions, and 3 chains North of post of Lots Nos. 3 and 4; thence on same course as the last 1 chain 50 links; thence S. 65° W. 5 chains; thence N. 25° W. 3 chains 50 links; thence S. 46° W. 13 chains 50 links, to side line between Nos. 3 and 4; thence on said side line S. 76° 15' W. 35 chains, to corner of Lots Nos 3 and 4 on the West side of the 4th concession in said Township of Methuen; the marked line to be the centre and the width of the road to be 40 feet.

WM. REA, Township Clerk.

Methuen, Dec. 5, 1868. 50

FOR SALE.

A GOOD YOKE OF OXEN. Price One Hundred and Twenty Dollars. Apply to the undersigned.

THOS. GEO. CHOATE.

Warsaw, Nov. 16, 1868. 47

TEACHER WANTED!

A FIRST CLASS FEMALE TEACHER for School Section No. 10, Township of Otonabee. Apply to

WM. STEWART,
D. McCANNAN, } Trustees.
R. STEWART,

Otonabee Dec. 7th, 1868. 50

STRAYED!

FROM the premises of the subscriber, during the Summer, a COW AND HEIFER. The Cow is about 8 years old; has wide horns, is light red with white face. The Heifer is about 2 years old, spotted yellow and white. Any information that will lead to their recovery will be thankfully received and suitably rewared.

R. GREEN.

Peterboro, Dec. 22nd, 1868. 52-4in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864,

AND AMENDMENTS THERETO.

THE Creditors of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Cassels, in the Town of Peterborough, on THURSDAY, the TWENTY-FIRST day of JANUARY, A. D. 1869, at Twelve o'clock, noon, to receive statements of his affairs, and to name an Assignee.

Domicile of Debtor, Town of Peterborough.

Dated this Sixth day of January, A. D., 1869.

JAMES STEPHENS.

51-3in

Galway Mining Company.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that a call of twenty per cent has been made on the Capital Stock of this Company, and that the same is payable at the office of the Company, on and after Monday, the Fourth day of January, A. D. 1869.

Dated this 21st day of December, A.D., 1868.

By order of the Directors,

JOHN BURNHAM,
Secretary and Treasurer.

52-2in

TEACHERS WANTED!

FOR the Senior and Junior Common School department of the Norwood Union Grammar School. Applications will be received from male Teachers, with first class certificates and good references, for the Senior department; and from male and female Teachers, with second class certificates and references, for the Junior department—till noon of Saturday 19th December, inst. Applicants to state salary expected. Address

WM. B. ROXBURGH,
Secretary to Board.

Norwood, December 5th, 1868. 50

School Teacher Wanted.

WANTED, A TEACHER holding a Third Class Certificate, for Union School Section No. 8, in the Township of Minden. To commence teaching first of January next.—Application to be made to the undersigned Trustees, if by letter, to Minden Post office,

JAMES FEE.
JOSEPH McNEIL.
PETER DAWSON.

Minden, Dec. 7, 1868. 50

FARM FOR SALE.

SOUTH HALF OF LOT No. 21 in the 11th concession of the Township of Smith.—There are 50 acres under cultivation, and the balance is good hardwood land.

For terms, &c., apply to

WM. ADAMS, Lakefield P. O.
or ALEX PRESTON, Smith.

Smith, Dec. 23, 1868. 52

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $300 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept, 16, 1868. 36

$20.00 REWARD!!

WILL BE GIVEN to any person who can give information to secure conviction of the individual, who, on Tuesday the 27th of October last, broke the window of my workshop, or give information as to who, on Saturday night the 31st of October, filled the lock of my store on George street with rubbish to prevent opening. Undoubtedly both acts have been done by the same individual. Has he no windows which might be broken, or door he live in communion with bogs?

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

DOMINION HOUSE,

PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, Dec. 30, 1868. 53

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS!

The subscribers beg to intimate that having made considerable alterations in their premises, they are now prepared to show an entire assortment of

FANCY GOODS!

Which for quality and richness of design surpass any they offered heretofore. We cordially invite all who are admirers of this class of Goods to call and examine our assortment, feeling assured it will afford them pleasure in doing so.

PART OF OUR STOCK CONSISTS OF

Very fine London made Jewelry, of elegant designs, also Rich Gem Rings, Ear Rings, Breast Pins, Chains, Lockets, Pencil-cases, Pen Holders, Electro-Plated Silver Ware, Spoons, &c., Fancy Cabinet and Leather Ware, and a large variety of London and Parisian Fancy Goods.

Toys! Toys! Toys!

FOR ANTA CLAUS.

We are prepared to show a large assortment of Durable, Ingenious, Mechanical Toys, Magnetic Toys, Play Toys, Games, Dolls in all varieties.

J. R. ORMOND & Co.,
Hunter Street.

December 16, 1868. 51-tf

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, Mr. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb' Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting. Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

PRESENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Russell's Watches! Sewill's Watches! Waltham Watches!

JOHN McCLELLAND,

WATCH-MAKER AND JEWELLER,

GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO',

Has much pleasure in announcing to the public, that he has on hand a large and well selected stock of

GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES,

By the above and other eminent makers. Also

GOLD CHAINS, BROOCHES, EAR RINGS, FINGER RINGS, Lockets, Pins, &c.,

Of the Finest Quality and Workmanship. Also FANCY GOODS, &c, for the season, at the Lowest Prices.

Peterborough, December 17, 1868. 51

$20 Reward.

THE undersigned will give the above reward to any person who will give information that will lead to the conviction of the party who took my Ram from the field and ilfused him.

W. WEBSTER.

Otonabee, Dec. 16, 1868. 51

FOR SALE.

A GOOD LOT, in a beautiful situation, in the Village of Hastings, Asphodel. For further particulars apply to

H. SEDGWICK, Hastings,
or C. ARMSTRONG, Peterboro.

December 16, 1868. 51

HEIFER STRAYED.

DRIVEN out of the pasture in the Township of Harvey, some time in the fall, a year old Heifer (red). Such information as will lead to her recovery will be thankfully received.

S. NELSON.

Lakefield, Dec. 16, 1868. 51

FOR SALE.

30,000 BRICK,
50 BUSHELS LIME,
24 LONG JOICE,
ALSO A GOOD TEAM OF HORSES.

H. CALCUTT.

Ashburnham, Dec. 23, 1868. 52-2in

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.

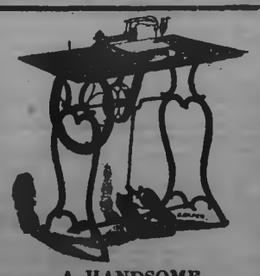
GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and

LICENTIATE

Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.

Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.

December 16, 1868. 51



A HANDSOME

Christmas Gift.

AS Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your———, or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's., $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $25. Ditto with stand $33. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $45 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $55.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

STRAYED!

INTO the premises of the subscriber, about two months ago, a 2 year old HEIFER—red. The owner can have her by paying expenses and taking her away.

JOS. H. WALTON.

Smith, December 23, 1868. 52-4in

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868.

CHEAP SALE OF DRESS GOODS

DURING THE

MONTH OF DECEMBER.

☞ We offer the Balance of a pile of Fancy Dress Goods, at 7½d per yard.

Union Dress Plaids, yard wide, offered at 1s 3d per yard, formerly 1s 8d to 2s. " " Plain and Fancy Coburgs, at 9d per yard.
Crape Cloths, 7d to 1s 1½d " " " at 1s 3d " " Fancy Wincey and Lustres, at 1s per yard, formerly 1s 3d to 1s 6d.
Magdala Cords, all colors, offered at 1s 3d per yard, usually sold at 1s 6d to 1s 9d. " " " at 1s 3d " " 1s 6d to 1s 10½d.
All-wool Empress Cloths, " 2s " " " 2s 9d to 3s 9d. " " " at 1s 6d " " 1s 9d to 2s 6d.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PURCHASE A CHEAP DRESS.

☞ White English BLANKETS also offered at cost this month.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterborough, December 3, 1868. 49

Great Bargains

IN

FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

A Fresh Supply of

Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,

BLANKETS,

DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,

CARPETS,

And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.

Just received by

I. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

W. G. THOMSON & Co's.

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞ INSPECTION INVITED. ☜

Peterboro, Sept, 30, 1868. 40

CHANCERY SALE OF Farm Property!

IN ASPHODEL.

In pursuance of the order of the Court of Chancery for Ontario, made in a cause of HESLEWELL vs. [illegible], revived as HAZARD vs. ROBERTSON, there will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, at the Court House, in the Town of Peterborough, on

Friday, 5th of January, 1869,

at Twelve o'clock, noon, by the undersigned Local Master of the said Court, or his Clerk, in two parcels, the following Farm Property:

PARCEL ONE.

The South part of Lot number 18 in the 12th concession of Asphodel, containing sixty acres, more or less, and being that portion of said lot 18 not conveyed to the defendant, Thomas Robertson, and the North part of Lot 17 in said 12th concession, containing one hundred acres, more or less, described as follows:—Commencing at a point in the Eastern limit of said Lot 17, 11 chains and 25 links distant from the South-east angle of the said lot; thence North 16° West 18 chains and 75 links, more or less, along said Eastern limit, to the North-east angle of said lot; thence South 74° West 53 chains 45 links, more or less, to the Western limit of said lot; thence South 16° East 18 chains 75 links; thence North 74° East 53 chains 45 links, more or less, to the place of beginning. There are about 92 acres cleared; also a Frame Two Story House, with Frame Kitchen attached, a Frame Barn 30 x 50, and a Frame Shed attached. The property is rail fenced, about four miles from Norwood village with a very good road to it. There is a Common School about a mile and a half from the property, and the country in the neighborhood is all very well settled.

Parcel Two.

The North part of lot 18 in the 12th concession of Asphodel, aforesaid, containing one hundred acres of land. This property is adjacent to parcel number one, and upon it there are a Frame House, unfinished; a Log House; a Log barn and Frame Stable. There are about 60 acres cleared and the balance is hardwood land. The property is rail fenced. A creek runs across the south-west corner of this parcel.

Terms.

Ten per cent. down; the balance within one month from day of sale, without interest.

There will be a reserved bid on each parcel. In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of the Court.

Further particulars and conditions of sale may be had gratis at the law offices of Messrs. Fairbairn & Cassels and Messrs. Weller & Hatton, Peterborough, and at the office of the said Master.

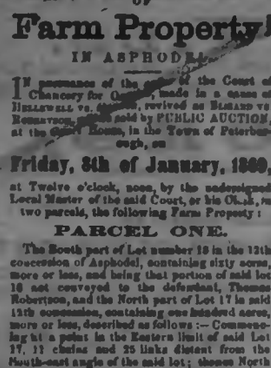
Dated this seventh day of December, A. D. 1868.

(Signed) W. H. WELLER.
FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Vendor's Solicitor. 50

JOSEPH HALL MACHINE WORKS!

ESTABLISHED 1851.

JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.
PROPRIETORS,
OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patters, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running not to exceed 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us thereon. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞ We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather-Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.
Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-13in

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all articles in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,
And of best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place,
Directly opposite Mr. John Sherin's.
SHORTLY & HARPER.

Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 43-13in

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Dourо; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Apply to
FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

FURS! FURS!

CAUTION.

THE public are hereby cautioned against purchasing Colored and Dressed Skins for Canadian Mink. The Canada is superior to any in the world, and is therefore the most valuable. This has induced wholesale dealers to imitate our Canada Mink, not only by coloring Russian, but also by coloring United States Mink. The Canada costs more than double that of any other country, which enables dealers to make a large profit on the spurious article. Those buying Furs in Montreal or other places should beware least they get the inferior article for which they will no doubt have to pay full prices. Take care, therefore, for I have been shown articles purchased as genuine in Montreal, which I can certify were colored and of inferior quality.

Parties wanting any alterations made in their furs will please to call before the end of October.

WILLIAM LECH

Peterboro, Sept. 16. 38

CHANGE OF BUSINESS.

MESSRS. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG beg to return thanks to their numerous friends and the public for the patronage so liberally bestowed on them, also state that they have sold the Book and Stationery business to Mr. A. B. KIDD, for whom they solicit a continuance of public favor. Mr. Kidd will continue the business in the same stand, Coulter's Block, and will promptly attend to the wants of all those who may favor him with a call.

All persons indebted to the late firm of Stratton & Armstrong, will find their accounts at Mr. Kidd's Book Store, and he is empowered to receive payment and grant receipts for the same.

The partnership of Stratton & Armstrong was dissolved by mutual consent.

Peterboro, November 21, 1868.

N. B.—Any person having business with Mr. Stratton will find him at the Examiner Office.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE Municipal Council of the Township of Otonabee intend, on THURSDAY, the 31st day of DECEMBER, 1868, to pass a By-law to establish the following new line of roads, viz:—Commencing at the Eastern limit of the allowance for road between the twelfth and thirteenth concessions of said Township, at a point Southerly seven chains and sixty-six links from the North-west angle of the fourteenth lot in said twelfth concession; thence North twenty-three degrees thirty minutes, East seven chains; thence North eighteen degrees, East six chains and forty-two links; thence North fourteen degrees, West three chains; thence North thirty degrees, West six chains and forty-three links; thence South eighty degrees, West five chains and ninety-six links, more or less, to the aforesaid Eastern limit. The above described new road to be forty-four feet wide and the described line to be the centre thereof.

GEORGE READ,
Township Clerk.

Otonabee, Nov. 18, 1868. 47-4in

PROSPECTUS FOR 1869

OF THE

Publications of John Dougall & Son, MONTREAL.

THE phrase "GET THE BEST" has passed into a proverb, and all will agree that the best Family Paper is one that has something interesting and profitable for every member of the family, not excluding the children, and which includes within its scope all the best interests of humanity, temporal and eternal.—Such a paper the MONTREAL WITNESS has aimed to be from its commencement, 23 years ago; and that the country was prepared for such an enterprise is shown by its success. The Witness in its three editions—"Daily," "Semi-Weekly," and "Weekly"—issues about 16,000 copies; and, consequently, reaches probably Eighty Thousand readers; but what are they out of a population of four millions, all of whom we desire to reach?

Our publications are as follows, and we respectfully call attention to their cheapness as well as quality, and ask all the friends of interesting and wholesome literature everywhere to aid us in extending their circulation. Nor will their circulation interfere with that of local papers, which are a necessity in their respective localities, and which are generally speaking, very meritorious:—

1.—The DAILY WITNESS contains as much reading matter as the ordinary Dailies, and of a choice quality, at about half the price, viz., $3 per annum. Besides being a first-class Family Paper, it is especially valuable to business men on account of its unbiassed commercial intelligence, prices current, &c.

2.—The MONTREAL WITNESS, Eight Pages, Semi-Weekly, $2 per annum, contains all that appears in the Daily, except part of the purely city matter and advertisements.

3.—The WEEKLY WITNESS, Eight Pages, $1 per annum, containing the greater part of the News, Contemporary Press, and Editorials of the MEMI-WEEKLY, with a portion of the Family-Reading and Prices Current.

4.—The CANADIAN MESSENGER, containing Eight Pages, is published twice a month, at the very low price of 37½c. per annum, Postage paid; or Seven Copies for $2 to one address. It contains Religious, Temperance, Agricultural, Scientific, Educational matter, Stories for Children, &c., &c. This paper is recommended to the public generally, and it is hoped that its adaption for circulation through School will greatly extend its usefulness.—It has at present upwards of 20,000, representing, probably, 100,000 readers, but at the very low price (namely, 25 cents per annum, Post-paid, if 100 copies are sent to one address), it is hoped that its circulation will greatly increase.

5.—The NEW DOMINION MONTHLY is a handsome Monthly Magazine, containing a rich selection of original and copied articles every month, together with one or more choice pieces of music, and pictorial illustrations.—Price $1 per annum, Post-paid. This Magazine has been favorably noticed by nearly the entire Press of the Dominion.

The terms of all those publications are necessarily CASH IN ADVANCE, and the periodicals are invariably discontinued when the subscription expires.

Any one who will kindly make up a club for the above subscriptions to the value of $8, and remit the same Post-paid, in Bankable funds, will receive, if asked for at the time, the WEEKLY WITNESS or the NEW DOMINION MONTHLY gratis, and one Dollar's worth of our Publications for every additional Eight Dollars remitted for them in P. O. Money Order or Canadian Bills.

N.B.—Postmasters are authorized and requested to receive individual subscriptions in Silver (but not Club-Subscriptions), and convert the same into Bankable funds at our expense.

JOHN DOUGALL & SON.

Montreal, Nov., 1868.

Who would not be beautiful? Who would not add to their beauty? What gives that marble purity and distingue appearance we observe upon the stage, and in the city belle? It is no longer a secret. They use Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its continued use removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness, from the face and hands, and leaves the complexion smooth, transparent, blooming and ravishing. Unlike many cosmetics, it contains no material injurious to the skin. Any Druggists will order it for you, if not on hand, at 50 cts. per bottle.

W. E. HAGAN, Troy, N. Y., Chemist.
DEMAS BARNES & Co.,
Wholesale Agents, N. Y.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

NEW Singer Patern Hand Shuttle (OR LOCK STITCH) SEWING MACHINE,

AT THE

Peterboro Sewing Machine Rooms.

THE BEST YET OFFERED.

All Machines warranted, and instructions free. ☞ Rooms over DONNELLY'S Store, ☜ George street.

Peterboro, Dec. 9, 1868. 50

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVE

From his sine dern to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lamnit's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter C. Y. Miller, of Kenetown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hosey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞ Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

☞ For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kemp, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

BARLEY, OATS, PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 38

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and still be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from R. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said R. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

LYON'S EXTRACT OF PURE JAMAICA GINGER—For Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c., where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and native purity makes it a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere, at 50 cts. per bottle. Ask for "Lyon's" Pure Extract. Take no other.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

Special Notice.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

(Established 1825,)

With which is now united

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Head Office for Canada,

MONTREAL,—STANDARD COMPANY'S BUILDINGS,

No. 47, Great St. James Street.

Manager .....W. M. RAMSAY
Inspector.....RICHARD BULL.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The EIGHT DIVISION of the Company's Profits is appointed to be made at 15th NOVEMBER 1870, and all Policies now effected will participate.

The FUND TO BE DIVIDED will be the profits which have arisen since 15th November 1865.

The COMPANY'S BUSINESS YEAR will close on 15th NOVEMBER 1868, and in order to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the PROFIT SHARE, Proposals should be lodged with the Agents on or before that date.

Agent for Peterborough,
ALEX. SMITH,

Peterboro, Oct. 28, 1868. 44

MILLER'S Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 75c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co.,
Proprietors.

147 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

OXEN! OXEN!!

FOR SALE—a good span of heavy oxen in good working order; price $160. Apply at this office.

G. J. GALVIN,
Residence—near Lakefield.

Nov. 4, 1868. 45.

Teacher Wanted.

A SECOND CLASS MALE TEACHER for No. 1 School Section, North Monaghan.

Apply to
GEO. TULLY,
or WM. ROBSON,
School Trustees.

November 25, 1868. 48

NOTICE!

THE annual meeting of the Share-holders in the Cobourg, Peterboro and Marmora Railway and Mining Company, will be held at Cobourg, on the 4th day of JANUARY, 1869.

JOHN BEATTY,
Secretary.

Cobourg, Dec. 2, 1868. 49-3in

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN ANVIL!

I WOULD invite attention to my Stock of Hardware, which is large and well assorted.

Story's Hand-made and other Chopping Axes, Beetle's Patent Cross-cut Saws; Buck Saws; Grindstones and Rollers; Drawknives; Sargent's Augers; Warranted Weighing Beams; Cast Steel Grafting Scoops; Russia Plough Line; Tea Kettles; Round Pots; Bake Pans and Covers; Ossick Traps; Powder; Shot; Fly's Caps; Hunting Axes; Knives; Shot; Ponches; Flasks.

Bar, Rod, Hoop, Sheet and Band Iron; Octagon and Square Cast Steel; Sleigh Shoe Steel; C. D. F. J. and W. Horse Nails; Farrier's Knives and Pincers; Jowett's Celebrated Files and Horse Rasps; Mansehale Anvils; Blacksmith's Bellows; Stocks and Dies; Vices; Carriage Bolts.

Builders' Hardware.

Best Boiled Oil; Genuine White Lead; Paints; Colours; Turpentine; Varnish, &c. Lightning Apple Parers; Thurber's Anti-friction Metal.

JOHN BERTRAM,
Hardware Merchant.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville.
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Ottawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Safe Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't. P. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phœnix Insurance Company,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams: and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 9, 1868. 50

A VALUABLE Farm for Sale!

THE Subscriber offers for sale that Excellent Farm, Lot No. 21, in the 9th Concession of Otonabee. It is situated about 12 miles from Peterboro and the same distance from Keene. There are 85 acres cleared and in a good state of cultivation, and a comfortable Dwelling House, Sheds, Barns and Stables; a good young Orchard bearing choice fruit. The soil is of the very best quality; about 8 acres in Fall Wheat, looking well, and 40 acres ploughed ready for spring sowing.

For terms apply to the proprietor on the premises,

JOHNSTON COONEY,
Or to JAMES STRATTON,
Examiner Office, Peterboro.

Otonabee, October 6th, 1868. 41-13in

A Farm to Rent or Sell!

CONTAINING fifty acres of excellent land in the Township of Otonabee, No. 21 in the 7th concession. Good Buildings, well watered, and in a good state of cultivation. There are nine acres of Fall Wheat. Stock can be had if desired.

For terms and further particulars apply on the premises, to

GEO. GRAHAM,
Proprietor.

Allandale Mills, March 11, 1867 11-3*13-tf

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 20. 1868. 32-tf

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm. Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26, 1868. 46

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Hunter Streets, opposite Dr. Hassard's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the correct preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 3-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorised to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. MCFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

LOOK OUT!

FOR

F. LEMAY'S TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT,

Where you will find a very complete stock of

Fall and Winter Ready-made Clothing

Of all Descriptions and Prices, Made on the Premises, and WORK GUARANTEED!

A FINE LOT OF UNDERSHIRTS AND DRAWERS.

ALSO,

English, Scotch and Canadian Tweeds,

WHITE AND GREY CANADIAN BLANKETS

FOR SHANTIES.

200 Pieces of White, Light, Grey and Dark Fulled Cloths,

Expressly made for his Trade.

All to be Sold at a Very Low Price FOR CASH.

Call and See before Buying Elsewhere.

F. LEMAY,
Hunter Street.

Peterborough, Sept. 30, 1868. 40

W. WADDELL

Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of

CARRIAGE HARNESS,

Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also

HEAVY TEAM HARNESS,

Made of the very best material.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.

In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS

In Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.

Children's Carriages

From $8.00 each to $15.00.

Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.

Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking

Kept constantly on hand.

Peterborough, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

FUR SHOP REMOVED.

MR. LECH

HAS REMOVED

One Door north of Mr. Lamnit's Tin Shop.

Parties desirous of having Furs made up will please leave them at Mr. Lamnit's as above, Lemnox street, No. 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 26

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

OF

CONSUMPTION!

IN CANADA.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—SIRS,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I suffered a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different remedies, but all without any good effect. Seeing Mr. Simmons of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottles at once, with the Pills; as soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lungs, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing the use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. Y. MILLER,
Bayesville, Co. of Leeds & Addington.

To all to whom it may concern.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman, Peter C. Y. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and reliable person, and I am confident that I can safely recommend for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

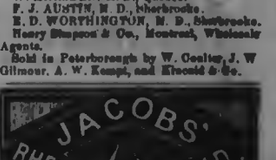
Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Minister of Bath, Ont.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not pretend to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practise and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. H. CHERRY, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
C. W. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Bruce.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSKINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENLS, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MEIGS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BREADON, M. D., Sangeen R. W.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Castleoak.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
F. D. MUSEY, M. D., Boston.
W. MARSDEN, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. SMITH, M. D., Sherbrooke.
H. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.



IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lumbago, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c. &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely gray, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 75 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H. Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

NOT QUITE SO.

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the conditions and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their horses the sufferers, as avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Horld & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 18

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—The North half of No. 4, in the [illegible]

Apply to
JAS. HALL.

Peterboro,' Feb'y 18, 1868.

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 1869. No. 2.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED BY

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

With every variety of Coloring and Bronzing Powders—blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

JAMES F. DENNISTOUN,

BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office, Hunter street, Peterborough.
Peterboro, July 30, 1868. 31

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,

BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 20

SCOTT & GREEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public, Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
THOMAS SCOTT. JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Clinton's, George street, Peterborough.
Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864.

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,

SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,
Conveyancers, &c.,
Peterborough, Ontario.
T. S. H. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN,

Rooms

J. SULLIVAN, M.D., L.R.C.P.S., I.

Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR.
Coroner for County of Peterborough.
Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 24-tf

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and
LICENTIATE
Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.
Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.
December 16, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,

Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.
Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.
Ashburnham, October 23, 1867. 48

J. W. GILMOUR,

DRUGGIST, Chemist and Apothecary, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Combing and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George-Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices, Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.
Cavan and Bruce, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.
Nov. 27, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.
Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Business Directory.

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,

DEALER in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand. Repairing neatly done. Opposite Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, Paperhanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.
Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C.W.
Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO.

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', Interest allowed on deposits.
A. SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.

FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.
Wm. OGILVY, Agent.
Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,

PETERBOROUGH.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

From this date until further notice, the rate of interest in the above department will be

FIVE PER CENT.

PER ANNUM.

D. S. EASTWOOD,
Manager.
Peterboro', April 1st. 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.

ALL payments to be made on account of the

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!

MAY BE MADE TO THE

Royal Canadian Bank

And Its Agencies.

E. E. WOOD,
Treasurer of Ontario.
Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WISHIP,

TOBACCONIST,

George Street, Peterborough, Ont.
March 12, 1868. 11-1y

FIRE AND LIFE

INSURANCE OFFICE.

T. J. WISHIP, Agent,

Acting for First Class Reliable Companies.

George street (next to the Montreal House)
Peterboro', Ont. 29-6m.

GEORGE ALLEN,

GUN & WHITE-SMITH,

Hunter Street, Peterborough,

BEGS to inform the public that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and Whitesmithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired.
☞ Shop and residence adjoining the United Hotel.
Peterboro, October 25, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,

DENTIST.
Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.

D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodeons of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodeon, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.
Peterboro', February 6, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain

D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.
Peterboro, November 28 1866. 46

REMOVAL.

DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hoolitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.
Peterboro, July 6, 1868. 28

R. S. HOWELL,

FORWARDER,

Commission Merchant,

AND

GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,

Dealer in Lumber, &c.,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE

LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,

AND

Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Lindsay, Depart..... 9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive..... 1 10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart..... 3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 4.35 "
Lindsay, Arrive..... 6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Lindsay, Depart..... 12.35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 2.35 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 4.30 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart..... 8.45 p. m.
Millbrook..... 7.30 "
Lindsay, Arrive..... 9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Peterborough, Depart..... 8.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 4.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 5.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart..... 10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 11.30 "
Peterborough, Arrive..... 12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Peterborough, Depart..... 8.30 p. m.
Millbrook..... 6.20 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 8.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart..... 1.15 p. m.
Millbrook..... 2.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive..... 3.20 "

A. T. WILLIAMS,
Superintendent.
May 20, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

TRAINS LEAVE

PORT HOPE STATION

AS FOLLOWS:

GOING EAST.

Express (day)..... 9.30 a.m.
Mixed..... 7.00 p.m.
Express (night)..... 9.30 p.m.

GOING WEST.

Express (night)..... 10.50 p.m.
Mixed..... 3.00 p.m.
Express (day)..... 10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time

Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

TORONTO LINE.

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 2.50 p.m. and 6.05 p.m.
Express at 12.55 p.m.

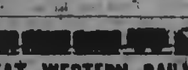
HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.50 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 7.25 p.m.
Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME

IN THE

Norwood and Peterboro'



STAGE.

ROYAL MAIL LINE!

LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a. m.

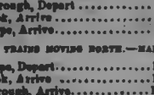
LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.

Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates

J. A. JOHNSON,
Proprietor
Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.

Rates of Passage from Peterboro':

CABIN, - - $74 to $80. STEERAGE - $30.

Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.

For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to

GEORGE A. COX, Agent.
Canadian Express Co'y.
Peterboro', Nov. 7th. 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,

No. 29 Peter Street, Toronto, Ont.

JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.

This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Stations, Steamboat Landings, and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞ Terms $1.50 per Day. 41

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,

WALTON STREET,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.
Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Poetry.

A DOUBTING HEART.

Where are the swallows fled?
Frozen and dead,
Perishèd upon some bleak and stormy shore.
O doubting heart!
Far over purple seas,
They wait in sunny ease
The balmy southern breeze,
To bring them to their northern homes once more.

Why must the flowers die?
Prisoned they lie
In the cold tomb, heedless of sun or rain,
O doubting heart!
They only sleep below
The soft, white, cruious snow,
While winter winds shall blow,
To breathe and smile upon you soon again.

The sun has hid his rays
These many days;
Will dreary hours never leave the earth?
O doubting heart!
The stormy clouds on high
Veil the same sunny sky,
That soon (for Spring is nigh)
Shall wake the Summer into golden mirth.

Fair hope is dead, and light
Is quenched in night.
What sound can break the silence of despair?
O doubting heart!
The sky is overcast,
Yet stars shall rise at last,
Brighter for darkness past,
And angels' silver voices stir the air.

Selections.

How Mr. Blewstring got chiselled out of Fifty Pounds.

(From Temple Bar.)

I felt rather seedy. The nervous system demanded rest; the fast being that during the season I had played a good many more rubbers than were consistent with early hours, and had consumed more brandy and soda than any medical adviser could sanction without sacrificing his conscience at the shrine of good-fellowship. As the story is absolutely true, and as there are many in and about London who can vouch for its veracity, I must necessarily enshrine individuals and localities in a muffler of misnomer.

Dewbiney, in ——shire, is as nice a little watering place as any hard-worked fellow could select to do the "coiny" in. It sits in the lap of a flat, motherly looking mountain; the sea comes toying up to its feet and plashes against its legs, while the mother modestly looks on in grave admiration of her blithesome child. A quaint hotel, perched under a rock, like a solitary limpet—cluttering from the cold—offers lodging to man and beast; and I deem it but right to mine host of the Green Tree to declare (with my head upon the gastronomic regions) that his meat is of the best quality and his drink of the rarest vintage.

We dined every day at a table d'hote, and sometimes muttered an even twenty. Dewbiney is eight miles from the nearest railway station, consequently almost completely cut of the world. The day-before-yesterday's Times is run upon, and a telegram produces the same effect as a stranded whale, the whole population turning out en masse on the first whisper of the messenger's appearance.

I had passed a month at this sweet, secluded spot, gradually moving up in the social scale, till at length I was voted into the chair, of which honour I felt as proud as the Lord Mayor of London must when seated in the Egyptian Hall surrounded by Her Majesty's ministers. My stories, which were not listened to in town with that attention their piquancy demanded, went down here with wonderful effect; and my bon mots were quoted on the beach of a morning, and entered in the notebooks of my companions, as being worthy of repetition on more splendid and more brilliant occasions. In a word, when I opened my lips, if only to ask the waiter for gravy there was a hush and look of expectation, and never till then did I experience the full ecstatic swing of power. But, alas! there is no sky without a cloud. I little dreamt as one evening I beheld a swarthy middle aged traveller enter the portals of the Green Tree, that it would be a struggle of life and death between us to maintain the supremacy I had so honourably earned.

One meets a man at a friend's table, and he is invited. You cannot say why or wherefore, but the fact is here and bold that this person is dislikeable, and you turn your back upon him.

Something told me to beware of the swarthy stranger—a small voice within bade me be on my guard.

The solitary waiter, boots, messenger, chambermaid, cutler, and coachman was one Billey O'Leary, an Irishman, genuine and unabashed. Billy and I were on terms of, in fact I may say, intimacy; for inasmuch as a monarch is desirous of gaining information relating to the goings on of his subjects through some favoured agent so was I anxious with reference to the movements of the little kingdom over which I held a right royal sway.

'Who is this person that has just arrived?'

'Sorra wan o' me knows, sir; but, begorra, I put him in No. 14, and he must stand wather like a duck to bear it.'

This room was the black-hole of the hotel, Facilis descensus Averni. I felt pleased with Billy, and did not conceal my satisfaction.

I cannot account for it, but somehow I found myself on my own room, half an hour before dinner, personally—I almost blush while I write it—a well-thumbed volume of Joseph Miller.

I put on a flowered silk waistcoat and a diamond ring.

'Now,' said I, Mr. Henry Jones! You may measure swords with any ordinary man.'

The table d'hote was up to its maximum, seven one vacant chair. This I knew to have been retained by the stranger.

I took my accustomed seat, helped the soup, and was adjusting my shirt-wristbands for a dash at a particularly fine turbot, when the stranger entered. Tall and muscular, with a daring eye, a countering mouth, glittering teeth, and the whole face abraded with brass. One of those dauntless, bullying, heartless ruffians, who play with men of weaker mould, as the cat toys with the mouse.

I bowed to him, as in duty bound; he jerked his head at me.

'Do let's have a shaving of soup,' bespoke brother Jonathan.

I was polite to this man—frigidly so; but there was no confining him. He was proof against moral power or force. He called for everything, talked to everyone about him, despite the coldness of his auditory, and wound up by naturally addressing me as 'old hoss.'

Now or never, thought I; the iron is red hot, and mine is the arm to give the blow.

Sir,' said I majestically, 'the term you have just now applied to me is evidently one which should only be addressed to persons between whom an intimacy exists. As such is not the case at present, I must beg of you to adopt another tone.'

A confused murmur of applause followed.

'Well, wot a wos-hoss chap you sir! wot does it signify ow yer called when no offence is meant?' Why I always speak to the President as Old Rat-trap; but if it is ow yer like to be gammoned up, tell us yer name, and ye'll hear it every to minutes.'

'My name, sir, is Jones—Henry Jones; at your service.'

'Walt thee, Jeoks, or Mister Jones, if you prefer it, I ask you to pass the cheese, and Mister Jones, I'll pass yow the butter.'

Luckily Billy O'Leary saved me the humiliation, and I declined the butter as coming from him with a wave of my diamond ring.

'Jerusalem! a rose diamond! let's have a squint at it.'

'Sir,' said I, 'it's a little tight, and inconvenient to remove.'

I felt glad the fellow acknowledged the beauty of the rarg. Nothing daunted, he approached, caught my little finger, and nearly dislocated it in examining the ornament in question.

'I'll bet fifty pounds I produce a better diamond and better gold in to minuten.'

The word 'done' was in my throat, but prudence caught me by the windpipe and choked it back. This ring was a heirloom in the family, and had been given by Prince Charles Edward to my great-great-grandfather in 1744. It had passed the criticism of generations, so I felt sure as to its sterling merits.

The stranger meanwhile launched forth into a buccombe story relating to his ring, which took nearly half an hour to get through, and, to my chagrin, was listened to with a marked attention, by all present except myself, as I was determined upon checkmating the fellow by a superb indifference.

I had resolved upon quitting the table early, in fact being engaged to a game at backgammon with Mrs. Shuttall, a lady sojourning at the Green Tree; but seeing that Mr. Blewstring—the stranger's name—maintained his position, I resolved upon doing likewise. Brandy and water became the order of the evening, and cigars followed as a matter of course. It was a source of exquisit delight to me to find Mr. Blewstring emancipating a plug of tobacco from his waistcoat pocket, leisurely cutting away about two inches, and stuffing the quid into his jaws. I knew he must expectorate, and opposite him sat Mr. Claypole, a gentleman of extraordinary neat habits, and in whose opinion I wished to stand A 1. I watched the playful evolutions of the quid as Mr. Blewstring dexterously shifted from one side of his mouth to the other; and as a chief eagerly gazes at the green curtain ere the pantomime commences its glories, so did I focus my eyes upon the mouth of the American in eager anticipation of the baneful results that must of necessity ensue, consequent upon its opening.

Fate sometimes gives four by honours and the odd trick to A and the short sixes and no trumps to B. I held B's hand.

The American proved the exception to the rule, and enjoyed his quid without calling for, or apparently requiring, a spittoon.

I grew moody and silent, giving way step by step to my opponent, for in that light I now regarded him. He became vivacious and more talkative than ever.—His stories were "crammers," yet the audience were apparently spell-bound, listening with open mouth and with a devoteeism of attention which even Joseph Addison could have found no fault with. An effort should be made, or the battle was lost. Should I call upon my reserves?—Yes. I do so; and as the Vladimir battalion advanced towards the great redoubt of the Alma, to annihilate our devoted guards, so did I bring forward a story which no one at the table had ever heard from my lips before. I narrated it briefly, but well. My followers laughed; Mr. Blewstring looked as imperturbable as a gnostic fog.

I reckon I know where that story kem from, It's pure Joe Miller, or I'm damned.'

'Sir,' said I, getting crimson and evading a direct negative, 'if you can discover it in Joe Miller I'll stand half a dozen of champagne.'

'I'll bet you £50 it's in Joe Miller.'

'I never bet, sir.'

'Well, get the boke, and let's have the fun,' cried Blewstring.

The chances were largely in my favour against the volume being discovered in any part of the house save and except my own room, as I appeared quite nonchalant, though the blood was dashing through my heart at express pace.

How strange are the tides in human affairs! A Mr. Chopwid, a stale, melancholy, elderly city man, who never was known to perpetrate a joke or to tell a story, and who invariably maintained a stock-exchange silence at our festive-board, suddenly exclaimed, I have the volume,' and retired for the purpose of fetching it.

Here was a sad posture of affairs The executioner had forgotten the white cap, and had retired to redeem his error. The rope was round my neck—I endeavoured to break the fall.

'Well, suppose you do find the story in Joe Miller. Some of the best things I have ever heard emanated from that book; borne to his memory.' And in well-feigned joviality I toasted of the remainder of the brandy and water.

Ere the coughing which followed this sudden imbibing of liquid had subsided, Mr. Chopwid was opposite me turning the pages of Joe Miller, with as much rapidity and steadiness as though it were a ledger, and he in search of a cash balance.

The clock struck nine.

As the last stroke rang out Mr. Blewstring ejected, 'Yees, here it is; I reckon I've collared it!' and with a most twang-ranel the whole story through, while I sat by ready to eat him alive, and the bank after by way of a relish.

The champagne was ordered. I drank freely—more than prudence would possibly have allowed—and began to hate Mr. Blewstring with a jealou- hatred only known to the fairer sex. (In parentheses I may observe I do not envy them the luxury.) The facetious American began to torture me with bets, all mostly of a sporting nature. I am no sportsman; I only fired from a gun once in my whole life, and nearly impaired my digestive organs by the rebound of the death-bestowing instrument. Mr. Blewstring felt I was a bad style of fly in his spidery claws, and piled up his bets to a bewildering extent. £100 to 4 he would hit a sparrow with a single grain of shot at two hundred yards. £50 to 4 he would bag ninety hares in fifty minutes. £78 to 21 he would kill a salmon with a horsehair. The company, weak, ungrateful, vacillating, enjoyed all this, and celebrated my downfall in my own champagne.

Forbearance has its limits.

I've seen a huge, unwieldily cow respond most unexpectedly to the goad by taking across the country. I've witnessed a cab-horse kicking the vehicle to pieces, value fifty pounds, while his poor frame was worth but four or five. Mr. Blewstring was coming it a little too strong, and, cost what it would, I resolved upon making a dash.

'I'll bet you £50 I'll swim against any man at the table let him be who he may'—here he looked at me.—'Let him name time and place. Who'll take it up?

The company were silent, morally engaged in adding another tourel loaf to the chaplet on the victor's brow.

Mr. Blewstring bestowed a facetious wink on Mr. Chopwid.

'I'll take up your bet, sir,' said I.

'Whiz, bang, crash! my shell had burst right over the heads of the raiders.

They were spell bound.

'How!' cried the Yankee.

'You!' echoed the surrounders.

'Yes,' said I; 'I take up the gentleman's bet.'

'I reckon you must post your money,' said Blewstring.

'I have arranged for this contingency, sir,' Mr. Chopwid, kindly take charge of this,' and I threw him over a banknote for £50, which I had placed in my pocket-book as a reserve fund in case of accidents by flood or field.

How devotedly I hoped that Blewstring's financial position would preclude the possibility of his posting up! but no—he drew out a roll of notes, and deposited the required sum in the hands of the referee.

While my opponent was counting his banknotes I had a moment to think while yet on the bank of the precipice. I did not know how to swim, were it to save the life of every one near and dear to me, to say nothing of my own; I could not swim a yard. Yet I found myself involved in a bet with a man who, for aught I knew to the contrary, might have cleared his way through the Niagara Falls.

How I rose to insanity in human nature! I felt that, unless some unforseen occurrence took place, my £50 were defunct.—Now this £50 note was an object to me, yet I would have given it twice told to bambole the man who had placed me in the false position I now found myself.

A ray of light! Be still, brave heart! It was just now ten o'clock; the month of October, the wind nor-east. In a word, it was just the evening for trying a fire, and abiding by the mahogany.

'I believe,' said I, 'the preliminaries are now settled?'

'Yees. Yew are to name the time and place; say to-morrow.'

'I will not say to-morrow, sir,' I cried.

'The place—the beach, near the cliff'

'Very good,' drawled the Yankee, 'and the time?'

'The time, sir,' said I, rising from my seat, and thundering forth the single word, 'Now!'

There are some countenances so imperturbable that the facial muscles would seem to be in a state of perpetual coma; such was Mr. Blewstring's. In vain I peered into his mahogany-coloured visage, in the hope of detecting a 'give up' lying snug in some of the many hard out-lined wrinkles; but no, not a ray of intelligence. He was cool as ice, calm as cabbage-leaf.

A roar of laughter from all round the table greeted my proposition. They were under the delusive impression that I was chaffing; but soon as something in my manner told them I was terribly in earnest.

'Air yew in airnest?' asked Mr. Blewstring.

'Perfectly'

'Yer not phoomstic?'

'No' This was true.

'Nor subject to fits?'

'No, sir.'

'Not likely to bile up?'

'Sir,' said I, 'you offered me a bet. I took it up. I claim my right to name time and place. I have done so. We are only losing time.'

I had inwardly resolved upon trying it on—aye, even to stripping at the water's edge.

'Thee, by Jerusalem, your skin'll be a trifle wet afare the night's over,' cried Blewstring, jumping up from the table.

Mr. Chopwid seemed it his right to interfere; he considered it was perfectly absurd on my part to name such an hour and such a night for a swim in the open sea.

I was grateful, deeply grateful, to this gentleman, and heartily appreciated the bronchial attacks he was subject to, since it induced him to come to the rescue at so timely a moment.

The champagne had entered the portals of the brain of every other individual at the table, for they pooh-poohed Chopwid; and even old Mr. Brownlip, who had been suffering from neuralgia for something like forty years, declared his readiness to sally forth to see justice done to his dear friend—meaning me.

How I could have wished the whole lot of them in my place! The night being dark, all the available lanterns in the Green Tree were brought into requisition. The blankets were torn from the beds, and brandy bottles appeared with a rapidity that never manifested itself within the walls of this celebrated hostelry before.

But Oh! what a villainous compound is human nature! How we enjoy the weaknesses and misfortunes of others! How bound each other on, and how we wag our heads in solemn pity for the victim when the sacrifice is over!

Here was I perfectly isolated; no human being even guessed the torrent of thought that was rushing through my brain. I drank brandy—aye, two full glasses; and to their united effect do I owe——But I won't anticipate.

And then and there was hurrying to and fro.

Demands for topcoats, mufflers, rugs, lights, and umbrellas, were loud and frequent. The whole male population of the Green Tree turned out; and, from subsequent information, I am led to believe the scene was graced by the presence of the weaker vessels.

Would I keep up the farce? My opponent was thoroughly in earnest, as far as I could determine. But might he not be playing the same game as myself?

We sallied forth. The night was bitterly cold; a marrow-piercing breeze cut over the sea, and an inner-garment-piercing rain fell in a steady sameness. Leander would have pitched Hero to Jamaica sooner than have crossed the Hellespont on such a night.

The faithful Irish waiter stood by me like a man and a brother. Under cover of the night he produced a liquid which I had tasted once before in the Gap of Dunloe, while so-journing at Killarney—a liquid grateful to the smell, pleasing to the taste, ecstatic as to general effects, called "potcen."

I took a dram, and it filled me with valor—a valour that would carry me, at all events, to the edge of the water. I took another dram.

Ah! a thought!—a mad one, but good.

Nearly opposite the Green Tree I had frequently observed a curious formation of the shore. Deep water lay on the right hand, shallow on the left, the line being clearly defined for fifty yards or so into the sea. On this table the water was about two feet deep, while beside it the depth might be about five, and twenty. My thought was to strip, wade in on all fours, pretend to be seized with cramps, and thus maintain my character for fortitude even at the loss of the £50, and give the Yankee the chance of a "bilng up," as he elegantly termed the undeveloped results.

Could I miss the reef? No, I had marked it long well.

We halted. The Yankee hesitated.

"Come, sir," I shouted, "have at it."

By this time the fumes of the champagne, brandy, and potcen were producing most daring and heroic effects. The bet stood virtually in this wise—he who remained longest in the water won. I began to undress. My opponent did the same. As each garment came off, the nor'easter took instant possession; and when, finally, I stood with but one linen vestment between me and the night wind. I wonder to this instant how I ever was mad enough to go on.

To make assurance doubly sure I moved more to the left, having cautiously placed Mr. Blewstring on my right—Mr. Chopwid was to give the word.

Warriors say that there is always one moment of awful stillness ere the battle commences. Such a moment now produced itself. The sea ceased to splash, the wind to whistle, the watch-dog to bark, the assembled multitude to prate. We waited the word "go," and the air was big with the fate of two daring men, and two notes for £50 each. The great Duke never uttered the famous 'Up, guards, and at them!' with more wetness than Mr. Chopwid the word 'go.'

Ah! the bound my heart gave against the roof of my shell.

Ah! the shiver that ran through my frame as I dashed into the cold, ghastly cold water.

I plashed through it on all fours, beating it wildly, and puffing like a grampus.

I paused, and looked back; the lights were bright upon the shore, and within a few yards of me the white faces close to the lights strong against the black sky. I heard them cheering me on. I could hear Blewstring ahead on the right buffeting the waves. Was it possible for me to remain where I was a few moments and win the bet?

I would try it.

I sat down upon the sand. I bounced up and down. I flapped my arms against my ribs, but the cold was the better man, and was rapidly worsting me. Blewstring had disappeared. It might be hours ere he would return. Pshaw! what signified £50, in comparison to agony like this? What! yes, it is—no, it isn't—yes it is! He is returning—I hear him blowing! Will he still keep the deep water? he does—he is on my right still. Can I hold out? My teeth are clapping together as if they would drive out the gums: I am speechless with cold, my limbs are paining me; every fresh wave is a turn of the rack-screw. He is on a level with me. I still possess sufficient animation to dive; how I accomplished this is a mystery. I have a dim recollection of struggling to more of being grappled by Billy O'Leary, of having brandy poured down my throat, of being wrapped up in blankets, and of being carried to bed.

I awoke in the morning not a whit the worse, and with my own and Blewstring's £50. He left next day, and I became a greater man than ever at the Green Tree in Dewbiney.

Protest of the Cardinal Archbishop of Santiago and his Suffragans.

The following is a portion of an address recently published by the Cardinal Archbishop of Santiago, to the Provisional Government in Madrid, upon the relation of the Church to civil governments and religious opinions. The true Catholic teaching, regarding ecclesiastical tolerance or intolerance of the various forms of State governments and false religions is clearly set forth. Spain has been a synonym for religious bigotry and intolerance, among Protestants. It has been over and over accepted that blind unreasoning fanaticism, intellectual slavery, and the absence of education, were the causes that led to the formal expulsion of Protestantism from Spain. The Archbishop writes:—

We proclaim the maxim that, by the law of the Gospel, the Church is distinct from the State. This is a capital point in the Divine constitution of the Church, and the foundation of the liberty of Christian nations that the political and religious powers are two distinct things. The evangelical law has established this principle, a fact recognised by Protestants and Mahometans, who have made their secular chiefs sovereign pontiffs, after the manner of the Pagans. If the Pope exercises both powers in his soul' states since the fall of the Roman empire, Providence has expressly willed, that it should be so, in order that these powers should remain distinct in the Christian nations, and that the Vicar of Jesus Christ should exercise in complete freedom the spiritual power, without exciting the apprehensions of any people.

The evangelical maxim of the distinction of the two powers suffice to clear us from the reproach addressed to us of establishing a theocracy. A theocracy is the government of a people by a man chosen and designated by God, to whom He gives a code of civil and religious laws, as He did the people of Israel. We have been appointed to teach the truth. It was for this that Jesus Christ came into the world to bear witness to the truth, and we continue to execute His divine mission, with which we have been formally invested by him. If people tells us that this is a theocracy, we console ourselves by the recollection that Jesus Christ was also accused of wishing to make Himself a king though He commanded tribute to be paid to Cæsar.

Liberty of religious worship is one of those ideas which have fomented in the revolutionary justice. We will explain with precision our doctrine in this point, the most serious of all, because it affects that ancient constitution which is rooted in the very heart of the nation. We profess as a Catholic truth that toleration in respect of dogma is not lawful; that is to say, that it is not lawful to regard all religions with indifference, or to suppose them equally agreeable to God, because nothing but the profession of true religion, or its revealed dogmas, of that worship which is the visible manifestation of these doctrines, and of the discipline proper, to the society which professes them, can be agreeable to Him. We assert also that God, in revealing the Christian religion, willed that all men should submit themselves to it as soon as it was duly explained to them, and that no one possesses any real right to revolt against the will of God by choosing articles of belief for himself, and a worship different from that which God has appointed.

It is also a Catholic doctrine that those who consciously reject the [illegible] revealed by God cannot be saved; we [illegible] unjustly, because those who live in a [illegible] without knowing it are excused [illegible] invincible ignorance entitles them; they will only be responsible to God for violating these precepts of the natural law engraved on our hearts. But the Church must keep the whole deposit of the truth, and be faithful to God in this duty at any cost. We are intolerant towards error, most tolerant and charitable towards all who are the victims of error.

When we come to the question of civil tolerance, we approach another order of ideas. Tolerance in the matter of doctrine would be no offence towards God, who is the supreme truth. Civil tolerance relates to the conduct of the sovereign of the state with respect to the true religion and the aberrations of it. If he be a Catholic, it is clear that he cannot in conscience approve the latter; but we acknowledge that such a sovereign, in certain states of that society of which the temporal government is entrusted to him, may lawfully tolerate false religions, and even an equal degree of liberty for all; as in the case where heresy has divided a nation into two equal or nearly equal parts, there should be danger of fratricidal war, so that the only means of avoiding it would be the toleration of different religions.

An imperious necessity can alone justify before God the conduct of a Catholic sovereign who should tolerate though detesting them in his conscience, falsehood and error. The Cortes, it is to be called, unless it should be done immediately by the popular suffrage, to judge whether, in the actual state of Spain, there be a real necessity, an imperious necessity, for the toleration, and still more for the equal liberty of the various religions; or whether the ancient constitution of our Spain with respect to religious unity shall be maintained in its rights. It is the gravest and most solemn of all the questions which is in solution. The question is, whether the heart of the people shall be torn out, and a new one substituted for it. It is evident that the operation would be a dangerous one.

If it is permitted to us who know the religious condition of Spain to express our judgment we should say that the wishes of the justos and of a portion of the periodical press are not those of the immense majority of the Spanish people, who continue to be essentially Catholic, and that we firmly believe that there is no real necessity, happily for us, to proclaim the law of civil toleration, much less of religious liberty. We are persuaded that there are not six Spaniards who, from conviction, desire to embrace any other positive religion or to become Protestants, Jews, or Mahometans, from the idea that these religions are truer, better, and more agreeable to God. We know what a small number of Spaniards desire—namely, to profess no religion whatever, and to regard the Catholic and all other creeds with equal contempt. Such is the fact. What need, then, is there to decree many religions for the sake of those who do not desire any? It is proposed by such an act to confer a boon upon foreigners? We doubt whether a single foreigner is restrained at this moment from visiting Spain by the fear of our religious unity. They know that no one will disquiet them on account of the religion which they profess.

There exists, then, no necessity for the law. The only fruit of toleration or liberty of worship will be discord in families, religious indifference, and other evils. Have we not sufficient causes of division among us, and must we introduce another more formidable, and pregnant with more fatal consequences? Why seek for heaven which will only corrupt the whole mass? Such a measure seems to us to display little wisdom, to say nothing of the duty of a Catholic government to defend the true religion, the only one which can diffuse happiness among the people. Error is always an evil can ever be the efficient cause of a nation's happiness. A kingdom which professes the unity of the truth is beyond all controversy more perfect than one which is liable to the occasional variations of error.

With respect to liberty of the press and liberty of public instruction, we will express with great frankness our opinion on both these important points. The word liberty belongs to the vocabulary of the Christian language. It is a word which we find more than three hundred and sixty times in the Bible, together with the two words with which it has a common origin; and our Lord Jesus Christ has, among other titles, that of Liberator of Mankind, Redeemer and Saviour of the human race. We will say nothing of spiritual liberty, in spite of its incomparably greater importance, because that kind of liberty refers to eternity, to our deliverance from the slavery of sin, from the bondage of the demon, and final condemnation. But it is worthy of admiration that the Christian religion, which seems to concern itself only with heaven and with this supernatural liberty of mankind, has given liberty to earth also. It has banished, though by slow degrees, the leprosy of pagan slavery, which was inconsistent with the dignity of a Christian—become now a son of God and purchased by the Precious Blood; it has given freedom to woman, whom it has made the associate of man, instead of his slave, as she was in earlier times; it has raised the little child to the dignity of a sacred being—the child, which paganism always treated, and still treats, with such incredulous inhumanity.

The Church has had to defend against heretical attacks that natural liberty, or freedom of the will, which God has given us, and which raises us above the brutes, because it has its root in the reason and understanding; and now she is defending it against the Materialists, who deny, at least implicitly, the liberty or the faculty of choice, because matter blindly obeys the immutable laws which the Creator has imposed upon it.

God has given to man the liberty of thinking, of speaking, teaching, writing, and also of publishing his thought by means of the press. Who doubts this? But all this freedom finds a limit, imposed by truth and eternal justice. Whoever oversteps this limit, no longer uses the liberty given to him by God, but abuses this precious gift, which then becomes disorder and slavery. What slavery can be so miserable as that of error, and of disordered passions? Almighty God never gave liberty to man that he might abuse it, because the abuse of it disturbs the order of His kingdom; and His creatures cannot disturb the order of it, without suffering the penalty of their sin. True liberty is the moving unfettered in the sphere of truth and justice, and the abuse of this is not liberty at all. This is our doctrine on liberty in general.

Let us go further. What is liberty of thought and of conscience? If these words are taken in their true signification, we allow that neither the Church nor the State have power of them and that God is alone the judge of them. But if by liberty of thought we are insidiously to understand liberty to manifest every thought, then, as it affects society, we are bound to say that both these liberties must be subject to certain laws, for the preservation of good order in civil and religious society. It is the same with regard to the liberty of the press, and education. In neither can it be either absolute or unconditional, because the natural law which forbids us to teach error or to offend our neighbor becomes the limit. Error and evil have no rights; and propagating error is as much against the laws of society, as coining and circulating false money. At the same time, it is possible for society to be in so bad a state, as to make it allowable to tolerate error, in order to be able to teach the truth. Under circumstances so melancholy, we must choose the least evil, and claim equally for all.—London Tablet.

Recent Executions in Rome.

You will have already heard of the execution of Monti and Tognetti for the attempt to blow up the Zouave barracks. It has created great excitement here. Before ascending the scaffold Monti turned to the Colonel of the Zouaves, and said, "Ask pardon for blowing up some of the soldiers under your command; but you are a Christian, a Frenchman, and a gentleman; and I beg your pity for my poor young wife and my dear children." He then advanced with a firm step to the scaffold, never dropping his eyes. Tricked out with medals, rosaries, and an Agnus Dei, worn over his shirt of execution, and surrounded by the fraternity of St. John the Beheaded, in a garb as fantastic, he mounted the steps. He said to the executioner, "Be quick," and the next moment the axe fell. The executioner held the bleeding head on high, but not a murmur broke from the crowd. Tognetti did not exhibit the courage of his fellow-sufferer. His step faltered, he trembled in every limb, and on gaining the platform he fell down twice. The executioner was obliged to push him under the axe, when he cried out, 'Gesu mio! misericordia! misericordia! misericordia!' The cry was so loud that it reached the distant populace, and in the deep stillness around produced a most painful effect. Again a severed head was held up to the people, and the women broke into a loud wail, but the men continued silent. A priest stationed from the scaffold that the two sufferers had died in the bosom of the Church, but his appearance was the signal for the crowd to turn their backs, though a woman stopped to scream out, "Hold your tongue you who murdered our children." The Osservatore Romano publishes a letter from Monti to the Pope, stating that he was dragged into his enterprise on the Zouave barracks by the Frenchmen, and expressing the greatest abhorrence of the plot and his deep repentance. The letter is couched in language above the capacity of Monti, and from certain phrases and its rounded periods is believed to have been written by one of the contributors to the Civilta Cattolica.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Thespians!

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

An assortment of Electro Plate Cruets, Toast Racks, Butter Coolers, Jellie Dishes, Cups, Cake and Card Baskets, Napkin Rings, Pickle Forks and other goods in this line.

Skates, Pocket and Table Cutlery.

Hoe & Co's Tuttle × Cut Saw.

Kenyon's Files and Steel.

G. STETHEM & Co.

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Notice—J. Edwards.
Dentistry—J. O'Donnell.
Revolver Lost.—This Office.
County Council—Eig. Pearce.
Brick for Sale—Stephen Wood.
Valuable Property for Sale—P. Sargent.
Issuer of Marriage Licenses—Geo. Brownlee

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 1868.

THE AGRICULTURAL OUTCRY.

The subject of a large deficit on the part of the Treasurer of the Provincial Agricultural Society is at present occupying almost the chief attention of the Toronto and Hamilton papers.

The Commissioner of Public Works, Mr. Carling, last fall requested the Treasurer, Mr. Dennison, to furnish, in detail, an account of the receipts and expenditures for 1867 and to June 30th, 1868. Immediately after, the Secretary of the Agricultural Society submitted a balance sheet, showing a balance in the Treasurer's hands of $12,493.67. This balance sheet was duly signed by the Auditors appointed by the Board.—Considerable correspondence took place after this, relative to matters connected with the Board of Agriculture and the withholding of $5,000 by the government, when on November 30th, Mr. Carling appointed T. White, M the Hamilton Spectator, to examine the books and accounts of the Treasurer.

In the meantime, a detailed statement was made out and forwarded to the Commissioner; this statement also showed the balance in hands of Treasurer to be $12,493.67.

Mr. Dennison, however, claimed one per cent for the receiving and paying away of the moneys coming through his hands for about 15 years, and this per centage amounted to $6,338, or $422.53 a year. This detailed statement was also signed by the Auditors.

Mr. White reported on the accounts on the 23rd December, that there was a ballance in the Treasurer's hands of $12,047.76, and that Mr. Dennison kept no bank account, and had never been called on to furnish securities for the moneys coming into his hands, and that the money was not available, but that Mr. Dennison offered good securities for whatever balance was due.

A meeting of the Board of Agriculture was called on the 6th January instant, at which the president, Mr. Christie said:—

I may state that it was my desire to have called a meeting of the Board at an earlier period than the 6th January, but, as the Commissioner's letter reached me on the day before Christmas, and as I was aware that the holiday week was the worst in the year for the convention of any body, I despaired of getting a meeting during last week. Still, I advised the Secretary, if he found it practicable to call a meeting then. The Secretary found this to be impossible, and called the meeting for the day I named. On reaching Toronto yesterday, I found, to my astonishment, that, without waiting for the action of this Board, which the Minister of Agriculture had invited, this partial return [the documents laid before the House]—one part of the statement only, that given by the Commissioner appointed by the Minister of Agriculture—was not only ready to be brought down by the Provincial Secretary to Parliament, in manuscript, but was actually printed; one of the members of the Board having procured a copy of this document shortly before 12 o'clock, at the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture. I felt that, in taking this step, the Commissioner of Agriculture very unfairly, to say the least of it. His communication of the 23rd December, to the President of the Board, was the first intimation, which the president received of a Commission of Inquiry at all into our accounts. I replied to that communication on the day I received it, stating that it would be submitted to the Board, for I could not myself take the responsibility of answering it in substance. As it contained very strange charges against the Treasurer, and, by implication, against the members of the Board, I thought it my duty at once, not only to the public, but to my colleagues and myself, to convene a meeting of the Board, on as early a day as possible after the receipt of the Commissioner's letter. Then judge of my surprise when, on coming to Toronto to attend that meeting, I found this one-sided report actually in print, and submitted to Parliament on the very day this Board was to meet—thus precluding the possibility of any statement on the part of the Board as to whether the contents of that report were true or false. I conceive that the Commissioner of Agriculture, above all men in this country, standing, as he does, at the head of the agricultural interest.

Dr. Beattie—And a member of this Board.

Hon. Mr. Christie—Yes—and, as a member of this Board, who ought to have attended our meetings, but has never been at one of them. I say the Commissioner of Agriculture was bound, from his position, to see that fair play was given to institutions which have been so long useful to the country as have been the Agricultural Association and the Board of Agriculture of Upper Canada. I and several of my colleagues have been members of the Board since its commencement in 1851, and surely men who have laboured gratuitously for the last seventeen years in that capacity, to promote the interests of Agriculture, were entitled to some consideration at the hands of the Minister of Agriculture. He certainly should not have allowed their character to be aspersed, by the publication of this report, without at least giving them the opportunity of stating the other side of the question. I come now to the report itself. I take it that, so far as the figures are concerned, it is to be found in the following paragraph:—

"I had an interview with Mr. Dennison, in which he stated that, if I had only understood him; that he held no account in the name of the Board or the Association, with any bank, and had not had for many years, and that the large balance which the Board, by the accounts, appears to have on hand, is not available in cash. He also stated that he had given no curtain to the Board, they never having even asked him this; but that he is willing now to give any security that may be required for the repayment of the balance due by him."

With reference to the question of a bank account, I cannot better answer the charge, than by reading certain extracts from our minutes and other documents.

Mr. Christie proceeded to read these, and at this meeting minutes of former meetings were read, showing that a bank account was kept in 1856 and that the accounts and funds were then withdrawn from the Bank of Upper Canada and placed in the Bank of British North America. Mr. Dennison also put in the following notes:

TORONTO, January 7th, 1868.

H. C. THOMPSON, Esq.,
Secretary, Board of Agriculture.

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your note of this morning respecting what I said to Mr. White and referred to in his report on page 34, with regard to Bank accounts, I can only inform you that I made no such statement to him, and could not have done so, for there always was a Bank account kept for the Society through which all Government money was paid and none paid otherwise. Mr. White, in going over the vouchers which he did, would meet with many cheques signed by me as Treasurer, caused by me as vouchers when people had neglected to return receipts. With regard to the Board which appears to be in existence, I was under the impression that there was none such, it having been given many years ago.

Your obedient servant,
R. L. DENISON,
Treas. B. A.

I read also the following letter addressed to Mr. Bykert, by Mr. Taylor, Manager of the Bank of British North America, in Toronto:—

BANK OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA.
Toronto, 6th Jan., 1869.

J. C. BYKERT, Esq., M. P. P., Toronto.

SIR,—In reply to your enquiry I beg to inform you that "the Board of Agriculture of Upper Canada" opened a current deposit account with this Bank on the 25th September, 1856, and that the account has been continued to the present time. Deposits have been made from time to time by the Treasurer, and the Parliamentary grant of 1866 was paid by Government to our manager at Ottawa, and was placed by me to the credit of the account referred to.

I am,
Sir,
Your very obed't serv't,
S. TAYLOR,
Manager.

To which Mr. Beatty, a member of the Board said, "That letter is important, as showing that the Government at once recognized the transfer of the account.

Hon. Mr. Cameron then read a passage from Mr. White's report, in which he stated that he had procured the vouchers for the payment by the Treasurer in 1867 and 1868, and carefully checked the several items. He said, it Mr. White stated truly that he did examine the vouchers, then he must have seen that there was a Bank account kept. Mr. Christie produced from among these vouchers a large number of cheques on the Bank of British North America, all signed "R. L. Denison, Treasurer B. A." One of these was for no less a sum than $6,400. He expressed his surprise that, after having examined these cheques, Mr. White should have had the assurance to state that there had been no Bank account kept for the Board of Agriculture. There could not be a more damning evidence of the falsity of the report than this which he had presented, and he felt he did not speak too strongly when he used such language. It was difficult so conceive how a man could deliberately make a report so easily capable of confutation, and now so triumphantly confuted. But that was not all the proof. On the 7th November last, Mr. White himself, for an account of his own, got from the Treasurer a cheque from the Bank of British North America.

Hon. Mr. Alexander—I may state also, with reference to this point, that I enquired at the Bank of British North America to-day, whether Mr. Dennison had a private account at that Bank. The answer was—"No; the only account he has here is the account of the Board of Agriculture."

The Treasurer was also requested to give security for the money in his hands, and offered ample land security which security was taken, as seen by reports of the meeting of the Board.

By request, we publish Mr. White's reply to Mr. Christie, and thus leave our readers to draw their own conclusions. Mr. Dennison has, perhaps, been careless in keeping his accounts, and there is something to blame in not having the interest, if any, placed to the credit of society; this mode of taking and using interest of other peoples' money looks too much like "casual advantages."

But we must confess we fail to see any mighty revelations made in the accounts or deficits. The Treasurer's own detailed statement, furnished the day before the appointment of Mr. T. White, to investigate, is as full as any report yet published, and strange in it Mr. Dennison shows over $400 more of a balance against himself than Mr. White's report shows—in the face of all this, that Mr. Dennison has, since Mr. White's investigation, paid out nearly $4,000. We find ourselves at a loss to reconcile Mr. White's report and Mr. Dennison's position. This claim of $6,338 for receiving and paying out the moneys that passed through his hands since 1853, of course, remains unsettled also, and will remain for the Board of Agriculture to vote him that money or withhold it. Mr. Dennison cannot retain it as his own until so voted in a regular manner.

There is evidence of a loose manner of doing business,—but certainly we cannot yet find how Mr. White, in his letter, claims to be the revealer of any strange thing, and we strongly lean to the idea that Commissioner Carling, who is an ex-officio member of the Board, is as much to blame as Mr. Christie for whatever irregularity exists. Why did he not attend the meetings of the Board? and when he learned that something was going wrong why did he not point out a remedy? The Hon. John Carling is just as much to blame as Christie or Dennison.

Orange Association.

At a meeting of the Peterborough District Lodge of the above association, held in the Orange Hall, Peterboro, on Tuesday, the 12th inst., the following were elected officers for the ensuing year:—

Bro. Robt. Weir, Master.
" J. B. McWilliams, Deputy Master,
" Edward Foster, Treasurer,
" W. J. Larmour, Secretary,
" Jas. Agnew, Chaplain,
" Geo. Johnston, Dir. of Ceremonies.

DUMMER.—The following is the vote for Reeve in the Township of Dummer:—David Rose, Esq., 72; John Kidd, Esq., 26; John Ferrier, Esq., 22. The following are the Councillors for the present year, elected by acclamation:—Messrs. Henry Ferguson, George Payne, Hamilton Spence, and James Wasse.

A Painful Case of Poisoning.

Ann Stinson, wife of [illegible], a carpenter, [illegible] Wednesday night about 10 o'clock from the effect of an overdose of Oil of Cedar, taken by her to remedy irregularities in menstruation.

An inquest was held yesterday before Coroner Harvey. It was postponed in order to have a post mortem examination. Dr. O'Sullivan held the post mortem examination, and the inquest was again held in the Council room at 3 o'clock.

George Webber, sworn.—Said at about 10 o'clock he heard [illegible], but thought at first they arose from drunken squabble; heard more shouts, got up and looked through the window, when they ceased; then went to bed but soon after heard cries shouts of "for God's sake come and go for the doctor, for my wife is dying." Witness ran over and found Stinson rubbing his wife on the chest, supporting her as her head was hanging out of bed, her eyes shut out, and frothing at the mouth. He sent his boy for a doctor, and at Stinson's request, went home for some warm water to bathe her and to use as an emetic. Witness brought his wife with him and called for Mrs. Stephens and brought her also. They tried to administer the warm water, as an emetic, but failed. She still continued to take convulsive fits every 5 or 10 minutes. Stinson then told witness what she had taken and for what cause, stating also that he had procured it for her the evening before at Dr. Bell's Drug Store, and that she had been taking medicine to prevent child-bearing for over two months. Dr. O'Sullivan then came and treated her, but to no avail, as she died shortly after.

The husband showed him and Dr. Harvey the tea cup out of which she had taken the fatal dose, and stated that she had taken about a wine-glass full. He, however told Mr. Webber that she had taken about a tablespoonful.

The post mortem examination revealed that she had died of congestion of the brain, induced by this dose of Oil of Cedar, as there was a large quantity of it floating on the liquids in the stomach when opened. She was also enceinte, but of not more than three week's existence.

Dr. Bell testified to selling Stinson an ounce of the Oil of Cedar the previous evening about eight o'clock; was in the habit of selling daily for rheumatism; told him it was the Oil of Cedar, and Stinson answered, "yes."

This is a very trying case. The unfortunate woman who has so fearfully paid the penalty of dealing in drugs for such a purpose, leaves behind her five small children; and the husband, in the bereavement, pain of mind and body, and future unhappy remembrances of listening to her folly, will not much less suffer for his indiscreet act, not to use a harsher term.

In the evidence it appears that some neighbor-woman had told the unfortunate woman of the effects of this fatal drug, and added that she had known some who had taken it with good good effect! What infernal old villians there must be, and what a pity that they cannot, or are not, taken hold of and punished as murderers, or abettors of murders. They are not fit society for human beings, and it is painful to learn on good authority, that the dreadful effects of such nefarious drugs are of daily occurrence. The following is the verdict of the jury:—

"That Jane Stinson came to her death on the night of Tuesday, the 12th day of January instant, by taking an over dose of the Oil of Cedar, procured by her husband, at her request, for the purpose of removing an irregularity of the system."

In the debate on finances, the Government have been compelled to take $10,000 off the estimates for the Lieut.-Governor's residence. At first only $50,000 was asked for this building, but now that it is commenced it must be commensurate with the greatness of this Province. $110,000 is asked for, $8,000 of which was to be expended on stables for his Honor or Excellency, a nice little sum indeed for stables. Mr. McDougal proposed reducing the whole, including these magnificent stables, to $90,000, thus saving $20,000. The motion on being put was lost, 28 to 41, and among those who voted it down we find the names of Messrs. Read and Carmegie.—A discussion also arose as to the expending of $100,000 for additional Lunatic Asylum buildings. Mr. Keller trusted that before such a large sum should be voted they should be told where it was to be expended, but on a vote being taken it is lost 25 to 38, and again we find the names of Mr. Read and Mr. Carmegie voting $100,000 without having any guarantee other than that John Sandfield McDonald asks for it. No information, no estimates would be given on any item, and notwithstanding all this the members for Peterboro will go it blind.

MR. HOWE TO BE CONCILIATED.—Mr. Rose, Finance Minister of the Dominion, has left Ottawa for Portland to offer terms of conciliation by purchase, or bribes, or in some way. One rumor is that the Dominion will assume a larger portion of the Nova Scotia debt; another, that the Yarmouth railroad will be assumed by the Dominion. A money equivalent, however, is to be given for Blue-nose loyalty—one of the surest ways that could be adopted to make them disloyal, if they can thus be bought and sold.

At an adjourned meeting of the Presbyterian Synod at Kingston, on the 8th of January, the following wise resolutions were passed:—

"1st. That it is of the greatest importance to the interests of the church and of superior education generally that this institution be efficiently maintained.

"2nd. That under these circumstances it is the paramount duty of the synod to appeal to the church and the community to supply the funds needed for this object.

"3rd. That the members of the synod of the board of Trustees and of the corporation of the college now present a pledge their utmost aid and influence to accomplish the endowment of the institution to the amount at least of one hundred thousand dollars.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES elected for the Town:—Wm. Landy, Esq., re-elected, East Ward; W. Coniter, Esq., re-elected, South Ward; J. Edwards, Esq., Centre Ward; Mr. Balmer, North Ward.

Mr. Shaw, M. P. P., for South Lennox, died, after an illness of about a week, from purpura, a disease which it is supposed infected his blood, while on his way down from Toronto in a berth in a sleeping car on the Grand Trunk.

BELMONT COUNCIL.

The Municipal Council of the United Townships of [illegible] met at the usual place of meeting, Belmont, on Saturday, 4th January, 1868. The minutes of previous meeting read and confirmed.

The clerk's roll was called, and the following ratepayers [illegible] received an abatement of $1, for dog tax, being an error in Assessment.

On motion of Mr. Dafoe—Mr. Peter Wright was paid $6 for repairing a bridge.

On motion Mr. Young—Mr. John Shaw was received an abatement of $2.53 in his taxes, in consequence of an error in his [illegible].

Mr. John Vernicle received instructions from the Council in regard to the sale of timber on the road allowances in the Municipality.

Mr. Samuel Hulett was allowed $ 50 for compensation for land taken for a road across lot 10, in the 5th con. of Belmont, which offer was not accepted, and an arbitrator was appointed to act in behalf of the Council in the matter.

Mr. George Lewis was authorized to finish a crossway on the road leading to Clear Lake.

Mrs. Wegg's taxes for 1868 were remitted to her.

The Havelock postage account, amounting to $1 96, was ordered to be paid.

The Clerk was instructed to notify Mr. E. Boyd to remove his fence to the proper place, as pointed out by Mr. F. J. Deseby, P. L. S., along the south side of lot 8, in the 1st con. of Belmont.

Mr. W. E. Young gave notice that he intends to apply for compensation for land taken in connection with the Crow River bridge.

On motion of Mr. Young—the time was extended for the Collector to return the Roll till 1st February.

Several By-laws were read and finally passed.

Moved by Mr. Preston, seconded by Mr. Dafoe,—That the thanks of this Council be tendered to Peter Pearce, Esq., Reeve, for the very able and impartial manner in which he has discharged his duties in connection with the Municipality during the many years he has filled that important office.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dafoe, seconded by Mr. Preston,—That this Council cannot part without expressing their satisfaction at the very able and efficient manner in which the Clerk has discharged the duties of his office during the time he has filled that important position.—Carried.

The Council adjourned after the minutes of the present session were read and signed by the Reeve.

DUMMER COUNCIL.

DUMMER, 12th Jan., 1869.

Council met on the 9th inst. Present—J. Ferrier, Esq., Reeve; and Messrs. Rose, Spence, Payne and Ferguson.

Minutes of last meeting read and signed.

The following amounts were ordered to be paid:—

To Mr. Thos. Menzies, for stationery, $3.10. Mr. Lambert Stevens, on dog illegally assessed, $1. Mr. Joseph Sencin, on dog illegally assessed, $1. Mr. Wm. Clysdale, sheep killed by dogs, $8. Mr. James Wason, sheep killed by dogs, $7. Mr. Robert A. Strickland, as purchase money and interest on two lots in Burleigh bought by him, and illegally sold at Sheriff's sale in 1862, $48.43. Mr. Wm. Higgins, arrears of taxes placed against him, which should have been returned in Burleigh, $6.71. Mr. Robert Peters, Returning Officer, 1869, $3. Mr. Hugh Dunn, Returning Officer and Selector of Jurors, $4.50. Mr. Francis McMullen, Returning Officer and house, $4. Mr. Jacob White, Returning Officer, $3. Mr. Samuel McMullen, hall for election, $1. John Ferrier, Esq., Selector of Jurors, $1.50. Mr. James Welsh, for keeping Mrs. Jackson, $7.50. To the Clerk for registering By-law, postage and stationery, $3.61. Mr. Geo. Peters, wood, lighting fires in Town Hall, &c., $6. 75. To Clerk, as Selector of Jurors, $1.50.

On motion, the Treasurer was authorized to procure a table for his use in Town Hall.

On motion, the Clerk was instructed to give an to Mr. Singleton his bond for a road sold to Council, on his paying within one month to the Clerk the sum of $12.

A By-law to establish a road between the east halves of lots 27 and 28, 4th con. read and passed, and Clerk instructed to get a duplicate original thereof registered.

A By-law to provide for the payment of certain sums of money was read and passed.—Com.

Thespians!

The Bank of Montreal, at St. Catherines, was robbed on Monday night, about 10 o'clock, of $50,000 Canada legal tender notes. The safe was blown open by Burglars. They had entered the Bank by means of a false key, late dispatches say:—"Their attention was immediately given to the safe, to the outside door of which they appear to have had a key. Nitro-glycerine, it is supposed, was then applied to the lock of the inner door of the safe was closed, so as to deaden the report. In a great measure. The explosion appears to have scattered the gold, of which there was quite a quantity, over the floor. The robbers, however, paid but little attention to this coin, as they seized some fifty thousand dollars in bills, which the safe contained, and then quickly made their escape. A boy named Kerrigan, who sleeps in the bank, came in about ten o'clock, and on perceiving the gold and debris of the explosions lying around, quickly gave the alarm, and the building was soon filled with a surging crowd. The whole affair appeared to be the work of professional robbers, and was managed throughout with a most consummate carefulness. Nothing was left which could implicate the robbers. This morning the excitement around the bank reached a high point; but those who were curious were unable to obtain anything in addition to what is already known."

WHITNEY'S MUSICAL GUEST, for January, has been received in good time. It contains several pieces of Choice New Music: "Dear Old Wedding," by Dondere; "Meet Me Gentle Bright-Eyed Bessie," by Blattnek; and "Eureka Mazurka Polka," by Rohner. These pieces alone are worth more than the "Guest" will cost for the year. The terms are only $1 a year, and for clubs a discount will be given. The publisher is W. W. Whitney, Toledo, O.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Telegraphic reports have been received from Alexandria of an earthquake at Ano, in the neighborhood of Tabriz—a Persian city of about 60,000 people—on Sunday last. Though the shocks were described as very violent, no serious disaster or loss of life is known to have been caused caused by the phenomenon.

ANOTHER BOOM.—The good people of Summerville have carried their By-law granting $45,000 to aid in the construction of the Toronto and Nipissing railway. The vote was taken on the 30th Dec.

Rank's Empire Hair Glass has only to be tried to be valued above all other preparations for the Hair.

THE AGRICULTURAL ACCOUNTS.

LETTER FROM MR. WHITE TO THE [illegible]

[illegible], 5th January, 1868.

To the Honorable DAVID CHRISTIE,
President of the Board of Agriculture.

SIR,—I have observed in the [illegible] Agriculturist on Thursday last, published in the Globe, in which I am honored with some share of attention, ought to have been noticed by me sooner, had other duties not interfered. I propose to day, late as it is, with your permission, to call your attention to certain circumstances which appear to have escaped your notice, but which, in the public interest, it is important, should not be lost sight of.

Near the close of your statement, growing eloquent under the sense of injury under which you laboured, you are reported to have said of my report and myself: "These could not be justly charged with the falsity of the report than this which he had presented, and he felt he did not speak too severely when he used that language. It was difficult to see how a man could deliberately make a report so easily capable of confutation, and now so triumphantly confuted."

That is intensely strong language, Mr. David Christie. Let me inquire, for a moment, how far you were justified in using it. You are not singular in the blunder of confounding the business to which I have ventured to state of my own knowledge, and upon my own responsibility, and those portions which I have stated on the responsibility of others. But the distinction to one which must be made, and it may as well be made at this point as elsewhere.—My statement, in reference to the bank account, was given on the authority of your Treasurer—with his denial, I will deal further on. I, moreover, in my report, have made the statement on my own responsibility, and of my own personal knowledge, that there was no bank account. What I did state of my own personal knowledge was—

1st. That on the 30th November last, there was a balance in the Treasurer's hands amounting to $12,047 76.

2nd. That down to the date of my report, or rather to the 17th December, which was the day upon which I obtained the statement of those payments from Mr. Dennison, there had been paid a sum of $1,196 76 for which vouchers to the amount of $141 66 had been produced.

3rd. That having ascertained the balance which the Board should have at its credit, I wrote to Mr. Denison asking to be permitted to examine his bank book, and to be informed of the manner in which the bank accounts of the Board had been kept; and that I was not furnished with the bank book, nor was any information afforded to me of the manner in which the account has been kept.

4th. That the large balance which, by the accounts, appeared to the credit of the Board, is not available in cash; but that Mr. Denison is willing to give any security that may be required from him.

5th. That the Board, while a large balance appeared by the books to their credit, were borrowing money from the bank, paying large sums by way of interest on renewals, and I ventured, on this point, the suggestion that, inasmuch as the necessity for borrowing money arose out of the Treasurer, the Agricultural Societies ought not to be charged the interest, but that it should be made a charge upon the Treasurer personally. I have looked in vain through your statement, Sir, for any expression of opinion from you on this point.

6th. That the audits which the accounts have undergone in the past have been practically valueless.

Now, sir, these are the substantial allegations of my report. They are the allegations in which the farmers of Ontario feel an interest, for to them it must be a matter of supreme indifference whether there was a bank account or not, seeing that the Association was not in the Bank. They are allegations which you have passed over almost without remark, your indignation—that is such indignation as one so dignified can muster—being expended on the mistaken conduct of the investigation and the unfortunate individual who made it, and whose report has "surprised"—that's yourword—you into the knowledge of the fact that the Board had no funds, when it should have had thousands of dollars lying with its banker. Think you, that with every single fact of my report stated upon my responsibility that unexplained, you were justified in using such naughty language as "damning evidence of the falsity of the report?"

For the 6th of your statements is disputed to proving that there has been a Bank account. With that fact permit me to say I have nothing to do. The only question which concerns me is whether Mr. Denison made the statement to me that there was no bank account, and with that I now propose to deal.

As stated by me, having examined the accounts of the Board and checked them with the vouchers, I proceeded to what I considered the next step in the inquiry. It never occurred to me, while checking these vouchers, that there was no Board account with the Bank. But I did expect that when that account came to be examined, it would be found that the large balance which ought to be at the credit of the Board would be found wanting; and I based that suspicion upon the fact that the Treasurer when the statements of accounts came to be demanded, had paid on a claim for $6,400 for bank services extending over three years. You, sir, did your best to put that amount allowed, knowing—as I venture to affirm that did know, as you are more enlightened than your interest enemy would give you credit for being—that there was a large deficiency which the sum would do something towards reducing. You were willing to rob the farmers of Ontario of this large amount of money, in order that your own gross carelessness and your Treasurer's mismanagement—to use a mild expression—might be concealed from the public view. I wrote Mr. Denison on the 15th, asking information upon a number of matters which had occurred to be in the examination of the books and accounts, and in the seventh paragraph of that letter which I quote in full, I said:—

"I should be glad to receive from you a statement in detail of the receipts of the present year; and I beg also to be permitted to examine your bank book, and to have from you such explanations as may be necessary in relation to the manner in which the Bank account of the Association is kept, and whether any interest is received on deposits, which, especially in the past, must have at times amounted to a considerable sum."

I agreed to meet Mr. Denison at Mr. Thompson's office, on the 17th December, and I did meet him there. Retained one minute the Bank book, as requested, nor did I get any information as to how the account was kept; but on the contrary, Mr. Denison made a statement to me which appeared so extraordinary that I at once relaxed my impression of it by writing and sent it to him, with the intention as your friend of the Globe shrewdly remarked this morning, of getting his answer in black and white. My letter was in these words:—

"Referring to our conversation this morning, I would be glad to learn from you whether I rightly understood you to say that you kept no separate bank account for the Board of Agriculture and Agricultural Association; and that at this moment, while you hold yourself personally responsible for any blame which might appear from the accounts to the credit of the Association, such balance was not deposited in any Bank, nor available in cash at any moment."

That letter was written on the 17th, and Mr. Denison was requested in it to address his reply to me at the Queen's Hotel. In it I also asked for certain vouchers for moneys paid since the 30th November. These vouchers were left for me at the Queen's, on the morning of the 19th, but no letter accompanied them, when, as I stand to my report, he said I had rightly understood him. He denies this now, and upon the strength of his denial, you, sir, have ventured to use the strong language which I have quoted at the commencement of the letter towards myself. Had [illegible] taken pains to attack the [illegible] to answer to or [illegible] least, have [illegible] Your Treasurer who asked for [illegible] and I was not prudent enough, you would have found that he was four days in [illegible] refusing to show the Bank book, and then he never took the trouble to correct that impression; and you would at least have asked him why, if he did not state he kept no Bank account, he did not when required to do so, produce the Bank book and afford explanations of the manner in which the Bank account was kept.

But Mr. Denison has gotten another letter. On the 31st December he addressed this letter to the Globe:—

"To the Editor of the Globe:

"SIR,—I have been astonished at the appearance of a paragraph in the Globe of this morning, to the effect that there is a deficiency of ten thousand dollars in the Treasury of the Board of Agriculture, which can in no way be accounted for."

"I have the honour to be the Treasurer of the Board of Agriculture and Agricultural Association, and I most distinctly deny that there is a deficiency of ten thousand dollars or any other arrears, or that any sum or sums of money have come into my hands unaccounted for.

"Yours, &c.,
"ROBT. L. DENNISON.

TORONTO, Dec. 31, 1868.

Why, sir, did you ever see these words too, as "damning evidence of the falsity of the report. It is written by the same hand, signed with the same signature, as that to which you attach so much importance. It ought to be equally good evidence of the falsity of the report. Again, I ask why did you not see it. You have chosen, upon the evidence of Mr. Denison, worthless, merely irreconcilable with the collateral circumstances, to hold me up as unworthy of credit, and thus break the effect of the exposure which it has been my duty to make; and that when you knew that the same Mr Denison whose letter you hold in your hand, dated the 7th day of January, offering security for the repayment of the proved and admitted deficiency in his accounts, had over his own signature only eight days before, in a public newspaper, denied that there was any deficiency whatever?

But you say there were cheques among the vouchers, and you expressed your surprise that Dobson, after seeing these cheques, have had "the assurance to state that there had been no bank account kept for the Board of Agriculture." Let me here repeat that I made no such statement; that I simply reported the statement made to me by your Treasurer. But these cheques have been made to do duty far beyond their deserts. I have heard of one of your colleagues in the Board, who has been remarkably good the easy over sleeve the appearance of the report, with the stumps of an old cheque book; thoroughly satisfied them for the balance of the falsity of my report. You know that these cheques are not entitled to the weight you have attached to them. Among the vouchers of 1867, there were not, if my memory serves me, a dozen such cheques altogether; in those in 1868, and in reference to them I have consulted the gentleman who checked the accounts with me, and his recollection accords with my own there was not, if I remember rightly, a single one, certainly not half a dozen. The vouchers were in the nature of receipts. But supposing it had been otherwise, and that there had been a large number of cheques, would you have had me infer from these cheques, the existence of a bank account, against the positive statement of the Treasurer, who drew them, that there was no such account. That is on a par with the suggestion of the Globe, that having been told by the Treasurer that he had given no services to the Board, I should have gone to the Secretary and asked for the bond.

And now, sir, having got rid of this mere personal matter, which is only important because of the importance you have yourself attached to it, let me say a word or two in reference to the position you occupy in relation to these transactions. Speaking for yourself and your colleagues you are reported to have said: "They regretted, in common with others, that there should be this deficiency, the knowledge of which had come upon them by surprise through this report." I purpose to afford damning evidence of the falsity of this statement so far as you are yourself concerned, and I think the public will say that I do not write too strongly when I use such language. I trust you will excuse my plagiarism of your own elegant expression.

Let me go back to the time of the failure of the Bank of Upper Canada, and to the evidence concerning your proceedings in relation to [illegible] event which led to the failure. When the Bank failed there was in it, according to Mr. Denison's statement in reply to Mr. Johnson, upwards of $16,000. Did it occur to you that there should have been more? Did you? You had, as the commencement of the year, $16,457,32 on hand, of which, it is to be presumed, you were aware. You had received, in the meantime, the Government grants amounting to upwards of $50,000, and you had not paid out all the same to county societies, they having received their money after the failure of the Bank, in the proceeds of Upper Canada Bills. As you went to the Bank to transfer the account, it is fairly to be presumed that you ascertained the state of it. Why did it not occur to you then that there was something wrong? You had the accounts of the Board before you; you were specially deputed to transfer the account, and presumably therefore to examine it, and yet although this deficiency notoriously existed at that time, you failed to discover it. Then when the accounts of the year came to be balanced, and it was found there was a balance on the 31st December to the credit of the Board of $20,706,22, did it not occur to you that no such balance could in the nature of things be available from the position of the accounts when you transferred it; for, mark, although the account was transferred to the Bank of British North America, the funds were not transferred; and as there was no large sum received between the exhibition and the end of the year, this amount could not have been available.

If you failed to discover these things, although taking the most active part, according to the testimony produced by you, in the proceedings connected with the audit of the account from one bank to another, surely you ought to have discovered them in duly following, when you became the maker of a note on which money was borrowed for the use of Ritualism in Kingston.

All Saints' Church, opened last winter under the auspices of the High Church party of Kingston, has been attracting some attention on account of its Ritualistic position.

The duties of Minister up to the present time have been performed (gratuitously, we suppose) by the military chaplain stationed in this city. Recently a Deacon has been appointed Curate of the flock, which is evidence of the Church's having become self-supporting, and that some measure of success has attended the experiment of its establishment. This city has been more fortunate in the matter of Ritualism than certain other places, our Anglican Churches shutting their doors against it, with the exception of All Saints' and a few other Churches, in a most unintelligible manner.

The preponderance of female over male worshippers at all Ritualistic edifices strikes the visitor, which circumstance, that it is no longer disputed upon, but recognized for by the total of display and finery subject to be inherent in the female mind. These are the stock-in-trade of Ritualism, and it is very reasonable to suppose that a woman who delights in fine gaws will be attracted to the Ritualistic Chapel where so much attention is paid to outward show and adornment.

It is not to be denied that these novelties are pleasing and seductive enticing shallow minded men, nay thoughtless the sincere and well meaning women. In such case other churches might learn a useful lesson from them. Everything is made as attractive as possible. The decorations are such as to catch the eye; the musical portion of the Service contended to please the ear, and the whole conducted on broad, common-sense-all principles. While other churches are comparatively slothful and inert, Ritualists endeavor by these adventitious means to attract heaven, with the ulterior objects of their becoming members, and increasing their strength and extending their influence thereby, which doubtless they will do, among the class referred to above, if the Bishop does not interfere and put a stop to their practices.

These All Saints' people will, of course, deny that in their mode of conducting Divine Service there is any departure from the rules laid down in the Rubric, and other authorities. This may, or may not, be true. It is not our intention to enter into an argument, or provoke a polemical discussion on this point. Leaving the Mother Church out of the question, it cannot be denied, that it is different from the form sanctioned by time and custom as a proper one for use in Canadian Churches. This form of Divine Service is one which has commended itself to right-minded Protestant Churchmen whose character we mistake if they allow it to be improved (?) by these Ritualistic innovations. Ritualists appear to forget the hard struggles the Church had to sever its connection with Popery, and after the lapse of centuries, would seem to be paving the way for a reconciliation with its old love; and we regret that in some cases success rewards their labors. Gorgeous embroidered vestments, elaborately decked altars, candles and other extravagances of full blown Ritualists, are not in keeping with the belief of Protestant Churchmen at the present day; and any attempt to induce them should be promptly checked. Jesuitical Oxonians and others of their kidney who insidiously endeavor to re-import them from the Roman Catholic Church should be at once sent to the right-about by every Bishop who has at heart the spiritual welfare of his flock. It is surprising with what facility these gentlemen can get up plausible defences of their position. They quote Fathers, Canons, Rubrics, and what not with wonderful ease but somehow fail to satisfy in the least degree, the minds of rational Churchmen, that their ridiculous practices are in accord with the true spirit of the Church of England's religion.

As far as we know All Saints' has not introduced those innovations which have made St. Alban's famous. These, will appear in due time. At a recent Service we noticed a member cross himself several times after the most approved Roman Catholic fashion. Whether this was the general custom or not we failed to learn. Others will doubtless follow suit with some equally ridiculous performance when they are "educated" to the proper pitch. It is not our intention to speak of the various novelties in the Service in detail; but in the matter of turning to the East would say, that it seems to our untrained eyes a very useless performance, and one devoid of all solemnity. Besides it is very questionable manners for the whole choir to turn their backs to the congregation. The assuming that portion of the service formerly read is a doubtful improvement. We do not by any means wish to ridicule the upholders of these strange practices, believing them to be sincere, but the chaunting in All Saints' is not only unmusical, but decidedly unpleasant to listen to. For the sake of his hearers it is to be hoped that the new Curate will have a melodious voice, or will let intoning alone.

English papers frequently inform us of defections to the Church of Rome to the Church of England clergymen. This move is only made when they have done their nominal church all the harm in their power, and their profession can no longer be reconciled with their acts. These renegade gentry are invariably ultra High Church or Ritualistic. Is it not then a fair inference that Ritualistic chapels ar but training schools for the Romish Church? British Whig.

SMALL-POX.—Perhaps few of our readers fully realise the late great prevalence of small-pox in and around the city; and those who do so are not sufficiently aware how almost completely preventible is the loathsome disease by due attention to vaccination. Between 400 and 500 deaths took place here from this disease during the past year; and if the fatal cases were so numerous, what must have been the aggregate number of cases, of which no doubt the greater proportion recovered? The evidence of the city vaccinators above conclusively that the fatal cases were in nearly every instance amongst those who had either not been vaccinated at all or but very imperfectly.—There is no doubt that the small-pox is at the present moment both frequent and virulent, and unless measures of a sternly compulsory character are had to compel parents to have their children vaccinated, these outbreaks of the disease will continue. Large numbers of adults, and of children, and young people who were formerly vaccinated are again undergoing the operation as a safeguard, and the public vaccinators are going to the dwellings of the poorer class to vaccinate their children instead of waiting till the children are brought to them. This is only humane, but it will probably cause the Council to increase the &c.—Witness.

NOT SO GOOD AS IT SEEMED.—A remarkable pamphlet recently issued proceeds from the Rev. Edmund S. Talbot, who followed his friend Dr. Manning into the Roman Catholic Church, with other Oxford men, many years ago. He now addresses a letter to the archbishop, in which he gives the result of his observation and study since joining the Roman communion, and arrives freely the Roman position. He says that people who have become Roman Catholics in England of late years, have detrimental as a body, and have no.oriously descended to a lower level of christianity. He infers from this that sacramental grace is equally derivable from the same ordinances in both communions. His perfect ideal of a Christian family is still an English parsonage and its surroundings. He describes the apathy he found in Spain, and alludes plainly to the immorality of the priesthood there. He says he feels he could die equally well in the one church or the other, and that he was ordained "priest" in the Church of England, he believes himself to be a priest still. He would have no profession of faith required from any seeking to be admitted to communion in any church but the Nicene creed.

A man named James Williams, residing near the village of Hampton, having occasion to go to his house on the 8th inst., about four o'clock p. m., found the door locked. On forcing it open a dreadful sight met his view. His two little children, a girl aged three years, and a boy six months, both lifeless, stripped and laid out on the bed, covered by a sheet, and his unfortunate wife surprised in the act of taking her own life, she evidently having made the attempt. She drowned the children in a barrel of water that was in the house. After placing them as found on the bed, she tried to end her own life by getting into the barrel, head first. This affair has caused great sorrow to a large number of friends, both families being widely connected in the neighborhood. It is said she is now very wild, and has to be tied to keep her from harm.

Dr. Colby's Anti-Costive and Tonic Pills cure Sick Headache.

Mr. John Rose of Halifax, has received $4,000 as compensation for injuries received on the Grand Trunk Railway, three months ago.

DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO. We sometimes hear persons say, 'my horse is really out of condition, and I cannot tell either what is the matter with him, or how, to get him into better order;' they appear to be ignorant of the fact that there is within their reach a remedy safe, sure, and effectual in all cases. Many people who deal in horses use large quantities of it, and candidly that its effects are most satisfactory. One horse dealer informs us that his horses' condition and appearance are so much improved by its use that they sell more rapidly and for higher prices. The article is Dunlop's Condition Powders and Arabian Flower Remedy. Nothing else is equal to it for the stated purpose. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

IAMATOLOGIA!

THE LATEST FAD.—We opened long ago that we are suffering severely to our lumber regions for want of a market for coarse lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have the whole half purchase in the Province the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe we can't ship it to England, but serious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, burns, bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign market for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

IAMATOLOGIA!

It is very painful to the so many public men whose desires compel them to sacrifice their health to the interests of their profession and the public. How many clergymen there are whose usefulness is marred by diseases of the larynx and bronchia! How many public men there are who feel that they could command the masses much better if they had the strength of lungs and ample voice which were so useful to them at the beginning of their career! And yet these misfortunes may be remedied by recourse to the Great Shenbamean Remedy, now for sale by all druggists.

IAMATOLOGIA!

Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or Cough and Voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25cts per box.

MARRIED.

At the Commercial House, Peterboro, on the 12th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Sanderson, Mr. Wm. Orr, of Hastings, to Miss Isabella M. McGrath, of Cosecon.

In Peterboro', on the 13th inst., by the Rev. C. A. Jones, Mr. Charles Harris, of Hamilton, to Miss Julia McIlmoyl, of Burleigh.

DIED.

On the 9th inst., of gastric fever, Ellen the beloved wife of Rev. Thomas Stock, Baptist Minister, of this Town.

Deceased had been but five months from her native country, England, and during that short period had secured the affection and esteem of a large circle of friends, who sincerely mourn her sudden and unexpected removal.

Suddenly, on the 10th inst., at Invérkeith, Township of Harvey, at the residence of her son-in-law, William Wood, Esq., Christian Martin, widow of the late James Beattie, Corn Merchant, Huntly, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, aged 77 years and 5 months. In full possession of her faculties, she calmly slept away, esteemed and respected by all who knew her, and deeply mourned by her daughters and their families.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Peterborough, January, 14, 1869.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	$5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	95	@	1 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	90	@	0 95
Peas "	0	75	@	0 80
Barley "	0	90	@	0 95
Oats "	0	50	@	0 55
Potatoes "	0	40	@	0 45
Hay ₱ ton	7	00	@	8 00
Hides ₱ cwt	6	00	@	6 50
Beef ₱ cwt	4	50	@	6 00
Sheepskins	1	00	@	1 60
Wool ₱ lb	0	20	@	0 21
Pork ₱ cwt	6	50	@	7 50
Eggs, per dozen	0	15	@	0 20
Butter	0	18	@	0 21
Cordwood	3	00	@	3 50
Fowl, per pair	0	20	@	0 30
Geese	0	40	@	0 50
Turkeys	0	40	@	1 00

MOTHERS READ THIS!

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms:

Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, anxious sleep, faintings, trembling, coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and self-administered to the child drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N B—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 23

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
37 Sole Agents for Canada.

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well-known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy, for Female Difficulties and Obstructions from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, heaviness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, lowness of spirits, hysterics, sick headache, whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

N. B. $1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorized Agent will cause a bottle, containing Pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, Ont.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter, and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alterative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, tic douloureux, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns or loss, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only thenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalising the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. LUDLD, Successor to HURD & Co.,
Maiden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canadas.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensible article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our men all say it acts like magic.'

J. W. HEWITT,
Foreman for America, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.

"The Sprain of my daughters ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.

ED. E[illegible]LY."

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1865.

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beats, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery-men and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and the private U. S. stamp of Dennis Barnes & Co. over the top. An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone plate label. Look closely!

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICES:—215 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 20th 1867. 44-1yr

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Colds, Coughs and Consumption.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALLAM—Cures Bronchitis, Asthma and Croup.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Imparts strength to the system.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—is pleasant to take.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—always gives satisfaction or the money will be refunded. It is recommended by prominent Physicians and while it is pleasant to take and harmless in its nature, it is a powerful remedy for curing all diseases of the Lungs.—Sold by all Druggist.

I. DAVIS & SON, Agents,
200, St. Paul Street, Montreal.

Over a Million Dollars Saved!

Gentlemen:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad hurt in the leg, and was useless for over a year. I had used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment—it soon effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.

Montgomery, Ala., June 19, 1866.

New Advertisements.

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Omemee and Peterboro.

The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterboro, January 13, 1869. 2

FOR SALE.

100,000 Brick.

STEPHEN WOOD.

Otonabee, January 13, 1869. 2tf

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

Issuer of Marriage Licences.

OFFICE at James Bush's Dry Goods Store, George Street. 2

DENTISTRY!

J. O'DONNELL, L. D. S., President of the Dental Association of Ontario, and Secretary of the Board of Examiners of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Ont.

Office in Peterborough closed till Monday, January 25th, 1869, in consequence of having to attend to his official duties in Toronto.

Peterboro, Jan. 13, 1869. 2

County Council.

JANUARY SESSION.

THE annual meeting of the County Council will commence on TUESDAY 26th JANUARY, inst., at 12 o'clock noon.

EDW. PEARSE,
County Clerk.

County Clerk's Office, Peterboro, 7th Jan., 1869.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE,

IN THE VILLAGE OF ASHBURNHAM.

THE subscriber offers for sale the valuable property on which he at present resides, being Lot No. 4, North of Elizabeth street, consisting of half an acre of land, on which are two Dwelling Houses, Stables and Sheds attached. There is a good well of water, and the Lot is pleasantly situated on the main street. It will be sold in whole or in parts to suit purchasers. Title Perfect.

Apply to the owner on the premises.

P. SARGENT.

Or at this office.

Ashburnham, Jan. 13, 1869. 3-tf

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction of the Peterboro' Western Circuit, for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

In the Town of Peterborough, on

Thursday, June 3rd, 1869.

Commencing at 10 a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretard.

Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1868. 2

STRAYED!

FROM the premises of the subscriber, during the Summer, a COW AND HEIFER. The Cow is about 8 years old; has wide horns, is light red with white face. The Heifer is about 2 years old, spotted yellow and white. Any information that will lead to their recovery will be thankfully received and suitably rewarded.

B. GREEN.

Peterboro, Dec. 22rd, 1868. 52-4in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864,

AND AMENDMENTS THERETO.

THE Creditors of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Cassels, in the Town of Peterborough, on THURSDAY, the TWENTY-FIRST day of JANUARY, A. D. 1869, at Twelve o'clock, noon, to receive statements of his affairs, and to name an Assignee.

Domicile of Debtor, Town of Peterborough.

Dated this Sixth day of January, A. D., 1869.

JAMES STEPHENS.

51-3in

TENDERS WANTED.

TENDERS for the erection of a Wesleyan Church, on the first Lot, 9th concession of South Dummer, will be received until the Fifteenth day of January next.

Plans and Specifications may be seen at the Rev. S. C. Philps, Norwood, to whom the Tenders are to be addressed.

Proper Security required.

The Committee are not necessarily bound to accept the lowest tender.

Norwood, January 6, 1869. 1-3in

TEACHRES WANTED!

FOR the Senior and Junior Common School department of the Norwood Union Grammar School. Applications will be received from male Teachers, with first class certificates and good references, for the Senior department; and from male and female Teachers, with second class certificates and references, for the Junior department—till noon of Saturday 19th December, inst. Applicants to state salary expected. Address

WM. E. ROXBURGH,
Secretary to Board.

Norwood, December 5th, 1868. 50

School Teacher Wanted.

WANTED, A TEACHER holding a Third Class Certificate, for Union School Section No. 8, in the Township of Minden. To commence teaching first of January next.—Application to be made to the undersigned Trustees, if by letter, to Minden Post office,

JAMES FEE.
JOSEHH McNEIL.
PETER DAWSON.

Minden, Dec. 7, 1868. 50

School Teacher Wanted,

FOR School Section No. 7, Smith, holding a first or second class certificate.

Apply to
E. SANDERSON,
E. FITZGERALD, } Trustees.

Selwyn P. O., January 5, 1869. 1-tf

TEACHER WANTED!

A FIRST CLASS FEMALE TEACHER for School Section No. 10, Township of Otonabee. Apply to

WM. STEWART,
D. McCANNAN,
R. STEWART, } Trustees.

Otonabee Dec. 7th, 1868. 50

FOR SALE.

A GOOD YOKE OF OXEN. Price One Hundred and Twenty Dollars. Apply to the undersigned.

THOS. GEO. CROATE.

Warsaw, Nov. 16, 1868. 47

DOMINION HOUSE,

PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, Dec. 30, 1868. 53

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS!

The subscribers beg to intimate that having made considerable alterations in their premises, they are now prepared to show an entire assortment of

FANCY GOODS!

Which for quality and richness of design surpass any they offered heretofore. We cordially invite all who are admirers of this class of Goods to call and examine our assortment, feeling assured it will afford them pleasure in doing so.

PART OF OUR STOCK CONSISTS OF

Very fine London made Jewelry, of elegant designs, also Rich Gem Rings, Ear Rings, Breast Pins, Chains, Lockets, Pencil-cases, Pen Holders, Electro-Plated Silver Ware, Spoons, &c., Fancy Cabinet and Leather Ware, and a large variety of London and Parisian Fancy Goods.

Toys! Toys! Toys!

FOR ANTA CLAUS.

We are prepared to show a large assortment of Durable, Ingenious, Mechanical Toys, Magnetic Toys, Play Toys, Games, Dolls in all varieties.

J. R. ORMOND & Co.,
Hunter Street.

December 16, 1868. 51-tf

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb' Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting.

Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

PRESENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Russell's Watches! Sewill's Watches! Waltham Watches!

JOHN McCLELLAND,

WATCH-MAKER AND JEWELLER,

GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO',

Has much pleasure in announcing to the public, that he has on hand a large and well selected stock of

GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES,

By the above and other eminent makers. Also

GOLD CHAINS, BROOCHES, EAR RINGS, FINGER RINGS, Lockets, Pins, &c.,

Of the Finest Quality and Workmanship. Also FANCY GOODS, &c, for the season, at the Lowest Prices.

Peterborough, December 17, 1868. 51

$20 Reward.

THE undersigned will give the above reward to any person who will give information that will lead to the conviction of the party who took my Ram from the field and ilfured him.

W. WEBSTER.

Otonabee, Dec. 16, 1868. 51

FOR SALE.

A GOOD LOT in a beautiful situation, in the Village of Hastings, Asphodel. For further particulars apply to

H. SEDGWICK, Hastings,
or C. ARMSTRONG, Peterboro.

December 16, 1868. 51

HEIFER STRAYED.

DRIVEN out of the pasture in the Township of Harvey, some time in the fall, a year old Heifer (red). Such information as will lead to her recovery will be thankfully received.

S. NELSON.

Lakefield, Dec 16, 1868. 51

STRAYED!

INTO the premises of the subscriber, about two months ago, a 2 year old HEIFER—red. The owner can have her by paying expenses and taking her away.

JOS. H. WALTON.

Smith, December 23, 1868. 52 4in

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 36

$100.00 REWARD!!

WILL BE GIVEN to any person who can give information to secure conviction of the individual who, on Tuesday the 27th of October last, broke the window of my workshop, or give information as to who, on Saturday night the 31st of October, filled the lock of my store on George street with rubbish to prevent opening. Undoubtedly both acts have been done by the same individual. Has he no windows which might be broken, or does he live in communion with hogs?

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

FARM FOR SALE.

THE West half of Lot No. 4, in the 4th concession of Asphodel, known as the "Tucker Farm." The lot contains 100 acres, of which 80 are under cultivation. There is a good Dwelling House, with Barns and outhouses on the premises. The lot is situated 3 miles from Westwood and 3 miles from the Village of Hastings. For further particulars as to terms of sale, &c., apply to

W. H. MOORE,
Barrister, Peterboro.

☞ This Lot will be sold Cheap.

January 7, 1869. 1

Notice to the Public.

THIS is to give notice, that from and after this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by any person, without my written order, of which all parties will please take notice.

MICHAEL SHEEHAN.

January 8, 1869. 1-3in*

NOTICE!

THE Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, will be held at Mr. Thomas Forty's office, on MONDAY, the 18th inst., at 11 o'clock, a. m.

E. WALTON, Secretary.

Peterboro, Jan. 5, 1869. 1-3in

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

CHEAP SALE OF DRESS GOODS

DURING THE

MONTH OF DECEMBER.

Choice of a pile of Fancy Dress Goods,	at	7½d per yard.
" Plain and Fancy Coburgs,	at	9d per yard.
" Fancy Wincеys and Lustres,	at	1s per yard, formerly 1s 3d to 1s 6d.
Magdala Cords, all colors,	at	1s 3d	"	1s 6d to 1s 10½d.
All-wool Empress Cloths,	at	2s	"	2s 9d to 3s 9d.
Crape Cloths, yd wide,	at	1s 3d to 1s 9d per yd, sold as high as 2s 3d.
Union Dress Plaids, yard wide,	at	1s 3d per yard, formerly 1s 8d to 2s.
"	at	1s 6d	"	1s 9d to 2s 6d.

☞ White English BLANKETS also offered at cost this month.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterborough, December 3, 1868. 49

Great Bargains IN FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

A Fresh Supply of

Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,

BLANKETS,

DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,

CARPETS,

And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.

Just received by

I. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

W. G. THOMSON & Co's

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞ INSPECTION INVITED. ☜

Peterboro, Sept, 30, 1868. 46

Poetry.

THE MIDNIGHT TRAIN.

As I lay awake in the night,
And heard the pattering rain,
Patiently I awaited the rumbling cloud
Of the coming midnight train.

The World was mushy and still,
The air was loaded with damp,
And on the folds of the mist it came,
The voice of the iron tramp—

Whanging through darkness and fog,
Screaming its signals before,
Searching the night with its eye of flame,
And filling the earth with its roar.

I knew all the track, and could tell,
By the rushing and swell of the sound,
When it darted through woods, or tunnel'd up a gorge,
Or leaped o'er a bridge at a bound.

Now the sound floated free on the air,
Now it died round the curve of a hill;
Now lost to the ear in a deep rocky pass;
But also mad thing came rushing on still—

Plunging through blackness and mist,
Sending wild screams before,
Howling like a demon of darkness let loose
From Acheron's fiery shore.

And now all the windows are past,
And cast it comes to the plain,
Shaking the earth as it sets along
Through midnight blackness and rain.

O that some forest chief,
From his ancient woodland seat,
Might peer through the night and catch the wild sight
Of this monster troubling his rest.

Nearer and nearer it comes,
Louder the crash and the roar,
Bearing its precious load of life,
Two hundred souls and more.

Now thigh' ercoads to;
Some journey for traffic and gain,
Some go to the gloomy chambers of death,
And some to the bridal train.

Here are eyes heavy with sleep,
Here bright with the light of love;
In joy and in tears, with hopes and with fears,
On through the darkness they come.

And now it goes by at a leap;
Out of their darkness it speeds on its flight,
And into thick darkness it goes—

Whanging through blackness and fog,
Sending loud signals before,
Searching the night with its eye of flame,
And filling the earth with its roar.

Variegties.

Waits for the Ladies.

A great curiosity—A woman without it.

The round of domestic life—A hoop skirt.

Another new reding—Man proposes, but woman accepts.

Never take for your friend the husband who lives unhappily with his wife.

The problem for modistes now is a garment that will permit females to bestride the velocipede.

Many a husband permits himself to be henpecked as unresistingly as if he were an ear of corn.

A lady of "forty," who buried her fifth husband recently, says she "hopes he is out of misery."

Carlyle says, "If you are in doubt whether to kiss a pretty girl, give her the benefit of the doubt."

A lady of fashion, near Paris, committed a slide. She had a ball on her name, and was afraid of being disgraced.

A Boston domestic recently flavoured a pudding with ether from a lemon extract bottle. It created quite a sensation.

"William, if you go out in the street I'll whip you." "But mother, if I let you whip me now, may I not go out afterward?"

A child speaking of his home to a friend was asked, "Where is your home?" Looking with loving eyes at his mother, he replied, "Where mother is."

"Tim, does your mother ever whail you?" "No, but she does a great deal worse though." "What's that?" "Why she washes my face almost every morning."

The college debaters at Hamilton have decided that married life does not confer more happiness on mankind than single life.

A number of "elegant and refined young gentlemen" in Missouri advertise for situations as sons in-law in wealthy families.

A smart young lady, in reply to an enquiry why she did not get married, said it was because she was unable to support a husband.

Why will young chaps be such fools as to give their sweethearts locks of their hair, when, after marriage, they can help themselves.

"My wooing wasn't boisterous, anyhow," said a disordered lover; "for although I failed to win the daughter's hand, I got the father's foot."

Kisses—Interesting Anecdotes Relating Thereto.

When the Cardinal John of Lorrain was presented to the Duchess of Savoy, she gave him her hand to kiss; greatly to the indignation of the irate churchman.

"How, madam," exclaimed he, "am I to be treated in this manner? Thus the queen, my sister, and shall I not kiss you, who are so much better than a duchess?"

And without more ado he, despite the resistance of the proud little Portuguese princess, bussed her thrice on the mouth before he released her with an exultant laugh. The doughty cardinal was apparently of one mind with Sheridan, who thought to kiss ladies' hands after their lips, as some do, is like little boys who after they eat an apple, fall to the paring.

When Charles II, was making his triumphal progress through England, certain country ladies who were presented to him, instead of kissing the royal hand, in their simplicity held up the pretty lips to be kissed by the king—a blunder no one would more willingly excuse than the lover of pretty Nell Gwynn.

Georgiana, Duchess of Devonshire, as our readers will remember, gave Steel, a butcher, a kiss for his vote, nearly a century since; and another equally beautiful woman, Jane, Duchess of Gordon recruited her regiment in a similar manner. Duncan McKenzie, a veteran of Waterloo, died in Elgin, Scotland, December, 1866. He delighted in relating how he kissed the Duchess in taking the shilling from between her teeth to become one of her regiment—the Gordon Highlanders, better known as the ninety-second. The old Scottish veteran of eighty-seven has not left one behind him to tell the same tale about kissing the bloom Duchess, in the market place of Dut-

The late Daniel O'Connell hit upon a novel [illegible] of securing votes for the candidates he [illegible] at a certain election which [illegible] considering the constitutional temperament of his countrymen, is said to have proved effectual. He said, in reference to the unfortunate elector who should happen to vote against them:—

"Let no man speak to him, let no woman speak to him."

Gilbert, the portrait painter, is said to have once met a lady in the streets of Boston, who accosted him with the following:—

"Ah, Mr. Gilbert, I am so just seen your likeness, and kissed it because it reminded much like you!"

"And did it kiss you in return?"

"Why no."

Then, said the gallant painter, "it was not like me."

If you want to abbreviate a man's stature from six feet to four, ask him what he pays $25. Of course he says he is short, and shows it by the rest of his conversation.

An imaginative Irishman gave utterance to this lamentation: "I returned to the halls of my fathers by night, and found them in ruins! I cried out aloud—My fathers where are they? And an echo responded: "Is that you, Patrick McCarthy?"

If the people have a prejudice, it is best to flank, and not to storm it. You will never lose anything by test, by gentleness, by kindness, patience and love.

FURS! FURS!

CAUTION.

THE public are hereby cautioned to beware of purchasing Colored and Russian Mink for Canadian Mink. The Canada is superior to any in the world, and is therefore the most valuable. This has induced wholesale dealers to introduce our Canada Mink, not only by coloring Sawdge, but also by coloring United States Mink. The Canada costs more than double that of any other country, which enables dealers to make a large profit on the sporting article. Those buying Furs in Montreal or other places should beware least they get the inferior article for which they will no doubt have to pay full prices. Take care, therefore, for I have been shown furskins purchased as genuine in Montreal, which I can certify were colored and of inferior quality.

Parties wanting any alterations made in their furs will please to call before the end of October.

WILLIAM LECH

Peterboro, Sept. 16. 39

CHANGE OF BUSINESS.

MESSRS. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG beg to return thanks to their numerous friends and the public for the patronage so liberally bestowed on them, also state that they have sold the Book and Stationery business to Mr. A. B. Kane, for whom they solicit a continuance of public favor. Mr. Kidd will continue the business in the same stand, Coulter's Block, and will promptly attend to the wants of all those who may favor him with a call.

All persons indebted to the late firm of Stratton & Armstrong will find their accounts at Mr. Kidd's Book Store, and he is empowered to receive payment and grant receipts for the same.

The partnership of Stratton & Armstrong was dissolved by mutual consent.

Peterboro, November 21, 1868.

N. B.—Any person having business with Mr. Stratton will find him at the Examiner Office.

JOSEPH HALL MACHINE WORKS!

ESTABLISHED 1851.

JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.

PROPRIETORS,

OSHAWA, ONTARIO.

Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patters, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We are also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us therefor. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Rollers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.

Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-13in

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all articles in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,

And of best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place,

Directly opposite Mr. John Sherin's.

SHORTLY & HARPER.

Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 42-13in

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

Terms reasonable.

Apply to

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

FARM FOR SALE.

SOUTH HALF OF LOT No. 21 in the 11th concession of the Township of Smith.—There are 80 acres under cultivation, and the balance is good hardwood land.

For terms, &c., apply to

WM. ADAMS, Lakefield P. O.
or ALEX PRESTON, Smith.

Smith, Dec. 23, 1868. 52

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES

GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, Mr. BARRIE is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVE

From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lamnin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and tocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter O. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Comsecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hosey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞ Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

☞ For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

BARLEY, OATS, PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from R. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said R. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

A HANDSOME Christmas Gift.

AS Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your——, or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's. $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $25. Ditto with stand $33. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $45 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $55.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

Special Notice.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

(Established 1825,)

With which is now united

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

Head Office for Canada,

MONTREAL,—STANDARD COMPANY'S BUILDINGS,

No. 47, Great St. James Street.

Manager .....W. M. RAMSAY
Inspector .....RICHARD BULL.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The EIGHT DIVISION of the Company's Profits is appointed to be made at 15th NOVEMBER 1870, and all Polices now effected will participate.

The FUND TO BE DIVIDED will be the profits which have arisen since 15th November 1865. The Company's BUSINESS YEAR will close on 15th NOVEMBER 1868, and in order to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the PROFIT SCHEME, Proposals should be lodged with the Agents on or before that date.

Agent for Peterborough,

ALEX. SMITH,

Peterboro, Oct. 28, 1868. 44

MILLER'S Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 70c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 30 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co.,
Proprietors.

167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 43

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE, Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

OXEN! OXEN!!

FOR SALE—a good span of heavy oxen in good working order; price $160. Apply at this office.

G. J. GALVIN,
Residence—near Lakefield.

Nov. 4, 1868. 45.

Teacher Wanted.

A SECOND CLASS MALE TEACHER for No. 1 School Section, North Monaghan.

Apply to

GEO. TULLY,
or WM. ROBSON,
School Trustees.

November 25, 1868. 48

Money! Money!

MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.

Apply to J. A. HALL,
At the Court House

Peterboro', May 9th, 1861. 19

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN ANVIL!

I WOULD invite attention to my Stock of Hardware, which is large and well assorted.

Story's Hand-made and other Chopping Axes, Tuttle's Patent Cross cut Saws; Buck Saws; Grindstones and Rollers; Drawknives; Sargent's Augers; Warranted Weighing Beams; Cast Steel Grain Scoops; Russia Plough Line; Tea Kettles; Round Pots; Bake Pans and Covers; Oneida Traps; Powder; Shot; Fly's Caps; Hunting Axes; Knives; Shot; Pouches; Flasks.

Box, Bed, Hoop, Short and Band Iron; Octagon and Square Cast Steel; Sleigh Shoe Steel; C. D. F. J. and W. Horse Nails; Farmer's Knives and Pincers; Jowett's Celebrated Files and Horse Rasps; Mascehale Anvils; Blacksmith's Bellows; Stocks and Dies; Vices; Carriage Bolts.

Builders' Hardware.

Best Boiled Oil; Genuine White Lead; Paints; Colours; Turpentine; Varnish, &c. Lightning Apple Parers; Thurber's Anti-friction Metal.

JOHN BERTRAM,
Hardware Merchant.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. B. McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Safe Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

G. Calwell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't. F. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phœnix Insurance Company,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams: and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 8, 1868. 50

A VALUABLE

Farm for Sale!

THE Subscriber offers for sale that Excellent Farm, Lot No. 21, in the 9th Concession of Otonabee. It is situated about 6 miles from Peterboro and the same distance from Keene. There are 85 acres cleared and in a good state of cultivation, and a comfortable Dwelling House, Sheds, Barns and Stables; a good young Orchard bearing choice fruit. The soil is of the very best quality; about 8 acres in Fall Wheat, looking well, and 40 acres ploughed ready for spring sowing.

For terms apply to the proprietor on the premises,

JOHNSTON COONEY,
Or to JAMES STRATTON,
Examiner Office, Peterboro.

Otonabee, October 6th, 1868. 41-13in

A Farm to Rent or Sell!

CONTAINING fifty acres of excellent land in the Township of Otonabee, No. 27 in the 7th concession. Good Buildings, well watered, and in a good state of cultivation. There are nine acres of Fall Wheat. Stock can be had if desired.

For terms and further particulars apply, on the premises, to

GEO. GRAHAM,
Proprietor.

Allandale Mills, March 11, 1867 11-3*13-tf

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 20. 1868. 32-tf

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26. 1868. 48

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the carefu preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 13, 1868. 2-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorised to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of Mr. McFarlane's connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

LOOK OUT!

FOR

F. LEMAY'S TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT,

Where you will find a very complete stock of

Fall and Winter Ready-made Clothing

Of all Descriptions and Prices, Made on the Premises, and WORK GUARANTEED!

A FINE LOT OF UNDERSHIRTS AND DRAWERS.

ALSO,

English, Scotch and Canadian Tweeds,

WHITE AND GREY CANADIAN BLANKETS

FOR SHANTIES.

200 Pieces of White, Light, Grey and Dark Fulled Cloths,

Expressly made for his Trade.

All to be Sold at a Very Low Price FOR CASH.

Call and See before Buying Elsewhere.

F. LEMAY,

Peterborough, Sept. 30, 1868. 40 Hunter Street.

W. WADDELL

Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of

CARRIAGE HARNESS,

Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also

HEAVY TEAM HARNESS,

Made of the very best material.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.

In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS

In Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.

Children's Carriages

From $2.00 each to $15.00.

Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.

Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking

Kept constantly on hand.

Peterboro, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

FUR SHOP REMOVED.

MR. LECH

HAS REMOVED

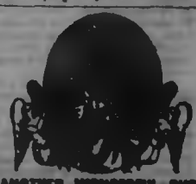
One Door north of Mr. Lamnin's Tin Shop.

Parties desirous of having their furs saved will please leave them at Mr. Lech's residence, Landon street, No. 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 14



ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

OF

CONSUMPTION!

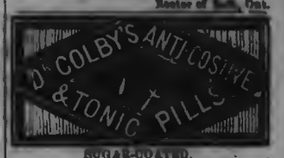
IN CANADA.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful case of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a sweat pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different remedies, but all without any good effect. Squire Peterman of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottle, at once, with the Pills; no sooner as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing to use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER O. V. MILLER,
Ernestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman, Peter O.V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and truthful person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPE,
Rector of [illegible], Ont.

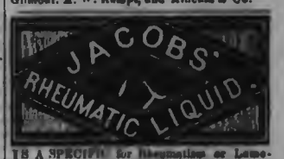


SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. H GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
O. E. CLIFTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Brome.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSKINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Bernston.
N. JENKS, M. D., Bernston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MKIGS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BREADON, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Castlecok.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MUSSY, M. D., Boston
W. MARSDEN, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. ACHTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
E. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.



IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lumbago of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c. &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely grey, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H. Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

NOT QUITE SO.

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their horse the sufferers, to avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Horse Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurlid & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 18

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—The North half of No. 4, in the 4th Concession of Eaniamore.

Apply to

JAS. HALL.

Peterboro,' Feb'y 18, 1869.

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 21, 1869. No. 3.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Blank Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

JAMES F. DENNISTOUN,

BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Peterboro, July 20, 1865. 31

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,

BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 39

SCOTT & GREEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

WILLIAM HEPBURN SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Clinton's, George street, Peterborough.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 1

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,

SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

Conveyancers, &c.,

Peterborough, Ontario.

W. H. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN,

48 Keene.

J. O'SULLIVAN, M.D., L.R.C.P.S., I.

Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR.

Coroner for County of Peterborough. Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 21-tf

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and

LICENTIATE

Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.

Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.

December 16, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,

Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.

Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.

Ashburnham, October 22, 1867. 46

J. W. GILMOUR,

DRUGGIST, Chemist and Seedsman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro'. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

Office and House, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.

Nov. 27, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office, Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Business Directory.

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.

☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 16

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, Paperhanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

GRORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.

Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C.W.

Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO.

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits.

A. SMITH, Agent. 16

Royal Canadian Bank.

FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.

Wm. OGILVY, Agent.

Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,

PETERBOROUGH.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

From this date until further notice, the rate of intest in the above department will be

FIVE PER CENT.

PER ANNUM.

D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.

Peterboro', April 1st, 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.

ALL payments to be made on account of the

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!

MAY BE MADE TO THE

Royal Canadian Bank

And Its Agencies.

E. B. WOOD, Treasurer of Ontario.

Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,

TOBACCONIST,

George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

March 12, 1868. 11-1y

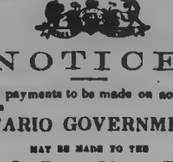
FIRE AND LIFE

INSURANCE OFFICE.

T. J. WINSHIP, Agent,

☞ Acting for First Class Reliable Companies.

George street (next to the Montreal House) Peterboro', Ont. 29-6m.



GEORGE ALLEN,

GUN & WHITE-SMITH,

Hunter Street, Peterborough,

BEGS to inform the public, that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and Whitesmithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired.

☞ Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.

Peterboro, October 25, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,

DENTIST,

Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.

D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodeons of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodeon, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.

Peterboro', February 5, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain

D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.

Peterboro, November 23 1866. 43

REMOVAL.

DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hazlitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.

Peterboro, July 8, 1868. 26

R. S. HOWELL,

FORWARDER,

Commission Merchant,

AND

GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,

Dealer in Lumber, &c.,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE

LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,

AND

Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Lindsay, Depart..... 9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive..... 1 10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart..... 3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 4.35 "
Lindsay, Arrive..... 6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Lindsay, Depart..... 12 05 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 4.20 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart..... 8.45 p. m.
Millbrook..... 7.20 "
Lindsay, Arrive..... 9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Peterborough, Depart..... 3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 4.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 5.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart..... 10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 11.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive..... 12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Peterborough, Depart..... 5.30 a. m.
Millbrook..... 6.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 9.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart..... 1.15 p. m.
Millbrook..... 2.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive..... 3.30 "

A. T. WILLIAMS, Superintendent.

May 30, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

TRAINS LEAVE

PORT HOPE STATION

AS FOLLOWS:

GOING EAST.

Express (day)..... 9.30 a.m.
Mixed..... 1.00 p.m.
Express (night)..... 9.30 p.m.

GOING WEST.

Express (night)..... 10.30 p.m.
Mixed..... 3.00 p.m.
Express (day)..... 10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

TORONTO LINE.

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 9.50 p.m. and 6.55 p.m.

Express at 12.55 p.m.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

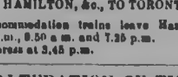
Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 7.25 p.m.

Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME

IN THE

Norwood and Peterboro'



STAGE.

ROYAL MAIL LINE!

LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a. m.

LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.

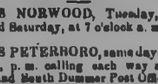
Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates

J. A. JOHNSON, Proprietor

Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.

Rates of Passage from Peterboro':

CABIN, - - $76 to $83. STEERAGE - $30.

Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.

For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to

GEORGE A. COX, Agent.

Canadian Express Co'y.

Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,

No. 20 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.

JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.

This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Depots, Steamboat Landings, and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞ Fare $1.00 per Day. 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,

WALTON STREET,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.

Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Poetry.

MY HEROINE—A TRUE STORY.

I know a little maid,—as sweet
As any seven years' child you'll meet
In mansion grand or village street,
However charming they be;
She'll never know of this my verse
When I her simple tale rehearse;—
A cottage girl, made baby-nurse
Unto another baby.

Till then how constant she at school!
Her tiny hands of work how full!
And never careless, never dull,
As little scholars may be.
Her absence questioned, with cheek red
And gentle lifting of the head,
"Ma'am, I could not be spared," she said;
"I had to mind my baby."

Her baby; oft along the lane
She'd carry it with such sweet pain
On summer holidays—full fain
To let both work and play be:
But, at the school hour told to start,
She'd turn with sad divided heart
'Twixt scholars wish and mother's part,
"I cannot leave my baby!"

One day at school came rumours dire,—
"Lizzie has fallen in the fire!"
And off in haste I went to inquire,
With anxious fear overflowing;
For yesterday afternoon at prayer
My little Lizzie's face did wear
The look—how comes it, whence, or where?
Of children who are—going.

And almost as if bound for flight
To say new prayers in angels' sight,
Poor Lizzie lay—so wan so white,
So sadly idle seeming:
Her active hands now helpless bound,
Her wild eyes wandering vaguely round,
As up she started at each sound,
Or slept and moaned in dreaming.

Her mother gave the piteous tale;
How that child's courage did not fail,
Or else poor baby—stopped, pale,
And shed tears without number;
Then told how at the fireside warm,
Lizzie with her baby on her arm,
Slipped, threw him from her, safe from harm
Then fell. Here in her slumber.

Lizzie shrieked, "take him!" and tossed
Her poor burnt hands, and seemed half lost,
Until a smile her features crossed
As sweet as angels may be.
"Yes ma'am," she said in feeble tone,
"I'm ill, I know,"—she hushed a moan—
"But"—here her look a queen might own,
"But, ma'am, I saved my baby!"

Selections.

THE UNBIDDEN GUEST.

BY SIR CHARLES L. YOUNG, BART.

You must know that, five-and-twenty years ago, I went to stay, for the second time at Chevenage Abbey, with your cousin Marion. She was then about twenty, I was a year younger. We had been brought up very much together, and loved each other dearly. Her father, Colonel Lediard, my uncle had not long been the proprietor of Chevenage. He was a wealthy man, and passed the best part of his life in India, and when he returned to England for good he heard that Chevenage Abbey was for sale, and having taken a great fancy to it, he bought it of the owner, Mr. Wyon, who had then recently sustained heavy pecuniary losses, and was compelled to sell his family estate.

The abbey itself was a glorious old place; but I thought it a ghostly kind of house when I first arrived there, and although Colonel Lediard had thoroughly refurnished the greater part of it, the long, dark passages, and the spacious bed-chambers, with their oak panelling, were not without their gloomy effect upon me at night.—Stronger minds than mine might now have been ashamed at having uncomfortable sensations when groping about that weird old house at night.

It was the first week of the new year, and there was a large party in the house, consisting of relations and intimate friends of Colonel Lediard's. I had not seen Marion for some months, and when she wrote to me, asking me to come down, she said she ought to beg my pardon for not having hinted at it before, but she was now engaged to be married to the Mr. Wyon who had formerly owned Chevenage. 'You need not congratulate me upon it, dear,' she said in her letter; 'I hardly know whether I have done right. You know that I did love some one once, when I was abroad with papa's sister, Lady Muskew, a year ago, but I was told it was not to be thought of, as Mr. Mordaunt was nobody at all, and had no money, and they took care to separate me from him. When I parted from him he told me not to despair, as he had made up his mind to marry me, come what might; but long months have gone by, and I have heard nothing of him, and papa has set his heart on Mr. Wyon, who represents one of the oldest families in England, and though he is comparatively poor, papa says that, as I am his heiress, there will be money enough on my side. They never seem to have thought of this when John Mordaunt wanted to marry me. Well I have consented. You, Jessie, will perhaps think me very wrong. It may be so. I cannot give him my heart, but Arthur Wyon is most kind and gentle, and I hope I shall be happy.'

I own I did think her wrong, and I went to Chevenage fully prepared to dislike this Mr. Wyon. 'He only wants to get back the estate,' I thought.

It was a cold and miserable afternoon when I arrived at Chevenage, after a drive of twelve miles. I ran up to Marion's boudoir, where I found her sitting thoughtfully by the fire, with her dairy in her hand.

'Oh, Jessie, I have been expecting you for the last half-hour!' she exclaimed.—'See, I have got tea all ready for you.'

'Is Mr. Wyon here, Marion?' I asked.

'No, dear!' she answered, slightly colouring; 'but he is coming some time this afternoon before dinner. You need not be afraid, he will not disturb us.'

'Won't you want to see him directly he comes, Marion?'

She answered me only with a short dry laugh, which I could not hear to hear.—Then she began to talk quickly of other things—how there were to be balls and theatricals, and the whole abbey was to be thoroughly aroused. She assumed the gayest spirits; but I could see that they were forced, and far from genuine. At last I mustered up courage to interrupt her flow of light talk, and said:—

'And when are you to be married, Marion?'

The smile fled from her lips, the light from her eyes, her colour quickly came and faded.

'Very soon, Jessie,' she answered.

'Oh, Marion! you cannot deceive me! you are not happy. Open all your heart to me, and tell me about the marriage.

'There is not much to tell, Jessie,' she replied, wearily. 'When we first came here, papa took a great fancy to Mr. Wyon, who, as you know, lived here once. But he could seldom persuade him to come over here. He seemed to loathe the place. He could not bear to come as a stranger to what had been the home of his childhood, and, moreover, it reminded him painfully of his wife.'

'His wife! You never told me, Marion, that he is a widower.'

'Did I not? Oh, yes, he is a widower, though barely eight-and-twenty years old. His first marriage was an unhappy one.—Mr. Wyon was all kindness and gentleness to his wife. Papa had heard a good deal about them; but she was a bad woman, Jessie, and ran away from him, and went to America, and there she died about two years ago.'

'But Marion, are you sure that he was not at all to blame?'

'Oh, quite. You can be certain of that when you see him. He is so soft and gentle.'

'What was his first wife's maiden name?'

'She was a Miss Mordaunt, Jessie.'

'Any relation to——?'

'Not that I knew of,' broke in Marion, hastily. 'There, you must not talk of him, darling. Had he but shown himself faithful to me and to his words, I would have remained faithful to him. But a year has passed, and he has made no sign. Probably he has forgotten all about me, and it is time that I should forget all about him.'

'Do answer me one or two questions, Marion! Why did Uncle Lediard take a dislike to Mr. Mordaunt?'

'Personally he never did. Papa never saw him, dear. It was when I was abroad with Lady Muskew that I met him. We were spending the winter at Rome. Aunt Muskew has a great horror of what she calls suspicious characters, and, not being able to find out anything about Mr. Mordaunt, except that he was a younger son, and that his father had been in business, she wrote hastily to papa, and papa sent back a peremptory order that I was not to be allowed to be with Mr. Mordaunt. At last aunt determined to leave Rome. The evening before we left, I met John Mordaunt at a party. He told me then how much he loved me. He knew I was not indifferent to him. Come what may, Marion, he said to me, I am determined to marry you.' Those were his last words.'

'Did you love him very much?' I asked.

'What does it matter?' she answered, with that hard, dry laugh I had heard before. 'He evidently doesn't trouble himself about me; so I am going to be Mrs. Wyon.'

'Marion, Marion, I don't at all like this. I am sure your marriage will never be happy, if you are going to enter into it in this way.'

'Nonsense, you romantic child. I suppose I shall be as happy as other girls. The dressing-bell is ringing. You have your old room next to mine. I was determined to keep it for you. The house is now quite full.'

'Not excepting the haunted room?' I asked.

'Yes; we never put anybody into that room. Not that either papa or I in the least believe that it is haunted, but some people are so silly, and Mr. Wyon seriously advised us not to put anybody there, as they would be sure to think they heard or saw something, and would probably wake up the house in the middle of the night.'

When I came down into the library I found a good many people gathered together. Mr. Wyon was there. I recognized him in a moment, from a description Marion had given me. His face was handsome—the features were strikingly well-formed and regular—almost too regular, it seemed to me. His eyes, though generally soft and pleasant, lit up at times, I noticed afterwards, with a wild and strange light.

My Uncle Lediard welcomed me graciously. He asked me kindly about my journey and so forth, and at last introduced me to Mr. Wyon.

'Marion has often talked about you,' he said, in a sweet voice. 'Indeed, I feel as if we were old friends, Miss Thornton.'

I was stammering out some commonplace reply, when Uncle Lediard looked round among the guests, and said—'We are all assembled, Marion, are we not? Why don't they announce dinner? Are we waiting for anyone.'

'No papa,' answered Marion.

'Then I don't understand why we are kept waiting in this unusual manner,' exclaimed my uncle, who was a martyr to punctuality. His hand was on the bell-rope, when suddenly the library door was opened, and the butler announced—

'Mr. Joyce.'

I looked at Marion; she looked at her father; he simply started in amazement at a tall gentleman, who entered the room quickly, and advanced straight to my uncle.

'I fear I am late, Colonel Lediard,' said Mr. Joyce, shaking the Colonel's hand warmly.

Mr. Wyon's eyebrows contracted slightly, I observed, as he remarked the stranger.

My uncle seemed to be perfectly taken aback; still, his good breeding made him answer almost immediately:—

'It is a stormy night. I—I am glad you have not lost your way.'

'So am I,' replied Mr. Joyce, laughing. 'After I received your kind note, I studied the map being, as you are aware, a stranger in this country, and I studied it well; consequently, I am here.'

Again I looked at Marion; she seemed as astonished as her father. But it seemed to me her astonishment was rapidly giving way to some other emotion.

'Dinner is on the table,' said the butler, throwing open the door which led into the dining-room.

All passed duly off. Marion had told me beforehand that it would be my fate to walk in by myself; but, as it happened, Mr. Joyce made up the even number, and I was consigned to him. I shall never forget the strange imploring look Marion gave me as I took his arm, and I could not help thinking, momentary as it was, that Arthur Wyon caught it.

But what could she mean, I wondered. Plainly Mr. Joyce had not been expected. Perhaps Marion only meant that I was to be ordinarily polite to him, and not let him see that he had made an uncomfortable mistake. Nothing, however, seemed further from his thoughts than the notion that he had not been invited. Besides, had he not pointedly referred to the Colonel's note? I noticed my uncle casting troubled glances in our direction more than once, as if he did not quite know how he ought to treat the uninvited guest, but evidently, his sense of hospitality prevailed.

'Excuse me for asking the question, Miss Thornton, but is there not in existence a Miss Lediard?' said Mr. Joyce, soon after we had sat down to dinner.

'Yes,' I replied, 'that is my cousin, Marion Lediard, at the end of the table.

'You are a niece of my host, then? That is Miss Lediard at the end of the table? I had heard that she was very pretty; she looks pale and tired. I am only just come into the country, and positively know nobody.'

I told him the names of all I knew.

'And who is that sitting on Miss Lediard's side?'

'Oh, that is Mr. Wyon, my cousin's fiance.

Ah, true; I have heard something of that. So that is Mr. Wyon. A very remarkable face—don't you think so, Miss Thornton?

'It is an uncommon face.'

'He is a widower, is he not; and was the owner of this very place? So I understand. It must try him to sit as a guest in what were once his own halls—don't you think so?'

'He seems tolerably contented.'

'Ah, of course. So he ought to be. Your cousin is unquestionably very beautiful. Colonel Lediard's only child, I think?'

'Yes and heiress of Chevenage.'

'How exceedingly fortunate is Mr. Wyon! One almost feels inclined to say how lucky for him his first wife died.

There was something in the tone of voice in which he said these last words that made me look full at him; but I only met his smiling, cheerful face, and I felt I must have been mistaken in thinking there was the least mocking sound in what he had said.

But we spoke no more of Marion, and Mr. Joyce chatted gaily on all sorts of topics, and took part in the general conversation.

When we two ladies left the dining-room, I saw that Marion was longing to speak to me, but, as lady of the house, it was some time before she could get a chance. Then she said:—

'Tell me about this Mr. Joyce, Jessie.'

'I don't think I have anything to tell you, Marion. He has been extremely agreeable. Was he really not expected?'

'I have never heard of him before, and certainly never wrote to him, nor did papa. There must be some curious mistake somewhere.'

'He told me that he had only recently come into the country, and he said he thought it very kind of Uncle Lediard to ask him to come over to dine and sleep.

'And sleep, Jessie! I can't understand this at all. Why, I don't believe there is a room we can put him in.'

'There is the haunted room,' I suggested.

'Ah, true; he must have that. But really I should like to know more about him.'

You must have sent him a card of invitation somehow or other, Marion.'

She shook her head.

'I am quite sure that I did not. It is very strange, Jessie. His eyes and voice and manner remind me of John Mordaunt.'

'Oh, Marion, do you really think—'

'Hush, they are coming,' exclaimed Marion.

The gentlemen then entered, all laughing heartily, apparently at some anecdote Mr. Joyce had been telling them as they came up stairs, Colonel Lediard beckoned Marion apart, and she went up to him.

'Marion, dear,' he said, 'I am afraid we must have made some mistake about this Mr. Joyce. You must have sent him an invitation inadvertently, as I know nothing whatever about him; neither do any of my guests. But he is under the impression that he has been duly asked to dine and sleep, and he seems so extremely pleasant and gentlemanly person, and we must not be inhospitable. What room can he have?

'The house is quite full, papa; and there is only the Red Room left.'

'Then he must have that. Say nothing to him about the room being haunted or any nonsense of that sort.'

'Very well, papa. I will go at once and see about the room being got ready for him.'

The evening passed away pleasantly enough—Mr. Joyce the life and soul of the party.

My uncle took me to the piano, and I played two or three pieces, as did some other girls, and there was some glee-singing; then I heard the colonel say:—

'Come now, Mr. Joyce, I am sure singing is one of your accomplishments.—Oblige me.'

'Really,' replied Mr. Joyce, smiling.—'I am rather nervous about singing in a strange assembly. But, if you wish it, I will do my best,' and he at once sat down at the piano.

'Sensible young man,' muttered my uncle, 'No nonsense about him.'

Mr. Joyce ran his fingers lightly over the keys. Marion and Mr. Wyon were watching him. For some moments I thought he was only going to treat us to the brilliant execution of a fantasia; but, suddenly, that died away, and he commenced a ballad to a sweet and touching melody. After the first verse, I looked at Marion, her eyes were intently fixed upon the singer. Arthur Wyon had risen from his seat; he too was looking at Mr. Joyce, but there was a heavy frown upon his brow. At the conclusion, his face assumed its usual calm expression, and he pressed up with others and thanked Mr. Joyce.

'I fancy I have heard that song before, May I ask you where you learned it?'

'I already have known it for years. An Italian lady who once heard me sing it when I was abroad last, called it a song from the Land of Dreams.'

'A very fitting title,' said Mr. Wyon, smiling; 'it has a very dream-like tone.'

After a pleasant evening, bed time arrived. Marion was strangely quiet, and said but little till she came into my room, which opened into hers, to say good night. Then, as she bent down and kissed me, she said in a few voice:—

'I understand it all now, Janie; but I cannot tell what is to happen. I knew that song at once. Keep the secret, darling—he who sang that song may call himself Mr. Joyce; I have known him as John Mordaunt.'

'Oh, Marion, what shall you do?'

'I know not. I see, too, that Arthur Wyon suspects something. Janie, Janie, I feel as if something terrible were going to happen!'

'Marion, may you not be mistaken?'

'No. The only difference I can see is, that John Mordaunt wore a beard and moustache, which Mr. Joyce does not.'

'And if this should indeed prove to be John Mordaunt, shall you be sorry?' I asked. 'No answer, Marion? And, if you still love him, why are you engaged to Arthur Wyon?'

'I have told you all, Janie,' she replied, sadly. 'If it be indeed John Mordaunt, he comes too late.' With a deep sigh she left my room.

The next morning it was observed that Mr. Joice was late, and it was merrily said that the ghosts must have visited him, and had kept him awake all night, and had only left him at dawn. As it grew later, and we had all done breakfast, Colonel Lediard rang the bell, and bade the footman go and tell Mr. Joice what time it was. The man obeyed; but presently came back, looking rather startled, with the information that Mr. Joyce was not in his room, and, as far as the bed was concerned, had, apparently, not been there all night. The footman had gone to the door at the usual time with hot water, &c., but on knocking at the door, and receiving no reply, he thought that the gentleman might not like to be disturbed, and left the hot water outside. But this time, after knocking at the door, he had entered the room and found it empty.

'This is very singular!' exclaimed my uncle. I begin to be suspicious.'

'Would it not be as well to inquire if anything is missing,' said Mr. Wyon, with a slight smile; 'any plate, for instance?'

'The gentleman has left his portmanteau, and everything he brought,' remarked the footman. 'He has changed his clothes, for his dress things are lying on a chair.'

'This is really a very puzzling affair, said the colonel. 'He doesn't look much like a swell mobsman, Wyon.'

Naturally, all of the guests expressed more or less curiosity about the disappearance of Mr. Joyce; but there were only two persons who seemed to take the matter seriously, and these were Marion and Mr. Wyon.

Marion pleaded indisposition, and kept in her room nearly all day. Mr. Wyon asked after several times, rather impatiently at last, I thought; but that of course, was natural. Marion begged me to say that she should be quite well in the evening. And so she sat quietly in her own boudoir, no one being with her save myself.

'Marion will be well enough to come down to dinner, I hope?' said Mr. Wyon.

'Oh! I think so,' I replied. 'She seems a little nervous to-day, that is all.'

'Ah! upset by the strange behaviour of that queer Mr. Joyce, eh? I tell you what, Miss Thornton, I don't wonder at it. If I had been the colonel, I should have kicked that fellow out of the house at once. Depend upon it, he is some humbug who, by sheer impudence, is endeavouring to get a footing in the house.'

'Then why the sudden disappearance?'

'Oh, he wants to be thought peculiar.'

Speculations as to what could have become of Mr. Joyce continued to be suggested throughout the day. The rain poured hard all day long, and no one ventured out except Mr. Wyon, who boasted that no weather was ever bad enough to keep him in all day. He was out not very long; I met him in the hall just when he came in, and I saw for an instant that strange wild light in his eyes, as he glanced for a moment curiously about. As I ascended the stairs I heard him call to a servant and bid him to bring a glass of wine.

I sat with Marion nearly all the afternoon. All that she said about Mr. Joyce was:—

'I am more than ever convinced, Janie, that in John Mordaunt, who has come to redeem his word. Too late—too late.'

It was in vain that I reasoned with her. She was bound to Mr. Wyon, and there was no use saying anything more about it.

We were all in the library, as on the previous evening, when the butler opened the door, and just as before announced—

'Mr. Joyce.'

Mr. Joyce went up to my uncle and said:—

'My dear colonel, pray don't wait dinner for me; I shall be dressed in five minutes. You have been wondering prodigiously what had become of me, now have you?'

The colonel confessed that Mr. Joyce's absence had caused considerable curiosity.

'I'll explain it all at dinner. Excuse me; I shall be down directly,' and he hurried off.

He speedily reappeared in the dining room.

'You really must think me a most eccentric person, Colonel Lediard, and I owe it to your hospitality to give an account of myself.'

There was a pause in the conversation all round the table. Everyone was anxious to hear what Mr. Joyce had to say for himself, Mr. Wyon seemed especially curious.

'There is something or other about that Red Room which prevented me from sleeping. When I went up-stairs last night I was longing to go to bed, but an unusual wakefulness came over me, and I felt sure it would be useless to attempt to sleep.—So I sat up reading, but no sensation of drowsiness came, and at half-past two I began to write letters. I then suddenly remembered that I had neglected a most important letter which ought to have gone the evening before, so as to be delivered in London the morning. It occurred to me, after I had started, that I ought to have left a note for you, explaining my disappearance; but I had barely time, as I thought, to change my clothes, and so it did not enter into my head. Having heard my excuse, I hope you will consider it a valid one, Colonel.'

'With all my heart,' answered my uncle, laughing. 'But I am annoyed about your bedroom. It will never do for you to go two nights without sleep.'

'Oh, I shall sleep like a top to-night,' replied Mr. Joyce; 'as you may suppose, I am pretty well tired by this time.'

'Do you bring any news from London, Mr. Joyce?' asked Arthur Wyon, in his soft voice.

'No, everything is just the same as usual. There's nothing in the papers. Ah, by-the-bye, people are a little excited in town.'

'What about, may I ask?' inquired the Colonel, 'speculations as to what the government may say in the address?'

'No; people don't seem to be more than ordinarily bored about that. The excitement just now is about a murder.'

'Really, I quite despair of the country!' exclaimed the Colonel; 'nothing short of a despotism will quell the dangerous classes.'

'Ah; but this murder is said to have been committed by a person or persons in what is called the best society. It is whispered at the clubs that a gentleman of property, well known in the county where he resides, has murdered his wife under circumstances of peculiar atrocity; but I have no doubt the whole story will be known in a day or two. That is all the news I bring, Mr. Wyon.'

'Quite enough, I am sure,' he answered, with a pleasant smile. 'Don't you think so, Marion.' She only answered with a shudder.

Nothing particular occurred that evening, that I can remember. Mr. Joyce sang and talked a good deal; still, he did not seem in such spirits as the night before. I accounted for this by supposing that he was tired. He carefully avoided Marion, I thought. Arthur Wyon, on the other hand, rendered himself particularly amusing, and was almost boisterous spirits over a round game at cards.

The next morning, when we were all assembled for breakfast, Mr. Joyce put in no appearance. This did not create any surprise; as he had not gone to bed [illegible] night, and it was well known how [illegible] was, and the colonel had given orders [illegible] he should not be disturbed. But the morning passed away; noon came; Mr. [illegible] had never come down to breakfast, nor even rung his bell. At last the footman knocked at the door, but obtained no answer, and, on trying to go in, found the door was locked on the inside.

'Then he has evidently gone off to London again, said my uncle.

Luncheon time, but still no Mr. Joyce. I could see that Marion was dreadfully nervous, and I began to think that John Mordaunt had a very uncomfortable way of performing his promises. At last, the colonel could stand it no longer, and he went himself to the door of the Red Room and hammered at it loudly.

'Joyce—I say—Joyce. Wake up. It is past one o'clock. No reply—no sound.

My uncle sent for the men servants and instruments, and the lock was forced.

I was sitting in the dining-room—in fact, most of us were there at luncheon, when the [illegible] was done. Arthur Wyon [illegible] calm as usual, whilst everybody [illegible] more or less, excited about Mr. [illegible] Suddenly Marion rose up, and [illegible] exclaimed:—

'Hush! what's that?'

Far off, along the distant passages, we heard the hum of many voices, and then, above it all, one word rang out with horrible distinctness:—

'Murder!'

Yes, somehow or other, in the quiet hours of the early morning, some one had penetrated into the Red Room, and killed the man that was sleeping calmly in the bed. No knife had been used, but it seemed as if the throat had first been grasped, and then the face battered in with a heavy blunt weapon. So cruel had been the blows that the features were hardly distinguishable. When Marion heard what had happened, with a long and cry she fell fainting on the floor. Mr. Wyon and some one else lifted her up and carried her to her boudoir, and left her in my charge.

The colonel, as you may suppose, was terribly shocked. 'The story fell like a thunderbolt among the guests. Most were anxious to leave the house at once; but the colonel sternly bade them stay for the coroner.

(Continued on fourth page.)

Case of Kidnapping

SUMMARY EXTRADITION OF TWO PRISONERS.

From the Buffalo Express.

On Christmas Day there were two men confined in the jail at Brantford, Canada. One of them, named Charles Smith, was under sentence of twenty-two years in Kingston Penitentiary, and the other, named Brown, was under indictment for robbery, awaiting trial. Smith is a tall, muscular man, while Brown is a small, wiry fellow, as spry as a weasel. Both are well known in Buffalo, and it seems they have a particular ingenious friend, with a very active temperament, living here. On Christmas this woman, named Barrett, appeared at the jail with a cooked goose, which she gave to the turnkey as the means of furnishing a Christmas dinner for Smith. The appearance of the fowl created no distrust on the part of the official, nor did the sorrowful face of the woman who was so thoughtful as to provide a Christmas dinner for the prisoner, who, though a criminal, still occupied a place in the affections of a sister. In due time the goose was given to Smith, and divided by him with Brown, who occupied the same cell.

Now the great peculiarity of that bird was the stuffing. Most people would be shocked to find what they did, but circumstances alter cases, and when a steel cutting saw and a small file came to view they decorated with delight, and ascertained the old gander with extreme haste. That night in the silent watches the iron bars of their window gave way before the small hard teeth of the watch spring saw, and their bedding furnished the ready means for a rope by which to reach the ground. And so they escaped, coming directly to Buffalo with the woman, who had been waiting for them at an appointed place.

"All's well that ends well."

When the officials discovered that their birds had flown and observed the manner of their exit, the trick of the woman was at once divined and measures were taken for their recapture. It did not require a great deal of skill to trace the fugitives to this city. The Canadian detective solicited the aid of a number of men, and on New Year's Day Smith and Brown were discovered in a saloon on Exchange street in company with their deliverers, spending the time in pleasant conviviality.

The men were arrested on a fictitious charge of a crime committed at Niagara Falls, and as they felt perfectly safe they did not hesitate to go with the officers, well knowing that no charge could be sustained against them at the falls. They were conducted to the Black Rock Station via the street railroad, and then they were handcuffed. Here is where the coup d'etat was made. Instead of taking the locomotive train, one of the men hired the ferryboat to make a special trip. Everything being in readiness the prisoners were run down to the boat, and then a desperate struggle commenced. The jail birds kicked and fought with all their might, but the handcuffs proved too strong and inconvenient to admit of successful resistance. As they dragged their captors about on the deck the little man urged his bulky partner to spring overboard, swearing that he preferred death to life in a Canadian jail.

Capt. Haggart supposed, of course, that the prisoners were being extradited under the proper forms of law, but took no further part in the struggle than to prevent damage being done to the vessel. On gaining the Canada shore he experienced considerable difficulty in unloading his freight, and it required a large force to place the convicts in the cars and keep off the Fort Erie refugees who threatened a rescue. They were finally secured and taken back to Brantford by the Canadian authorities.

This summary method of extraditing criminals may be a little irregular, but really, under the circumstances, we do not believe any serious complaint will be made against the Canadian officers or the worthy citizens who aided them in relieving our city of the presence of two such characters.

Thespians!

THE "ALABAMA" QUESTION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The Tribune's special says: The articles of the Treaty on the Alabama claims matter are eight in number, and are substantially as follows:

Article 1.—The two governments agree to the settlement of all claims and differences which have arisen since the Convention of 1853.

Article 2 provides for a commission of four persons—each Government being entitled to two representatives—the commission agree upon a plan for settlement.

Article 3 provides that a majority of the commission shall decide the questions involved.

Article 4—Provides for cases of disagreement on the commission; in such an event the two Governments shall choose an umpire. The President of the United States, but the umpire selected shall not be qualified, unless confirmed by the Senate.

Article 5—Provides that in the event of the refusal of the umpire to decide, the question shall be settled by lot in the presence of the commission.

Article 6—Excludes from the jurisdiction of the commission, all cases arising from claims which have been adjudged by Courts of Admiralty.

Article 7—Provides that claimants shall have first proved that they are British subjects, that they preserved strict neutrality during the war, and did not aid the South.

Article 8—The sessions of the commission are to be held in Washington.

Mr. Seward is very anxious to have this treaty on the Alabama claims settled before his retirement; hence his haste in sending to the Senate merely the draft of the treaty and not the official document.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The President transmitted to the Senate, on Friday, three treaties and protocols concluded between the United States and Great Britain, which were indicated in his annual message, namely:—

1st. A protocol fully recognising the naturalization laws of the United States, and abolishing the legal principle heretofore maintained in Great Britain of the indefeasibility of native allegiance;

2nd. Treaty referring the boundary dispute about the Island of San Juan, on the Pacific coast, to the Republic of Switzerland; and,

3rd. Treaty for adjustment of all claims, including the Alabama claims, by Commissioners, to sit at Washington, with the stipulation to refer when necessary individual claims to the head of a friendly nation.

Mr. S. E. Gladstone, of Christ Church, Oxford, a son of the Prime Minister, was ordained on the 21st ult., by the Bishop of Winchester.

Mrs. McDougal, wife of the Commissioner of Public Works, died at Ottawa on the 16th instant.

EDUCATIONAL COMMITTEE.

This Committee held its fourth sitting yesterday at 10:30 o'clock. Hon. Mr. Cameron in the chair.

Hon. Mr. Cameron said, before proceeding further, he wished to state that Mr. Barclay wished to correct some of the evidence given by him at the former committee.

Dr. McCaul examined by Mr. McDougall, said—He would like to see the Grammar Schools made efficient preparatory schools for college by decreasing the number throughout the country. His idea of the efficiency of our educational institute was for us it prepared its pupils for their positions in life. It was quite possible to make Grammar Schools efficient as feeders for Universities, without neglecting the English branches of education. He was very cautious with respect to the suggestion of introducing Greek and Latin into the High Schools. He believed it should be—one, and to leave it optional with the parents of children whether they should take it or not. As a member of the Council of Public Instruction, he gave it as his opinion that Grammar Schools could be made efficient feeders to the University.

He saw no objection to an inspection of the upper Canada College in the same manner as the Grammar Schools are at present subjected to. He thought that it would be derogatory to Upper Canada College to be subjected to such an examination.—It was expected that college masters were superior men, at present the college is supervised by the Senate. In his time the principal masters received no benefit from a large number of boys. He thought if it would increase the public confidence to have the Upper Canada College on the same footing as the Grammar Schools, it would be well to do so, and he believed it would not detract from its usefulness; but he doubted if any benefit would result from the change. There was no code defining the supervision of the Senate Committee; but reports continually came up from them to the University, respecting the Upper Canada College, but they are not responsible for the efficiency of the college, that responsibility rests solely with the principal. The University and the Upper Canada College are closely connected, and the Senate completely controls the latter.—The expenses of the institution are fixed by statute, and the principal is responsible to the Senate for all expenditures. The Senate does not determine the curriculum of Grammar Schools, nor of the Upper Canada College, though it might control the latter. He did not think exhibitions in college were necessary now, since the University was established. He thought the granting of scholarships in the Upper Canada College affected the Grammar Schools unfavorable. He believed it would be of great advantage to the Grammar Schools if the counties in which they were situated would establish exhibitions for scholarships; but he did not believe it would be right to divert the funds granted to the College for the purpose, because the whole sum amounted to only $500, which would give only some $5 to each Grammar School.

Dr. Ryerson was next examined, and stated that the U. C. College corresponded to the Grammar Schools, and it was simply a union of Common and Grammar Schools. It is a preparatory institution to the University, just as the Grammar Schools are. He believed the College should be converted into a Toronto Grammar School—that it would not be beneficial to the country. It would be advisable to use the same text books and course of study in the College that are now used in the Grammar Schools, for the reason that they are the very best that could be selected. It was not possible to compare the efficiency of the Grammar Schools with the efficiency of Upper Canada College, except in the taking of scholarships; and he was astonished that one half the scholarships were taken by pupils of Grammar Schools. It was like one man beating twenty, for Upper Canada College receives twenty times as large a grant as is usually given to a Grammar School, and he believed there was not an equal chance given the latter. The attendance at the 104 Grammar Schools in the Province averaged 5696. He recommended the establishment of high schools because it was impossible that all the Grammar Schools could be efficient, and it was to give places where there was any local enterprise an opportunity for higher education, such as Upper Canada College. He should be sorry to know that the Council of Public Instruction should have the control of any property whatever. The reason why the present mode of examination exists for pupils of Grammar Schools, is because the teachers have an interest in obtaining a large number of pupils, and it would not be right to leave the examination in their own hands; but it was different with U. C. College, which received a regular grant, and whose teachers received regular salaries. The qualifications of Upper Canada College were sufficient to make an inspection unnecessary. Some of the Grammar Schools were largely attended by pupils from different parts of the country, but they were not, therefore, to be considered as provincial institutions because they were under local control. The average cost of each Grammar School pupil per annum, he believed was $9.25 from Government, and usually about the same sum from local grants, though in some instances the amount was larger. The average cost per annum for Upper Canada pupils was about $50 25. He did not believe this was unjust unless the Grammar School had a grant of $4,000, which made a sum of about $40 per pupil, and the education of the school was of a higher order than the grammar schools throughout the country. The Model School was not designed as a compet tor to the grammar schools but it was intended to train masters for the common schools. He recommended that Upper Canada College should become the model grammar school of the country, to remain under the control of the Senate, and last people should suppose that he wished to obtain the whole under his own control, he offered to resign his seat in the Senate. If the Senate were under the Minister of Instruction he believed it would be well to make it the head of all the educational institutions of the country. He believed boys should have a good common school education before commencing to study the classics.

Mr. Cumberland moved for a return of all pupils attending the various schools in the country, and a return of the various grants to educational institutions, and their applications. The question, after some discussion, was withdrawn.

The committee rose at 2 o'clock.

IAMATOLOGIA!

It is very painful to see so many public men whose desires compel them to sacrifice their health to the interests of their profession and the public. How many clergymen there are whose usefulness is marred by diseases of the larynx and bronchia! How many public men there are who feel that they could command the masses much better if they had the strength of lungs and ample voice which were so useful to them at the beginning of their career! And yet these misfortunes may be remedied by recourse to the Great Shoshonean Remedy, now for sale by all druggists.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

An assortment of Electro Plate Cruets, Toast Racks, Butter Coolers, Jellie Dishes, Cups, Cake and Card Baskets, Napkin Rings, Pickle Forks and other goods in this line.

Skates, Pocket and Table Cutlery.

Hoe & Co's Tuttle × Cut Saw.

Kenyon's Files and Steel.

G. STETHEM & Co.

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Hardware—John Bertram.
Drugs and Chemicals—Ormond & Walsh.
Wesleyan Missions
Missionary Meeting—Bible Christian.
Teacher Wanted—Section 1, Dummer.
Strayed—Lewis Parker.
Ready-made Clothing—Montreal House.
Fish—A. Hall.
Card—Dennistoun, Fairbairn & Cassels
Mortgage Sale—J. Hillyard Cameron.
Houses and Lots for Sale—Maria Foster.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, JANUARY 21, 1869.

PARLIAMENTARY.

The Education Committee have examined into the working of the Educational Department, and have reported the whole in the most satisfactory state. The report also states that since 1850 $442,606.63 had been paid for books, and that all these have been disposed of except $18,493.42 worth now on hand. The committee express themselves satisfied with the entire management of the whole department, and recommend that the salaries be not cut down, as those engaged in the department are not paid too much for the work done. This will be very gratifying to Dr. Ryerson.

As far as the investigation into Upper Canada College has proceeded, it appears to go in favor of the Grammar Schools, as was expected by the promoters of the agitation; even Dr. McCaul thinks it would be best to place the College under the same supervision as the Grammar Schools, if that would ensure public confidence. Dr. Ryerson, too, before the committee, declared that he could not see in what the College differed from the Grammar Schools, and further declared that the College receives twenty times as much as a Grammar School, and the fact that the Grammar Schools had carried off one half of the University honors, which is as if one man should beat twenty men. The matter, however, is not likely to be fully investigated this session, nor will the proposed change in the law be carried into effect during this session.

On the License Bill Mr. Woods proposed a scheme of increasing the portion paid to the government, was in part carried into effect. The sum in cities is to be $20; in towns, $17; in villages, $12; for shop license, $12. This is a new tax on shops, and it is just in principle, as in shops, too often, more liquor is sold than in hotels. But we have an expression of John S. McDonald, during the debate, that deserves a passing remark: "The material point was the collection of revenue," not the time of opening or closing taverns. If collection of revenue be the material point, why not impose a tax on the purchaser of intoxicating liquors. Of the moral effect of this license system, the Attorney-General has no adequate conception, nor does he care. The Ottawa Citizen represents him as a "statesman who seems to think that money is the most valuable thing in the world." Where money is concerned the lives of thousands is but a drop in the bucket, and such are the men that occupy the highest positions in the land. Mr. Blake wisely said the revenue feature was not what the country considered important; it was the moral effect that was worst. The government suffered an overwhelming defeat on this question.

PARTY TIES.

Amongst Canadian politicians there is a species of political libertinism that is obnoxious to justice, injurious to the progress of the country, and highly censurable as tending to overthrow good and wholesome party government, and to introduce instead thereof a system of corruption and bribery that sooner or later will sap the foundation of our political fabric. For many years J. A. McDonald has succeeded by means of the public purse to purchase enough of his opponents to secure for him power and influence in public affairs. In turn the opposition will assume power and that at no distant date. Now, are they to have resort to the same means to maintain their position, and by means of the purse strings retain office in defiance of the will of the people, by purchasing conservatives in turn? and if so, where will such corruption end?

During a number of years, Reformers, for the sake of their country, have been trying to get reliable men to represent them, but unfortunately too many have been deceived on their promise of fidelity.

At the late election, Reformers were still more desirous of sending good and true men and were also careful to exact definite promises of adhesion to principles; and with all this a few are found bunting and fishing for office, and in their eagerness forget that they are pledged. When reminded of this by Reform journalists, it is called "Radical Tyranny, Globe Despotism, George Brown's Terrorism," and all such bosh, in order to blind their readers and to divert their minds from the real matter at issue.

Party ties ought to be as indissoluble as truth and justice. Why should any man ally himself to a party unless to aid in carrying out their principles? and once elected by that party he is no longer his own; he is bound by their principles and to carry them out even at personal disadvantage. If he cannot conscientiously do so he is bound to resign his position and go back to the people on his new theory. A sense of honor and justice should compel him, as soon as his views change, to go and tell the men who elected him that they are changed and place the trust again in the hands of the people, and have a new election. Just as well might a Protestant clergyman join the Church of Rome, and vice versa, a Roman Catholic Priest join the Protestant Church and still remain in their former pastoral charge and claim the right to see according to conscience, as politicians retain their seats after changing their political views. The moral law is the same for all classes of men, although politicians too often ignore moral principles in their actions. Surely the promises of politicians are not to be made and broken at will.

The Globe and George Brown are the great bug-bears to Tory plunder. The Globe must have no small share in their sight more annoyances, and weak-kneed Reformers and pulping Tory journals have a fertile source for frothy effervescence to keep their readers from sweet now and then.

If the entire Reform press would frown down this political apostacy and all reckless extravagance of outlay of public money whosoever done and whoever the guilty party might be, there would soon be little of either heard of.

We are told, too, that the whole matter is a stable or no stable. Such a direct falsehood is unworthy of a journalist of any party. Part of the matter is, shall the Lieut.-Governor's stables cost $16,000 or $8,000 or $6,000, or less. But for the opposition $16,000 would have been in the estimates for a stable for Mr. Howland and his successors. Now it is $6,000—a sum in all good conscience large enough to build two stables for him, and yet Tory newspapers are willing to endorse any sum their leaders set forth. Are such blind followers worthy the support of intelligent men? or do men who wilfully pervert facts for party purposes, and then belie the Globe and other journalists while professing love for truth and justice, deserve the common respect of others.

The great principle is, shall we have extravagance or shall we not. Is it the right way of doing business to say that the Governor's residence will cost $50,000, and in less than 12 months after tell the people that $100,000 will not finish it? Will the country be satisfied to grant $100,000 for asylums when persons competent to judge say $60,000 would be amply sufficient? Is it wise to sink the price of two of the best farms in the country on stables for a man that would have been satisfied with stables at a cost of $1,000? Was it right for our representatives to vote for all this extravagance? Should a public journalist lie for the purpose of belittling George Brown and the Globe?

THAT VERDICT.

It is seldom that the journalist finds himself compelled to find fault with the verdicts of juries, not that jurors always deserve to be passed over in silence, but because the public are willing to accord to them, at least, that they render their verdict to the best of their judgment. This we cannot for a moment entertain of the intelligent jury whom Dr. Harvey empannelled to investigate the cause of the death of the late Mrs. Jane Stimson. How any man of a sane mind ever arrived at the conclusion that the drug referred to was taken to remove irregularities in the system, we are at a loss to conjecture. Mr. George Webber most distinctly swore that the husband of the unfortunate woman told him (Webber) and all who came in, for what they had been administering this drug, and not only this one, but she had been drugging herself for about two months for the same cause—"to prevent her having children;" and yet fifteen men in the Town of Peterboro are found rendering a verdict that the drug was taken to remove irregularities. And what shall we say of the coroner who permitted such a verdict to be recorded? It is very often the case that one or two members of a jury are able to gain over the remainder to their way of thinking, but surely the Coroner should be above being thus easily led away. In this case there can be no doubt but that the jury were too anxious to render a verdict that would not implicate the husband, and in doing so, have rendered a verdict that has taken the whole community by surprize. In such a state of things what security have we that one of the most glaring cases of child-murder or wife-murder may not be dealt with in the same manner? Besides, what is the object of an inquest? Is it not to try to find out the cause of the death and to record it. But what effort was made in this case? The bottle in which the fatal drug was, was never produced; the sayings of the persons who administered the poison were taken without investigation. Why did not the Coroner make a search for the bottle? Who knows but some very deleterious drug was also in the bottle, and given by the advice of some one who should be punished. We spoke to the Coroner on the subject, and he says—the jury would agree to no other verdict. Can this be the case? and if so, we ask, did the Coroner read the evidence, and point out the nature of their duty—"to render a verdict according to that evidence?" If he did not he is as highly culpable as any of the jury.

But why did Coroner Harvey sit as Coroner on the dead body of a patient he was called in to see? and why did he appoint Doctor O'Sullivan, who also attended her, to make a post mortem examination? It is a very nice way of doing things, truly, to attend a patient and then to sit as Coroner to investigate the cause of her death. What a strict investigation we might expect, not that we think Dr. Harvey or Dr. O'Sullivan in any way implicated in the death referred to; but if doctors are to be coroners in the case of the sudden death of their own patients, what security have the public that the truth will be elicited if it be the interest of the coroner to prevent it? Provided, too, that a druggist should through negligence or otherwise deal out a poison, and the death of a human being be the result, should that druggist be on the jury? The unanimous voice of the public is, he should not; and yet the coroner permitted this to be the case and not a word against it. Can the public journalist speak too strongly of the management—bungling shall we say—of the late inquest; and we venture to say that such a verdict has rarely been rendered. The Coroner says in answer to all this, that any person dissatisfied with the verdict can have parties implicated brought before a magistrate and the case tried there. This, however, would not relieve him from the odium of mismanagement of which he was guilty, and why should anyone be under the necessity of doing what the Coroner called the inquest to do, and yet did not do?

BUT THIS PROCEEDS,

And those who recommend the practice! Dame Rumour reported during the day of the inquest that not less than a dozen of women in the immediate neighborhood where Mrs. Stimson lived, are in the habit of drugging themselves for the same purpose that she did; and respectable physicians inform us that the practice is fearfully common and on the increase; and yet "public opinion" is silent; physicians are silent; while profoundly christian ladies instruct the younger women in the secret of destroying their own progeny, and not a qualm of conscience! Shining shillings has become such a horror to young ladies that ere they have put off their short clothes, they are heard declare themselves very happy on this subject, and too often allowed to go on unrebuked. Indeed it is to be feared that not a few mothers in Israel inculcate the practice instead of frowning it down. Our American cousins have hitherto got credit for great adroitness in thwarting the ways of Jehovah for continuing the human race on the earth, but Canadian ladies are apt pupils in this unhallowed work, which in too many cases proves a direct, a manifest violation of the Commandment—"Thou shalt not kill."—We do not think that the parties concerned in the late tragedy ever suspected such fearful results would follow. We hope this will prove a timely warning, and that Canadian women will seek to imitate Hannah, not Herod.

CONSISTENT, VERY.

"The Leader lectures the Globe for its remarks anent those weak-kneed Reformers, who for certain considerations are found now and then passing over to John Sandfield.—In yesterday's Leader, however, we have some gentle hints of the "unseemly sight of members of the Government taking opposite sides in the House." "The discussion on the Treasurer's License Bill was unparliamentary, and led to the utter demoralization of the House." They have been whipped in, however, and pull better together since. But then this is a gentle lecture to unruly members who dare not face their constituencies, and vote for the Treasurer's Bill: the Leader would have all be of one mind.

CONSISTENT MEMBERS.

In the same paper we find the following: "Mr. Wood gave a very forcible illustration of the ineffectiveness of the present Bill, closing hotels at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, by appealing to the habits of many of the members who continually violate it."—He refers, no doubt, to their drinking not that they are Hotel keepers; and certainly law-makers should not be law-breakers. They should repeal the law or maintain it.

POISONS.

A new Bill has been before the Legislature of Ontario relative to registering Druggists and naming poisons and compelling Druggists to label them as such, under pains and penalties. We are some times amused at the pious impulses of our Legislators on behalf of life and property, while at other times the most stolid indifference is the order of things. Drugged or poisonous whiskey kills yearly 10,000 victims for every one poisoned by apothecaries; and more than 1,000 for every life lost by poison, suicide and murder combined but not a word about labeling forty rod whiskey as "poison." Great Great fault has been found with a certain druggist for selling a drug that is in daily demand for rheumatism, but which if taken inwardly poisons; but not a word is said about the Statute that licenses dealers by the ten thousand to deal out a worse—because a more insidious poison. Our Legislators, however, may do what they like, its all right, its law, we pour out our vengeance, on jurors, coroners and doctors when they mismanage an inquest on the dead body any one who unintentially takes his or her life—and we license fifteen or twenty to take life by the wholesale, and indifferently permit twice fifteen or twenty to murder on the sly. How consistent?

ANOTHER VICTIM.

On Tuesday morning about nine o'clock, an old man, named Robert Donaldson, entered the shop of Louis Meyett, barber, asked if he could be shaved, sat down on a chair and shortly fell over as if in drunkenness. The Chief Constable was sent for and he went for Dr. McCullough, who said the man was after drinking, and that if let alone, he would soon get better. At one o'clock Dr. Burritt was sent for and found the man dying of congestion of the lungs, to which was added congestion of the brain. Dr. Burritt gave it as his opinion that the congestion of the lungs was produced by exposure to cold, and that this and further exposure produced congestion of the brain. Several parties had seen the man; some had treated him lately. He had been at Mr. Shaver's hotel on Monday night, but could not obtain a bed, and it is supposed that he lay out perhaps all night. There can be little doubt but that exposure, old age and drink combined to snap the thread. Some one who had had some talk with him lately, learned that he had friends in Millbrook and also back of Toronto. An inquest was held over the body. The verdict we suppose, is in accordance with the above facts. We say we suppose, for the chief constable had to slap one of the jury in the ear during the investigation to awake him.

A SURPRISE.—We have been informed that several members of the Presbyterian Church, Lakefield, on Friday evening last, took possession of the dwelling of Mr. Smith, who for several years has been precentor in the church there. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were indeed taken by surprise, but on being assured by kind words and smiling faces of kind intentions, they permitted their visitors to have their own way. The ladies, who had taken the precaution to fetch with them an abundant supply of good things, went to work and prepared a plentiful repast. After all had partaken of the free offering of the ladies, Mr. Kenneth Urquhart brought forward his offering, which consisted of a large family bible, four volumes of choice reading and a nice lamp—valued in all at about $20, and on behalf of the friends presented them to Mr. Smith; they also gave Mrs. Smith a valuable satchel as a token of the appreciation by the members of the Church of Mr. Smith's kind and valuable labours in connection therewith. After spending an hour or two in friendly conversation they left for their homes, no doubt leaving Mr. and Mrs. Smith happy in the thought that good works have their reward in the present as well as in the future.

WESLEYAN MISSIONARY MEETINGS.—The Annual Missionary Services in connection with the Wesleyan Church will be held on Sunday 24th inst., at 10.30, a. m., and 6.30, p. m., by the Rev. John Bredin. The Annual Meeting will be on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Several addresses will be delivered, and there will be good music by the choir.

The duty on whiskey is now 43 cents per gallon—about 25 cents per gallon higher than in the United States.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The new County Council will meet on Tuesday next. The members are:—

William Long and James Miller, Esqrs., Otonabee.

Jas. Walton and I. Garbutt, Esqrs., Smith.

T. Chisholm, Esq. and Mr. Brown, Asphodel.

George Young, Esq., North Monaghan.
W. A. Scott, Esq., Harvey.
William Mahon, Esq., Douro.
Jeremiah McCarthy, Esq., Ennismore.
D. Burn, Esq., Dummer.
W. W. Armstrong, Esq., Belmont.
R. D. Rogers, Esq., Ashburnham.
Dr. Clegg, Burleigh.
Mr. Probert, Galway.
S. S. Peck, Esq., Minden.
F. Peck, Esq., Snowdon.
D. Beak, Esq., Stanhope.
A. McDonald, Esq., Dysart.

The Warden did not call a meeting of the old Council as there was no pressing business. The entire liabilities of the old Council have been settled for a month and more, and what has rarely occurred; there is some money to spare this year. There are no old notes to meet we are told, and a disposition not to make new ones. That is the way; let every year pay its own liabilities, and there will be less foolish expenditure, as fear of heavy taxes will have a wholesome effect on members.

AGRICULTURAL.—The Counties of Peterboro, Victoria and Durham appoint one member of the Provincial Board. The Port Hope Guide says the names of Mr. N. Choate, Hope, and Mr J Walton, Smith, are spoken of. Mr. Walton would be a very fit person to send to the Board at the present time. Careful and cautious, he would be the right man to keep down extravagant expenditure, and cautious enough to prevent rash action. Of Mr. Choate we have no personal acquaintance; but even the enemies of Walton will agree in this, that he would prove a good and useful member of the Board. Now is the time to send good men.

"ONTARIO FARMER."—We have been requested to state that the Rev. W. F. Clarke has now no connection with the Canada Farmer, having retired for the purpose of establishing an agricultural periodical of his own. He will shortly commence the publication of the Ontario Farmer, which from the prospectus promises to be an exceedingly interesting and useful agricultural paper. It is claimed that it will embody all the valuable characteristics which have marked the Canada Farmer, together with other important and attractive feature which will be entirely its own. Send for a prospectus to Toronto.

Since writing the above we have received the first number of the Ontario Farmer. It is neatly got up, well printed and is a very suitable size for binding. Mr Clark has our best wishes for the success of his enterprise.

BIBLE CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY SERVICES.—The Annual Meeting will be on Monday evening, February 1st, in the Bible Christian Church. On the last Sabbath of this month a missionary sermon will be preached by Rev. E. Price. At these services a choir will be in attendance.

A shock of an earthquake was felt at Richmond, N. B., on the 16th instant. The accounts describe the noise as similiar to the fall of a large quantity of lumber, and the vibrations were such as to cause lamp chimneys to rattle.

Mr. James Ross has been elected for Centre Wellington. The Conservative party deemed it most prudent not to offer opposition, being certain it would be unsuccessful.

The Honorable Joseph Howe is at Ottawa, the Hon. John Rose having conducted him from Portland to Montreal, and leaving him there, left for England.

A man named Louis Quintal was cut in two at the Grand Trunk station by the cars passing over him, on Saturday.—Witness.

S. B. Harman was elected Mayor of Toronto, on Monday.

W. Robinson is the name of the Mayor of Kingston, for 1869.

DEATH AND BURIAL OF AN AGED NUN.—Mother Marie Catherine Hook, in religion, Sister St. Magdalen, superioress for 24 years of the Congregation Notre Dame, and for 12 years mistress of novices, died about midnight on Wednesday last, at the age of 77 years and 8 months. She had been a nun for sixty-two years, and had witnessed in her time the reception of 480 nuns. The service over her remains took place in the Church of the Congregation, and was very imposing. Twelve different orders of nuns took part, and two Bishops presided. Her remains were interred in a separate place in the vault under the church, and in a black walnut coffin of an unusual magnificence, as the nuns are generally buried in common deal coffins. Previous to the procession entering the crypt, camphor was scattered through it and incense or something burned. There are nearly two hundred ladies interred in this place, and the walks through it are wide and nicely gravelled. The Bishops of Montreal and St. Hyacinthe laid the deceased in her last resting place. She had been a great favorite amongst the poor, and was deranged somewhat before her death, to the great regret of her followers who thereby lost her dying words.—Witness.

THE NEW LORD CHANCELLOR.—A correspondent of the London Mercury states that Lord Hatherly has for many years laboured as a Sunday-School teacher, in which capacity he was the colleague for twenty years of a man whom Leeds was proud to return as its representative to Parliament—the late Robert Hall. Here "a man, with the make and materials of a Chancellor, who has been giving his personal services to working men by instructing their children and grandchildren Sunday after Sunday for the past thirty years, until his hair is whitened with age and hard drudging labour. In his attendance at the school his punctuality is so unerring that upon nearing it he serves as an invariable timepiece, both teacher and scholars knowing well that if they are able to reach the door with or before him they are perfectly safe. Should a medal ever be awarded for punctuality in voluntary service the Lord Chancellor could fairly claim it, for he has never been known to be buried time. Just a few words more, to say that Westminster finds in the Lord Chancellor a most liberal supporter of its school and hospital, and among its churches more than one owes their existence to his council and his munificence. If at any time there should be projected an Early Rising Association, the founders might almost reckon upon Lord Hatherley as president, for our venerable abbey (which is close to his residence) witnesses his daily entrance at an hour when a third of the metropolis is in a position of resemblance,

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday 19th Jan. inst. Present—Messrs. Chamberlain Clarke, Doherty, Kennedy, Hudson, English, Rutherford, Stevenson.

To the absence of the Mayor, Mr. English was called to the chair. The minutes were read and confirmed.

The Clerk stated to the Council that on the last Monday but one, in December, W. H. Scott, Esq., was re-elected Mayor, and the Returning officers had had returned the tall-wing gentlemen duly elected: In North Ward, instead of Mr. J. H. Dixon, Arthur Rutherford, and Geo. Edmison instead of W. H. Wrighton, John Doherty, re-elected for the Centre Ward; Sam Dickson, for East Ward; and Ivan O'Hearn for the South Ward. Messrs. Doherty, Edmison and Rutherford had each made and deposited the necessary certificates of qualification and of office.

A communication from Mr. R. C. Hill, for enlarging the Town Hall, was read. Also—

A communication was read from T. Coburn, asking the Council to allow his Billiard License for $20; also from James McFaddan, asking a reduction of the rent paid for market-tolls.

Messrs. Clarke, Edmison, Doherty and English were appointed a Special Committee to assess Standing Committees for the year, and to report to the Council at its next meeting.

On motion of Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Stevenson, certain abatements were made to persons unable to pay their taxes.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Edmison, a By-law appointing auditors was read and passed. Messrs. Pearce and Cameron are the Auditors.

Moved by Mr. Clarke, seconded by Stevenson.—That a grant of $3.96 be made to Mrs. Sheehan, to help her to visit Toronto to obtain medical advice.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Edmison,—Mr. Jas Stevenson was appointed Grammar School Trustee on behalf of the Town.

On motion of Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Stevenson,—Mr. McKelvy was granted license as a hawker, for the remainder of the year (3 months) for the sum of $16.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—The Clerk of the the Council was directed to procure a skeleton map of the Town showing the extent of the Town plots, also Park lots—which it is proposed to include in the corporation.

On motion of Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Kennedy,—The sum of $5 was granted by the Council to Mr. Lemay for taking care of the child that was left on Hunter Street on the 22nd of December last.

Moved by Mr. Clarke, seconded by Mr. Edmison,—That the thanks of this Council on behalf of the Town are justly due and hereby tendered to Mr. Rackett and the Band under his able management for attending the Council all at this its first meeting, and for their uniform kindness at all times in contributing to the gratification and pleasure of the inhabitants generally.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Clarke seconded by Mr. Kennedy,—That the account of Mr. Chambers, as certified by Mr. Burnham, late Chairman of the Committee on charities, be paid if found correct, on the examination of the Clerk.—Carried.

The Council adjourned for one week.

North Monaghan Council.

NORTH MONAGHAN, Dec. 28th, 1868.

The Council met. All the members present. The Reeve in the chair.

Minutes of last meeting read, approved and signed.

Moved by Mr. Tully, seconded by Mr. Birney, —That the communications and petitions now read be received and laid on the table for further consideration.

A By-law received three readings and finally passed, for appointing John A. Lang Commissioner to dispose of a quantity of timber on concession line between the eighth and ninth concessions, from the railroad to the East side of Lot No. 1, and apply the proceeds for making the said road.

The petition of Alfred Crawford and nine others, for a quantity of plank to cover a bridge over a gully on the River Road by the side of Park Lot No. 2. The sum of six dollars was granted for the same.

The following orders were given on the Treasurer:—To Mr. Jas Stratton, the sum of $19 22, for Printing and Stationery, &c.; for selecting Jurors, to the Clerk, $2.00; to the Reeve, $2.00; to Assessor, $2.00; to Clerk, for extra services and postages, &c., $4.00. For services and salaries, to George Young, Reeve, $10.00; George Birney, Councillor, $10.00; George Tully, Councillor, $10.00; William Robson, Councillor, $9.00; Robert Laing, Councillor, $10.00; John Tully, Clerk, $40.00; Henry Collins, Collector, $40.00; Luke Berry, Inspector, $5.00.

Moved by Mr. Robson, seconded by Mr. Birney,—That the time for collecting the taxes be extended to the 25th January, 1869.

Moved by G. Birney, seconded by G. Tully, —That the Clerk do produce all the By-laws passed by this Council and have them signed and the Corporation seal set on them. Also the Clerk do deliver up all books, papers and documents that he has in his possession belonging to this Municipality at the next meeting of Council.

Moved by G. Birney, seconded by William Robson,—That a vote of thanks be tendered to the Reeve for the dignified and courteous manner in which he has discharged the duties of his office for the present year.—COM.

NORTH MONAGHAN, January 19, 1869.

The new Council met in conformity with the statute, when Geo. Young, Esq., Reeve, and Messrs. G. Birney, G. Tully, W. Robson and R. Laing, made and subscribed to the necessary qualifications and declarations of office.

On motion the Council adjourned for fifteen minutes, then to meet to pass a By-law for the enlarging the Town Hall, was read. Also—

A communication was read from T. Coburn, asking the Council to allow his Billiard License for $20; also from James McFaddan, asking a reduction of the rent paid for market-tolls.

Messrs. Clarke, Edmison, Doherty and English were appointed a Special Committee to assess Standing Committees for the year, and to report to the Council at its next meeting.

On motion of Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Stevenson, certain abatements were made to persons unable to pay their taxes.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Edmison, a By-law appointing auditors was read and passed. Messrs. Pearce and Cameron are the Auditors.

Moved by Mr. Clarke, seconded by Stevenson.—That a grant of $3.96 be made to Mrs. Sheehan, to help her to visit Toronto to obtain medical advice.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Edmison,—Mr. Jas Stevenson was appointed Grammar School Trustee on behalf of the Town.

On motion of Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Stevenson,—Mr. McKelvy was granted license as a hawker, for the remainder of the year (3 months) for the sum of $16.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—The Clerk of the the Council was directed to procure a skeleton map of the Town showing the extent of the Town plots, also Park lots—which it is proposed to include in the corporation.

On motion of Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Kennedy,—The sum of $5 was granted by the Council to Mr. Lemay for taking care of the child that was left on Hunter Street on the 22nd of December last.

Moved by Mr. Clarke, seconded by Mr. Edmison,—That the thanks of this Council on behalf of the Town are justly due and hereby tendered to Mr. Rackett and the Band under his able management for attending the Council all at this its first meeting, and for their uniform kindness at all times in contributing to the gratification and pleasure of the inhabitants generally.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Clarke seconded by Mr. Kennedy,—That the account of Mr. Chambers, as certified by Mr. Burnham, late Chairman of the Committee on charities, be paid if found correct, on the examination of the Clerk.—Carried.

The Council adjourned for one week.

North Monaghan Council.

NORTH MONAGHAN, Dec. 28th, 1868.

The Council met. All the members present. The Reeve in the chair.

Minutes of last meeting read, approved and signed.

Moved by Mr. Tully, seconded by Mr. Birney, —That the communications and petitions now read be received and laid on the table for further consideration.

A By-law received three readings and finally passed, for appointing John A. Lang Commissioner to dispose of a quantity of timber on concession line between the eighth and ninth concessions, from the railroad to the East side of Lot No. 1, and apply the proceeds for making the said road

MR. BLAKE.

It begins to look as if the Attorney General would have to do something to prevent the session spinning out to Doomsday. Last night Mr. Blake delivered one of his low lectures, quoting Mackintosh, Mill, Montesquieu and innumerable dissertations, past and present. Mr. Blake ought to be compelled to confine these despositions to the juvenile members of the Law Society. His quotations in last night's debate were not only supererogatory, but altogether out of place. Something must be done to restrain him and bring the session to a close.—Leader.

We differ in toto from our contemporary. Mr. Blake's speech on the bill before the House to grant relief to Lady Smith, and to enable that estimable Lady to manage the Estate of her late husband, was a most masterly effort, and must obtain for him the confidence of the refuseing portion of the community, and the majority of whom love to see the rights of property held sacred. It is strange to find a Conservative journal finding fault with Mr Blake's remarks, and sneering at him for his reference to such writers as Mackintosh, Mills and Montesquieu!

We are not in political accord with Mr. Blake, nevertheless we dislike to see so able a man belittled, and his ablest efforts on behalf of right and justice deverted.

There can be no question that Lady Smith will manage the Estate of her late husband with wisdom and discretion, and after all there may be no harm done by affording her every facility to do so. To say the least of it, legislation in such matters is very ex captional.

Sir Henry left a large family of children, four of whom are Minors, and, therefore, in law can do no act to effect their title to the Estate until they become of age. The following is Sir Henry's Will, made in 1837, over thirty years ago:—

"In the name of God, Amen! I, Henry Smith, the younger, of the Town of Kingston, in the Midland District and Province of Upper Canada, Esquire, do make, ordain and publish my last will and testament as follows: I give, devise and bequeath to my wife, Mary Smith, all and singular my estate, real and personal, to have and to hold the same and every part thereof, to her heirs and assigns for ever, and I appoint her my sole executrix.

(Signed), HY. SMITH, JR.

The Lawyers curtail that it only give Lady Smith the property then owned by Sir Henry, and that the Estate afterwards acquired by him, which is the major part, ought to be equally divided among their children. By the Bill before Parliament all is given to the widow!—Whig.

ELOPEMENT CASE AT NEWCASTLE.—Newcastle, January 11.—Quite an excitement prevailed yesterday in our usually quiet little village through the elopement of the daughter of a very respectable lady with an apprentice employed in the agricultural works of H. A. Massey. It appears the union was objected to by the mother of the fair damsel, and to put matters beyond dispute the young couple drove quietly to Orono on Saturday evening, when the two loving hearts were united. Upon the whole, the affair was very cleverly managed; the mother being entertained by a friend, engaged for the occasion, while the daughter was passing large quantities of dry goods through an upstairs window, whence they were removed by other friends.

Of the St Catherine bank robbery, the Journal says:—"It is surmised that the affair has been "put up" some two or three months ago, and that a certain fast damsel, who lives as a domestic in a private family, succeeded in having the keys of the bank door from the unsuspecting boy not long ago, and handed it to her confederates, who took impressions. All agree that it very cleverly executed by professional burglars. The robbers left behind a quantity of burglars' implements as a memento of their visit." Bankers would do well to take the hint if "domestic" have any chance of the keys of the Treasure. Other robberies may perhaps soon be heard of in other places, perhaps in some of the cities where more hope of plunder may cause greater efforts.

Thespians!

DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO. We sometimes hear persons say, 'my horse is ready out of condition, and I cannot tell either what is the matter with him, or how to get him into better order;' they appear to be ignorant of the fact that there is within their reach a remedy safe, sure, and effectual in all cases. Many persons who deal in horses use large quantities of it, and certify that its effects are most satisfactory. One horse dealer informs us that his horses' condition and appearance are so much improved by its use that they sell more rapidly and for higher prices. The article is 'Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy.' Nothing else is equal to it for the same purpose. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd &Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

IAMATOLOGIA!

THE LUMBER TRADE.—We cannot deny that we are suffering severely in our lumber regions for want of a market for coarse lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have not made any purchase in the Province the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe we can't ship it to England, but serious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, burns, bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign market for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

IAMATOLOGIA!

Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or Cough and Voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25cts per box.

LYON'S EXTRACT OF PURE JAMAICA GINGER—for Indigestion, Nausea, Heart-burn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c, where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity makes it a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere, at 50 cts. per bott'e. Ask for "Lyon's" Pure Extract. Take no other.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

BIRTH

On the 15th instant, at North Douro, the wife of Mr. W. J. Smyth of a daughter.

MARRIED.

At St. Peter's Church, Peterboro, on the 18th inst., by the Very Rev. Oliver Kelly, Mr. John Corkery, of Baltimore, County Northumberland, to Miss J. Sullivan, of Peterboro.

DIED.

At Balsam Grove, Smith, on the 20th inst., William, infant son of Jos. H. Walton, Esq., aged 7 months.

BRYAN'S WAFERS.—The great public remedy have now been in use over twenty years, hence it cannot be said that they are on trial. They have been thoroughly tried, and pronounced (on the authority of those whose lives and health they have preserved) to be a pure, harmless, and eminently salutary preparation, and if taken in season will invariably cure colds, coughs, sore throat, and all bronchial affections. One fair trial will convince the most sceptical. Sold by all medicine dealers, at 25 cts per box.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

PETERBOROUGH, January, 21, 1868.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	$5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	00	@	1 06
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	00	@	0 00
Peas "	0	75	@	0 80
Barley "	0	00	@	0 00
Oats "	0	30	@	0 35
Potatoes "	0	40	@	0 45
Hay ₱ ton	7	00	@	9 00
Hides ₱ cwt	6	00	@	6 00
Beef ₱ cwt	4	50	@	6 00
Sheepskins	1	00	@	1 00
Wool ₱ lb	0	20	@	0 21
Pork ₱ cwt	6	50	@	7 50
Eggs, per dozen	0	15	@	0 20
Butter,	0	18	@	0 21
Cordwood	2	50	@	3 00
Fowl, per	0	20	@	0 30
Geese	0	40	@	0 50
Turkeys	0	40	@	1 00

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, trembling coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and safe administered to the child drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C.W., who are the sole proprietors.

N B—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 22

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
27 Sole Agents for Canada.

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensible article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our men all say it acts like magic."

J. W. HEWITT,
Foreman for Americus, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.

"The Sprain of my daughters ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.

ED. NEELY."

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1865.

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beast, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery-men and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. Westbrook Chemist, and the private U. S. stamp of Demas Barnes & Co. over the top. Any effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone plate label. Look closely!

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

This well-known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy, for Female Difficulties and Obstruction from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, heaviness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart lowness of spirits, hysterics, sick headache, whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

N. B. $1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorized Agent will ensure a bottle, containing Pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, Ont.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter, and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for bealds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of HEAVES, Coughs, Colds and Bronco Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, rendering the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. HURD, Successor to Hurd & Co.,
Maiden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
NEWCASTLE, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canadas

PRICE WENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, W. Kempt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICES:—215 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1yr

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Colds, Coughs and Consumption.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALLAM—Cures Bronchialtis, Asthma and Croup.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—imparts strength to the system.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—is pleasant to take.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—always gives satisfaction or the money will be refunded. It is recommended by prominent Physicians: and while it is pleasant to take and harmless in its nature, it is a powerful remedy for curing all diseases of the Lungs.—Sold by all Druggist.

PERRY DANIS & SON, Agents,
380, St. Paul Street, Montreal

New Advertisements.

DENNISTOUN, FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
BARRISTERS, &c.,
Hunter Street, Peterborough.

STRAYED, to the premises of the subscriber, lot 19 concession 15 of Harvey, A RED AND WHITE SPOTTED HEIFER. The owner can have it by paying expenses.
LEWIS PARKER,
January 20, 1868. Bobcaygeon P. O

FISH! FISH!

FRESH HADDOCK and FINNAN HADDIES, at A. HALL'S,
George Street, Confectioner.
Peterboro, Jan. 20, 1868. 3-11n

Teacher Wanted.

WANTED immediately, for School Section No. 1, Dummer, an experienced Teacher, holding first or second class certificate.
JOHN KIDD,
DAVID KELLEY, } Trustees.
Dummer, January 20, 1868. 3

WESLEYAN MISSIONS!

THE ANNIVERSARY SERMONS OF the Wesleyan Missionary Society, will be preached in the Wesleyan Church, Peterboro', on SABBATH, the 26th inst., at 10:30, a. m., and 6:30, p. m., by the Rev. John Brodie, of Richmond Hill.

The Annual Meeting will be held on TUESDAY EVENING, the 28th inst., when Addresses may be expected from the Rev John Brodie, the Rev. William Pollard, and others. The Choir will be taken at 7 o'clock, p. m. A collection will be made at the close of each of the above services. The Choir will give a selection of Choice Anthems during the evening.

Peterboro, January 20, 1868. 3-11n

MISSIONARY MEETING.

THE ANNUAL MEETING, in behalf of the Bible Christian Missionary Society, will be held in the B. C. Church, on MONDAY first of FEBRUARY. Chair to be taken at 7 o'clock, p. m. The claims of Missions will be advocated by Messrs. E. Price and W. Woodman, Missionary Deputation, and others.

A collection will be taken up in aid of the Mission Fund.

N. B.—Preparatory Sermons the Sabbath previous by E. Price, at half-past ten and half past six o'clock. A good choir will be in attendance at each of the services.

Peterboro, Jan 20, 1868. 3

Houses and Lots for Sale!

THAT Commodious Stone Dwelling House and Lot on Brock street, not far from the Commercial House, Peterboro.

Also, the Lot on Mark street, Ashburnham, at present occupied by the owner, will be sold on moderate terms. For particulars apply to

MARIA FOSTER,
Ashburnham.
January, 19th, 1868. 3

Mortgage Sale.

BY virtue of a power of sale contained in a Mortgage made by the late W. S. Conger and Sarah, his wife, to Stephen Lee and Alan Cameron, the property therein mentioned, being Lots 10, 11, 12 and 13, south of London street, and Lots 10, 11, 12 and 13, North of Macdonald street, in the Town of Peterborough, will be sold at the door of the Court House, in Peterborough, on TUESDAY, the NINTH day of FEBRUARY, 1869, at noon.

J. HILLYARD CAMERON,
for the Mortgagee.
Toronto, 5th January 1869. 3-4d

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

READY-MADE CLOTHING

OFFERING

VERY CHEAP

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats,

Winter Sack Coats,

Winter Shooting Coats,

Winter Pants and Winter Vests.

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

☞ BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterboro, January, 1869. 3

PRESENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Russell's Watches! Sewill's Watches! Waltham Watches!

JOHN McCLELLAND,
WATCH-MAKER AND JEWELLER,
GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO',

Has much pleasure in announcing to the public, that he has on hand a large and well selected stock of

GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES,

By the above and other eminent makers. Also

GOLD CHAINS, BROOCHES, EAR RINGS, FINGER RINGS, Lockets, Pins, &c.,

Of the Finest Quality and Workmanship. Also FANCY GOODS, &c, for the season, at the Lowest Prices.

Peterborough, December 17, 1868. 51

JOHN BERTRAM,
Importer and Dealer in
BAR, ROD, HOOP & SHEET IRON
SLEIGH SHOE & CAST STEEL,
Anvils, Bellows, Stocks and Dies; Hand, Sledge and Shoeing Hammers. Jowett & Firth's

Horse Rasps and Files,

Carriage Bolts made from Best Refined Iron Proved Logging Chains, Tuttles Patent, Flint's Morlands & Robertson's Cross-Cut Saws, Machine Saws, Warranted Steelyards, Hay Knives,

Broad and Narrow Axes.

A complete Stock Hand Saws, Chisels, Gouges, Planes, Spirit Levels, and all kinds of Carpenters' Tools.

Pale Seal Oil, Leather Belting, Russian Hemp Rope.

Table and Pocket Cutlery, Electroplated and Albata Plate Spoons and Forks, E. P. Cruets, Cake Baskets, &c.,

JUST RECEIVED from Renwick-on-Tweed, 40 DOZEN of BLACK'S

Cast Steel Spades and Draining Tools unsurpassed in quality.

JOHN BERTRAM,
Hardware Merchant, Peterborough.
Jan, 6th 1869. 3-1f

Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

ORMOND & WALSH,
Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very libe al patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is complete with Drugs and Chemicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would particularly impress upon their Friends and the Public generally, the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent but also responsible for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labeled.

The undersigned being fully impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug Store, beg to assure their customers that Physicians prescriptions and Family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for faithfulness and correctness as to their requirements. Their Stock consists of all Kinds of Goods usually kept in a respectable Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Coal Oil, Coal Lamps, &c., &c.

CHARLES ORMOND, | WILLIAM WALSH.
Peterboro', Jan. 15, 1869. 3-13in

FOR SALE.

A GOOD YOKE OF OXEN. Price One Hundred and Twenty Dollars. Apply to the undersigned.

THOS. GEO. CHOATE.
Warsaw, Nov. 18, 1868. 47

Over a Million Dollars Saved!

Gentleman:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad hurt in the leg, and was useless for over a year. I had used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment—it soon effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.
Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1868.

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Omemee and Peterboro. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterboro, January 13, 1869 3

FOR SALE.

100,000 Brick.

STEPHEN WOOD.
Otonabee, January 13, 1869. 2tf

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

Issuer of Marriage Licences.

OFFICE at James Best's Dry Goods Store, George Street. 3

DENTISTRY!

J. O'DONNELL, L. D. S., President of the Dental Association of Ontario, and Secretary of the Board of Examiners of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Ont.

Office in Peterborough closed till Monday, January 25th, 1869, in consequence of having to attend to his official duties in Toronto.

Peterboro, Jan. 13, 1869. 2

County Council.

JANUARY SESSION.

THE annual meeting of the County Council will commence on TUESDAY 26th JANUARY, inst., at 12 o'clock noon.

EDG. PEARSE,
County Clerk's Office, } County Clerk.
Peterboro, 7th Jan., 1869. } 3

TENDERS WANTED.

TENDERS for the erection of a Wesleyan Church, on the first Lot, fifth concession of South Dummer, will be received until the Fifteenth day of January next.

Plans and Specifications may be seen at the Rev E. C. Philps, Norwood, to whom the Tenders are to be addressed.

Proper Security required.

The Committee are not necessarily bound to accept the lowest tender.

Norwood, January 6, 1869. 1-3in

TEACHERS WANTED!

FOR the Senior and Junior Common School department of the Norwood Union Grammar School. Applications will be received from male Teachers, with first class certificates and good references, for the Senior department; and from male and female Teachers, with second class certificates and references, for the Junior department—till noon of Saturday 19th December, inst. Applicants to state salary expected. Address

WM. E. ROXBURGH,
Secretary to Board.
Norwood, December 9th, 1868. 50

School Teacher Wanted.

WANTED, A TEACHER holding a Third Class Certificate, for Union School Section No. 8, in the Township of Minden. To commence teaching first of January next.—Application to be made to the undersigned Trustees, if by letter, to Minden Post office,

JAMES FEE.
JOSKHH McNEIL.
PETER DAWSON.
Minden, Dec. 7, 1868. 50

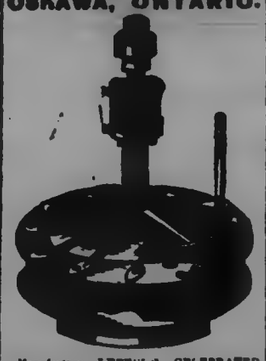
School Teacher Wanted,

FOR School Section No. 7, Smith, holding a first or second class certificate.

Apply to

E. SANDERSON,
E. FITZGERALD, } Trustees.
Selwyn P. O., January 4, 1869. 1-tf

JOSEPH HALL
MACHINE WORKS!
ESTABLISHED 1851.
JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.
PROPRIETORS,
OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SOUTHFIELD, Ohio, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Pattern, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us thereon. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞ We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather-Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.
Oshawa, Ont.
Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 52-13in

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction of the Peterboro' Western Circuit, for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

In the Town of Peterborough, on

Thursday, June 3rd, 1869.

Commencing at 10 a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretard.
Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1868. 3

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE,

IN THE VILLAGE OF ASHBURNHAM.

THE subscriber offers for sale the valuable property on which he at present resides, being Lot No. 4, North of Elizabeth street, consisting of half an acre of land, on which are two Dwelling Houses, Stables and Sheds attached. There is a good well of water, and the Lot is pleasantly situated on the main street. It will be sold in whole or in parts to suit purchasers. Title Perfect.

Apply to the owner on the premises.
P. SARGENT.
Or at this office.
Ashburnham, Jan. 13, 1869. 3-tf

STRAYED!

FROM the premises of the subscriber, during the Summer, a COW AND HEIFER. The Cow is about 8 years old; has wide horns, is light red with white face. The Heifer is about 2 years old, spotted yellow and white. Any information that will lead to their recovery will be thankfully received and suitably rewarded.

B. GREEN.
Peterboro, Dec. 22nd, 1868. 52-4in

STRAYED!

INTO the premises of the subscriber, about two months ago, a 2 year old HEIFER—red. The owner can have her by paying expenses and taking her away.

JOS. H. WALTON.
Smith, December 23, 1868. 52-4in

$20 Reward.

THE undersigned will give the above reward to any person who will give information that will lead to the conviction of the party who took my Ram from the field and illused him.

W. WEBSTER.
Otonabee, Dec. 16, 1868. 51

HEIFER STRAYED.

DRIVEN out of the pasture in the Township of Harvey, some time in the fall, a year old Heifer (red). Such information as will lead to her recovery will be thankfully received.

S. NELSON.
Lakefield, Dec. 16, 1868. 51

FOR SALE.

A GOOD LOT in a beautiful situation, in the Village of Hastings, Asphodel. For further particulars apply to

E. SEDGWICK, Hastings,
or C. ARMSTRONG, Peterboro.
December 16, 1868. 51

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864,

AND AMENDMENTS THERETO.

THE Creditors of the undersigned are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs. Fairbairn & Cassels, in the Town of Peterborough, on THURSDAY, the TWENTY-FIRST day of JANUARY, A. D. 1869, at Twelve o'clock, noon, to receive Statements of his affairs, and to name an Assignee.

Domicile of Debtor, Town of Peterborough.
Dated this Sixth day of January, A. D., 1869.
JAMES STEPHENS. 51-3in

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery Business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

Great Bargains IN FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.
Peterborough, October 5, 1868. 41

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS!

The subscribers beg to intimate that having made considerable alterations in their premises, they are now prepared to show an entire assortment of

FANCY GOODS!

Which for quality and richness of design surpass any they offered heretofore. We cordially invite all who are admirers of this class of Goods to call and examine our assortment, feeling assured it will afford them pleasure in doing so.

PART OF OUR STOCK CONSISTS OF

Very fine London made Jewelry, of elegant designs, also Rich Gem Rings, Ear Rings, Breast Pins, Chains, Lockets, Pencil-cases, Pen Holders, Electro-Plated Silver Ware, Spoons, &c., Fancy Cabinet and Leather Ware, and a large variety of London and Parisian Fancy Goods.

Toys! Toys! Toys!

FOR ANTA CLAUS.

We are prepared to show a large assortment of Durable, Ingenious, Mechanical Toys, Magnetic Toys, Play Toys, Games, Dolls in all varieties.

J. R. ORMOND & Co.,
December 16, 1868. 51-tf Hunter Street.

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting.

Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

A Fresh Supply of

Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,

BLANKETS,

DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,

CARPETS,

And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.

Just received by

I. ROBINSON & Co.
Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

...ve one get. I charge ... discovery of the murder-

...usual police were sent for immediately, and a messenger despatched to London for an experienced detective. The constables made up their minds that the assassin had entered by the window. The object was, apparently, robbery, for some of Mr. Joyce's rings or money were found in the room.

There was a terrible gloom about the abbey all that January afternoon. People seemed to have an intense dislike to being alone, and the library and drawing-room were made as cheerful as possible under the circumstances. There was such a mystery about the whole affair, for, after all, who knew anything about this Mr. Joyce? And might he not have some secret enemy? Mr. Wyon thought not. Some burglar had entered for the purpose of ordinary theft and thinking, perhaps, that the deceased was waking, had struck him over the face with a life-preserver, possibly not meaning to kill him.

As for Marion, when she recovered from her fainting fit, she went up into her bedroom. There she sat, pale and still; the clock seemed to have deprived her of her ordinary powers of speech. I proposed remaining with her all the evening; but my uncle said, No! Marion should be put to bed when we went to dinner, and he particularly wished that we should all meet in the dining-room.

Accordingly, we all assembled in the library as usual, but without the usual buzz of conversation and happy laughter. The tragic end of the Unbidden Guest had thrown a shadow over all, which nothing could dispel. The gong crashed solemnly in the hall. Suddenly, just as on the two previous evenings, the door was thrown open and the butler entered, with his face ghastly pale, and in terror-stricken accents, announced:—

'Mr. Joyce.'

A thrill of horror ran through the assembly, and the butler shrank as if from a ghost, when the person he had announced passed by him.

But as he drew nearer it was plain that this was indeed Mr. Joyce in the flesh, and perfectly sound of limb and feature, as far as we could see. He had entered smiling as usual, and was advancing straight up to the colonel, but he could not help seeing the look of blank amazement upon some faces, and of sheer terror upon others. He stopped short, and his own countenance became grave.

'I seem to have positively alarmed you all, he said.

'Mr. Joyce!' exclaimed the colonel, sternly, 'this is beyond a jest.'

'Did you not receive a message from me this morning, Colonel Lediard?' asked Mr. Joyce, hurriedly.

'No, sir, I did not. Explain this juggle ry. Do you know what has been discovered in your bedroom?'

'No. For God's sake what?'

'The body of a murdered man!'

'Ah!' cried Mr. Joyce, 'I understand it all now! Stand there, you Arthur Wyon, nor creep towards the door, felon that you are. Let no one stir. I could have saved you this scene, colonel, but it is impossible now. Look, all of you, upon that trembling villain, upon whose forhead I will set the mark of Cain!'

Arthur Wyon's face had indeed changed strangely, as all eyes were bent upon him. The perspiration stood in large drops upon his livid brow, and he panted hard for breath.

'His boasted calm has left him now he needs it most,' continued Mr. Joyce, in terrible accents. 'Look up, assassin of your wife, John Mordaunt's murdered sister, and know me now!'

'I do not know you, false slanderer, save that I believe you to be a disappointed lover of my affianced bride,' hissed out, rather than said, the crouching Wyon. 'I tell you, I am ill—let me pass.'

'Not till I have laid bare the foulness of your soul—then you shall leave this place for a felon's cell. You Arthur Wyon, stand charged by me, your brother-in-law, with the wilful murder of Margaret, your wife. You will be further charged before the coroner with the murder of Edward Hinton, of the detective police force, who slept in my room last night, and whom you killed, thinking you were killing me!'

A groan of horror burst from all present, and the wretched man looked despairingly around him.

'There is no chance of escape,' said John Mordaunt, sternly. 'Officers, take away that man!'

'Two men, whose presence I had not observed before, stepped briskly forward, seized Arthur Wyon, and handcuffed him and led him out. He never got beyond the hall. Some terrible agony of despair snapped the cord of the strong man's life, and he fell dead upon the marble floor!

'I will give what remains to be told as I heard John Mordaunt relate it to my uncle.

'I must ask your pardon for having introduced myself into your house under false pretences, Colonel Lediard. The fact is, I have recently come into a small property about ten or twelve miles from here, which was bequeathed me by a distant relation named Joyce, who had never lived there himself, and so was utterly unknown in the county. Some two months ago a rumour reached me that your daughter—you know, colonel, that I have met her before—was likely to be married to this unhappy Wyon, who, five years since, married my sister Margaret. Till I came here the other day, I had never seen my brother-in-law, as I have been spending the last five years in travelling in Europe and America; and it was by letters that came into my possession on the death of my eldest brother, which happened about six months ago, that I became suspicious of foul play on the part of Arthur Wyon. I learned from poor Margaret's letters that she was terribly afraid of him. He behaved brutally to her, and as his fortunes sank lower and lower through his extravagance and reckless speculations, his hatred of his wife increased. Outwardly, he was everything that a kind husband should be, and no one suspected that Margaret's heart was breaking beneath his cruelty. At last, after one terrible scene, she fled from his house. He then caused it to be reported that she had run away from him with some other man, and she was never seen again. Two years ago he gave out that she had died abroad, but the real truth is, that when she ran away he pursued her, and caught her, and brought her back at dead of night to Chewange—brought her into the house by means of a secret passage; and foully Murdered her. As usual in such cases, the secret was not entirely his own. A man whom he had employed as under gardener, and whom he had discharged, was getting venison one night in the wood which stretches northward from the Abbey. While so doing he saw Wyon half dragging a lady towards an old overgrown gravel-pit. His curiosity was excited, and as they did not re-appear, he searched the spot, and discovered a carefully concealed entrance to an old subterranean passage, which had, apparently, been very recently re-opened. The passage communicated with the Red Room, and in a recess at the bottom of a flight of steps in this very passage lie the remains of my unhappy sister. The gardener, however, knew nothing of this. He boldly presented himself before Wyon the next day, and told him what he had seen. Wyon led him to think it was only some poacher whom he had secretly introduced into the house, and the man seems to have suspected nothing worse, and his silence was easily purchased. This very man I found, not long ago, working as a labourer at my place. Little by little, I drew him on to talk freely. He complained that Squire Wyon had acted stingily towards him, and if Mrs. Wyon had been bad, he, Mr. Wyon, was no better. By degrees, I got his secret from him, and, having always believed that the story of my sister's running away with another man was a vile falsehood, a terrible suspicion of the true state of things burst upon me. There was no time to be lost. I heard that Marion was shortly to be married, so I took the desperate resolution of coming here as I did, in the name of Mr. Joyce. You remember asking me to sing the other evening, Colonel Lediard. The song I sang was one my sister used to sing, and I marked its effect upon Wyon, I learned from the servant that the room allotted to me was one not generally used, and was called the haunted room. I cannot tell you how glad I was to hear it, for I felt sure it would be the room communicating with the secret passage. Accordingly, when I went up to bed, I examined the room thoroughly, and at last discovered a trap in the flooring beneath the oak bedstead. I descended the rough steps, carefully examined the the passage, and, in a recess at the foot of the stairs, I found marks which led me to think that I stood beside poor Margaret's grave. Horrified at my suspicions being thus partially confirmed, I returned to the Red Room, and considered what I had better, do. I determined hastily to start at once for London, and take advice. I returned, as you know. I had ordered a detective to come down from London, and it was arranged that I should admit him by the secret passage. This I did when I went up to bed. We worked at the recess, and in this unhallowed tomb we found all that remained of my ill-fated sister. There still remained on one finger a valuable ring I had sent her as a wedding gift. The detective was of opinion that there sufficient evidence for the issue of a warrant against Arthur Wyon, but advised me to go to the Home Office about it. Accordingly I started off again to catch the mail, as I had done the morning before, leaving the detective in charge. He was to have told you, colonel, in the morning to prepare for a terrible discovery, and would have accounted for my absence, but there can be no doubt now that Wyon, whose suspicions must have been thoroughly aroused, entered the secret passage, and finding his guilty secret was discovered, had entered the Red Room, and thinking to murder me, who knew his crime, killed the detective Hinton by mistake.'

After what had occurred, you will not be surprised at hearing that the colonel sold the abbey at the earliest opportunity. Marion soon recovered from the shock she had received, and for five and twenty years she and John Mordaunt have been as happy as it is possible in this changing world to be.

A YANKEE BET.—There was a knot of sea captains in a store at Honolulu, the keeper of which had just bought a barrel of black pepper. Old Captain——, of Salem came in and seeing the pepper, took up a handful of it.

"What did you buy such stuff as that for?" said he to the store keeper; "its half peas."

"Peas!" replied the store-keeper; there isn't a pea in it."

Taking up a handful as he spoke he appealed to the company. They all looked at it, and plunged their hands into he barrel, and bit a kernel or so, and then gave its as their universal opinion, that there wasn't a pea in it. "I tell you there is," said the old captain, again scooping up a handful, "and I'll bet a dollar on it."

The old Boston argument all over the world. They took him up.

"Well," said he, "spell that," pointing to the word P-e-p-p-e-r, painted on the side of the barrel. "If it isn't half p's, then I'm no judge, that's all.". The bet was paid.

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all articles in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,

And of best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place,

Directly opposite Mr. John Sherin's.

SHORTLY & HARPER.

Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 42-13in

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Apply to

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

FARM FOR SALE.

SOUTH HALF OF LOT No. 31 in the 11th concession of the Township of Smith.—There are 50 acres under cultivation, and the balance is good hardwood land.

For terms, &c., apply to

Wm. ADAMS, Lakefield P. O.
or ALEX PRESTON, Smith.

Smith, Dec. 23, 1868. 52

$20.00 REWARD!!

WILL BE GIVEN to any person who can give information to secure conviction of the individual who, on Tuesday the 27th of October last, broke the window of my workshop, or give information as to who, on Saturday night the 31st of October, filled the lock of my store on George street with rubbish to prevent opening. Undoubtedly both acts have been done by the same individual. Has he no windows which might be broken, or does he live in communion with hogs?

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 38

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES

GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,

From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lansin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and Rocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hosey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞ Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

☞ For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. Agents for Peterborough—Messrs. Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

BARLEY, OATS,

PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from R. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said R. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 9, 1868. 36

A HANDSOME

Christmas Gift.

AS Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your——, or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's, $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $25. Ditto with stand $33. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $46 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $55.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

Special Notice.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

(Established 1825,)

With which is now united

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Head Office for Canada,

MONTREAL,—STANDARD COMPANY'S BUILDINGS,

No. 47, Great St. James Street.

Manager .....W. M. RAMSAY
Inspector.....RICHARD BULL.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The EIGHT DIVISION of the Company's Profits is appointed to be made at 15th NOVEMBER 1870, and all Polices now effected will participate.

The FUND TO BE DIVIDED will be the profits which have arisen since 15th November 1865. The COMPANY'S BUSINESS YEAR will close on 15th NOVEMBER 1868, and in order to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the PROFIT SCHEME, Proposals should be lodged with the Agents on or before that date.

Agent for Peterborough,

ALEX. SMITH,

Peterboro, Oct. 28, 1868. 44

MILLER'S

Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 75c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co.,
Proprietors.

167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto. Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE, Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

OXEN! OXEN!!

FOR SALE—a good span of heavy oxen in good working order; price $100. Apply at this office.

G. J. GALVIN,
Residence—near Lakefield.

Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money! Money!

MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.

Apply to J. A. HALL,
At the Court House

Peterboro', May 8th, 1867 19

NOTICE!

THE Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, will be held at Mr. Thomas Perry's office, on MONDAY, the 18th inst., at 12 o'clock, a. m.

R. WALTON, Secretary.

Peterboro, Jan. 9, 1868. 1-2in

CHANGE OF BUSINESS.

MESSRS. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG beg to return thanks to their numerous friends and the public for the patronage so liberally bestowed on them, also state that they have sold the Book and Stationery business to Mr. A. R. Kidd, for whom they solicit a continuance of public favor. Mr. Kidd will continue the business in the same stand, Coulter's Block, and will promptly attend to the wants of all those who may favor him with a call.

All persons indebted to the late firm of Stratton & Armstrong, will find their accounts at Mr. Kidd's Book Store, and he is empowered to receive payment and grant receipts for the same.

The partnership of Stratton & Armstrong was dissolved by mutual consent.

Peterboro, November 21, 1868.

N. B.—Any person having business with Mr. Stratton will find him at the Examiner Office.

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville.
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq., Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Safe Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't. P. Shaw, Secty.

Phenix Insurance Company,

BROOKLYN, N.Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams; and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 90 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 8, 1868. 50

A VALUABLE

Farm for Sale!

THE Subscriber offers for sale that Excellent Farm, Lot No. 21, in the 9th Concession of Otonabee. It is situated about 6 miles from Peterboro and the same distance from Keene. There are 35 acres cleared and in a good state of cultivation, and a comfortable Dwelling House, Sheds, Barns and Stables; a good young Orchard bearing choice fruit. The soil is of the very best quality; about 8 acres in Fall Wheat, looking well, and 40 acres ploughed ready for spring sowing.

For terms apply to the proprietor on the premises,

JOHNSTON COONEY,
Or to JAMES STRATTON,
Examiner Office, Peterboro.

Otonabee, October 6th, 1868. 41-13in

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 20, 1868. 32-tf

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26, 1868. 48

FARM FOR SALE.

THE West half of Lot No. 4, in the 4th concession of Asphodel, known as the "Tucker Farm." The lot contains 100 acres, of which 80 are under cultivation. There is a good Dwelling House, with Barns and outhouses on the premises. The lot is situated 3 miles from Westwood and 3 miles from the Village of Hastings. For further particulars as to terms of sale, &c., apply to

W. H. MOORE,
Barrister, Peterboro.

☞ This Lot will be sold Cheap.

January 7, 1869. 1

Notice to the Public.

THIS is to give notice, that from and after this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by any person, without my written order, of which all parties will please take notice.

MICHAEL SHEEHAN.

January 6, 1869. 1-4in

DOMINION HOUSE,

PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, Dec. 30, 1868. 53

W. G. THOMSON & Co's

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞ INSPECTION INVITED. ☜

Peterboro, Sept. 30, 1868. 40

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 2-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. McFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

W. WADDELL

Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of

CARRIAGE HARNESS,

Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also

HEAVY TEAM HANRESS,

Made of the very best material.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.

In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS

In Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.

Children's Carriages

From $12.00 each to $15.00.

Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.

Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking

Kept constantly on hand.

Peterboro, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

FUR SHOP REMOVED.

MR. LECH

HAS REMOVED

One Door north of Mr. Langtry's Tin Shop.

Parties desirous of having Furs made up will please leave them at Mr. Lech's residence, London street, No. 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 14

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

OF

CONSUMPTION!

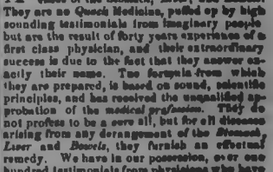
IN CANADA.

MESSRS YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by them miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different nostrums, but all without any good effect. Squire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottles, at once, with the Pills; so soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing for me I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. V. MILLER,
Ernestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman, Peter C. V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.

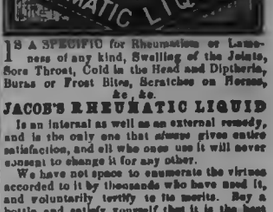


SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among whom are the following:

J. H. GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
C. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Brome.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN EISHINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENKS, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MEIGS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BREADON, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Castleock.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MOREY, M. D., Boston.
W. MARSDEN, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
E. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.



IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c., &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

THE BEST Tonic HAIR Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely gray, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

NOT QUITE SO.

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their beast the sufferers, to avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurld & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 18

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—The North half of No. 4, in the 4th Concession of Eniamore.

Apply to

JAS. HALL.

Peterboro,' Feb'y 18, 1869.

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1869. No. 4.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, General Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Blago Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing

Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 19

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

JAMES F. DENNISTOUN,

BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Peterboro, June 29, 1868. 21

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,

BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 39

SCOTT & GREEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

WILLIAM HENDRIE SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Clinton's, George street, Peterborough.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,

SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

Conveyancers, &c.,

Peterborough, Ontario.

T. E. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN, Keene

40

J. O'SULLIVAN, M.D., L.R.C.P.S., K

Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR. Coroner for County of Peterborough. Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 21-tf

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and

LICENTIATE

Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.

Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.

December 14, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M.D.,

Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.

Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.

Ashburnham, October 22, 1867. 43

J. W. GILMOUR,

DRUGGIST, Chemist and Seedsman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Soaps, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro'. 16

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

Orders can be given, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.

Nov. 27, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Business Directory.

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 15

ROBERT PATTERSON,

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand. KP Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 15

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, Paper Hanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 15

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.

Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C.W.

Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO,

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits.

A SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.

FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.

Wm. OGILVY, Agent.

Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,

PETERBOROUGH.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

From this date until further notice, the rate of intest in the above department will be

FIVE PER CENT.

PER ANNUM.

D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.

Peterboro', April 1st, 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.

ALL payments to be made on account of the

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!

MAY BE MADE TO THE

Royal Canadian Bank

And its Agencies.

E. B. WOOD, Treasurer of Ontario.

Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,

TOBACCONIST,

George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

March 12, 1868. 11-1y

FIRE AND LIFE

INSURANCE OFFICE.

T. J. WINSHIP, Agent,

Acting for First Class Reliable Companies.

George street (next to the Montreal House) Peterboro', Ont. 29-6m.

GEORGE ALLEN,

GUN & WHITE-SMITH,

Hunter Street, Peterborough,

BEGS to inform the public, and all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and Whitesmithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired.

KP Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.

Peterboro, October 15, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,

DENTIST,

Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.

D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodians of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodian, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand. Peterboro', February 8, 1866. 6

DENTISTRY!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain

D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.

Peterboro, November 28 1866. 48

REMOVAL.

DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. O. Hazlitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.

Peterboro, July 8, 1868. 28

R. S. HOWELL,

FORWARDER,

Commission Merchant,

AND

GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,

Dealer in Lumber, &c.,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE

LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,

AND

Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Lindsay, Depart..... 9.30 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive..... 1 10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart..... 2.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 4.25 "
Lindsay, Arrive..... 6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Lindsay, Depart..... 12 35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 2.35 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 4.20 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart..... 8.45 p. m.
Millbrook..... 7.30 "
Lindsay, Arrive..... 9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Peterborough, Depart..... 9.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 4.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 6.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart..... 10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive..... 11.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive..... 12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Peterborough, Depart..... 5.20 a. m.
Millbrook..... 6.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive..... 8.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart..... 1.15 p. m.
Millbrook..... 2.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive..... 3.20 "

A. T. WILLIAMS, Superintendent.

May 30, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

TRAINS LEAVE

PORT HOPE STATION

AS FOLLOWS:

GOING EAST.

Express (day)..... 9.30 a.m.
Mixed..... 7.00 p.m.
Express (night)..... 8.20 p.m.

GOING WEST.

Express (night)..... 10.30 p.m.
Mixed..... 3.00 p.m.
Express (day)..... 10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

TORONTO LINE.

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 9.50 p.m. and 6.55 p.m. Express at 12.55 p.m.

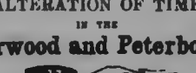
HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 7.25 p.m. Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME

IN THE

Norwood and Peterboro'



STAGE.

ROYAL MAIL LINE!

LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a. m.

LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.

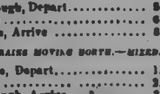
Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates

J. A. JOHNSON, Proprietor

Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.

Rates of Passage from Peterboro':

CABIN, - - $74 to $86. STEERAGE - $30.

Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.

For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to

GEORGE A. COX, Agent.

Canadian Express Co'y.

Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,

No. 29 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.

JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.

This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Stations, Steamboat Landings, and Wholesale Business of the City, and is largely patronized by businessmen generally. KP Fare $1.25 per Day. 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,

WALTON STREET,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.

Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Poetry.

HINTS TO EDITORS.

One reader cries: your strain's too grave,
Too much morality you have—
Too much about religion;
Give me some witch or wizard tales,
Of ship shod ghosts with fins and scales,
And feathers like a pigeon.

I love to read, another cries,
These monstrous, fashionable lies—
In other words those novels,
Composed of kings, and queens, and knaves,
Of border wars, and gentle heroes,
That used to live in hovels.

The man of dull scholastic lore
Would like to see a little more
Of first-rate scraps of Latin;
The grocer would fain know the price
Of tea and sugar, fruit and rice;
The draper, silk and satin.

Another cries we want more fun,
A witty anecdote or pun,
A rebus or a riddle;
Some wish for parliamentary news;
And some perhaps with wiser views,
Would rather have a fiddle.

Another cries—I want to see,
A jumbled up variety,
Variety of all things—
A miscellaneous hodge podge print,
Composed (I only give the hint)
Of multifarious small things.

I want some marriage news, says miss,
In constitutes my highest bliss
To hear of wedings plenty.
For in the time of general rain
Some suffer from the drought 'tis plain,
At least not one in twenty.

I want to hear of deaths, says one,
Of people totally undone,
By losses, fire and fever.
Another answers, full as wise,
I had rather have the fall and rise,
Of raccon skins and beaver.

Some signify a secret wish
For now and then a favourite dish
Of politics to suit them.
But here we rest with perfect ease,
For should they swear the moon is cheese,
We never should confute them.

Or grave or humours, wild or tame,
Lofty or low, 'tis all the same,
Too haughty or too humble;
So, brother editor, pursue
The path that seems the best to you,
And let the grumblers grumble.

Selections.

Cousin Geoffrey's Chamber.

The result was, that I was throughly tired before the end of the evening, and heartily glad when I heard the guests who were not staying at Ernescliffe order their carriages, and, when the squire insisted that the ball should wind up with Sir Roger de Coverley, I stole awar into a small room adjoining the drawing-room, and always known as the "spirit chamber,"—not, I believe, from any ghostly association, but simply from the preference of the pagonel ancestry for having something at hand, Gampitke, to which they "could put their lips when so disposed." It was fitted up as a little boudoir, and there I found Beatrice alone, looking so blue and cold, that I exclaimed at the sight,—

'What have you been doing to yourself, Bee? You look like a ghost.'

'Don't talk about ghosts!' she said, with a little shiver; 'I am so ashamed of myself, Katie! I have a regular fit of nerves upon me to-night—so unlike me.'

'Are you not well, dear Bee?'

'Quite; but it is so foolish! You know I can't dance long without getting a pain in my side, and it is the same with Margaret Ducie; so we came in here to rest, and then our partners would come with us; and somehow they began asking about the family pictures in the hall, and that led to talking about Cousin Geoffrey's room, and they made me tell the story:'

'Are you you frightened yourself? Oh! Bee, what a triumph! I thought you were much too wise to care for ghosts or goblins.'

'That didn't frighten me; but then Margaret told us their horrible Ducie ghost story, and Captain Lascelles capped it with something worse. You know I always dislike that sort of ghost talk, which seems to me such waste of time and trial of nerves for nothing; but I could not stop it, and none of them knew that I was to sleep in that dreary, lone'y room to-night.'

'And you shan't sleep there.' I cried, 'you shall have my room, Bee, darling.' I shan't mind sleeping down stairs in the least.

'No; I'm not quite so selfish as that,' she said. 'I shall be all right when I get to bed and to sleep; I can't think why I have such a silly fit; it is very unlike me, I flatter myself—very odd.'

'Not odd at all, my dear, when you consider that you were up at five this morning dressing the supper-table, and have been hard at work ever since. You may have prodigious strength of mind, but in body you are not a hercules; and nerves belong to the body, don't they?'

The dance was over, the guests departing; and we had to emerge from our retreat. At the door Hug was standing, leaning against the wall, and looking gloomy enough, but gazing fixedly across the room. Following hisglleyes, I saw, with a thrill of pain, that they were riveted on Miss Barnett, who was looking peculiarly soft and attractive as she stood listening to Captain Lascelles, the light flashing from her splendid jewels.

'Do you admire her, Hugh?' I heard Beatrice whisper.

'I admire her jewels,' he answered; 'but her hair is hardly dark enough to set them off. Wouldn't they look well in black hair? I certainly do like diamonds.'

'Most people do,' his sister said smiling.

'I wish I thought that I should ever be able to dress up my wife in such jewels as those,' he answered.

'Well,' she glanced with her demure gravity at his face; 'you know the way, Hugh; faint heart never won fair lady.'

'Ah! but the jewels must be of my giving, or I shouldn't value them a rush,' the lady to her carriage. I felt my heart wonderfully lightened, and was ready to respond cordially when Beatrice began to sing Miss Barnett's praises.

It was some time before the various guests were shown to their rooms; but as soon as they had disappeared in their different directions I drew Beatrice into the little closet where I was to sleep. She was looking white and ever-tired; and though well aware that it was not easy to persuade her to relinquish a plan, I was determined that she should not pass the night in that dreary room down stairs.

'Beatrice,' I began, trying to be very authoritative, 'I am going to help you out of your dress, and wrap you up in my dressing gown, and then I shall carry my goods down stairs and bring yours up. I am quite determined to change places with you to-night.'

'You shall do nothing of the kind, Katie; I am quite ashamed of myself as it is, but you can't suppose I'm quite so selfish?'

'Selfish! but really and truly I should enjoy the fun. You know I like an adventure, and here is the chance of one for me; and, I am not feeling in the least nervous to-night.'

'I wouldn't on any account. Couldn't we both squeeze in here for this short part of a night?'

And she glanced at the tiny bed which had been with difficulty wedged in from wall to wall of the little cell. I laughed at the idea, but was charmed to see this sign of wavering; and by a few more coherent words I carried my point, for indeed Beatrice was over-tired and unhinged, and had not the strength to oppose me. In one thing, however, she was unpersuadable; she insisted on helping me to carry down my garments, and on seeing me safely installed in my apartment. This I allowed her to do, knowing that the servants were still about, and that therefore her night journey through the gloomy house would not be so easy as it sounded.

The door of Cousin Geoffreys room gave a dismal creak as it swung back on its rusty hinges, and the candle which each of us carried, only made the great cavern of darkness look more impenetrable. Truly it was a dreary room, even apart from the memories of sin, and remorse, and lonely wretchedness which seemed to hang heavily about it. Like most rooms in Ernescliff Castle it was panelled with oak; the window recesses were of such depth as to form small rooms, testifying to the immense thickness of the walls, and were only half concealed by the scanty curtains, so fusty and ragged that I think they must have come down from the days of Cousin Geoffrey himself. There was a dreary array of dilapidated chairs, broken tables, and odds and ends of furniture banished for their ugliness from the more civilized parts of the house, and a place had been cleared in the middle for the light stretcher—a reminiscence of the squire's campaigning days—for a hastily arranged dressing-table and a sponging-bath—the latter an essentially every-day, nineteenth century affair, which was quite a cheering sight amidst so much dilapidation and decay. The housemaid had forgotten, or had been afraid to visit the room since dark, and the logs on the hearth had smouldered themselves away. This was the first thing that struck Beatrice, and with a shiver she exclaimed—

'Oh, dear, they have let the fire out! how excessively dreary!'

'Never mind,' I cried, 'it is all en regle; much more ghostified than if it were warm and light, like any common-place room. Now, Bee, make haste to bed. Here, bundle all these things over your arm—good night.'

'I can't bear to leave you,' she said, lingering; but my spirit was now thoroughly up to the adventure, and I would not hear of giving it up; I laughed at all Beatrice's demurs and scruples, told her that she would be a ghost herself if she stayed any longer shivering in the cold; and finally dismissed her, saying, as I gave her a last kiss, and saw her wistful, troubled look at me: 'My dear, you needn't make yourself unhappy! you know I don't possess nerves—I never was afraid of anything in my life.'

As the last sound of Beatrice's receding footsteps died away, I did feel rather lonely and queer; but rallying my spirits, and telling myself that it was "capital fun," as Hugh would have said, I began bustling about and preparing for bed, without leaving myself time to get nervous. I was soon out of my ball dress, and in my warm dressing gown and fur-lined slippers, which felt very comfortable in that cold, cellar-like atmosphere. The unplaiting of my hair was a longer business, and I could not help falling into a reverie as I sate opposite the glass, and forgetting cold and fright and all things, in speculating as to weather Hugh would, after all, repair the family fortunes by marrying Miss Barnett. With an ingenuity in self-torture which never, I think, exist in perfection except at seventeen, I built a series of most gloomy castles in the air—saw Hugh married to the heiress; Beatrice settled far from Ernescliff, and the dear old place closed against me for ever; and then I indulged in a hearty fit of the dismals of my own future,—in a strange country, and with parents who were little more to me than a vague memory and a name. I sat mournfully gazing into the depths of the looking-glass, when I suddenly found that a pair of gloomy painted eyes, from the wall behind, were looking back at me with the earnest, solemn gaze which always lives in the fixed eyes of a picture. I hastily turned and looked at the portrait, which I had not noticed before, but on which the rays of my candle happened now to fall. It represented a young man, not uncouth to look upon, though there was a peering, near sighted contraction about the eyes, and a sort of suppressed sneer on the mouth, which gave an unpleasant expression to the otherwise handsome features. No doubt this was the wretched Geoffrey Pagonel: whose portrait but his would have been thus banished from the hall, where all the others hung in honored rememberance? The haunting eyes of the picture made me shiver. I could hardly help gazing at it, fascinating, and felt as if in another moment the painted lips would begin to move, and the painted finger be raised to point out the buried treasure. Oh, it was very well to laugh and joke about the ghost in the playerful rooms up stairs, but it was very different in the gloomy, darkened chamber, and with those spectral eyes glaring at me from the walls. A sensation as if cold water was running down the back of my neck suddenly warned me that I was getting overpoweringly nervous; there was nothing for it but to hurry over my preparations, and plunge into the safe harbor of my bed, where I could draw the clothes over my eyes and ears, and try to sleep away the haunted hours till day-light. With a sudden resolution I sprang up, and in doing so I upset the candle-stick with my elbow; it fell with a crash to the ground, the light being of course extinguished in the fall, and myself left in total darkness!

That was a horrible moment: and yet there was something ludicrous in the adventure which gave me courage; and I instantly remembered that the fire in the hall had been burning cheerfully a few minutes before, and, moreover, that a box of lucifer matches and a pair of enlighted candles were always to be found on the mantlepiece there. To finish my dressing—in the dark, tete-a-tete with that dreadful picture, was not to be thought of; and, though not very sure of my bearings, I began to grope my way in the direction where I believed the door to be, stretching out my hand before me, stretching out my hand before me, in hopes of finding the handle. Suddenly my foot caught, probably in a hole in the ragged carpet; I fell forward, and was saved by the wall, or rather the door, for it yielded as I fell against it, and as I stumbled forward I heard it close with a sharp clink behind me. I must be in the hall, of course, but why was it in such total darkness? Could that blazing fire have gone out entirely in so very short a time? And even if it had, was there no glimmer from the staircase window, which I knew had no shutters!—and why was there such a strange, close smell, as if there was hardly any fresh air in the place? I stood for a moment bewildered; then I determined to grope my way along the wall, where I must come in time to the table, which stood only a few paces to the right of the door leading into Cousin Geoffery's room. I groped on—on—on—till I was suddenly brought up by another wall, at right angles; turning the corner, I groped on there, and this time I was stopped by stumbling against what seemed to be a chest or box, about as high as my waist. I still felt my way on, and there seemed to be other chests, sacks, boxes. Oh! where, where was I? Was there any cupboard in the room, into which I had unwittingly strayed? No! sure that there was none. Again and again I felt high and low for a door-handle; but the wooden walls were hopelessly smooth; there was no trace of the door by which I had entered, though I felt sure that I must have groped more than once quite around my prison. It appeared to be a small room; long, but very narrow; raising my hand above my head, I could feel no roof. Bewildered, scared, I believe—for I really hardly know—that I began to scream, the conviction rushing over me that my light words had been awfully fulfilled—that I had found the hidden room, the existence of which nobody now believed in; perhaps, too, to judge by the presence of these chests and sacks against the walls, I had found the hidden treasure. My voice reechoed dreorily. No help came; no sound, no stir was to be heard. Never—never can I remember, without a shudder, the feeling of utter desolation which struck cold on my heart at that moment—the sense of being cut off from all human help; alone, in the cruel, unfriendly darkness, I knew not where! I think I could almost have gone mad; but fortunately the very feeling that my senses were leaving me, gave me strength to make one last strong effort to regain composure. First, I heartily commended myself to the protection of God; and then I was able to recollect that, after all, my situation was more ludicrous than terrible. I must be in some unknown recess in the thickness of the wall—probably the outer wall—and, of course, though it might be a work of time to discover the spring which I must have unwittingly pressed, it would be easy to effect my deliverance by removing a panel. The housemaid would come to call me at eight or nine o'clock, and all I had to do was to reserve my voice, instead of screaming it away, so that I might make her hear and understand when she should enter the room. With this resolve I sank down on the ground where I was—somewhere in the middle of the little narrow cell—and stretching out my hand, I felt along one of the chests, if chests they were, to ascertain if it was to be trusted as a support for my back. Oh, dear! what, what met my hand!—what was hanging down the side of the chest? My cold fingers closed on other fingers; stiff, unyielding fingers; fleshless, bony. Something—I dared not think what—something which had probably been stretched along on the flat top of the chest—yielding to my frightened clutch, fell down close to me—almost over me, with a horrible rattle, which echoed dreerily.—Terror, sickening terror, overwhelmed me, and for the first time in my life I must have become entirely insensible; for I remember recovering by slow degrees the consciousness of where I was. When it all came to me, my first impulse was to crouch up and draw my dress close around me, lest it should touch that horrible, nameless thing. And then a fresh dread came over me.—How long had my swoon lasted? Was it not very likely that the housemaid had come and gone while I was insensible and incapable of making her hear? If so, might not days, nay, weeks, elapse before any one entered the fatal room? There was something too fearful in the idea that they might be searching for me everywhere, wondering at my disappearance, while I should be striving, dying, suffering all the agonies of a lingering torture, close to them. I thought of the poor bride in the old ballad of the "Mistletoe Bough;" and the tears which I could not shed over my own situation began to flow freely at the recollection of a horror which was long over and past, if indeed it ever existed in real life. On, on, on crept the lingering hours, and I could not at last help feeling sure that my worst fears must be realized. Day must surely be come, though there was no day for me in my narrow tomb. It seemed as if the ball had happened ages ago, as if I must have been many, many hours shut up here. The intense cold which I felt, the thirst which burned my throat, the sinking weakness in all my limbs, strengthened this conviction. Were these the first beginnings of the slow agony which was to end in death?

The horror of this thought swept away all self-control, and I broke out into a frantic cry—

'Will no one help me?—will no one hear me?: Oh! I can't die here!—die like this!' and I shrieked violently.

Oh! joy of joys! I was answered. Yes, there was a voice—a loud, strong voice, though it sounded strangely muffled, and yet not very far off.

'What in it? What the deuce has happened? What is the matter?'

'Oh! is it Hugh? I am here, Hugh—I—Katie—oh! do let me out.'

'Katie! Where on earth are you? Your voice seems to come out of the wall.'

'Yes, I am, I'm in the wall; I do believe it in the hiding hole, and oh! I don't know what there is here—such horrors!—Can't you take me out, Hugh? dear, dear Hugh.'

'Of course; but how the deuce did you get in?'

'From that dreadful room — Cousin Geoffrey's room. I was sleeping there instead of Bee.'

'Oh! then I had better go round to that room.' And his voice receded, leaving me greatly bewildered as to his present whereabouts. Just as the dreadful sense of loneliness began to creep over me again, I heard the joyous sound of tramping feet and opening doors, and then his dear, cheery voice, always welcome—how welcome now! sounded from the opposite side and much more clearly. 'Speak, Katie, I can't tell the least where you are.'

'Oh! here, here! Oh! you won't leave me again, Hugh! I fell; I must have touched a spring. Where am I?'

'How uncommonly queer! My poor Katie! You are in the thickness of the outer wall, I fancy. Well! this is a funny state of things!'

In a minute he said, in a calm, serious voice, which went a long way towards quieting my nerves:

'Kate, I must leave you for a few minutes. I might fumble here for ever before I touched the spring, as no doubt you happened to do. The best way will be to take out a panel, and for that I must get Adams and his tools. Luckily he has been sleeping here, because of all the ball carpentry. I shan't be away long, but probably he is not up, so it may take some minutes: ten perhaps.'

'Not up! What can the time be?'

'Just half-past six by my watch.'

'Not six in the morning? Oh! I thought I had been here for ages. I thought I must have missed the house-maid when she came to call me. Hugh you are not gone, are you?'

'Not gone, but going.'

'But don't don't!' I cried; 'if you are only five minutes, I know it will seem an hour, and I can't bear it—I can't indeed; and, ashamed as I was of my childishness, I could not prevent my voice from dying away in a burst of sobs and tears. Hugh's answer came back in fond, caressing tones, such as I had never heard from him before.

'My poor little darling Katie,' he said, 'you have had a cruel shock. We shall never forgive ourselves for what we have exposed you to. But you must be reasonable, dearest Katie, and trust me that I won't be one minute longer than I can help. I'm going now, my Katie—don't be afraid. You'll be all right and safe in a very few minutes now.'

I heard his footsteps die away; but before I had time to become thoroughly nervous again, I heard other feet and other voices gathered in the room, and speaking to me in tones of pity and consternation, but of amusement too, which did me great good; for in my feelings of horror and dismay, I had lost sight of the absurd side to my adventure. Beatrice was there, and I heard the squire's good-tempered voice, and his wife's gentle tones; and then came back again the voice that I liked best of all, and soon I was aware that Adams was busy at the panel, and at last—Oh, blessed moment!—I saw the light of their candles, and the familiar figures in all sorts of quaint dishabilles. I felt myself drawn out through the narrow aperture and upheld by Hugh's strong supporting arms, and overwhelmed by the sudden sense of relief and safety, I let my head fall helplessly upon his shoulder, and I remember no more.

In a few moments I was conscious again, and found myself laid on the bed, Mrs Pagonel and Beatrice attending on me, while the squire and Hugh seemed to be intent on examining the contents of the mysterious cell which I had so strongly been the means of discovering. I heard exclamation of wonder and satisfaction, and then of dismay,—and then Mrs. Pagonel interposed, and said that I must at once be taken to some warmer and more cheerful room. The squire accordingly came forward to give me the support of his arm, but not before I had seen a look of sick horror on his broad, ruddy face, and heard him mutter to Hugh. "Horrible!" Is it not well written, 'Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord?'

All that day I was thoroughly upset; suffering from headache to such a degree that I could do nothing but lie still and endure. Toward evening, however, I fell into a deep sleep, from which I awoke to find myself out of pain; and drawing aside the bed curtains—I was in Mr. Pagonel's room—I was well pleased to see Beatrice sitting by the fire, presiding over a most tempting looking tea equipage.

'Oh! Katie, I am so sorry,' were her first words.

'There is nothing to be sorry for, Bee; it is all over, and I am quite well now,' I said, raising and proceeding to twist up my hair and arrange my dress, and then seating myself in the armchair which she was drawing close to the fire for me; 'but do tell me; have I really found the hiding hole?'

'That you have,' answered Beatrice, handing me a cup of tea, which I enjoyed as never tea enjoyed before; 'the hiding hole, and the treasure as well!—Such boards, Katie: chests and sacks full of coins, and all the jewels and plate of which we have always been missing, you know. O, Kate, how can we thank you? This will put an end to papa's anxieties, I do believe!'

'Thank heaven! Oh! that is worth all I went through. But, Bee, how came those treasures there, do you suppose?—What can have become of the Wretched man? I can't tell you what horrible fancies I had about him.'

'Are you sure they were fancies?' said Beatrice, very low; then, as I looked questioningly at her, she said with a shudder—

'Yes, my poor dear Katie; he must have really met with the fate which you were afraid of—how it happened, of course, no one can say—and after all, we may be jumping to a wrong conclusion; but a skeleton they have found there, surely it must be his—he must have starved to death in the midst of all the wealth he had hoarded.'

'Yes, and cold his soul! Poor wretched man!' I answered with a shiver: the whole subject was to me too painful for discussion, and when Bee added that one could hardly pity such a wicked man, I could not echo her words; the horror was only a vague, unreal-seeming romance to her, seen through the mists of so many hundred years, but to me it was a frightful reality,—a thing of to-day.

I was not well enough to take part in the tenant's supper; but I came down into the little "spirit chamber," and there the guests visited me, one or two at a time. My last visitor was Hugh, who, as soon as he was released from his arduous task of proposing and responding to toasts, and keeping order among his tenants, came to ask how I was.

'You look dreadfully white, Katie,' he said, sitting down near me; 'not at all the better for your night in Cousin Geoffrey's room! How lucky it was that I could not sleep after the ball, and thought at last I'd go out before light, and try to get shot at a wild duck!'

'Oh! that was how it was!'

'Yes; from my hearing your voice so plainly outside the house, I fancy there must be a shaft somewhere leading to the outer air—but we'll turn the place regularly out to-morrow. Poor Cousin Geoffrey! he's done us a good turn after all, hasn't he? and those bones of his will have Christian burial at last.'

I could not talk about this part of the subject; Hugh saw it, and went on quickly.

'And do you know that you've discovered a perfect mine of wealth for us? My father says a great portion must go in charity before he can feel sure that it won't bring a curse with it: but, even so, there'll be enough bullion to pay off this mortgage which has been worrying his life out.'

'I am so glad!'

'Ah! what am I? I wonder if you have the least idea how wretched I have been the last few days?'

I felt that, weak and shaken as I was, I could not answer without beginning to cry, and in a moment Hugh went on:

'To-morrow, Katie, will you let me show you all the quaint old plate and the jewels? Such jewels! Miss Barnett may hide her diminished head for ever.' But one of them I must show you now—I can't wait till to-morrow.'

He took my hand, and held over the third finger a diamond loop, heavy and old-fashioned in setting, but the stones of great size and brilliancy,

'Katie, dearest, we have been looking on these jewels in the lists which we have—shall I tell you the name by which they are described there? The "troth" or betrothal ring; it has been handed down as such evidently from one generation of our Pagonels to another. Katie, don't you and I belong naturally to each other?—Won't you promise me not to go to India? May not I put this ring upon your finger?'

And so it was that Hugh was enabled to carry out his wish of decking his wife with jewels, surpassing the Barnett diamonds, and this was what came of my terrible New Year's Eve in Cousin Geoffrey's chamber.

PROHIBITION.—It is almost a hundred years since a representative preacher in England, Rev. John Wesley, advocated a prohibitory law for the suppression of the liquor traffic. On the 6th of September 1782, he addressed a letter to Right Hon. William Pitt, in which he said:—Servants of distillers inform me that their masters do not pay for fortieth part of what they sell; and this, only last year (if I am rightly informed,) amounted only to [illegible]. But have not the spirits distilled this year cost 20,000 of His Majesty's liege subjects? Is not, then, the blood of these men vilely bartered for £20,000—not to say anything of the enormous wickedness which has been occasioned thereby, and not to suppose that these poor wretches have any souls? But, to consider money alone, is the king a gainer, or an immense loser? To say nothing of many millions of quarters of corn destroyed which, if exported would add more than £20,000 to the revenue, be it considered, dead men pay no tax; so that, by the death of 20,000 persons yearly (and this computation is far under the mark,) the revenue loses far more than it gains. But how can the prices of wheat and barley be reduced? By prohibiting forever—by making a full end of that bane of health, that destroyer of life and virtue.—Distilling."

A LADY residing in Bangor, Maine, hung her hoop-skirt on a nail in her chamber, and a member of her household, while exploring the premises, was so unfortunate as to get her head caught therein, and being unable to extricate himself, soon expired. The name of the victim was Thomas Cat.

THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER, THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1869.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1869.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

S. S. PECK, Esq., WARDEN.

The Council met at 10 a.m., pursuant to adjournment, on Tuesday, and after organization on motion of Mr. Gardiner, seconded by Mr. Clarke, the Council proceeded to the election of Clerk, Treasurer, Auditors and Solicitor for the ensuing year.

Mr. Gardiner moved, seconded by Mr. Clarke, that Mr. Thomas Stock be appointed Clerk of the County Council

Monaghan Township Council.

Monaghan, January 23, 1869.

The Council met at 10 o'clock. Present—the Reeve, and Councillors Laing, Robins and Tuffy.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Several applications for offices were received. The following appointments were made:—Mr. John Dobbin, Treasurer; Mr. George Campbell, Assessor; Mr. John McIntosh, Collector, and Mr. Luke Berry, Inspector of Taverns; also Pound-keepers and Fence-viewers.

The Collector's time for returning the roll was extended to the next meeting of Council for the purpose of enabling him to collect certain arrears of taxes remaining unpaid.

An order was given on the Treasurer in favor of Mrs. S. Glynn, for five dollars, as charity.

The Council adjourned to Saturday, the 27th day of February, at the hour of ten o'clock, there to meet for the purpose of appointing Path-masters, finally auditing the Treasurer's account, and the discharge of other township business.—Con.

LONDON SOCIETY.—This popular monthly for January, is now before us, through the kindness of Mr. W. C. Chewett & Co., Toronto. The contents of the number are:—"M or N," in three chapters; "Co-operative Stores and Small Economies;" "Luck in Families;" "The Pearl of the Court;" "Random's Raid;" "The Intellect of Animals;" "The First Visit;" "The Present Day;" "Notes, Pertinent and Impertinent on London Society," and several other interesting articles. London Society and all the periodicals can be obtained at Messrs. Chewett & Co's, Toronto, or at Kidd's, Peterboro.

The CANADA FARMER, for January, has been received, and is an interesting and instructive number. It is very neatly got up, stitched and cut, and in a much more readable shape than heretofore. The price is $1 a year, postage prepaid by the publisher. The Canada Farmer will come in monthly parts in future. To a Farmer it is worth four times its price, for the hints contained in it, besides the pleasure afforded to readers during the winter evenings.

An extensive fire in Ottawa last week consumed the block in which were the Queen's Printer's printing office and several other stores and Mrs. Trotter's Hotel, rendered famous by the murder of Mr. McGee.—Mr. Desbarats, the owner, erected a memorial of the McGee murder and placed it in the wall of the building. As the present fire is believed to be the work of an incendiary, it might be interesting to know how far this memorial went to excite the destruction of the building. Men who will murder will burn.

The Star of Jan. 2, says: Mr. Daniel O'Sullivan, on his installation as Mayor of Cork yesterday, "came out strong" as a Fenian sympathiser. It is reported that during his speech he waved a green flag bearing the inscription, "God save Ireland," and that he concluded by giving £25 to the families of the imprisoned Fenians. While the chief magistrate of the town was acting in this way, a large force of police was in readiness apparently to prevent any disturbance that might arise from his example.

THE YEAR AND THE METHODISTS.—The year 1869 is destined to be the most important in the annals of American Methodism. During the year the people will be called upon to decide if they will accept the measures proposed to them by the general conference for the admission of lay representatives to that assembly and the general conferences. It is also an important fact that a new constituency has been created by the late general conference; all members of the church, over twenty-one years of age, whether men or women, will be eligible to vote on this question.—Guelph Advertiser.

THE GOVERNOR GENERAL GAZETTED.—The London Gazette, January 5, makes official announcement that the Queen has been pleased to appoint the Right Honorable Sir John Young, Bart., G C B G C M G, to be Governor General of the Dominion of Canada, and Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Prince Edward.

SCHOOL BILL FOR QUEBEC.—The Montreal Gazette learns that the Government of the Province of Quebec have decided to introduce, during the present session, a School Bill, having for its object to quiet the differences between Catholics and Protestants, which have threatened to arise.

The Church Observer, the organ of the Church of England and Ireland in Montreal has been enlarged to eight pages. The Observer is evangelical in its tone, and is the stern opponent of ritualism in Canada.

Mr. Dunkin announces a surplus for Quebec of $700,000, most of it at interest.—This, of course, is without providing for the payment of the Provincial debt and interest thereon.

The clergy costs the United States $12,000,000 annually; the criminals $40,000,000; the lawyers $70,000,000; rum $200,000,000.

DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO. We sometimes hear persons say, 'my horse is sadly out of condition, and I cannot tell either what is the matter with him, or how to get him into better order;' they appear to be ignorant of the fact that there is within their reach a remedy safe, sure, and effectual in all cases. Many persons who deal in horses use large quantities of it, and certify that its effects are most satisfactory. One horse dealer informs us that his horses' condition and appearance are so much improved by its use that they sell more rapidly and for higher prices. The article is 'Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy.' Nothing else is equal to it for the same purpose. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

IAMATOLOGIA!

THE LUMBER TRADE.—We cannot deny that we are suffering severely in our lumber regions for want of a market for coarse lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have not made any purchase in the Province the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe we can't ship it to England, but curious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, horse, bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign market for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

IAMATOLOGIA!

It is very painful to see so many public men whose desires compel them to sacrifice their health to the interests of their profession and the public. How many clergymen there are whose usefulness is marred by diseases of the larynx and bronchia! How many public men there are who feel that they could command the listener's ear better if they had the strength of lungs and ample voice which were so useful to them at the beginning of their career! And yet these misfortunes may be remedied by recourse to the Great Shoshonean Remedy, now for sale by all druggists.

"The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred books; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy; the discovery of the [illegible] has accomplished to [illegible] what [illegible] Hyperion by the Great Shoshonean Remedy, which has so often checked the inroads of those many diseases of the throat which superhumid and expensive lungs entail to make so common.

"[illegible] The great [illegible] remedy have now been in use over twenty years, hence it cannot be said that they are on trial. They have been thoroughly tried, and pronounced (on the authority of those whose lives must banish they have preserved) to be a pure, harmless, and eminently-suitable preparation, and of [illegible] success will invariably cure colds, coughs, sore throat, and all Bronchial affections. One fair trial will convince the most skeptical. Sold by all medicine dealers, at 25 cts per box.

BIRTHS

At Peterboro, on the 24th inst., the wife of Mr. James McComb, of a son.

DIED.

At Ashburnham, on the 22nd instant, Margaret, wife of Mr. Walter Ainslip, aged 34 years.

At Peterboro, on the 23rd instant, Jane, wife of Mr. John Campbell, aged 48 years.

At Peterboro, on the 24th inst., John, son of Peter Cognal, Esq., aged 3 years and 2 months.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Peterborough, January 28, 1869.

Flour ₩ bbl	4	50	@	5 00
Wheat ₩ bush. fall	0	95	@	1 05
Spring Wheat ₩ bush	0	90	@	0 95
Peas	0	55	@	0 60
Barley	0	90	@	0 95
Oats	0	40	@	0 45
Potatoes	0	40	@	0 45
Hay ₩ ton	7	00	@	9 00
Straw ₩ cwt	0	35	@	0 50
Beef ₩ cwt	4	50	@	6 00
Mutton ₩ lb	0	05	@	0 06
Wool ₩ lb	0	20	@	0 21
Pork ₩ cwt	6	50	@	7 50
Eggs, per dozen	0	15	@	0 20
Butter	0	15	@	0 20
Cheese	0	14	@	0 00
Fowl, per pair	0	20	@	0 30
Geese	0	40	@	0 50
Turkeys	0	40	@	1 00

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all Diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and he formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,

37 Sole Agents for Canada.

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensible article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our men all say it acts like magic.'

J. W. HEWITT,
Foreman for Americas, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.

"The Sprain of my daughters ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.

ED. SEELY."

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1865.

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beast, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery-men and planters, should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and the private U. S. stamp of Demas Barnes & Co. over the top.

An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap counterfeit label. Look closely!

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

This well-known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy, for Female Difficulties and Obstruction from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, heaviness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, lowness of spirits, hysterics, sick headache, whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

N. B. $1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorised Agent will ensure a bottle, containing Pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, Ont.
General Agents for Canada.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills are extensively Counterfeited. The genuine have the name of "JOB MOSES" on each package. All others are worthless.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter, and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phthisic of Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholerinfantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY

As a well-known and undeniable fact that one grand cause of disease attacking Children is worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children, only so doing, and understanding their symptoms and true cause of the disease, hundreds of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Derangedappetite, convulsive irritation, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, trembling coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and effectually to the child drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely change the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N B—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges; and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 23

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and [illegible] the [illegible] to their natural [illegible] the [illegible] is improved, [illegible] organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek or glossing appearance.

D. W. DUMBLE, Proprietor to Hurd & Co., Maiden Lane, New York,

SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
GENERAL AGENTS FOR C. W.,
Proprietors of the Canadas
WHOLESALE CASES.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL Pain and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when time'y used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICE:—215 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1yr

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Colds, Coughs and Consumption.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALLAM—Cures Bronchitis, Asthma and Croup.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Imparts strength to the system.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Is pleasant to take.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—always gives satisfaction or the money will be refunded. It is recommended by prominent Physicians: and while it is pleasant to take and harmless in its nature, it is a powerful remedy for curing all diseases of the Lungs.—Sold by all Druggist.

PERRY DANIS & SON, Agents,
380, St. Paul Street, Montreal.

Over a Million Dollars Saved!

Gentleman:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad hurt in the leg, and was useless for over a year. I had used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment.—It soon effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.

Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1859.

New Advertisements.

NOTICE!

ALL persons having any claims against the Municipality of Burleigh, Anstruther, &c., are hereby requested to furnish a statement of such claim, and the nature thereof, forthwith, to the Reeve.

Address, Chandos Post Office.

S. W. CLEGG,
Reeve of Burleigh, &c.

January, 27, 1869. 4

CAUTION.

I HEREBY CAUTION THE PUBLIC against purchasing a note of hand made by the undersigned in favor of Mailhewson & Co., of Montreal, dated 4th February, 1867, payable at 18 months after date, for $103, as I have settled and hold a receipt for the same.

W. ROBB,
Asphodel.

Asphodel, Jan. 23, 1869. 4-3in*

PORK!

50 BLS. MESS and 150 BLS. PRIME MESS, for sale at

WALTER BEAL'S,
(J. Carnegie's) old stand, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Peterboro, January 27, 1869. 4-3in

MISSIONARY MEETING.

THE ANNUAL MEETING, in behalf of the Bible Christian Missionary Society, will be held in the B. C. Church, on MONDAY first of FEBRUARY. Chair to be taken at 7 o'clock, p. m. The claims of Missions will be advocated by Messrs. E. Price and W. Woodman, Missionary Deputation, and others.

A collection will be taken up in aid of the Mission Fund.

N. B.—Preparatory Sermons the Sabbath previous by E. Price, at half-past ten and half-past six o'clock. A good choir will be in attendance at each of the services.

Peterboro, Jan 26, 1869. 3

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

A CARD.

J. W. GILMOUR has much pleasure in hereby returning thanks to his Friends and the Public generally, in Peterborough and its vicinity, for the liberal patronage with which they have favored him. He trusts this intimation will be sufficient to inform them that he has made arrangements to enter into Partnership with Dr. W. B. TAYLOR, a Medical gentleman thoroughly trained to the business of Chemist and Druggist, in one of the well known Establishments in that City. Dr. Taylor has also been in the Practice of his Profession there for more than ten years, but has been obliged to relinquish its exercise for a time on account of failing health. Dr. Taylor has already entered on his duties here, and will devote his time more especially to the preparation of Physicians' Prescriptions and Family Receipts, and otherwise will co-operate with me in the general management of the business. The Public may rely upon having not only a careful but a skilful attention to their requirements in this Department. Nothing but Pure and Genuine Drugs will be selected, and a full assortment of the Official Preparations of the British and United States Pharmacopeia will constantly be Kept on hand. With the assistance of the other facilities for successfully carrying on business, the Subscriber respectfully solicits a continuance of the Liberal Patronage hitherto bestowed upon him.

J. W. GILMOUR,
Corner of George and Hunter Streets.

Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4-tf

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE,

On Aylmer Street, Peterborough.

WILL be sold by AUCTION, on SATURDAY, 27th February, 1869, the

MACHINE SHOP,

Steam Engine, Shafting and Machinery, with 90 feet frontage of Lot on Aylmer street, either in whole or in part to suit purchasers.

Terms made known at time of sale, and all information given to intending buyers.

The above premises are well adapted for all kinds of trades.

Title indisputable.

For further information apply to

WILLIAM MALCOM.

Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale that Valuable Farm, the South half of Lot No. 24 in the 12th concession of Smith.

There are 98 acres of good tillable land, nine acres of which are in woods. There is a good Log House on the property; also, Stables and Barn, and an Orchard beginning to bear.—There is also a good Well near the dwelling. It is situated 4½ miles from the Village of Lakefield. There is a Blacksmith Shop, a Store and a Post Office on the Lot.

For further particulars apply to

THOS. HOULIHAN,

Selwyn P. O., On the premises.

Smith, January 27, 1869. 4

Mortgage Sale.

BY virtue of a power of sale contained in a Mortgage made by the late W. S. Conger and Sarah, his wife, to Stephen Lee and Alan Cameron, the property therein mentioned, being Lots 10, 11, 12 and 13, south of London street, and Lots 10, 11, 12 and 13, North of Macdonald street, in the Town of Peterborough, will be sold at the door of the Court House, in Peterborough, on TUESDAY, the NINTH day of FEBRUARY, 1869, at noon.

J. HILLYARD CAMERON,
for the Mortgagees.

Toronto, 5th January 1869. 3-td

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 13, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Apply to

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 20, 1868. 32-tf

Houses and Lots for Sale!

THAT Commodious Stone Dwelling House and Lot on Brock street, not far from the Commercial House, Peterboro.

Also, the Lot on Mark street, Ashburnham, at present occupied by the owner, will be sold on moderate terms. For particulars apply to

MARIA FOSTER,
Ashburnham.

January, 19th, 1869. 3

FARM FOR SALE.

SOUTH HALF OF LOT No. 31 in the 11th concession of the Township of Smith.—There are 50 acres under cultivation, and the balance is good hardwood land.

For terms, &c., apply to

Wm. ADAMS, Lakefield P. O.
or ALEX. PRESTON, Smith.

Smith, Dec. 23, 1868. 52

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to

T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26, 1868. 48

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 36

Teacher Wanted.

WANTED immediately, for School Section No. 1, Dummer, an experienced Teacher, holding first or second class certificate.

JOHN KIDD,
DAVID KELLEY, } Trustees.

Dummer, January 20, 1869. 3

Notice to the Public.

THIS is to give notice, that from and after this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by any person, without my written order, of which all parties will please take notice.

MICHAEL SHEEHAN.

January 5, 1869. 1-3in*

STRAYED, to the premises of the subscriber, lot 19 concession 15 of Harvey, A RED AND WHITE SPOTTED HEIFER. The owner can have it by paying expenses.

LEWIS PARKER,
Bobcaygeon P. O

January 20, 1869.

DOMINION HOUSE,

PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, January, 1869. 53

Great Bargains IN FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

PRESENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Russell's Watches! Sewill's Watches! Waltham Watches!

JOHN McCLELLAND,

WATCH-MAKER AND JEWELLER,

GEORGE STREET, PETERBORO',

Has much pleasure in announcing to the public, that he has on hand a large and well selected stock of

GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES,

By the above and other eminent makers. Also

GOLD CHAINS, BROOCHES, EAR RINGS, FINGER RINGS, Lockets, Pins, &c.,

Of the Finest Quality and Workmanship. Also FANCY GOODS, &c, for the season, at the Lowest Prices.

Peterborough, December 17, 1868. 51

JOHN BERTRAM,

Importer and Dealer in

BAR, ROD, HOOP & SHEET IRON

SLEIGH SHOE & CAST STEEL,

Anvils, Bellows, Stocks and Dies; Hand, Sledge and Shoeing Hammers. Jowett & Firth's

Horse Rasps and Files,

Carriage Bolts made from Best Refined Iron. Proved Logging Chains, Tuttles Patent, Flint's Morlands & Robertson's Cross-Cut Saws, Machine Saws, Warranted Steelyards, Hay Knives,

Broad and Narrow Axes.

A complete Stock Hand Saws, Chisels, Gouges, Planes, Spirit Levels, and all kinds of Carpenters' Tools.

Pale Seal Oil, Leather Belting, Russian Hemp Rope.

Table and Pocket Cutlery, Electroplated and Albata Plate Spoons and Forks, E P. Cruets, Cake Baskets, &c.,

JUST RECEIVED from Renwick-on-Tweed, 40 DOZEN of BLACK'S

Cast Steel Spades and Draining Tools

unsurpassed in quality.

JOHN BERTRAM,
Hardware Merchant, Peterborough.

Jan, 6th 1869. 2-tf

Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

ORMOND & WALSH,

Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very liberal patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is complete with Drugs and Chemicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would particularly impress upon their Friends and the Public generally, the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent but also responsible for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labeled.

The undersigned being fully impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug Store, beg to assure their customers that Physicians prescriptions and Family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for faithfulness and correctness as to their requirements. Their Stock consists of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a respectable Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Coal Oil, Coal Lamps, &c., &c.

CHARLES ORMOND, | WILLIAM WALSH

Peterboro', Jan. 15, 1869. 3-13in

DENNISTOUN, FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

BARRISTERS, &c.,

Hunter Street, , Peterborough.

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Omemee and Peterboro. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterboro, January 13, 1869. 2

FOR SALE.

100,000 Brick.

STEPHEN WOOD.

Otonabee, January 13, 1869. 2tf

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

Issuer of Marriage Licences.

OFFICE at James Bell's Dry Goods Store, George Street. 2

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction of the Peterboro' Western Circuit, for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

In the Town of Peterborough, on

Thursday, June 3rd, 1869.

Commencing at 10 a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1868. 2

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE,

IN THE VILLAGE OF ASHBURNHAM.

THE subscriber offers for sale the valuable property on which he at present resides, being Lot No. 4, North of Elizabeth street, consisting of half an acre of land, on which are two Dwelling Houses, Stables and Sheds attached. There is a good well of water, and the Lot is pleasantly situated on the main street. It will be sold in whole or in parts to suit purchasers. Title Perfect.

Apply to the owner on the premises.

P. SARGENT.

Or at this office.

Ashburnham, Jan. 13, 1869. 2-tf

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all articles in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,

And of best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere. Don't forget the place,

Directly opposite Mr. John Sherin's.

SHORTLY & HARPER.

Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 42-13in

READY-MADE CLOTHING

OFFERING

VERY CHEAP

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats,

Winter Sack Coats,

Winter Shooting Coats,

Winter Pants and Winter Vests,

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

☞ BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterboro, January, 1869. 3

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No [illegible] been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb' Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting. Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868.

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, [illegible] Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP;

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

A Fresh Supply of

Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,

BLANKETS,

DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,

CARPETS,

And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.

Just received by

I. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

GIVING THE DEVIL HIS DUE.

Old Tipsy John to his mating wife,
As staggering home at night,
Overcome by the might of beer and gin,
He came in a awful plight;
"Don't be so hard in your charges, love,
I'm a little to blame, 'tis true;
But give the devil his due, my love,
Oh, give the devil his due."

His helpmate on his wavering form,
As calmly he gazed
To retain his seat in a "rocketeen chair,
And readily answer made;
"To give the divel his due, my love?
Is perfectly right, 'tis true;
But what would become of my love,
Oh, what would become of you?"

THE GERMAN BAND.—Aleady brought a Grecian Band into a street car with the following results:

She stepped upon the platform—
Her grace I can't forget—
For, oh! that Grecian Band of hers
Clings to my memory yet.
Her smile was like the seabeam;
Her bonnet "some" you bet;
But that lovely Grecian Band of her's
Was the "heaviest" band I met.
Her waterfall was gorgeous,
And all who saw, conceed
That her grace was never equalled
By the Saratoga breed.
But alas, for mortal beauty—
Dust will return to dust,
And the most enchanting leader,
Is doomed to moth and rust;
In stooping to remove her cent
(I hate to tell but must,)
Some wholesome thing that stayed her up
Bent double—and then "burst."

HINT TO TEACHERS.—A teacher who is out of wast of patience with a stupid and uninteresting scholar, may gather wisdom from the examples of teaching which he will find in the schools of the feebly minded. There is on record the example of one of these teachers, who had in charge a child that could not appreciate the difference between a square and a circle. The teacher, instead of giving up the case as hopeless, instead of trying three or four times, as many a teacher would have done, and then saying, 'I cannot be done, there is no use in trying to teach the child this idea," actually repeated the experiment six hundred times, and was then rewarded with success. Another teacher, an ingenious Frenchman, unable to rouse the attention of a class of imbeciles sufficiently for them to learn the alphabet, did it finally by drawing the letters in phosphorus on the wall of a darkened room. The artifices used by these teachers are indeed amazing. As has been well remarked by another, no adept of science watching his crucible, not Newton pondering over the mighty problem of the universe, ever brought more zeal or more patient devotion to bear upon his task, than has been given by these teachers to quicken the dormant intellect of an idiot, to aid the obscure travail of some poor, feeble, and fettered soul to send a ray of glimmering light down the deep, sunken shaft of the pit whom humanity lies bound like Joseph, and forgotten of his brethern.

JOSEPH MEDILL, of Chicago, wants Canada. It's "Not for Joseph."

Why is a newspaper like an army? Because it has leaders, columns and reviews.

Why is the sofa that your father is sitting on like most railway stock? Because it is below par.

They are fools who insist on being perfectly miserable because they cannot be perfectly happy.

The position of an accountant must be a very painful one, from a constant tendency there is in it to make him sour.

What is the difference between a belle and a burglar? One wears false locks, and the other false keys.

GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN, giving an account of his financial affairs, states his assets to be $6,000,000. The assets is very high.

Sidney Smith recommended as the best system of wooden pavements for London that the alderman should lay their heads together."

There is a Gallic proverb: "If the best man's faults were written on his forehead, it would make him pull his hat over his eyes."

Be careful of your table talk. Do all your biting at table in biting your food. Don't be biting in your remarks, and never back-bite.

Why is it important for a physician to "keep his temper?" Because if he did not he would be apt to lose his patients"(patience.)

What is the difference between the outer walls of a bridge, and two nice young ladies? The one is a parapet, and the other is a pair-o'-pets—of course.

I wish I knew how I could make neighbour Ransom keep the Sabbath," said the good old Rev. Dr. Rogers. "Lend it to him, pa." said the D. D.'s hopeful son. "He never borrowed anything yet which he didn't keep."

"Waiter is this a spring chicken? Most remarkable fowl I ever attempted an assault upon." "Yes, sir, nice spring chicken; nothing else at this establishment. Don't you se, sir, it springs every time you try to put the knife into it?"

ANSWERING PRECISELY.—A witness in court who had been cautioned to give a precise answer to every question, and not think about what he might think the question meant, was interrogated as follows:—'You drive a waggon?' 'No sir, I do not.' 'Why sir, did you not tell my learned friend so this moment?' 'No sir, I did not.' 'Now sir, I put it to you on your oath, do you not drive a waggon?' 'No sir.' 'What is your occupation then?' 'I drive a horse, sir.'

An English sailor took his child to be christened, and happening to hold it on the wrong arm for the clergyman to take it, was asked to "turn the child," upon which he turned it face downward. "No, no," said the person, turn it, my good man," when he turned it face uppermost, as before. In this dilemma an old port-captain sitting in the gallery came to the rescue, and sang out. "End for end, Jack." "Ay, ay, sir," said the sailor, and pitched his son and heir over on the other arm.

An English thief got into a very ridiculous trouble recently, while trying to steal the silver Communion service from a Baptist church—the Stepney Green Tabernacle. He found wine in the picher and drank so freely, before carrying away his booty, that he fell headlong into the baptistry, which had been left open by the sexton. He dragged himself through the water and was found lying on the floor next morning in a pool of water, dead drunk.

Some laborers demolishing an old building in New York, lately discovered in a rat's nest a roll of bills amounting to $250. Eighty years ago the money was lost, and a youthful clerk, then boarding in the house, was suspected and convicted of being the thief. His character was then ruined, and giving way to dissipation, he died on Blackwell's Island. Who cares to believe that even justice is meted out in this world, with no use of a final auditing in another?

THE PROTEST AGAINST ROME.

"We protest against the Church of Rome as an Anti-christian Church, because, claiming to be the 'One Holy Catholic Church,' it makes communion with it essential in order to communion with Christ.

"It usurps a place between the sinner and the Saviour—nay, more, it teaches that to be united to it is to be united to the Saviour.

"It does this avowedly—it does this necessarily: for if it be 'Christ's body,' then no doubt Rome is right in asserting, 'He can no longer have God for a Father who has not the Church (of Rome) for a mother.'

"There can be no mistake as to the teaching of Rome on this point:—

"'All societies whatever, separated from the external and visible communion and obedience of the Roman Pontiff cannot be the Church of Christ, and cannot in any way whatever belong to the Church of Christ; from which whoever is separated, though he may deem he is living laudably, still, for the sole crime that he is severed from the unity of Christ (i.e., because severed from the Romish communion) he shall not have life, but the anger of God abideth on him.' 'Moreover, we declare, assert, define, and pronounce it to be of necessity to salvation, for every human creature to be subject to the Roman Pontiff' (Decree of Pope Boniface VIII. in the Canon Law). 'This true Catholic faith (Pope Pius's Creed) out of which none can be saved.'

"But let Rome speak for herself:—

"'Secular princes shall, if necessary, be compelled to extirpate from their kingdoms all heretics marked by the Church; and any counther prince neglecting thus to purge his kingdom from heretical filthiness, the Chief Pontiff may then proclaim his subjects absolved from their allegiance, and bestow his kingdom upon good Catholics' (Council of Lateran, Sess. xxiv., c. 1).

"'It is an act of kindness to obstinate heretics to take them out of this life, for the longer they live the more errors do they invent, the more men do they pervert, and the greater damnation do they acquire unto themselves.'—Card. Bellarmine.

"'Heretics, when strong, are to be committed to God; when weak, to the executioner.'—Ibid.

"'Christ does not forbid heretics to be taken away and put to death.'—Menochius on Matt.,—a book sanctioned at Maynooth.

"'If, therefore, good men and public authorities, waging war, be in power transgressors of the commandment 'Thou shalt not kill,' although they occasion many deaths; if the soldier, obedient to his commander, be not guilty of homicide though he slay men with his own hand; if the punishment of assassins or poisoners be not guilty of bloodshedding, but a just administration of the law; if the peace of the Church be a source of consolation under the distress occasioned by the death of heretics; if those who, inflamed with zeal for mother Church, put excommunicated persons to death, are not to be considered homicides; it is evident that it is lawful not only to flagellate, but also to slay the bad.'—Cannon Law: Decreti II.—pars causa XXIII. Q. V. I., ad mali pejendi sunt ad bonum.

"And these are no mere dreams of the past. Present realities confirm their testimony.

"Let Dr. Manning be heard as a witness. As an Englishman, he ought to have English sympathies; but he tells us—'The English Government has placed itself at the head of the anti-Catholic revolution of the world. It denies the Divine authority of the Church and of the Holy See. It represents a people not only in schism and heresy, but traditionally hostile to the spiritual authority of the Church and Pontiff.' In the preface to a work just issued he writes—'If England is ever to be reunited to Christendom'—(we are pagans and heathens now!)—'it is by submission to the living authority of the Vicar of Jesus Christ. . . . . And it is visibly providential that at this moment the supremacy of the Crown (which is the Reformation in cancreto) has literally come to naught. And at this period of our history, the supremacy of the Vicar of Jesus Christ re-enters as full of life as when Henry VIII.'—those who remember the history Henry VIII. and of Elizabeth, and the curses strong and many that were poured upon that Queen, denouncing her as a heretic, and absolving all her subjects from allegiance, will understand the meaning of this—'as full of life as when Henry VIII. resisted Clement VII., and Elizabeth withstood Pius V. The undying authority of the Holy See is once more in active power in England.'

"What this 'undying authority' is, Dr. Manning's friend, Mr. Purcell explains thus:—

"'The Church'—of course, he means the Church of Rome—'has the right, in virtue of her Divine commission, to require of every one to accept her doctrine. Whoever obstinately refuses is against her, and were the Church to tolerate another—tolerate every sect, and thereby herself up.'

"Since the Church has the power of the sword through the State, as well as its own power, English Protestants will understand the consequences that would follow upon Romish supremacy on British soil.

"Mr. Purcell goes even farther. Romanist allegiance is first due to the Pope, and then to the Queen—and only to her so long as the Pope lacks the power to dethrone her.

"'The election of a prince,' writes this loyal subject of Queen Victoria, 'cannot be put in the category of a thoroughly civil act. If, therefore, an heretical prince is elected, or succeeds to the throne'—notice this—'the Church'—that is, the Church of Rome—'has a right to say, I annul the election and I forbid the succession. If a king falls into heresy it is in the power of the Church to depose such a person in punishment of his spiritual crime.'"—Times.

TAILORS DEFENDED.—A tailor possesses the qualities of nine men combined in one, as will be seen by the following observations:

1. As an economist, he cuts his coat according to his cloth.
2. As a gardener, he is careful of his cabbage.
3. As a sailor, he sheers off whenever it is proper.
4. As a play actor, he often brandishes a bare bodkin.
5. As a lawyer, he attends to many suits.
6. As an executioner, he provides suspenders or gallowses for many persons.
7. As a cook, he is generally furnished with a work goose.
8. As a sheriff's officer, he does much at sponging.
9. As a rational and Scripture divine, his great aim is to form good habits, for the benefit of himself and others.

An ugly old Bachelor suggests that births should be published under the head of "New music."

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES

GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER

From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember fine place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 30

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lannin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. J. H. AMES. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and Stocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, of Kneestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hoey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHORTONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

☞For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

BARLEY, OATS, PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 24

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRISS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from R. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said R. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

A HANDSOME

Christmas Gift.

A Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your———, or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's., $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $25. Ditto with stand $33. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $45 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $35. Howe $55.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

Special Notice.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

(Established 1825,)

With which is now united

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Head Office for Canada,

MONTREAL,—STANDARD COMPANY'S BUILDINGS,

No. 47, Great St. James Street.

Manager .....W. M. RAMSAY
Inspector.....RICHARD BULL.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The EIGHT DIVISION of the Company's Profits is appointed to be made at 15th NOVEMBER 1870, and all Polices now effected will participate.

The FUND TO BE DIVIDED will be the profits which have arisen since 15th November 1865.

The COMPANY'S BUSINESS YEAR will close on 15th NOVEMBER 1868, and in order to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the PROFIT SCHEME, Proposals should be lodged with the Agents on or before that date.

Agent for Peterborough,

ALEX. SMITH,

Peterboro, Oct. 28, 1868. 44

MILLER'S

Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 70c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co., Proprietors.

167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE, Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

Money! Money!

MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.

Apply to J. A. HALL, At the Court House

Peterboro', May 8th, 1861. 19

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor, &c., Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 24, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 28, in the 13th Concession of Ontonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 16, 1868. 12-tf

JOSEPH HALL

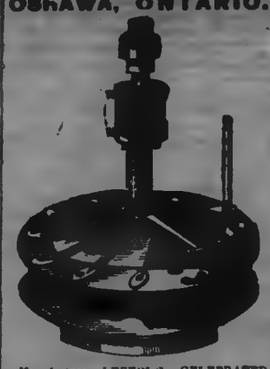
MACHINE WORKS!

ESTABLISHED 1851.

JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.

PROPRIETORS,

OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patters, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us thereon. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Mulay Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.

Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 52-13in

THE ÆTNA

LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. B. McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Miller, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq, Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Safe Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE, Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Cromell, Vice-Pres't. F. Shaw, Secy.

Phenix Insurance Company,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams; and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS, North Douro P. O.

December 8, 1868. 50

A VALUABLE

Farm for Sale!

THE Subscriber offers for sale that Excellent Farm, Lot No. 21, in the 9th Concession of Otonabee. It is situated about 6 miles from Peterboro and the same distance from Keene. There are 85 acres cleared and in a good state of cultivation, and a comfortable Dwelling House, Sheds, Barns and Stables; a good young Orchard bearing choice fruit. The soil is of the very best quality; about 8 acres in Fall Wheat, looking well, and 40 acres ploughed ready for spring sowing.

For terms apply to the proprietor on the premises,

JOHNSTON COONEY,

Or to JAMES STRATTON, Examiner Office, Peterboro.

Otonabee, October 6th, 1868. 41-13in

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $75 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor, Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

DOMINION HOUSE,

PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, Dec. 30, 1868. 53

W. G. THOMSON & Co's

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞INSPECTION INVITED.☜

Peterboro, Sept. 30, 1868. 40

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 3-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. MCFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 25

W. WADDELL

Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of

CARRIAGE HARNESS,

Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also

HEAVY TEAM HARNESS,

Made of the very best material.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.

In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS

In Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.

Children's Carriages

From $2.00 each to $15.00.

Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.

Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking

Kept constantly on hand.

Peterboro, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

FUR SHOP REMOVED.

MR. LECH

HAS REMOVED

One Door north of Mr. Lannin's Tin Shop.

Parties desirous of having their furs neatly done will please leave them at Mr. Lech's residence, London street, No. 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 14

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

OF

CONSUMPTION!

IN CANADA.

MESSRS TOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I caught a great deal day and night, experiencing great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweatings, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these calamities as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a lengthened time, but finding no relief, I tried different remedies, but all without any good effect. Esquire Patterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottle, at once, with the Pills; so soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this compliment, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing to use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman, Peter C. V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.

SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. M. GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
U. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D, Brome.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSKINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENLS, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MCIGS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BENADON, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Castlecook.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MURSY, M. D., Boston
W. MARSDEN, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
E. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c., &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely grey, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

NOT QUITE SO.

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, add without the excuse of the former; here all many avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their horse the sufferers, to avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurld & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 19

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE.—The North half of No. 4, in the 4th Concession of Ennismore.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro,' Feby 18, 1868.

FEBRUARY

1869

Peterborough Examiner

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1869. No. 5.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Restaurant Cards, Blanks, &c.

—with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing Ink. Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,
CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,
COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

JAMES F. DENNISTOUN,
BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office, Hunter street, Peterborough.
Peterboro, July 28, 1868. 31

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,
BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 20

SCOTT & GREEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
WILLIAM REPPOLDS SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, direct—opposite Mr. Clinton's, George street, Peterborough.
Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,
SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,
Conveyancers, &c.,
Peterborough, Ontario.
T. H. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN,
46 Keene

J. O'SULLIVAN, M.D., L.R.C.P.S., I
Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR.
Coroner for County of Peterborough.
Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 21-tf

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.
GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and
LICENTIATE
Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.
Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.
December 16, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,
Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.
Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.
Ashburnham, October 23, 1867. 43

J. W. GILMOUR,
DRUGGIST, Chemist and Seedsman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 18

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.
OFFICE AND HOUSE, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.
Nov. 27, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,
INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.
Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

GEORGE BROWNLEE,
ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro,

Business Directory.

JAMES STEVENSON,
DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,
DEALER in Leather and Shoes. Spanish and Slaughter Leather constantly on hand.
☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,
ADOLESY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinwire, [illegible]

WM. N. KENNEDY,
PAINTER, PaperHanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.
Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C. W.
Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO.
GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits.
A. SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.
FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.
Wm. OGILVY, Agent.
Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,
PETERBOROUGH.
SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.
From this date until further notice, the rate of interest in the above department will be
FIVE PER CENT.
PER ANNUM.
D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.
Peterboro', April 1st, 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.
ALL payments to be made on account of the
ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!
MAY BE MADE TO THE
Royal Canadian Bank
And Its Agencies.
E. B. WOOD, Treasurer of Ontario.
Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,
TOBACCONIST,
George Street, Peterborough, Ont.
March 12, 1868. 11-1y

FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE OFFICE.
T. J. WINSHIP, Agent,
☞ Acting for First Class Reliable Companies.
George street (next to the Montreal House)
Peterboro', Ont. 29-6m.

GEORGE ALLEN,
GUN & WHITE-SMITH,
Hunter Street, Peterborough,
BEGS to inform the public that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and White-smithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired.
☞ Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.
Peterboro, October 29, 1868. 43

D. PENTLAND,
Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.
D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodians of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodeon, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.
Peterboro', February 5, 1863. 6

DENTISTRY!
Teeth Extracted Without Pain
D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.
Peterboro, November 20 1866. 48

REMOVAL.
D. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hamlin, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.
Peterboro, July 8, 1868. 28

R. S. HOWELL,
FORWARDER,
Commission Merchant,
AND
GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,
Dealer in Lumber, &c.,
PORT HOPE, ONT.

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE
LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,
AND
Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Lindsay, Depart ..... 9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 1 10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 4.35 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.
Lindsay, Depart ..... 12 35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive .. .. 2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 4 20 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 9.45 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 7.30 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 5.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Peterborough, Depart ..... 3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 4.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 5.50 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.
Peterborough, Depart ..... 5.30 a. m.
Millbrook ..... 6 20 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 8.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 1.15 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 2.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 3.20 "

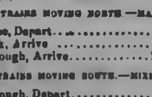
A. T. WILLIAMS, Superintendent.
May 30, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
TRAINS LEAVE
PORT HOPE STATION
AS FOLLOWS:
GOING EAST.
Express (day) ..... 9.30 a.m.
Mixed ..... 7.00 p.m.
Express (night) ..... 9.20 p.m.
GOING WEST.
Express (night) ..... 10.30 p.m.
Mixed ..... 3.00 p.m.
Express (day) ..... 10.30 a.m.
Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time
Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
OF CANADA.
TORONTO LINE.
TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.
Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 9.50 p.m. and 6.55 p.m.
Express at 12 55 p.m.
HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.
Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 7.25 p.m.
Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME
IN THE
Norwood and Peterboro'
STAGE.
ROYAL MAIL LINE!
LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a m.
LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.
Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.
Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates
J. A. JOHNSON, Proprietor
Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.
Rates of Passage from Peterboro':
CABIN, - - $76 to $80. STEERAGE - $30.
Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.
For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to
GEORGE A. COX, Agent.
Canadian Express Co'y.
Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,
No. 20 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.
JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.
This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Depots, Steamboat Landings, and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞ Rates $1.50 per Day. 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,
WALTON STREET,
PORT HOPE, ONT.
T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.
Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Poetry.

THE GRECIAN BEND.

There is a tide in the affairs of women
Which differs slightly from the ebbs of men,
If taken at the flood it leads to fashion,
And fashion leads you to the Grecian Bend.

The Grecian Bend to something else leads on;
No matter what as long as it is strange,
Our women have like money brokers grown;
They're always hunting after "little" and "change."

But shortly since they were all hinged like hercules,
But now their shirts hang round them like a sack,
The mode is now for them to dress like camels,
And wear a hump or two upon their back.

Poets have sung in tender strains and sweet
Of maidens tripping light as any fairy;
But now our maidens limp along the street
With "bunches" on them like a dromedary.

Fashion has played strange antics in her time
And silly goslings study in her school,—
They should remember when she bolts her line
With flimsy gew gaws, 'tis to catch a fool.

Much has been said and written of the chignon:
(I'm glad its reign is drawing to an end)
But give me, sure, a woman with a wig on
Rather than one that has a Grecian bend.

Selections.

THE WIFE'S LESSON.

BY SHIRLEY BROWNE.

This morning sunshine came brightly into the breakfast room, the canary answered a voiceless challenge with a full tide of shrill warbling, and the "Cloth of Gold" rose in the widow, unfolded its one bud, and flung open its laureate beams.

'It's a splendid morning,' said Mr. Marchmont, as he came into the room rubbing his hands and glancing at the bright fire beneath the carved marble mantle of the chimney piece.

'It's so cold!' sighed his wife, wrapping her shawl around her with a shudder and a frown.

'Cold? What can you expect, my dear, at this season of the year? I am sure it is warm enough here."

Mrs. Marchmont sat down at the table without any response, and began to pour out the coffee.

'Won't you take a cup yourself, my love?' questioned her husband.

'I have no appetite,' said Mrs. Marchmont, drearily. 'The moment I smelled the horrid soda in those biscuits, I knew I could eat no breakfast.'

'But, my dear a cup of coffee—'

'You will allow me to be the judge of my own feelings,' said the wife, irritably 'I do detest to be teased!'

Mr. Marchmont was silent; but his own breakfast was effectually spoiled.

'My dear,' he said, after a minute or two, 'this would be a fine day to have the children's photographs taken.'

'Fanny has a pimple on her cheek, and Nelly acts exactly as if she was going to have the measles. I think there never was a mother so tried as I am.'

'The measles, Helen? I think you are mistaken. Dr. Ray was here yesterday, and he certainly would have discovered any premonitory symptoms.'

'Of course I am mistaken,' said Mrs. Marchmont, compressing her lips, and shrugging her shoulders. 'I am always mistaken. Thank you, George, for your kind appreciation of my character.

Mr. Marchmont was one of the most amiable men in the world, but even his wife's obstinate depression. He bit his lip, and played mechanically with his knife and fork.

'I got tickets for to-night's opera, yesterday, Helen,' he said; 'your favorite, Signor Alcanti, is going to sing.'

'I don't care for the opera, to-night.'

'Reserved seats, dear—as good as any in the house.'

'I wanted to go last week, and you would not take me.'

'Could do, you mean. Helen; my business would not possibly allow of it.'

'It's always the way when I particularly desire to go any where. Business makes a convenient excuse.'

Mr. Marchmont did not attempt to argue the matter—he knew it was of no use in his wife's present state of mind.

'Didn't I show you the letter I received from my sister Mabel, last night?—the widowed sister that lives in Iowa?' he resumed presently.

'No.' coldly enough.

'Didn't I—well, it's in my other coat pocket. She is coming East, and would like to pay us a visit. Shall I write to her to come at once?'

'Certainly—by all means. I am always happy to entertain your relatives, George.'

Mr. Marchmont felt singularly uncomfortable as he went to his down-town office that morning. Do what he could to cheer up the domestic atmosphere; Helen was always unhappy—always complaining. It seemed to him impossible that she could be the laughing light-hearted girl he had married eight years ago; and yet she had never had any real trials to break down her spirit, or quench her cheerfulness!

'I think it's nothing on earth but habit; and a very uncomfortable, unwarrantable sort of habit at that,' he decided as he gave his office fire a poke.

And he sat down and wrote a long account of his domestic trials and difficulties to his sister in Iowa.

'We always used to go Mabel for advice—our children—' he said to himself, with a half smile, 'and Mabel always knew just what was best to do. I don't believe she has lost any of the old spell yet!'

'Have you heard from your sister?' Mrs Marchmont asked, one morning, about two weeks subsequently.

'Yes.'

'What does she say? When is she coming? Let me look at the letter.'

'I haven't got the letter with me,' said Mr. Marchmont, a little consciously. 'It's at the office—but she is coming on Friday or Saturday.'

'I think I'll get the blue chintz room ready for her,' said Helen musingly. 'It will be the pleasantest room. I only wish she would have postponed her visit until spring, when the house was cleaned.'

The pleasant house was in its pleasantest and most apple-pie order, the next Friday, when the carriage containing Mrs. Cotes drew up to the door, and Helen herself, in a trim black silk dress with cherry ribbons and ruffled white apron, was waiting in the parlor to receive her, while Nell, guiltless of the measles, played with her blocks in the corner, and Fanny diligently picked her fingers in the hemming of the cambric pocket handkerchief. The baby, having succumbed to sleep, had been carried ignominiously to the nursery, five minutes before, much to Helen's disappointment, for the young mother was proud of her beautiful six-months old boy.

'My dear,' said Mr. Marchmont, 'here is sister Mabel.'

And a plump, fair-faced woman, in deep mourning came in and touched her cheek, stiffly, against Helen's welcoming lips.

'How pretty she is,' was Helen's first thought—her next, 'but what a very disagreeable curl to her lips—and that set from between her eyebrows. Oh—but nobody ever consults my convenience! Is she an amiable, agreeable person, George?'

'She used to be—very much so. I do not know how much her marriage and widowhood may have changed her.

'How old is she?'

'About your age, I should think.'

'My age! Dear me, I thought she was a musty old widow in a cap and spectacles.'

Mr. Marchmont laughed.

'Not unless she has taken, to spectacles very lately. However, you'll see in a day or two, and you can judge for yourself.'

Oh, dear! I'm sure I shall not like her.

But while these reflections crossed her mind, she was not unmindful of the duties of hospitality, moving an easy chair near the fire, assisting to unfasten her guest's wrappings, and ringing for lunch to be served.

'Dear me—do you burn coal? poisonous, gas generating, anthracite coal? I hope there's a wood fire in my room,' was Mrs. Cote's first comment. 'And what a very disagreeable noise that bird keeps up! Would you just as soon have it taken into another room, sister Helen? And these are your children, eh, George? Generally speaking, I don't like children, they are noisy, troublesome little nuisances!'

'There run back to your work and blocks girls,' said the discomfited Helen as soon as their aunt had bestowed a formal kiss upon each of them, very much as if she were taking medicine. The arrival of lunch was a fortunate diversion.

'I am sure you must be hungry,' said Helen, hospitably, wheeling the little table up to the fire, and beginning to turn the boiled chicken, while George carried a little china cup of frothing chocolate to his sister.

'Chocolate? I never drink it,' she said, motioning away the favorite beverage, 'weak, green tea is all I dare venture to allow myself. Thank you—the chicken is hardly cooked enough—and I do not think it healthy to serve up a dish swimming in melted butter in that sort of way. A cracker if you please!'

Bridget presently came up stairs with a cup of 'weak green tea,' which Helen brought to her sister-in-law.

'Pah! dishwater!' was Mrs Cote's ungracious comment; 'I see I shall have to make it myself. And now, sister Helen, if you will show me my room.'

Helen obeyed, secretly feeling as if she had more than Atlas' weight on her shoulders. A wood fire, recently kindled, was smoking and sputtering on the hearth in place of the grate full of ruddy coal which had already glowed there.—Mrs Cotes looked critically around.

'A pretty room,' she remarked, 'but what a hideous carpet. Blue, I declare—the most dismal color you could have selected. And the windows front to the east, as sure as I am alive. The east winds invariably give me the neuralgia.'

'I can put you in another room,'

'Do; I could not exist here in any sort of comfort. And I hope your baby isn't a crying baby.'

'He cries sometimes,' said Helen, trying to repress a smile, but he is a very good-natured little fellow on the whole.'

'I am glad of that,' sighed the fastidious sister-in-law, 'my rest is easily disturbed at night, and if I loose sleep I am a miserable, worn-out creature.'

Helen conducted Mrs Cotes to another apartment, which happened, by good luck, to be furnished in crimson, and did not front toward the east, and Mrs Cotes took solemn possession.

Helen returned to the parlor, uncertain whether to laugh or cry.

'George,' she cried, 'Is your sister always so captious and fault-finding as she has shown herself during the last half hour?'

'It's only her way, my dear. Mabel is a well meaning person.'

'Her way?'

'Yes; mere habit, you know. We must try and put up with it.'

'Well, it is rectainly an intensely disagreeable way,' continued Helen, with a laughing little grimace, 'I don't wonder Mr Cotes departed this life!'

'Helen!'

'Well, I don't indeed! and Mrs Marchmont ran away to make the sauce for the pudding.

The next week was one of unmitigated trial to Mrs Marchmont. Aunt Mabel grumbled incessantly. Nothing seemed to suit her. The wind was always from the wrong quarter, the sun was invariably too bright or not bright enough—the children were in the way—Helen's house-keeping was defective—servants were insolent—New York was a gigantic humbug, and the world was a mistake!

And Helen herself? Never was there such a radical change as seemed to be wrought in her. She never lost her temper, never allowed herself to express her internal discomfort. Every irritable sensation was resolutely checked in the germ.

'If I should grow to be like Mabel!' she thought, with a thrill of distaste.

'My dear,' said her husband, one evening as they sat together in the twilight, by the red glare of the parlor fire, Helen secretly dreading the moment when Mrs Cote's melancholy visage and despairing voice should interrupt the 'tete-a-tete,' 'do you know you have changed very much of late?'

'Changed—have I?' But there was a little consciousness in Helen's tone, nevertheless.

'I know,' it she answered frankly.

'I believe it was a mere habit growing on me, day by day, by imperceptible degrees as the hideous fungus festers on the oak tree. I have resisted it all during the past week, George, and I have been trying to cast the unsightly fungus away from my life. Mabel's examples has opened my eyes, and I have seen clearly how splenetic a fault-finding temper may make the fairest person.'

'Opened your eyes, has it?' said a merry voice close to her chair, as Mabel's brown eyes looked laughing in her own.

'Well, then I may as well abandon the part I have been playing, and come back to my own self.'

'Mabel?'

'George wrote me how miserable his home was daily growing' and I fixed upon this plan of showing my dear little sister, through the agency of her own observation how exceedingly disagreeable a 'grumbler' could make herself—Have I succeeded?'

Mrs Marchmont was half inclined to be annoyed at first, but a moment's reflection convinced her that they had been right.

'It has taught me a much needed lesson,' she said, 'and you shall see that I am an apt scholar.'

'And now,' said Aunt Mabel, 'I shall set to work to ordinate the first impressions I have made, and leave a pleasanter recollection in their place.'

She succeeded, for before she went away, she was the cherished friend of Helen, the idol of the little ones, and Helen has quite forgiven her the pain that had produced so unfavorable an effect!

And George Marchmont is the happiest husband in all the metropolis.—Fireside Companion.

CLANDESTINE RELATIONS.

(From an American Paper.)

There are no youth held with so loose a rein as he American. Boys and girls are allowed to have their head, as the jockeys say, and to take what course they will.—We see them, in consequence, running a helter skelter race through life sweying from the straight road and overleaping its barriers. They possibly arrive at the goal at last in fair time and average condition, but only after some extraordinary and unnecessary risks by the way.

There is no doubt that the freedom of parental control is favorable to that self-reliance which is characteristic of our young people, and gives them the courage with which they prematurely begin the struggle with life. It also endows them with a vigor of resistance to evil unusual of those of their age. These are great benefits not to be lightly passed over; but this early emancipation of our youth has also its disadvantages. It at bestows strength to oppose, it also gives the audacity to provoke; and youth, with a characteristic overestimate of its powers, often engages itself in unequal struggle.

It appears quite practicable to extend the parental authority over our American youth without any dangerous encroachment upon their freedom of will. The young male adult, perhaps requires 'an tightening of the domestic curb than the female. He generally, on being let loose at home, is bound to some occupation, and thus only exchanges one subjection for another. The subordination is in his case continued, and though the more voluntary, is still of sufficient force to sustain the habit. Our male youth, withal, could bear, without fear of injury to their future strength of flight, some clipping of their superfluous spread of wing.

It is our young girls, however, strange to say, who are most in need of domestic restraint. Though still fed and housed in the parental dove-cot, these fledglings are constantly essaying the most eccentric flights.

At the early age of sixteen, seventeen or so, our young girls of respectable parentage (which means nothing more than a father or mother who are well enough off to bring up their daughters in idleness) have nothing to do but to try to get married. They have left school, and have abandoned with the well inked desk and thumbed geography all idea of study. They find themselves suddenly with the free control of youthful energies, caprices and passions—for it is not customary with American parents to subject their "finished" daughters to any systematic discipline. Without any intellectual or moral guidance to direct their minds to study, and to household and social duty, they are left in that state of mental weakness most favorable to the indulgence of excessive sentiment. This takes naturally, at the early age of wonderful development, a matrimonial direction; and thus our young girls, looking for nobody else, see a prospective husband in every impudent good looking fellow who passes.

It is not surprising that these volatile damsels, unguarded by parental vigilance and left for want of a sound education to the mercy of a capricious sentimentalism should indulge, as we are told they do, in such vagaries as making sequel fances in conservatories, appointing rendezvous in the streets, and keeping up a correspondence in the newspapers with the well disposed Tooth Jones of our day.

The first remedy unquestionably for this perverted sentiment is occupation, and a continued control and moral discipline. In the meantime it might be well for mothers to keep sharper eye upon their girls. American parents certainly do not approve of their daughters showing off in the newspapers as the young lady with green hair to whom her sorrow stricken admirer showed his love; or as the Widow who was married Thursday morning," after a hot chase after them a liberty of conduct which infinitely leads to such a violation of female propriety. There is no country but ours in the world where a respectable mother would allow her daughter to keep up an intimacy with a young man unknown to her parents. In our large cities unmarried girls are constantly meeting, walking, and conversing for hours together, day after day, with young carabens who have never crossed the parlor threshold. But this is the implication that these intimacies are absolutely improper, but we do say that the liberty of making and keeping them up is decidedly so. No child, boy or girl, should have a friend who is not admitted to the home of the father and mother; and a young girl should not be permitted to favor clandestine relations of any kind.

The Double-Headed Colored Girls at New Orleans.

We paid a visit on Friday to that most wonderful of Nature's freaks, the double-headed colored girl, or perhaps it would be more correct to say, the two girls in one. For convenience, we shall speak of them in the plural. They are entirely distinct, as far as mind is concerned, laughing and chatting with each other, and being apparently upon the most intimate terms, and one may have a headache or a cold without the other being affected, but any fever or other serious disease affects both equally.

Their bodies are separate from the small of the back up, each having a perfectly formed head and head, two arms, two, and each has two legs. but there is only one trunk. Both are remarkably intelligent, reading and writing with ease, while their manners are really refined. In quite a lengthy conversation they did not make a single grammatical error, and their language was unusually select. Upon questioning them as to their education, they replied that they had been carefully taught by their former mistress, Mrs. Smith, in Columbus. North Carolina, in which village they were born.

They are now fifteen years old, and were when ordinarily bright for girls of their age, having had the advantage of foreign travel. They both sang very sweetly, one having a soprano, and the other a contralto voice, and we have rarely heard two voices that blended so perfect in a duet. Among their other accomplishments is that of dancing, and the manner in which they manage to execute a waltz is truly wonderful. When standing at ease the left foot of one and the right foot of the other do not lie flat upon the floor, but rest upon the toes. In walking, however, they step with all their feet alike, although they can hold up two feet and walk with perfect ease with the other two.

In speaking of them as one, they are called Millie-Christie, but in addressing them separately, one applies the distinctive appellation, the on the left being called Millie, and she on the right Christie; though Christie, in addressing her other half, calls her "Sister." There is a striking resemblance between their faces, and the conformation of their heads is much the same—Christie being a shade brighter than her sister, and rather more talkative.

Before seeing these strange girls we had fancied that we would experience a feeling of repulsion, but the first glance at their bright, cheerful faces dispelled that idea effectually.—New Orleans Picayune

People who are Too Cool.

A writer, discoursing upon this subject, gives the following illustrations of people whom he thinks were too cool:—I have read of people who were too calm and cool, indeed. Of such a character, I think was the conductor who, when he ran over a man, said he never liked to do it, "because it messed up the track so." And speaking of sexes, and following this train of thought, I may mention a young man from the country who went into hardware store in New York, and rapping a great blow with his knuckles, remarked, "I had an old dog ripped to pieces with one of those fellers last week." I think that young man exhibited too little emotion for the occasions. It showed a lack of filial affection only comparable to that of a boy belonging to a primary school in Manchester, New Hampshire, who assured his schoolmates that he would soon soon be able to indulge in his favorite sport on the river with the best of them. "Father," said he, "has gone to the war, and when he gets killed I am going to have his fishlines." "As cool a person, under the circumstances, as ever I heard of, was a young nobleman, who, in a frightful railway accident, missed his valet. One of the guards came up to him and said: "My lord, we have found your servant, but he is cut in two." "Aw, is he?" said the young man, with a Dundreary drawl, but still with some anxiety depicted on his countenance, "Will you be good enough to see in which half he has got the key of my carpet-bag?" To a sensitive mind his anxiety seems to have been misplaced. The same unconcern to the awful aspect of death was exhibited by a man in New Jersey in 1859, who was employed to canvass to bury the body of a Mr. Wilson, who had died about fifty miles from home of the cholera. On finding the house he knocked at the door, and the wife of the deceased opened it. "Does Mr. Wilson live here?" said the man. "Yes," said the lady, "but he is not at home to-day." "No, I know he ain't," said the young man, with a shocking tone of voice, thinking to break the news gently, "but he will be in a minute, 'cause I've got him here dead in my waggon." There was a still more reprehensible callousness in the remark of a man who was sentenced to be hung, and who was asked of the sheriff the night before the appointed day. "I say, Mr. Sheriff, at what hour does this little affair of mine come off?"

Intelligence of a Good Farmer.

It is scarcely necessary for any one to say that this or that man is, or is not an excellent or a good farmer, or gardener; for his land, his crops, his stock, and every thing named about him, all show in condition and worth of the case. A correspondent, T. Co, of Kennedy, O., writes:

'A good farmer will not keep more cattle, horses, or other stock, than he can keep in good order. Stock in good order at the beginning of winter, are worth more wintered than poor stock. A good farmer will keep a straw stack as good comfortable thatched for his stock to help by or under during the shifting blasts of winter; a little money spent in preparing sheds for stock will return a very good interest.

'A good farmer will not depend upon his neighbors for what he can produce himself; he will carry plant and a good orchard of the different varieties of fruit, and take special care to cultivate the small fruits and berries, also to make a good garden, and keep the same in the best of order.—And if his neighbors see that he is doing all this—trying to produce all that is necessary to make himself and family comfortable—they will be very willing, and even glad sometimes to furnish him and family fruit, &c., while his own orchard is growing up.

'A good farmer will pay attention to political matters, and not be ignorant of the great questions of National and State policy, which will always agitate, more or less, a free people. Yet, in doing this he will not spend his time in the village, by the store or down a wheeling pine bank; but will attend to his various kinds of work in due season, and fix up all things ready for the approaching winter.

'A good farmer will not plough more land than he can cultivate well; poorly cultivated land is always growing poorer, while well tilled land is constantly improving.

'A good farmer takes care of all his fields alike; he will not slight some fields because they are not so rich and pleasant to work as others; but will devote his attention to the improvement of his whole farm, and not let any part go to waste, to grow briars and brakes.

'When a good farmer has anything to sell he is willing to take a fair price when offered to him. I know a farmer who last year was offered $3.10 per bushel for his wheat; he was not willing to sell at that, he wanted five dollars per bushel; waited a while for the market to rise, and was glad to take $2.50 per bushel.

HEAVES IN HORSES.

In the 'Modern Horse Doctor,' by Dadd, the direct cause of heaves, or broken wind, are imputed to over-exertion and indigestion. If the general health of the animal can be improved, a mitigation of the particular ailment will result, and, possibly, in some cases, a cure. The first point to be obtained is a restoration of the digestive functions, and for this purpose aromatic tonics are given, professionally denominated 'tincture of aromatic sulphuric acid,' and chlorhum, in a pint of water, night and morning. At the same time the horse is subjected to a course of alternative medicine, compounded of powdered ginger, gentian, saltpeter, salt, cream of tartar, sweet coal, licorice, pimpernipe, caraway seeds and balm of Gilead buds, chopped fine, equal parts of each. Mix and give the food one ounce of the compound every night.

While under the influence of this preparation divers exercise or hard or protracted labor should be avoided; but the horse not necessarily kept totel inactive. An improvement is condition manifests itself, the aromatic tincture may be given more sparingly and soon be omitted entirely, and the alternative medicines be diminished half, yet continuing to be both as before night and morning. Water from a bucket regularly three times exchanged, and if a good mandrake of food, mainly the oatmeal, occasionally at regular feeding times. A slight infusion of garlic into the food, chopped fine, chips, is reported to produce paying results. An entire cure of a fairly pronounced case of heaves is not exactly accomplished by any mode of treatment, and, indeed, such a case be considered able

FRED ECONOMICALLY.—Farmers pay peace in the fall of the year to believe they have an abundance of food for their stock during the approaching winter, and in most instances it is the case; but enough is held on hand to carry them through the winter and spring with their calculations, and the result when March comes is they are short of hay. Cattle do much better when fed often, and a little at time. We have tried it most effectually, and always found our stock in much better condition when [illegible] spare of hay was eaten up. We also [illegible] the discovery that stock will eat corn meal as much feed during the winter when fed in this way, and farmers are not troubled with the oats, and the stock always have good appetite. Two tons of hay will more than winter a cow in Minnesota when fed economically.—Farmer's Union.

An editor of a Colorado paper, not willing to lose his time, has published, in lieu of market reports, a memorandum of events during six months of his editorial business life, which we take as near as one could desire:

Set in motion by an insane man	1,000
Accepted	5,200
Invited friends	1
Heard the question asked, "What's the news?"	31,630
Insulted to answer	0
Received news of an explosion	31,624
Gave notes	19
Paid notes	0
Invited to soirees, balls, and dinners, by persons desiring puffs	5,242
Refused	23
Promised to quit	46
Kept promise	3
Called on to correct misspelling	310
Complied	120
Threatened to be whipped	32
Whipped	6
Whipped the editor fellow	0
Shot at, average	0
Spoke of political principle, which I was driving at to [illegible]	118
Changed my political opinions	15

Registration of Births and Deaths in the Province of Ontario.

At the last session of the Assembly of Ontario a Bill was passed providing for the registration of all births and deaths. The following are some of its provisions:—

It shall be the duty of the Head or Heads of every family in the Province of Ontario, in whose house a birth takes place or a death occurs, within thirty days thereafter to give a return of the same to the Clerk of the Township, Village, Town or City within which the said event may reside; the said return of births to be in the form of Schedule A to this Act annexed, and the said return of deaths to be in the form of Schedule B to this Act annexed.

Whenever in any place not already included within the bounds of a Municipality, a birth takes place or a death occurs, it shall be the duty of the Head or Heads of every family in whose house the same may happen to make to the nearest Township Clerk the returns provided for in the foregoing section.

The Clerk of each aforesaid Township, Village, Town or City shall have printed such portions of this Act as relate to the duties of the Head or Heads of families, and cause suitable copies of the same to be posted up on every School House within, and also in five other of the most public places of the said Township, Village, Town or City.

The Registrar, under this Act, shall be entitled to receive from the Council or Corporation of every County, Union of Counties and City [illegible] cents, each for every birth or death returned by him to the way and manner already provided.

Every duly qualified medical practitioner, who shall have been present at the birth of any child, or in attendance during the last illness of any person who died, shall, on the first day of January in each and every year, according to Schedule A and B hereto annexed, make returns to the Clerk of the Township, Village, Town or City wherein the said birth or death may have occurred.

On receipt of said return from aforesaid medical practitioner, and thereon on receipt of said Assessment Roll, the Clerk of the aforesaid Township, Village, Town or City shall immediately compare the same with the aforementioned returns already made him by the Head or Heads of families; if, on making said comparison, it be discovered that births or deaths have been omitted to be returned, the said Clerk shall notify in writing the person or persons who have made such omissions to come forward before him, the said Clerk, within twenty days from the date of said notice, and confirm to sections one and two of this Act; and if such person or persons neglect to come forward, having first received the aforementioned notice, any Justice of the Peace before whom complaint may be made by the said Clerk, praying him to proceed summarily under this Act, may hear and determine such offence.

The offender, upon conviction before such Justice, shall forfeit and pay such fine as may to him appear meet—not exceeding four dollars, together with costs, the sum of ten dollars. Such fine shall be paid to the Treasurer of the Municipality in which the offence was committed, and shall make part of the funds thereof.

If the fine awarded by the said Justice, together with the costs ordered to be not paid either immediately after the conviction, or within such period as the said Justice at the time of the conviction appoints, he may commit the offender to the Common Gaol or House of Correction there to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding one month, unless such fine and costs be sooner paid.

All births or deaths which may happen in any place other than a "House," shall be included within the scope of this Act, and are hereby required to be returned as already provided, to the Clerk of the Township, Village, Town or City in which the same occur, by the Head or Heads of the family to which the child born or the person deceased may belong, or be so returned by any person who either finds a newborn child or the body of any one deceased, and any parties who shall neglect to make the returns provided by this and the foregoing sections, shall render the person guilty of such neglect liable to the penalties provided in sections fifteen and sixteen of this Act.

Any person who shall knowingly or wilfully make, or shall cause to be made, for the purpose of being inserted in any Register of births or deaths, any false statement touching any of the particulars herein required to be known and registered, shall be subject to a penalty of twenty dollars, to be recovered as other penalties under this Act.

A short time since a young negro at Memphis eloped with a white girl, the daughter of his employer. He was captured by the sheriff and detained in custody. A despatch from Memphis informs us that the lo-lo-bird have just taken him from the sheriff and lynched him. A rope was put around his neck, by which he was lifted a few inches from the ground. Turpentine was then poured upon him, a torch was applied, and the victim was consigned to flames. The hempen rope was eaten in two, and the negro, half roasted, allowed for a moment to escape, was shot to death as he ran.

A London dressmaker has been fined for keeping five girls at work after half past four o'clock on Saturday. She urged in extenuation that she was engaged on a large order for dresses for a corps of "Girls of the Period," in a pantomime requiring haste, but the excuse did not avail her.

Lady Mary Hamilton sister of the present Duke of Hamilton, is shortly, it is said, going to be married to Prince Hohenzollern, brother of Prince Charles of Roumania.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy; the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished to Anatomy what it at last accomplished in Hygiene by the Great Rheumatic Remedy, which has so often checked the inroad of those lung diseases of the throat which imprudence and exposure have united to make so common.

BRYAN'S WAFERS.—The great public remedy have ever been in use over twenty years, hence it cannot be said that they are on trial. They have been thoroughly tried, and pronounced (on the authority of those whose lives and health they have preserved) to be a pure, harmless, and eminently salutary preparation, and if taken in season will immediately cure colds, coughs, sore throat, and all Bronchial affections. One fair trial will convince the most skeptical. Sold by all medicine dealers, at 25 cts per box.

Twenty years experience in using Hayden's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs and irritation of the throat, healed by cold, or excessive exertion of the vocal organs. Public speakers and singers will find these most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Hayden's Pulmonic Wafers, or Cough and Voice Lozenges, the only remedy for the most delicate children, and their administration to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25cts per box.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

An assortment of Electro Plate Ornate, Toast Racks, Butter Coolers, Jellie, Pickers, Cups, Cake and Card Baskets, Napkin Rings, Pickle Forks and other goods in this line.

Silver, Pocket and Table Cutlery.

Hoe & Co's Tuttle × Cut Saw.

Kenyon's Files and Steel.

G. STETHEM & Co.

Sign of the Green-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Clothing Store.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Frauds, &c.—A. Holt.
Teacher Wanted—Robt. Clement.
Notice—W. H. Barbergh.
Steamer and House for Sale—A. McNeil.
Abstract Statement—Ashburnham.
To the Working Classes—E. C. Allen.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1869.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

This body finished its sittings on Saturday. The usual routine business of appointing officers and settling the apportionments for roads and bridges, occupied a great part of their time.

The subject of selling the $5000 debentures paid over by the Town, to aid in the construction of the Mud Lake and Pigeon Creek bridges, and applying the proceeds to roads and bridges, was discussed and abandoned. The majority of the Council holding that it would be a breach of faith to put them to any other purpose than that intended, to wit: $5000 of the debentures issued by the County. It was pleasing to see how unanimous the Council was on this point.

The grant of one hundred dollars was asked for the preliminary survey of a Wooden Railway to Haliburton. A few of the members were in favor of it, but the majority thought it would be better to pay a practical man to explore the County, as a report of a survey would be sure to be partial and one sided. The sum was not granted.

There having been some dissatisfaction in regard to the way the election of Warden has been conducted in the past. It was thought best to enact a standing rule on the subject, and accordingly a rule is now in force providing for the election of the Warden by ballot, except in the case of a tie, when the casting vote shall be openly given.—Another standing rule has been enacted, providing that petitions for money shall be referred to the Finance. And a third rule provides that after the estimates have been submitted no money shall be given unless voted by two thirds of the whole Council.

The remuneration to the Warden has never been settled until the past session, when a motion was passed, fixing it at $100.

The Property Committee also recommended some changes in the building. Here, after the Council Chamber will be up-stairs where the Grand Jury room is. Some partitions are being taken down, passages changed, and a more commodious and comfortable chamber is being prepared for the next session.

The present Council Chamber will be offered to the Clerk of the County Court and to the Clerk of the Peace, we believe.

There was a very evident desire on the part of the members to limit expenditures, so as to lessen the rate for the present year.

A communication from the agent of the Bank of Toronto, in reference to the Bank account, showed that money matters were carefully managed by the old council. The excessive rate last year being due to the existence of arrears, which they found themselves compelled to pay off. The community will feel pleased at the end of this year, if the new council can but lessen the County rate. It is better, however, to pay a heavy rate than keep up a debt of yearly deficits and discounts.

Visit of the Chief Superintendent of Education.

Our readers will see by a circular in another column, that Dr. Ryerson will visit this County on the 3rd of March, and hold a convention to explain the features of his new Bill. We advise the friends of education to send the Bill and be prepared to give an intelligent assent or dissent to it; and to be prepared to offer what might be considered amendments thereto, if thought advisable. We also invite the attention of trustees, teachers and others to the wisdom of holding a Public Meeting at an earlier day than the 3rd of March, in order that they may have an opportunity for discussing the Bill on its merits, and for this purpose the advice of several gentlemen has been taken, and they all recommend a convention as soon as possible, of which due notice will be given.—There are some good points in the proposed Bill, and there are some the wisdom of which may be doubted. The doctor appears desirous of obtaining an expression of public opinion on the new Bill, and we should be prepared to give our ideas. Another thing we should be agreed upon, and that is, to make the Chief Superintendent wait and hear what we have to say. When he visited Peterboro some years ago, he delivered his speech and left immediately. Not one word of the arguments set forth were ever heard by him, and the majority of the people also left at the same time. We should be prepared to ask him to limit the time of his address, so that he may be able to hear what others think of the matter in question. His conventions will prove abortive if he pursues the same course he did before; and he should be prepared to give the opinions of the people due consideration.

A statement is in circulation in Montreal that the Intercolonial Railway Commissioners have decided to change the form of contract, so as to give power to themselves to add or to diminish the compensation of contractors as they may deem proper.

A disease has broken out among horses in Montreal, caused, it is supposed, by feeding them on refuse from breweries and sugar refineries.

WEALTH.

This new notorious individual is safely locked up in the Central Prison, Toronto, and will remain until released. Mr. Justice Cameron would go no further unless a reprieve be allowed. It is necessary to send the application signed by Mr. Justice Cameron, and countersigned by Sir George Etienne, that the Privy Council would entertain the case. This is now contradicted, as Mr. Cameron would go no further unless a reprieve be allowed. It will be necessary to send the application signed by Mr. Justice Cameron, and countersigned by Sir George Etienne, that the Privy Council would entertain the case. This is now contradicted, as Mr. Cameron would go no further unless a reprieve be allowed. It is

HOW RATES TO BE IMPOSED.

10. In Counties and Rural Municipalities, the rates shall be so imposed as at most to the dollar upon the assessed value of all the real and personal property liable to assessment therein.

11. And Whereas it is enacted by the first day of January, in the year of Our Lord, 1867, by Municipal Corporations under any By-law, and based upon the yearly value of rateable property, at the time of passing such By-law, shall hold the order of priority which they occupied on the said first day of January, 1867, and each Municipal Corporation (having so passed declaratory By-law) shall levy a rate on the actual real value of the rateable property within the Municipality represented, sufficient to produce a sum equal to that hereinbefore or previously on the Assessment Roll for the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six; and such rates shall be applied solely to the payment of such Debentures, or interest on such Debentures, according to the terms of the By-law under which they were issued.

In cases where a Sinking Fund is required to be provided, either by the investment of a specific rate or amount, or on a rate on the income in value over a certain sum, then such a rate shall be levied, as shall at least equal the sum originally intended to be set apart.

12. In order to comply with the provisions of the Consolidated Municipal Loan Fund Act (Consolidated Statutes of Canada, chapter eighty-three,) a rate of not less than one-third of a cent in the dollar upon the actual value of all rateable property, shall be levied by all Municipalities subject to the Municipal Loan Fund; unless a smaller rate would produce eight per cent, upon the capital of the loan; Provided always, that if such rate of one-third of a cent in the dollar upon the actual value of rateable property according to the assessment of any year, shall produce a less sum than five cents in the dollar, on the annual value of the property in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, such a rate shall be levied as will produce a sum equal to that produced by a rate of five cents in the dollar on the Assessment Rolls of the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight.

13. The Council of County or Local Municipality shall, every year, make estimates of all sums which may be required for the lawful purposes of the County, or local Municipality, for the year in which such estimates are required to be levied, each Municipality making due allowance for the cost of collection and of the abatement and losses which may occur in the collection of the assessed for taxes on the lands of non-residents which may not be collected.

14. The Council of every Municipality may pass one By-law or several By-laws, authorizing the levying and collecting of a rate or rates of so much in the dollar, upon the assessed value of the property therein as the Council deem sufficient to raise the sums required on such estimates.

15. If the amount collected falls short of the sums required, the Council may direct the deficiency to be made up from any unappropriated fund belonging to the Municipality.

16. If there be no unappropriated fund, the deficiency may be equally deducted from the sums estimated as required, or from any one or more of them.

17. If the sums collected exceed the estimates, the balance shall form part of the General Fund of the Municipality, and be at the disposal of the Council, unless otherwise specially appropriated, but if any portion of the amount in excess has been collected on account of a special tax upon any particular locality, the amount in excess collected on account of such special tax shall be appropriated to the special local object.

18. The taxes or rates imposed or levied for any year shall be considered to have been imposed and to be due on and from the 1st day of January of the then current year, and collected with the thirty-first day of December thereof, unless otherwise expressly provided for by the Councillor or By-law under which the same are directed to be levied.

ASSESSMENT OF ASSESSORS AND COLLECTORS.

19. The County of every Municipality, except Counties, shall appoint each number of Assessors and Collectors for the Municipality as they deem necessary.

20. And they may appoint in each Assessor and Collector the Assessment District or Districts therein, within which he shall act, and may prescribe regulations for governing them in the performance of their duties.

DUTIES OF ASSESSORS.

21. The Assessor or Assessors shall prepare an Assessment Roll in which after diligent enquiry, he or they shall set down according to the best information to be had:

She names and surnames in full, if the same can be ascertained, of all taxable persons resident in the Municipality who have taxable property therein, or in the district for which the Assessor has been appointed.

And of all non-resident owners who shall have given the notice in writing mentioned in section six and required their names to be entered in the Roll.

The description and extent or amount of property assessable against each.

22. Land shall be assessed in the Municipality in which the same lies and in the case of Cities and Towns, in the ward in which the property lies, and this shall include the land of incorporated companies, as well as other property, and when any business is carried on by a person or a Municipality in which he does not reside or in two or more Municipalities, the personal property belonging to such person shall be assessed in the Municipality in which such personal property is situated and against the person in possession or charge thereof as well as against the owner.

23. Land occupied by the owner shall be assessed in his name.

Does Know What to Do. We sometimes hear persons say, 'my horse is sadly out of condition, and I cannot tell either what is the matter with him, or how to get him into better order;' they appear to be ignorant of the fact that there is within their reach a remedy safe, sure, and effectual in all cases. Many persons who deal in horses use large quantities of it, and testify that its effects are most satisfactory. One horse dealer informs us that his horses' conditions and appearance are so much improved by its use that they sell more rapidly and for higher prices. The article is 'Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy.' Nothing else is equal to it for the same purpose. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

The Lumber Trade.—We cannot deny that we are suffering severely in our lumber regions for want of a market for coarse lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have not made any purchase in the Provinces the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe we can't ship it to England, but serious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, burns, bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign market for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

It is very painful to see so many public men whose desires compel them to sacrifice their health to the interests of their profession and the public. How many clergymen there are whose usefulness is marred by diseases of the larynx and bronchia! How many public men there are who feel that they could command the masses much better if they had the strength of lungs and ample voice which were so useful to them at the beginning of their career! And yet these misfortunes may be remedied by resorting to the Great Rheumatic Remedy, now for sale by all druggists.

MARRIED.

In the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Fairmount, Somerset, 20th, by the Rev. Edward Morrow, M. A., of Cobourg, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Thomas Morrow to Jennie, eldest daughter of James Howden, Esq., all of Cavan, Province of Ontario.

On the 23rd inst., at Peterboro Mission House, by Mr. J. W. Butcher, B. C. Minister, Mr. Charles Long to Miss Lydia Turner, both of Dowro.

DIED.

On the 25th ult., at the Mission House, Peterborough, Ont., William James, youngest son of Mr. John W. Butcher, B. C. Minister, aged 10 months and 26 days.

This lovely bud, so young and fair,
Called hence by early doom,
Just came to show how sweet a flower
In Paradise would bloom.

IAMATOLOGIA!

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Peterborough, February 4, 1869.

Flour ₱ bri		$4	50	@	$5	00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall		0	00	@	1	10
Spring Wheat ₱ bush		0	00	@	0	95
Peas	"	0	75	@	0	80
Barley	"	0	00	@	1	00
Oats	"	0	00	@	0	97
Potatoes	"	0	45	@	0	45
Hay ₱ ton		9	00	@	11	00
Hides ₱ cwt		6	00	@	6	50
Beef ₱ cwt		4	50	@	6	00
Sheepskins		1	00	@	1	00
Wool ₱ lb		0	20	@	0	21
Pork ₱ cwt		7	50	@	8	50
Eggs, per dozen		0	15	@	0	20
Butter,		0	18	@	0	20
Cordwood		3	50	@	3	00
Fowl, per pair		0	30	@	0	35
Geese		0	45	@	0	50
Turkeys		0	60	@	1	00

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, trembling coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and self-administered to the child: drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, O. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N B—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 23

The Great English Remedy.

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

This well-known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy, for Female Difficulties and Obstruction from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, heaviness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, lowness of spirits, hysterics, sick headache, whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

N. B. $1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorised Agent will ensure a bottle, containing Pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, Ont.
General Agents for Canada.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills are extensively Counterfeited. The genuine have the name of "JOB MOSES" on each package. All others are worthless.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

IAMATOLOGIA!

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay All Pain and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and Can Say in Confidence and Truth of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—Never has it Failed in a Single Instance to Effect a Cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, and Purpose our Reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

Offices:—215 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1yr

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
Sole Agents for Canada.

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensible article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our men all say it acts like magic."

J. W. HEWITT,
Foreman for Adams, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.

"The Sprain of my daughters ankle, caused while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.

ED. KELLY."

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1868.

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beast, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery-men and planters, should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and the private U. S. stamp of Demas Barnes & Co. over the top.

An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone plate label. Look closely!

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alterative compound, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size: by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, poisoning the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. HURD, Successor to Hurd & Co.,
Maiden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
NEWCASTLE, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canadas

PRICE FORTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Colds, Coughs and Consumption.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALLAM—Cures Bronchitis, Asthma and Croup.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Imparts strength to the system.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Is pleasant to take.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—always gives satisfaction or the money will be refunded. It is recommended by prominent Physicians: and while it is pleasant to take and harmless in its nature, it is a powerful remedy for curing all diseases of the Lungs.—Sold by all Druggist.

PERRY DANIS & SON, Agents,
326, St. Paul Street, Montreal.

New Advertisements.

PRUNES, PRUNES—A superior article.

DRIED APPLES!

ORANGES and LEMONS!

At A. HALL'S,
George street.

Peterboro, Feb. 3rd, 1869. 5-2in

WANTED!

FOR School Section, No. 10, Douro, A MALE TEACHER holding a First Class Certificate.

By order of Trustees,
ROBT. CASEMENT,
Sec'y-Treas.

Lakefield, North Douro, Feb. 2, 1869. 5

TO THE WORKING CLASS. I am now prepared to furnish constant employment to all classes at their homes, for their spare months. Business new, light and profitable. Fifty cents to $5 per evening is easily earned, and the boys and girls earn nearly as much as men. Great inducements are offered. All who see this notice please send me their address and test the business for themselves.—If not well satisfied I will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing to me. Full particulars sent free. Sample sent by mail for ten cents in stamps. Address

E. C. ALLEN, Augusta, Me

5-4in

NOTICE!

THE next meeting of the Board of Instruction for the Eastern circuit of the County of Peterboro, for the examination of Teachers will be held in the School House at Norwood,

On Thursday, May 29, 1869,

At 10 o'clock, a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

By order
W. H. ROXBURGH,
Secretary
Norwood, Jan'y 30th, 1869. 5-1d

STEAMER AND SCOWS
FOR SALE BY
PUBLIC AUCTION

THE undersigned is instructed by Messrs. Campbell and Hilliard, Trustees, to sell by Public Auction, The STEAMER "MAGGIE HALES" and the FOUR SCOWS usually used with said Steamer. The said Steamer and Scows, are now lying at Harwood, Rice Lake.

There are in said Steamer two Engines each of 8 Inches Cylinder, 18 Inches Stroke and 10 Horse Power. Both in good condition.

The Scows are of large size and in good repair.

SALE to take place at CAISSE'S HOTEL, in the TOWN of PETERBORO', on TUESDAY, the SIXTEENTH day of FEBRUARY, 1869, at TWO o'clock in the afternoon.

THE STEAMER will be put up at an upset price of $1,200. There will be a Reserve Bid on each of the Scows.

TERMS of Payment easy and made known at time of Sale.

ALEX. McNEIL,
Auctioneer
Peterboro', 5th. 22, 1869. 5-2in.

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Omemee and Peterboro.

The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterboro, January 13, 1869. 2

FOR SALE.

100,000 Brick.

STEPHEN WOOD.

Otonabee, January 13, 1869. 2tf

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

Issuer of Marriage Licences.

OFFICE at James Bent's Dry Goods Store, George Street. 7

Municipality of Ashburnham.

ABSTRACT STATEMENT OF TREASURER'S ACCOUNTS.

1868.			1868
	To balance on hand	$647 77	Feby 15	By County and Debentures rate	$1699 61
Jan. 4	Received from Collector up to Jan. 30, 1869	2421 06		Salaries for 1868	224 00
Feby 5	Non-resident's taxes up to Dec., 1868	260 00	15	Paid two sets by Municipal Manual	2 00
Mar. 10	Market and Market Scales up to Dec., 1868	55 00	Mar. 10	Mrs. Dawson, for wood	3 00
"	Amount received for Revenue	140 00		Paid accounts	102 67½
Aug. 6	From Clergy Reserve Fund	82 00		Paid note	150 37
			Dec'r 16	School	225 00
				Paid for roads	204 08½
				Per postage on silver	5 33
				School moneys	10 00
				Nicholls & Hall debenture	319 72
				Balance	151 05
		$3808 71			$3808 71
1869 Jan'y 1	To balance on hand	$151 05

We, the undersigned Auditors, appointed by the corporation of the Village of Ashburnham, to audit the Treasurer's accounts, beg leave to report that we have examined the same, and found them correct.

D. HAGGART,
GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D., } Auditors.

Great Bargains
IN
FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction of the Peterboro' Western Circuit, for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

In the Town of Peterborough, on

Thursday, June 3rd, 1869.

Commencing at 10 a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.
Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1868. 2

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

NOTICE!

ALL persons having any claims against the Municipality of Burleigh, Anstruther, &c., are hereby requested to furnish a statement of such claim, and the nature thereof, forthwith, to the Reeve.

Address, Chandos Post Office.

S. W. CLEGG,
Reeve of Burleigh, &c.
January, 27, 1869. 4

CAUTION.

I HEREBY CAUTION THE PUBLIC against purchasing a note of hand made by the undersigned in favor of Mathewson & Co., of Montreal, dated 4th February, 1863, payable at 18 months after date, for $109, as I have settled and hold a receipt for the same.

W. ROBB,
Asphodel.
Asphodel, Jan. 22, 1869. 4-3in*

PORK!

50 BLS. MESS and 150 BLS. PRIME MESS, for sale at

WALTER BEAL'S,
(J. Carnegie's) old stand, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.
Peterboro, January 27, 1869. 4-3in

FARM FOR SALE.

SOUTH HALF OF LOT No. 21 in the 11th concession of the Township of Smith.—There are 50 acres under cultivation, and the balance is good hardwood land.

For terms, &c., apply to
WM. ADAMS, Lakefield P. O.
or ALEX. PRESTON, Smith.
Smith, Dec. 23, 1868. 52

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to
T. M. FAIRBAIRN.
Nov. 26, 1868. 48

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor.
Peterboro, Sept, 14, 1868. 38

Teacher Wanted.

WANTED immediately, for School Section No. 1, Dummer, an experienced Teacher, holding first or second class certificate.

JOHN KIDD,
DAVID KELLEY, } Trustees.
Dummer, January 20, 1869. 3

Notice to the Public.

THIS is to give notice, that from and after this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by any person, without my written order, of which all parties will please take notice.

MICHAEL SHEEHAN.
January 5, 1868. 1-3in*

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 12th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.
Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

BENNETTOWN, FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

BARRISTERS, &c.,

Hunter Street, , Peterborough.

VALUABLE PROPERTY
FOR SALE,
On Aylmer Street, Peterborough.

WILL be sold by AUCTION, on SATURDAY, 27th of February, 1869, at one o'clock, the

MACHINE SHOP,

Steam Engine, Shafting and Machinery, with 30 feet frontage of Lot on Aylmer street, either in whole or in part to suit purchasers.

Terms made known at time of sale, and all information given to intending buyers.

The above premises are well adapted for all kinds of trades.

Title indisputable.

For further information apply to
WILLIAM MALCOM.
Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4

VALUABLE PROPERTY
FOR SALE,
IN THE VILLAGE OF ASHBURNHAM.

THE subscriber offers for sale the valuable property on which he at present resides, being Lot No. 4, North of Elizabeth street, containing half an acre of land, on which are the Dwelling House, Stables and Sheds attached. There is a good well of water, and the Lot is pleasantly situated on the main street. It will be sold in whole or in parts to suit purchasers. Title Perfect.

Apply to the owner on the premises.

P. SARGENT.

Or at this office.
Ashburnham, Jan. 13, 1869. 3-tf

Mortgage Sale.

BY virtue of a power of sale contained in a Mortgage made by the late W. S. Conger and Sarah, his wife, to Stephen Lee and Alan Cameron, the property therein mentioned, being Lots 10, 11, 12 and 13, south of Loudon street, and Lots 10, 11, 12 and 13, North of Macdonald street, in the Town of Peterborough, will be sold at the door of the Court House, in Peterborough, on TUESDAY, the NINTH day of FEBRUARY, 1869, at noon.

J. HILLYARD CAMERON,
for the Mortgagees.
Toronto, 5th January 1869. 3-1d

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale that Valuable Farm, the South half of Lot No. 24 in the 12th concession of Smith.

There are 98 acres of good tillable land, nine acres of which are in woods. There is a good Log House on the property; also, Stables and Barn, and an Orchard beginning to bear.—There is also a good Well near the dwelling. It is situated 4½ miles from the Village of Lakefield. There is a Blacksmith Shop, a Store and a Post Office on the Lot.

For further particulars apply to
THOS. HOULIHAN,
Selwyn P. O., On the premises.
Smith, January 27, 1869. 4

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 16, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Apply to
FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.
Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.
Peterboro, August 20, 1868. 26-tf

Houses and Lots for Sale!

THAT Commodious Stone Dwelling House and Lot on Brock street, not far from the Commercial House, Peterboro.

Also, the Lot on Mark street, Ashburnham, at present occupied by the owner, will be sold on moderate terms. For particulars apply to

MARIA FOSTER,
Ashburnham.
January, 19th, 1869. 3

STRAYED, to the premises of the subscriber, lot 19 concession 15 of Harvey, A RED AND WHITE SPOTTED HEIFER. The owner can have it by paying expenses.

LEWIS PARKER,
January 20, 1869. Bobcaygeon P. O

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

READY-MADE CLOTHING

OFFERING

VERY CHEAP

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats

Winter Sack Coats

Winter Shooting Coats,

Winter Pants and Winter Vests.

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

☞ BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterboro, January, 1869. 3

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. Stratton & Armstrong, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, Mr. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 8 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting.

Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

A Fresh Supply of

Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,

BLANKETS,

DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,

CARPETS,

And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.

Just received by

I. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

A CARD.

J. W. GILMOUR has much pleasure in having returning thanks to his Friends and the Public generally, in Peterborough and its vicinity, for the liberal patronage with which they have favored him. He takes this means to inform the same that he has made arrangements to a Partnership with Dr. W. H. TAYLOR, of Montreal—a gentleman thoroughly trained to the business of Chemist and Druggist, in old and well known Establishments in that City, and who has also been in the Practice of his Medical Profession there for more than ten years—but has been obliged to relinquish its onerous duties on account of failing health. Dr. Taylor has already entered on his duties here, and will devote his time more especially to the preparation of Physicians' Prescriptions and family Recipes, and otherwise will co-operate with me in the general management of the business. The Public may rely upon having not only a careful but a skilful attention to their requirements in this department. Nothing but Pure and Genuine Drugs will be selected, and a full assortment of the Official Preparations of the British and United States Pharmacopœia will constantly be kept on hand. With these additions to his other facilities for successfully carrying on business, the Subscriber respectfully solicits a continuance of the Liberal Patronage hitherto bestowed upon him.

J. W. GILMOUR,
Corner of George and Hunter Streets.
Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4-tf

JOHN BERTRAM,

Importer and Dealer in

BAR, ROD, HOOP & SHEET IRON

SLINGH SHOE & CAST STEEL,

Anvils, Bellows, Stocks and Dies; Hand, Sledge and Shoeing Hammers. Jowett & Firth's

Horse Rasps and Files,

Carriage Bolts made from Best Refined Iron. Proved Logging Chains, Trotting Patent, Pitch Morlands & Robertson's Cross-Cut Saws, Machine Saws, Warranted Steelyards, Hay Knives, Bread and Narrow Axes.

A complete Stock Hand Saws, Chisels, Gouges, Planes, Spirit Levels, and all kinds of Carpenters' Tools.

Pale Seal Oil, Leather Belting, Russian Hemp Rope.

Table and Pocket Cutlery, Electroplated and Albata Plate Spoons and Forks, R. P. Crests, Cake Baskets, &c.,

JUST RECEIVED from Berwick-on-Tweed, 40 DOZEN of BLACK'S

Cast Steel Spades and Draining Tools

unsurpassed in quality.

JOHN BERTRAM,
Hardware Merchant, Peterborough.
Jan. 6th 1869. 2-tf

Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

ORMOND & WALSH,

Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very liberal patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is complete with Drugs and Chemicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would particularly impress upon their Friends and the Public generally, the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent but also responsible for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labeled.

The undersigned being fully impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug Store, beg to assure their customers that Physicians' prescriptions and Family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for faithfulness and correctness as to their requirements. Their Stock consists of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a respectable Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Essay and Toilet Articles, Cod Oil, Cod Liver, &c., &c.

CHARLES ORMOND, | WILLIAM WALSH.
Peterboro', Jan. 15, 1869.

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all articles in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,

And of best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place,
Directly opposite Mr. John Sherin's.
SHORTLY & HARPER.
Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 43-12in

THE ÆTNA
LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville.
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq., Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Sole Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.
Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Cassels, Pres't. E. W. Cox, Vice-Pres't.
F. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phœnix Insurance Company,
BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 Court Street, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 120 Broadway, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing sur

Poetry.

THREE WEEKS AFTER MARRIAGE.

"My dearest you are going out?
Indeed, 'tis very cold;
And see, your hair, covered your neck
This handkerchief unfold.

You know how anxious for your health,
My own dear George, am I;
One having kiss before we parte—
Good-bye, sweet chuck, good-bye!

THREE YEARS AFTER MARRIAGE.

You're going out now by don't you go?
I cannot help the rain;
Your weather's grieve me mightily
To never come back again!

Umbrella? I don't know where 'tis!
What!! You want next, I wonder?
Don't pester me about your cold;
Good gracious!—go to thunder!

Varieties.

A Strange Case.

A murder trial in England has recently demonstrated, in a very shocking manner, the liability of juries to convict innocent men, even of a capital crime. In August last a laborer named Cornish was found murdered in a field near the city of Wells, in Somersetshire, his head beaten in with a stone [illegible] lying beside him. The story told by the person on his arrest was, that being drunk the night before, and finding Cornish asleep on the ground, he had [illegible] stop by his side, and awaking had seen a tall man committing the murder. It was ascertained that another laborer named Sweet, and his mistress a woman called Drew, had been in company with both Bisgrove and Cornish up to very near the time of the murder. Both were arrested. The woman being called as a witness for the Crown testified that she had quarrelled with Sweet, had gone with Bisgrove alone into the field and left [illegible] there with the sleeping Cornish, and had also [illegible] and returned to his company until both were arrested. Her story was supposed to be an invention for the purpose of screening her paramour Sweet, and the jury evidently believed that the quarrel had occured between the two prisoners and the murdered man, and had been prompted by jealousy. Sweet and Bisgrove were both found guilty; but no sooner had they been remanded to gaol than Bisgrove made a confession entirely exonerating Sweet, and corroborating the woman's story. The confession reveals one of the most extraordinary cases of murder without any motive that ever came to our knowledge. The murderer had gone to sleep by his victim's side. When I waked up,' said he, 'I was going away, but something seemed to tell me that I must murder that man, and then I went over to the niter and found the stone and brought it over on my head, and I threw it down on the man's head. Whether [illegible] I don't think. It was not for money. I had no thought of money.'

The jury decided to find [illegible] because the jury wanted to find one without dragging him in. They made up their theory of the murder, and not being able to set it out with a single culprit they had to secure a second one. Fortunately the poor man's innocence is made clear before the time has come to hang him.

Scene.—"A private parlor. Mr. Thompson, a rich merchant, spending the evening with his brother and wife. Entrance of Julia, their daughter, a girl of six years.

Mr. Thompson—My dear Julia, don't you love me?

Julia—No; I don't love you at all.

Pa (who has an eye to the last will and testament of his brother)—Oh! yes Julia you love your uncle, don't you?

Julia—No; I don't love him.

Uncle—Why don't you love me?

Julia—Pa don't want me to tell.

Unsuspicious Pa—Oh, yes, my dear, tell your uncle.

Julia (after thinking a moment)—Well it's because you don't die and leave me your money. Pa said you would, but you don't.

Grand tableaux—Wife screams, bustle awears, and uncle wakes his ext.

The Last Choice.—Two Irishmen about to be hanged during the rebellion of 1798, the gallows was erected over the margin of a river. When the first man was drawn up the rope gave way, he fell into the stream, and escaped by swimming. The remaining culprit looking up to the executioner, said with genuine native simplicity, and an earnestness that evinced his sincerity, "Do, good Mr. Ketch, if you please, tie me up tight, for if the rope breaks I'm sure to be drowned, for I can't swim a stroke.

"If you go on in that way, sir," said a prisoner to the dock to his counsel, who was defending him with force and fury, and abusing judge and jury in good set terms—"if you go on so, in that way, they'll hang me; I know they will."

"Never mind my boy," replied the counsel, as [illegible] carried away by his own eloquence—"never mind, my boy; let them hang you, and I'll make them repeat it."

A wife wanted her husband to sympathise with her in a feminine quarrel; but he refused saying; "I've lived long enough to learn that one woman's just as good as another, if not better.' 'And I,' retorted the exasperated wife, 'have lived long enough to learn that one man is just as bad as another if not worse.'

A young man once told Dr. Bethune that he had enlisted in the army of Zion—"In which church?" asked the doctor. "In the Baptist," was the reply. "I should call that joining the navy," he replied.

A sure way to try sausages,—Carefully take one up in your finger, at the same time give a sharp whistle, and should there happen to be a slight squeak, drop the sausage and make quick tracks for the door.

A richly dressed lady stopped a boy trudging along with a basket, and asked—"Little boy have you got religion?" "No, ma'am," said the innocent, "I've got potatoes."

A thrifty Scotchman, describing the extravagance of London, related to a friend that he hadn't been there above half a day when "bang! went a whole sixpence."

It takes three editors to start a paper in New Orleans—one to get killed in a duel, one to die of yellow fever, and one to write an obituary notice of the defunct two.

A [illegible] lady who had been singing to a party for an hour, by saying, "Madam, you have wasted our time charmingly."

Boston is [illegible] with its [illegible] digestion of Rothery, that it now proposes to swallow Charlestown, Somerville, Dorchester and Brookline.

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES

GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, Mr. DARRIN is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,

From his size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases,

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lannin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 10c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and Stocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. DICKSON.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

STOP AND SEE!

THE Following Remarkable Testimonials of the most wonderful and extraordinary cure in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Henry, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is, now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

BARLEY, OATS, PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 3, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from R. Morris, brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said R. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

A HANDSOME

Christmas Gift.

[illegible] and useful, can be had as present as you can make to your wife, your [illegible] a [illegible] of those splendid Sewing Machines which can be seen at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over R. Dennistoun's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's. $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $22. Ditto with stand $33. Wheeler & Wilson $49. Wheeler & [illegible] $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $55.

[illegible] for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

Special Notice.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

(Established 1825,)

With which is now united

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Head Office for Canada,

MONTREAL,—STANDARD COMPANY'S BUILDINGS,

No. 47, Great St. James Street.

Manager ..... W. RAMSAY

Inspector ..... RICHARD BULL.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

THE NEXT DIVISION of the Company's Profits is appointed to be made at 15th NOVEMBER 1870, and all Policies now effected will participate.

THE FUND TO BE DIVIDED will be the profits which have arisen since 15th November 1865. The COMPANY'S BUSINESS YEAR will close on 15th NOVEMBER 1868, and in order to secure the advantage of this years entry in the PROFIT SCHEME, Proposals should be lodged with the Agents on or before that date.

Agent for Peterborough,

ALEX. SMITH,

Peterboro, Oct. 28, 1868. 44

MILLER'S

Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 25c. 10c. and $1.00. A 25c. box will clean 20 at one.

HUGH MILLER & Co., Proprietors.

167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the [illegible] season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE, Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

Money! Money!

MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.

Apply to J. A. HALL, At the Court House

Peterboro', May 8th, 1867 19

FOR SALE.

THE South [illegible] of Lot number [illegible], in the [illegible] Concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. [illegible] Solicitor, &c., Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 28, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This lot can be sold in parcels to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

JOSEPH HALL

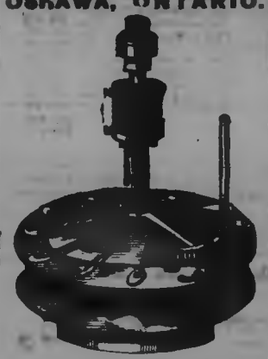
MACHINE WORKS!

ESTABLISHED 1861.

JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.

PROPRIETORS,

OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patters, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction; if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight both way, and refund all payments made to us therefor. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Sawings, Gearing, Pulleys and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Union Force Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.

Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-13in

THE ÆTNA

LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kerrhaw & Edwards, Sash Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't.
P. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phenix Insurance Company,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams: and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 8, 1868. 50

A VALUABLE

Farm for Sale!

THE Subscriber offers for sale that Excellent Farm, Lot No. 21, in the 9th Concession of Otonabee. It is situated about 6 miles from Peterboro and the same distance from Keene. There are 65 acres cleared and in a good state of cultivation, and a comfortable Dwelling House, Sheds, Barns and Stables; a good young Orchard bearing choice fruit. The soil is of the very best quality; about 8 acres in Fall Wheat, looking well, and 40 acres ploughed ready for spring sowing.

For terms apply to the proprietor on the premises,

JOHNSTON COONEY,
Or to JAMES STRATTON,
Examiner Office, Peterboro.

Otonabee, October 6th, 1868. 41-13in

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm. Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor, Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

DOMINION HOUSE,

PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, Jannary, 1869. 53

W. G. THOMSON & Co's

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞ INSPECTION INVITED. ☜

Peterboro, Sept. 30, 1868. 40

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 248

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of Mr. McFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

W. WADDELL

Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of

CARRIAGE HARNESS,

Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also

HEAVY TEAM HANRESS,

Made of the very best material.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.

In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS

In Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.

Children's Carriages

From $2.00 each to $15.00.

Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.

Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking

Kept constantly on hand.

Peterboro, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

FUR SHOP REMOVED.

MR. LECH

HAS REMOVED

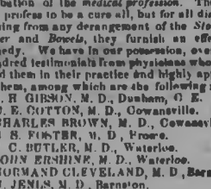
One Door north of Mr. Lannin's Tin Shop.

Parties desirous of having their furs made up will please leave them at Mr. Lech's residence, London street, No. 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 14



ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

OF

CONSUMPTION!

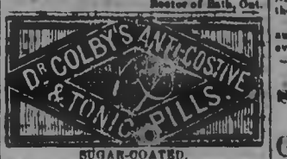
IN CANADA.

MESSRS YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by those miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different receipes, but all without any good effect. Squire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy, I procured three bottles at once, with the Pills; no sooner I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this compliment, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lungs, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing to use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the possible virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above [illegible] Esq., for many years, and have known what declarations to be of the very highest respectability, and a very credited and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HAGUE,
Rector of Bath, Ont.



SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. H GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
C. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Frome.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSHINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Swanton.
N. JENES, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWDEN, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MEIGS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH RICARDS, M. D., Sutton, C. E.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Cowansville.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MUSSY, M. D., Boston
W. MARSDEN, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
E. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c. &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely grey, and where the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, for only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H. Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

NOT QUITE SO:

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their horses the sufferers, to avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurld & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 18

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—The North half of

No. 3, in the 4th Concession of Burleigh. [illegible]

JAS. HALL.

Peterboro,' Feby 18, 1868.

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well-known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy, for Female Difficulties and Obstructions from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is particularly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, faintness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, weakness of spirits, hysterics, cloth tongue, whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

N. B. $1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorized Agent will procure a bottle, containing Pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, Ont.
General Agents for Canada.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills are extensively COUNTERFEITED. The genuine have the name of "JOB MOSES" on each package. All others are worthless.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter, and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McColl & Co., G. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and undeniably fact that one [illegible] of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, convulsed extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy appearance, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, sudden stops, faintness, trembling coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and at the same time safe and sure to drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant medicine.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N B—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 22

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitating the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay, ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONSCIENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, and PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILLMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICE:—216 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 48½ St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 20th 1867. 44-1yr

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensible article for Sprains, Horse, Scratches or Galls on Horses. One man all say it acts like magic.

J. W. HEWITT,
Foreman for Adams, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.

"The sprain of my daughters ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.

ED. SEELY.

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1868.

It is an undisputed fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beats, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery-men and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing the signature of O. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and the private U. S. stamp of Demas Barnes & Co. over the top.

An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone plate label. Look sharply!

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Colds, Coughs and Consumption.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Bronchitis, Asthma and Croup.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Imparts strength to the system.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Is pleasant to take.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—always gives satisfaction or the money will be refunded. It is recommended by prominent Physicians; and while it is pleasant to take and harmless in its nature, it is a powerful remedy for curing all diseases of the Lungs.—Sold by all Druggist.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Agents,
360, St. Paul Street, Montreal.

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and by formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
37 Sole Agents for Canada.

Over a Million Dollars Saved!

Gentleman:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad hurt in the leg, and was useless for over a year. I had used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment.—It soon effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.

Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1859.

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1869. No. 6.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars, Handbills, Funeral Cards, Invitations, Bill Heads, Horse Bills, Show Bills, Concert Bills, Programmes, Posters. Stage Bills, Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

With every variety of Coloring and Bronzing Inks always on hand.

☞ Lawyers' Blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 19

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 30

WELLER & HATTON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

JAMES F. DENNISTOUN,

BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Peterboro, July 28, 1868. 31

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,

BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 39

SCOTT & GREEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public, Office, opposite Nicholls' & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

WILLIAM SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, Street—opposite Mr. Clinton's, George street, Peterborough.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,

SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

Conveyancers, &c.,

Peterborough, Ontario.

R. M. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN, Keene

48

J. O'SULLIVAN, M. D., L. R. C. P. S., I.

Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR. Corner for County of Peterborough Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 35-tf

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and LICENTIATE Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.

Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.

December 16, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,

Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.

Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.

Ashburnham, October 23, 1867. 43

J. W. GILMOUR,

DRUGGIST, Chemist and Apothecary, Dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 16

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

Orders left at Messrs. Stone, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro', will receive prompt attention. 48

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 30

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 30

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet-maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Business Directory.

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.

☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 1y

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, PaperHanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Offices, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.

Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C. W.

Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO.

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits.

A SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.

FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.

Wm. OGILVY, Agent.

Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,

PETERBOROUGH.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

From this date until further notice, the rate of intest in the above department will be

FIVE PER CENT.

PER ANNUM.

D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.

Peterboro', April 1st. 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.

ALL payments to be made on account of the ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!

MAY BE MADE TO THE

Royal Canadian Bank

And Its Agencies.

E. B. WOOD, Treasurer of Ontario.

Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,

TOBACONIST,

George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

March 12, 1868. 11-1y

GEORGE ALLEN,

GUN & WHITE-SMITH,

Hunter Street, Peterborough,

BEGS to inform the public, that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and White-smithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired.

☞ Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.

Peterboro, October 15, 1868. 43

D. PENTLAND,

DENTIST,

Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.

D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodeons of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodeon, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.

Peterboro', February 5, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain

D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.

Peterboro, November 28 1866. 48

REMOVAL.

DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Haslitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.

Peterboro, July 9, 1868. 28

R. S. HOWELL,

FORWARDER,

Commission Merchant,

AND

GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,

Dealer in Lumber, &c.,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $500 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUNBAR, Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 36

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE

LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,

AND

Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Lindsay, Depart ..... 9.25 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 1 10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart ..... 3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 4.25 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Lindsay, Depart ..... 12.35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 4 20 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart ..... 5.45 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 7 26 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Peterborough, Depart ..... 3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 4.20 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 5.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart ..... 10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Peterborough, Depart ..... 5 30 a. m.
Millbrook ..... 6 20 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 8.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart ..... 1.15 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 2 35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 3.20 "

A. T. WILLIAMS, Superintendent.

May 30, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

TRAINS LEAVE

PORT HOPE STATION

AS FOLLOWS:

GOING EAST.

Express (day) ..... 9.35 a.m.
Mixed ..... 7.00 p.m.
Express (night) ..... 9.20 p.m.

GOING WEST.

Express (night) ..... 10.36 p.m.
Mixed ..... 3.00 p.m.
Express (day) ..... 10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time

Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY OF CANADA.

TORONTO LINE.

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 3.50 p.m. and 6.55 p.m.

Express at 12 55 p.m.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.45 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 7.45 p.m.

Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME

IN THE

Norwood and Peterboro' STAGE.

ROYAL MAIL LINE!

LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a m.

LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.

Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates

J. A. JOHNSON, Proprietor

Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.

Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.

Rates of Passage from Peterboro':

CABIN, - - $76 to $86. STEERAGE - $30.

Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.

For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to

GEORGE A. COX, Agent. Canadian Express Co'y.

Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,

No. 29 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.

JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.

This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Stations, Steamboat Landings, and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞ Fare $1.50 per Day 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,

WALTON STREET,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.

Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Poetry.

PRIDE.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

'Tis a curious fact as ever was known—
But often in human nature shown,
Alike in castle and cottage—
That pride, like pigs of a certain breed,
Will manage to live and thrive on feed
As poor as a pauper's pottage!

Of all the notable things on earth,
The queerest thing is the pride of birth
Among our "fierce democracy!"
A bridge across a hundred years,
Without a prop to save it from sneers—
Not even a couple of rotten peers—
A thing for laughter, flings, and jeers,
In American aristocracy!

Depend upon it, my snobbish friend,
Your family thread you can't ascend
Without good reason to apprehend
You may find it waxed at the other end
By some plebian vocation;
Or, worse than that, your boasted line
May end in a loop of stronger twine,
That pinged some worthy relation.

Because your flourish is worldly affairs,
Don't be haughty and put on airs,
With lofty pride of station.
Don't be proud and turn up your nose,
At poorer people in plainer clothes;
But learn for the sake of your mind's repose,
That all proud flesh—wherever it grows—
Is subject to irritation.

Selections.

A Flower for the Dead Child.

One bright afternoon in May we were leaning against the iron fence that surrounds Murray Hill Reservoir, looking wistfully at the beautiful pansies which bordered the whole length of the flower-bed, when suddenly we felt our dress pulled three or four times in quick succession.

We turned and saw a little creature five or six years old, bare-footed and bare-headed, with garments which, though clean, were patched in a dozen places.—Tears were dripping down her cheeks very fast, and her lips were quivering with trouble.

As she caught our eye she said eagerly between her sobs, 'Get it for me, do lady, get it, please: I want it so much, I does.'

'What is it dear? What do you want me to get for you?'

[illegible] steps, and pointed to a dandelion which was nestling lazily in the green turf, looking like one of those golden stars which the poet tells us 'in earth's firmament do shine.'

'I can't reach it—I ain't long enough to get it—but you is,' and she took my hand and slipped it between the railings.

'But what do you want it for, little one?'

'I wants it for baby, 'cause he's dead, and my mother says he ought to have a nice flower in his hands. Do please get it for me.'

The emphasis in the last sentence moved me as few orators could.

'Don't believe her, madam,' said a voice at my side—a clear, ringing voice. 'She'll pick your pockets while you're reaching for it.'

Looking round we saw a handsome boy about twelve years old standing near and watching us, though we were not very well served in New York street life. But before we could speak the little girl turned and said with eager, childish earnestness—'I won't pick her pockets neither. I isn't a thief. Ise good—good as you is—so there.'

'Well, you're a story teller, anyway. I don't believe the baby is dead any more than I believe I am. You know you're telling a fib,' and he looked her keenly in the eye.

'I knows I isn't, so there then. I isn't I goes to Sunday school, and little girls that goes to Sunday school don't tell fibs. He is dead, lady, dead as'—hesitating for a sufficiently strong expression—'dead as ever can be—very dead—so dead that he can never wake up any more. Do please lady, get me the flower. I'll say something for you when I goes to bed if you does.'

'What will you say, dear?'

'I'll say, God bless the good lady, and don't make her little baby die.

We did not reach after that dandelion but we took the little darling by the hand and turning to the boy said to him, 'If I will go to a florist's and buy a few white flowers and green leaves, will you go with me and see the dead body?

'Yes Madam,' he answered respectfully 'but what can I do there?'

'Nothing, probably, but I am not accustomed to going alone into tenement houses, and I dont know what kind of people I may meet. I should like to feel that I had a protector.'

He straightened up at once, and said in a frank, manly way—'I'll take as good care of you, Madam, as if you were my mother.'

So we went along, a queer trio even for this city's queer sights; on one side of me a boy dressed in the height of fashion,—on the other a bare footed, bare headed, patched up little wanderer.

We bought the boquet, white roses and buds, and myrtle sprigs, and a leaf or two of sweet scented geranium, I then submitted to the guidance of the child.

It was a long way she led us, across the avenues, but she stopped finally at a tenement house, and went before us up four flight of stairs, and then silently pushed open the door of a bare room, and said softly, 'See here, see boy—he's dead.'

It was a very plainly furnished room, but everything was clean, the floor like a Shaker's kitchen, and the window panes like polished crystal.

In an old-fashioned wooden cradle, which looked as though it might have rocked four or five generations, lay the little dead baby. The mother sat beside it. Worn out by long watching, she had fallen asleep in her chair, but her face was on the rocker, and it was a touching sight to see that, by the force of habit, she kept the cradle moving regularly to and fro.

'Wake up,—wake up and see the lady,' said the little girl before we could prevent her.

The woman started wildly, then recovering herself spoke kindly to us. We told her how and why we came there, and asked her to accept the flowers, and put them in the baby's hand. She did so, but many a tear dropped on them before they were fastened in those little cold white fingers.

Then she turned to us and said in a voice that fruitlessly strove to be calm, 'I thank you very much, I used to live in the country and have plenty of them, and I have always kept plants here; I thank you very much. Some one will put flowers in your hands when you are dead, to pay for this, though may the Lord spare you long.'

As we wiped away our tears, for we could feel for her as only those mothers can who have buried an idolized child, the boy whispered to us, 'Would you be afraid to stay here half an hour or so?'

'Afraid—in a room hallowed by the mystery of death! 'No,' we said; 'why do you ask?'

'Because I want to go and get something. I'll come back as soon as I can, and see you home.'

We sat down and listened to the mother's story, holding the while the little girl upon her lap.

Presently two men came in; one the father, the other the undertaker with the coffin.

We put down the living child, and lifted the dead one, handling it as tenderly as if it had belonged to our dearest friend. We held its cold face to its little sister, and when they had kissed it so many, many times, we put it reverently into the coffin; reverently, though only an empty casket now, it had once held a jewel more precious than pearl or diamond.

The boy came back within the time he had named, a paper box in his hand, which he quietly gave to us. On opening it we found a beautiful wreath, one woven expressly for the dead; white flowers and green leaves only.

Ought you to have done this? said we, for a glance told us it was costly.

'Yes oh yes; do give it to them, I brought it with my week's spending money. It was so wicked of me to call the poor [illegible] it on the coffin-lid, and then motioned the giver to come and look upon the fair baby face. And then we said good by to all.

The little girl came all the way down stairs with us and as we bent to kiss her she put her arms impulsively around our neck and said earnestly, 'I'll be sure to say now, God bless you lady, and never, never make your baby die.' And then loosening her clasp on us, she turned to the boy, and taking both his hands in hers, said with a touching emphasis, 'don't you believe me now; didn't I tell the truth?'

'Yes, yes,' tears starting to his eyes.

'Yes, you did speak the truth—but there's so many bad children about, one don't know who is good any more.'

'Well,' and she drew herself up as much as a little fairy might, when trying to be dignified and assert a right,

'I dont belong to the bad ones. I tries to be good. But you didn't know me first, so I won't remember what you said, and cause you brought that pretty round thing for the baby, I'll say, God bless you too.—The Student and Schoolmate

A Curl Cut off with an Axe.

'Do you see this lock of hair?' said the old man to me.

'Yes, but what of it? It is, I suppose, the curl from the head of a dear child long since gone to heaven.'

'It is not; it is a curl of my own hair, and it is now nearly seventy years since it was cut from this head.'

'But why do you prize a lock of your own hair so much?'

'It has a story belonging to it, and a strange one. I keep it thus with care because it speaks to me more of God and his especial care than anything I possess.

'I was a little child of four years old, with long curly locks, which in sun, rain or wind hung down my cheeks uncovered. One day my father went into the woods to cut up a log, and I went with him. I was standing a little way behind, or rather at his side, watching with interest the strokes of the heavy axe as it went up and came down on the wood sending off splinters with every stroke in all directions.

'Some of the splinters fell at my feet, and I eagerly stooped to pick them up. In doing so, I stumbled forward, and in a moment my curly head lay upon the log. I had fallen just at the moment when the axe was coming down with all its force.

'It was too late to stop the blow.—Down came the axe. I screamed, and my father fell to the ground in terror.—He could not stay the stroke; and in the blindness which the sudden horror caused, he thought he had killed the boy.

'We soon recovered—I from my fright and he from his terror. He caught me in his arms and looked at me from head to foot, to find out the deadly wound he was sure he had inflicted.

'Not a drop of blood or scar was to be seen.

'He knelt upon the grass and gave thanks.

'Having done so, he took up his axe and found a few hairs upon its edge. He turned the log he had been splitting, and there was a single curl of his boy's hair, sharply cut through and laid upon the wood.

'How great the escape!'

'It was as if an angel had turned aside the edge of the moment when it was descending on my head. With renewed thanks upon his lips, he took up the curl and went home with me in his arms.

'That lock he kept all his days, as a memorial of great fortune. That lock he left me on his death bed.

THE NEW ASSESSMENT BILL.

As to land not occupied by the owner, but of which the owner is known, and who, at the time of the Assessment being made, resides or has a legal domicile or place of business in the Municipality, or who has given the notice mentioned in section nin. the same shall be assessed against such owner alone if the land is unoccupied, or against the owner and occupant if such occupant be any other person than the owner, [illegible] situate, for that portion of the personal property of the partnership which belongs to that particular branch, and if this cannot be done, the partnership may elect at which of its places of business it will be assessed for the whole personal property, and shall be required to produce a certificate at each of the other places of business of the amount of personal property assessed against it elsewhere.

Every person having a farm, shop, factory, office, or other place of business, where he carries on a trade, profession or calling, shall for all personal property owned by him, wheresoever situate, be assessed in the Municipality or Ward, where he has such place of business, at the time when the assessment is made.

If he has two or more such places of business in different Municipalities or Wards, he shall be assessed at each for that portion of his personal property connected with the business carried on thereat; or if this cannot be done, he shall be assessed for part of his personal property at one and part at another of his places of business, but he shall in all such cases produce a certificate at each place of business of the amount of personal property assessed against him elsewhere.

If any person has no place of business, he shall be assessed at his place of residence.

Personal property in the sole possession or under the sole control of any person as trustee, guardian, executor or administrator shall be assessed against such person alone.

In case of personal property, owned or possessed by or under the control of more than one person, resident in the Municipality or Ward, each shall be assessed for his share only, or if they hold in a representative character, then each shall be assessed for an equal portion only.

When a person is assessed as Trustee, Guardian, Executor, or Administrator, he shall be assessed as such, with the addition to his name of his representative character, and such assessment shall be carried out in a separate line from his individual assessment, and he shall be assessed for the value [illegible] whether in his individual name, or in conjunction with others in such representative character, at the full value thereof, or for the proper proportion thereof, if others resident within the same Municipality be joined with him in such representative character.

It shall be the duty of every person assessable for real or personal property in any Local Municipality, to give all necessary information to the Assessors, and if required by the Assessor or by one of the Assessors, if there be more than one, he shall deliver to him a statement in writing, signed by such person (or by his agent, if the person himself be absent) containing all the particulars respecting the real or personal property assessable against such person, which are required in the Assessment Roll; and if any reasonable doubt be entertained by the Assessor, of the correctness of any information given by the party applied to the Assessor shall require from him such written statement.

No such statement shall bind the Assessor, nor excuse him from making due enquiry to ascertain its correctness; and notwithstanding the statement, the Assessor may assess such person for such amount of real property as he believes to be just and correct, and may omit his name or any property which he claims to own or occupy, if the Assessor has reason to believe that he is not entitled to be placed on the Roll or to be assessed for such property.

In case any person fails to deliver to the Assessor the written statement mentioned in the preceding sections when required so to do, or knowingly states anything falsely in the written statement required to be made as aforesaid, such person shall, on complaint of the Assessor, and upon conviction before a Justice of the Peace having jurisdiction within the County wherein the Municipality is situate, forfeit and pay a fine of twenty dollars, to be recovered in like manner as other penalties upon summary conviction before a Justice of the Peace.

Every Assessor before the completion of his Roll, shall leave for every party named thereon, real est or domiciled, or having a place of business within the Municipality, and shall transmit by post to every non-resident who shall have required his name to be entered thereon, and furnished his address to the Clerk, a notice of the sum at which his real and personal property has been assessed, according to schedule B, and shall enter on the roll opposite the name of the party, the time of delivering or transmitting such notice, which entry shall be prima facie evidence of such delivery or transmission.

The Assessors shall make and complete their Rolls in every year between the first day of February and such day as the Municipal Council may appoint, not later than the fifteenth day of April in Townships and Incorporated Villages, and not later than the first day of May in Cities and Towns, and shall attach thereto a certificate signed by them, respectively, and verified upon oath or affirmation in the form following:—

Then follows the form of certificate of the assessor.

Conjugal Solicitude on a Railway Carriage.

'My dear,' said a husband to his wife, 'are you comfortable in the corner there?' 'Oh! very snug.' 'Don't you feel cold?' 'Not in the least.' 'Does your window shut tight?' 'Yes, very, thank you.' 'Well, come, let us change seats.'

COMMON SCHOOL BILL.

An Act to amend the Common School Acts of (Upper Canada) Ontario.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario enacts as follows:—

The office of Local Superintendent of schools in townships, cities, towns and villages, is hereby abolished.

2. In each county or union of counties, there shall be one Superintendent of schools, to be called County Superintendent, except where there are more than one hundred common schools in a county or union of counties, in which case it shall be lawful to appoint a second County Superintendent.

3. Each city shall be a county, for the purpose of this Act, and the Superintendent shall be called the City Superintendent, and shall possess all the powers of a County Superintendent, except such as relate to investigating and deciding on School Trustee election complaints, which now by law devolve on the County Judge.

4. The qualifications of County and City Superintendents shall from time to time be prescribed by the Council of Public Instruction, which shall determine the time and manner of examination of candidates, for certificates of qualification, and grant certificates of qualification; and no one not holding such certificate of qualification, shall be eligible to be appointed a Superintendent.

5. Each County and City Council shall nominate from among those holding the necessary certificate of qualification, one person to be Superintendent of Common Schools in such city or county, and in counties where there are or shall be more than one hundred Common Schools, the County Council may nominate two persons holding such certificates to be Superintendents, and prescribe the territorial limits of each, and the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, shall appoint the person or persons so nominated, to hold office during pleasure.

6. Each Superintendent so appointed, shall have the oversight of all Common Schools in towns, villages and townships within the county or union of counties for which he shall be appointed, and shall have all the powers in each municipality within his jurisdiction, and be subject to all the obligations now conferred or imposed by law, upon "Local Superintendents," and which are conferred or imposed by this Act, according to such instructions as may be given to him, from time to time by the Minister of Public Instruction.

The salary of a County or City Superintendent shall not be less than at the rate of six hundred dollars per annum, and not more than at the rate of twelve hundred dollars per annum, and shall be paid quarterly, of which the sum of three hundred dollars shall be defrayed and borne out of the Consolidated Revenue of the Province, and the balance shall be provided by the City or County Councils.

6. The County Superintendent shall have authority to decide upon the adequacy and suitableness of school accommodations; and should any school Corporation not provide satisfactory accommodations within twelve months after they have been notified by the County or City Superintendent, of the inadequacy or unsuitableness of the school accommodation provided, such School Corporation shall not be entitled to share in the Legislature School Grant.

9. Each County and City Council shall appoint a County or City Board of Examiners, for the examination and licensing of Teachers, consisting of the County Superintendent, or Superintendents, and two other competent persons whose qualifications shall, from time to time, be prescribed by the Council of Public Instruction.

10. The minimum salary of any legal qualified male teacher shall be at the rate of $300 per annum, and the minimum salary of any legally qualified female teacher shall be at the rate of $200 per annum; and no legally qualified teacher, after having been employed six months in a Common School, shall be dismissed without the concurrence of the County Superintendent expressed in writing.

11. The Municipal Council, of any Township, shall have authority to establish a Township Board of Common School Trustees, as now provided by law, at the request of the majority of the school sections of such Township, expressed at the annual school meeting, or a special school meeting of such sections.

12. No By-Law or resolution of a Township Council to alter the boundaries of a school section, shall take effect before the expiration of one year from the 25th of December next, after the passing of such by-law or resolution, unless at the request of the majority of the rate-payers of such section; and in the event of a change in the limits of a school section, any rate-payer in the section affected, shall have the right to appeal to the County Supt., whose duty it shall be to decide whether or not such change shall be made.

13. On the formation or alteration of a union school section or division, under the authority of the fifth section of the School Law Amendment Act of 1860, it shall be the duty of the County Superintendent concerned, forthwith to transmit a copy of the resolution, by which the formation or alteration was made, to the Clerk of the Municipality affected by such resolution.

14. Should such Clerk neglect or refuse to prepare and furnish the map of the school divisions of his municipality, as required by the forty-ninth section of the Consolidated School Act, he shall render himself liable to a penalty not exceeding ten dollars, to be recovered before a magistrate for the school purposes of his municipality, at the instance of any rate-payer thereof.

15. All the common schools shall be free schools; and the trustees of school Sections, or township councils, and the municipal councils of cities, towns, and villages, shall, in the manner now provided by law, levy and collect a rate upon all taxable property of the school division or municipality, to defray the expenses of such schools, as determined by the trustees thereof.

16. Every child, from the age of seven to twelve years, inclusive, shall have the right to attend some school for six months in each year; and any parent or guardian who does not provide that each child under his care shall attend some school, as those of right declared, shall be subject to the penalties hereinafter provided by this Act; Provided always, that the absolute right of selecting either a public or private school, for the attendance of any child, shall be with the parent or guardian of such child.

17. It shall be competent for the Police Magistrate of any city or town, and for any Magistrate in any village, or township, or towns, where there is no Police Magistrate, to investigate and decide upon any complaint made by any person against any parent or guardian for the violation of the foregoing seventeenth section of this Act, and to impose a fine, not exceeding dollars, and imprisonment until paid, for the first wilful offence, and double that penalty for each subsequent offence, which fine and penalty shall be enforced, as provided in the one hundred and fortieth section of the Consolidated School Act: Provided always, that it shall be the duty of such Magistrate to ascertain, as far as may be the circumstances of any party complained of, and whether such alleged violation has been wilful, or has been caused by extreme poverty, or too great a distance from any school, or the child is being otherwise educated, and in either of the latter cases, the Magistrate shall not award punishment, but shall report the circumstances to the trustees of the division in which the offence has occurred.

18. The trustees of any school section or municipality shall have the same authority to provide a residence for a school teacher, that they have by law to provide school accommodations.

19. The report of the School Trustees required by law to be laid before the annual school meeting, shall include a summary of their proceedings and state of the school during the year, together with a detailed statement of receipts and expenditure, signed by either or both of the School Auditors of the section, and in case of difference of opinion between the Auditors on any matter in the accounts, it shall be referred to and decided by the County Superintendent.

20. Should the Secretary of a Trustee Corporation neglect or refuse at any time to give notice of a School Trustee meeting, it shall be lawful for any Trustee to do so, by giving notice of such meeting to his colleagues.

21. All moneys collected in any school section by the trustee corporation, shall be paid into the hands of the Secretary-Treasurer thereof; and should the trustees refuse or neglect to take proper security from such Secretary-Treasurer, they shall be held to be personally responsible for such moneys, and the provisions of the 137th section of the Consolidated School Act, shall apply to them.

22. Any chairman of a school meeting, who may be elected school trustee at such meeting, shall make the declaration of office now required of Trustees by law in presence of the Secretary of such meeting.

23. Should the majority of the school trustees, or the majority of a public school meeting, neglect or refuse, in a case of difference in regard to a school site, to appoint an arbitrator, as provided in the thirtieth section of the Consolidated School Act, it shall be competent for the County Superintendent with the Arbitrator appointed, to meet and determine the matter, and [illegible] second or casting vote in case they should not agree.

24. Should only a majority of the Arbitrators appointed to decide any case under the authority of the School Laws of this Province be present at any lawful meeting, in consequence of the neglect or refusal of their colleagues to meet them, it shall be competent for them to make and publish an award upon the matter or matters submitted to them, or to adjourn the meeting for any period not exceeding ten days.

25. Any Division Court Judge receiving an intimation of appeal from his decision, under the authority of one hundred and eighth, and five following sections of the Consolidated School Act, shall thereupon certify under his hand to the Minister of Public Instruction, the statement of claim and other proceedings in the case, together with the evidence and his own judgment thereon, and all objections made thereto.

All Acts and parts of Acts inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, as far as they shall affect this Act, but not to any greater extent, are hereby repealed.

MR. GLADSTONE AND 666—A MARVELOUS DISCOVERY.—The Rev. Thomas Husband Gregg, M A, curate of Crudaly, near Birmingham, has discovered that the new Prime Minister in the veritble beast of the Apocalypse. The following are his unmutilated remarks upon the subject;—'In the Greek language, as some of my readers are well aware, each letter represents a certain number For example, in that verse (Rev. xiii. 18), where we find, 'Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man and his number is six hundred three score and six. There is the original the number 666 is expressed by letters, those letters representing this particular number. The same number, however, can be represented by different combinations of letters, by as we find that the following Greek letters (which I write in english that all may understand) represent the numbers which when added together make exactly 666 the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man, and his number is six hundred three score and six':—G (amma) 3; L (ambda) 30; A (lha) 1; D (elta) 4; S (igma) 200; T (au) 300; O (micron) 70; N (u) 50; E (ta) 8; Gladstone, 666" Correspondent Morning Advertiser.

FENIANISM IN THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS.—Robinson, the Fenian Congressman, grows frantic as his term of serving the country in the House of Representatives is near its close. In his Fenian speech in the House on Tuesday last, he roared out in tones like those of a mad bull, that he "would back any man into the middle of next week who would talk about a treaty with England, until she first liberated the American citizens, whom she held in prison.' What a nice time he would have, were he to begin his operations on his fellow members, and that job finished, travel over the United states, employed in the same delightful occupation. Perhaps he had better cross the Atlantic and begin by kicking John Bull himself; but then bulls are proverbial for their horns, which are sometimes dangerous. It is surely time this ridiculous Fenian rant was ended, at least in the halls of Congress.—Hamilton Times.

Dr. Colby's Pills are proved by all who use them.

Sectarian Grants for Education.

(From the Aberdeen Free Press.)

In these days when, according to the opinion of many, we are advancing fast towards practical republicanism, it is of some importance to observe the actions of those who are not hampered by the traditions of monarchy, as we in the country are. The present movement in our own and other lands is progressed with strange undercurrents. Little more than half a century ago, a large portion of our enormous public debt was contracted in maintaining a war to the death against a people who had broken loose from the slavish life per orted to them by the traditional policy of a long list of feudal sovereigns. Austria was our almost constant ally in that war. Our purse was never empty, and English gold seemed to have a magic power in bringing Austrian soldiers into the field to oppose France. We occupied Spain to prevent the nation of revolutions from extending its influence over the whole south-west of Europe; and we sheathed not the sword till the old Bourbons were established on the thrones from which the spirit of republicanism had hurled them. Now, the liberty of Greece has never the heel of a despot, while in Spain the republican have a loud voice and a strong hand. In Austria, the fetters of long-lived tradition have been broken, and in England itself—while the feeling of loyalty remains unimpaired, and the power of the sovereign differs not in name from what it has ever been—the control of affairs has been, to a very considerable extent, handed over to the people.

One of the most important questions to which the Parliament of our country will—very speedily, as we hope and believe—be compelled to give its attention, is the question of education. The subject is a difficult one. Dissent is so powerful in each of the three countries that at first sight it may appear all but hopeless to frame a single measure which shall meet the requirements of the United Kingdom, and afford a reasonable amount of satisfaction. And yet, for many reasons, it would be of great advantage to have one system of education for the three countries. Such a system could not be adopted or carried out, without taking the management of the schools out of the hands of the different religious denominations. Whether the country is prepared to support such a measure may be doubted. The settlement of the question of the Irish Church may help to form opinion definitely on the subject of education. But the Irish Church holds so anomalous a position, but even its dis-establishment may afford but small help in such a matter as a general system of education for the United Kingdom. While the English and Scotch establishments remain in the same relative position to dissenters which they now hold it will always be difficult, if not impossible, to deal satisfactorily with education.

The province of Ontario, in the recently formed dominion of Canada, has been called to deal with this question at a very early period of its existence. On the 2nd of last December, it was discussed before the legislature of the province at considerable length. In the previous session, it had been decided not to bestow sectarian grants for educational purposes, but—as was foreseen at the time when the Government announced that policy—that decision was very unsatisfactory to a considerable portion of the Ontarians; and an attempt was made to reverse the decision before the province was finally committed to the withdrawl of the grants.

It appears that, in 1853, a teaching corporation, called University College, was set up in Toronto by Act of Parliament. By the same Act, the University of Toronto was established for the purpose of examining, granting degrees, and conferring honours and rewards on those students who had passed through a certain course of study [illegible] or of kindred institutions in other parts of the country, that should have affiliated themselves to the University of Toronto. A considerable amount of property was granted as an endowment; part of this was to form a permanent fund; the interest of the rest was to be used in defraying the expenses of the University of Toronto, and of University College; and the surplus of the interest was to be assigned by Parliamentary vote for academical education in Upper Canada. The question discussed in Toronto on 2nd of last December has reference to this surplus to be voted by Parliament for educational purposes in Upper Canada. It was stated by those in favour of sectarian grants, as they are called, that there has been gross mismanagement of the funds which form the proper income of these institution. But be that as it may, the facts are, that none of the colleges of the province—and there are several—have affiliated themselves to the University, and that those outstanding bodies have found members of the Legislature to take up their case, and plead their grievance with considerable ability in Parliament. Of course, they construe the portion of the Act which refers to the surplus of income as entirely in favour of the district colleges. But as that surplus does not exist, it is difficult to say how their claim can be satisfied. The important point, however, lies in the decision of the Ontario Legislature. In the previous session, as we have stated, the Government announced the purpose of withdrawing sectarian grants altogether; and at one o'clock on the morning of 3rd December last, the policy of the Government was affirmed, after a long and somewhat keen debate, by a majority so large as to make the decision practically unanimous.

To the members of the British House of Commons it may appear a small matter what decision the legislators who sit in Toronto to adopt in re-pect to Denominational —or, as they prefer it, Sectarian—Grants for purposes of Education. The great English nation may shrug its shoulders and curl its lips carelessindifference as to what the newly-established dominion, in the first out-burst of youthful vigor, may feel constrained to give forth as its policy. Let it not be supposed that we would have Mr. Foster to take his cue from Toronto, or the Scotch Lord-Advocate to follow the Ontarian Attorney-General. The secrets of the transatlantic Cabinet are a mystery to us; the want of the expected surplus may have helped the Government to adopt the policy referred to. But we do believe that those Canadian Legislators have taken a step in the right direction in accordance with the spirit of the age. And the sooner our Government is prepared to announce and carry out a similar policy, the better for the education of our country. Of course that does not mean that the sooner the Government is prepared to ignore the religious convictions, or to disregard the differences of religious belief of the nation, the better. The schools for the dissenting bodies of the country have been too well organised, and are too efficiently conducted, to allow the Government to ignore their existence in any educational measure which may be framed. But when a measure can be prepared which will satisfy conformists, and remove the fears of non-conformists, it will be a day of happy omen for the education of our country. The present system of education has been forced on the country by the strange circumstances of our history. It is an honour to our nation in some respects. But it has been evident for a considerable number of years that some change—little less than radical—must be effected before we can take our proper place among the first of civilized nations in respect to the education of the people. The large sums of money annually [illegible] for educational purposes contain a population which has no disgrace to it, which forms a commentary, the force of which is felt [illegible] and liberality—which rises the laugh of Scottish derision as the counterpart of the applause of self-satisfied thousands. The best thing which the Government can do for the young of this class, and for the country in which they exist—we can scarcely say live—is to educate them. It appears all but impossible to get at them otherwise than by compulsion. Let us not shrink at the term. There are other ways of compelling than to send a policeman to drag truant boys and girls to school. But practical compulsion, in some form or other, seems necessary in order to secure the proper education of the mass of half-naked, half-fed wretches that may be seen any day in many a street of our wealthiest and most influential cities. While Sectarian Grants are continued, while the Government leaves the management of the different denominational schools in the hands of the religious bodies with which they are connected, education will remain on an unsatisfactory basis. The religious difficulty is great, it is worse than useless to deny that; but it is not insuperable. We touch not that at present. But it is scarcely to be believed that dissenters will be unwilling to give up their system of schools, if Government legislate on this matter in a generous and liberal spirit. That spirit is spreading and deepening its influence in the country. We would not have a Maynooth Grant; but, of course, neither would we have Established Church and Free Church Normal School Grants, as such. There are men in the present Government from whom something may be expected in the matter of education; we hope it will be of so national a character as to warrant the use of the language of the Ontarian Legislature, "Sectarian Grants are discontinued."

The Troubles in Italy.

Under date of the 5th inst., the Florence correspondent of the London Times says:—"The disturbances on account of the great tax are apparently nearly at an end, although to-day's paper contains accounts of armed assemblages, attacks on the authorities, millers compelled to grind in defiance of the law, and various similar irregularities and outrages. But although the impression thus given is alarming and unfavorable, it must be set down in great measure to the easy-going ways of Italian journalism, for on examining dates it is seen that nearly all these narratives refer to what occurred on the 3rd and 4th inst. The government is not uneasy. The accounts received from the provinces at the Ministry of the Interior up to late last night were quite satisfactory, the more so because it had been learned that yesterday, the festival of Epiphany, being a holiday, might have been selected for a renewal of demonstrations and disturbances. This has not been the case. There is no doubt that the extreme parties, and especially the reactionary and priest faction, have stirred up the people. Many of the lower class find themselves worse off than under the old regime, and either do not understand or else undervalue the ulterior advantages of the change that has arisen. What they know and feel is that they pay more taxes, and if it is to be feared that, with most of them, that consideration causes the future greatness of Italy and the advantages of living in a great constitutional kingdom to kick the beam. The manœuvres of the priests and the influence of the old territory families can be traced in various places, and especially at Campegnine, near Reggio, and at Bolony of Modena. On the night of the 3rd, according to a Bologna paper, about 1,500 peasants marched upon Reggio with the object of releasing forty-five prisoners who had been made at Campegnine, but the sight of military uniforms at the gates of the town sufficed to cool their ardor and they retired. On their retreat they visited various mills, compelling the millers to grind, and spoiling the machinery of some of them, while they at the same time set all the alarm bells ringing. At two a. m. all was over. The priest of a place called Mancasale, a bell ringer and several peasants were arrested. From the southern provinces we hear of no disturbances. General Cadorna has taken command at Bologna, Reggio and Parma. Upon the whole, and although the opposition papers, according to their unpatriotic habit, have made the most of what has occurred, have clamored against the government and have demanded the immediate convocation of Parliament, as though the State were in immediate peril, these riots are no more than has often been witnessed in other countries on occasion of the imposition of new taxes, indispensible, but always unpopular."

GOING OVER THE FALLS. Edwin F Hatch, of Canaseut, Ohio, has revived his project for going over Niagara Falls, in a boat of his own invention, for the sum of $10 000. He says:—"I make this offer in no spirit of bravado, nor in any way to make myself notorious, but for two efficient reasons: First, to demonstrate the truths of science; and, second, to put me in possession of such a sum of money as will enable me to carry out a plan I have long entertained of constructing and launching upon the gales of success an aerial ship or propellor which shall fly literally on the wings of wind, and be controlled and directed with the same ease, and in the same manner, that a ship is upon the water, and in which passengers and goods may be transported across the continent and over the ocean in a few hours."

Railway travelling is surrounded by more than ordinary danger on some of our Canadian lines at present. It is bad enough to have to run the risk of a collision, or an embankment slide, or a scouring in. But how much more fearful is it when one is compelled to look upon a railway coach as something about as dangerous as the wards of a hospital? During the present winter we have heard of many persons catching contagious diseases by simply riding for a few hours in a railway train. The lamented representative of South Lanark—Mr. Shaw—contracted in this way the disease which caused his death. Mr. McLeod, of West Durham, was brought to death's door through the same cause; and numbers of others have suffered similarly. The small-pox, which has committed fearful ravages in Montreal, is said to have been brought to the city by infected railway cars, in which emigrants suffering from the dreadful disease had travelled. From Montreal it has spread over the entire line; but it has not been so disastrous in other places as in that city.—It is not possible for the railway authorities to do something to protect the public?—Surely, some system of disinfecting the cars can be practised. Will the railway people make the attempt?—Toronto Telegraph.

IAMATOLOGIA!

BRYAN'S WARNING.—The great public remedy have now been in use over twenty years, hence it cannot be said that they are on trial. They have been thoroughly tried, and pronounced (on the authority of those whose lives and health they have preserved) to be a pure, harmless, and eminently salutary preparation, and if taken in season will invariably cure colds, coughs, sore throat, and all Bronchial affections. One fair trial will convince the most skeptical. Sold by all medicine dealers, at 25 cts per box.

TO LUMBERMEN.

We will deliver any size of MANILLA ROPE here or in Lindsay, at 14½ cents, freight paid.

GEO. STETHEM & Co.

Peterborough, February 10, 1869.

We have received, from Massachusetts, a lot of STAFFS LACE LEATHER, suitable for Cotton Mills, Woolen Mills, and for the heavier belting of Saw Mills. It is the best Lace Leather ever shown in Peterborough.

G. STETHEM & Co.

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

Peterboro, February 10, 1869. 6

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Galway Mining Co.—John Burnham.
Situation Wanted.
To Lumbermen—G. Stethem & Co.
Lace Leather—G. Stethem & Co.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1868.

THE NEW ASSESSMENT ACT.

We have given as much of this Bill as our space will permit, in order that our readers may understand it.

In the definition of personal estate, the only difference is that under the new Act "interest on mortgages is assessable, and" dividends from bank stock. A non-resident wishing his name on the Resident Roll must signify it to the Clerk "on or before the 30th of January" in each year.

By the new Act the property of a Municipality is exempt, if unoccupied, but if rented it is taxable.

The salary of every person if $400 or less, is exempt, but all above that sum is not.

The Assessors Roll has columns for the census and religions, in addition to what was formerly taken; and there is also a column for showing the date when the schedule is delivered or posted. There is no Militia Roll by the new Act. There is no sliding scale by the new Act. By the old Act if a man possessed $2,000 it was taxed, but if $3,999, $1999 was not reckoned; and worse still, if $10,000, it was taxed, but if $19,999, $9,999 were not reckoned. The new Act does away with this sliding scale, and justly.

If a Local Municipality feels dissatisfied with a County Council for increasing or decreasing the aggregate of the Roll the Municipality can appeal to the County Judge, and he may determine the matter. By the new law, volunteers not assessed for property are exempt from statute labor, and clause 89 provides for collecting said tax, which was neglected in the Act. These are the principal points in which the new act differs from the old.

AMENDED SCHOOL ACT.

There was an act passed during the late session of Provincial Parliament, and as some have supposed it is the new School Bill so much spoken of, we draw their attention to the fact that it is not.—This act provides for holding the annual meeting on the second Wednesday of January, commencing at Nine o'clock.

A further clause provides for the first election of Trustees in newly incorporated cities or towns, and for their retirement; not more than one polling place to be in a ward.

A third clause provides for holding a meeting for nominations of candidates for Trustees. This clause refers only to cities and towns.

The last part of the act provides that complaints concerning elections in cities, towns, and incorporated villages, shall be investigated by the Judge of the County Court, and determined by him. He has the power to declare which candidate has been duly elected, or to order a new election if he thinks no candidate legally elected. The old act left no alteration but to call a new election if anything illegal had been done by either party.

WHELAN.

The latest news from Ottawa is that Governor Young is about to let the law have its course; Whelan, therefore, will have suffered the extreme penalty of the law ere this paper reaches its destination. The Deputy Sheriff communicated the intelligence to him on Tuesday. Whelan replies that he had expected that. Men were at work on Tuesday prepairing a scaffold. Very few think him innocent of the crime for which he is paying the penalty. It may be sad to reflect, on the fact that men can be found to commit such a terrible crime, and it always causes the finer feelings of the human nature to revolt at the execution of a fellow being, but in this case to let Whelan off would be a greater crime than to hang him, as such a course would embolden others to undertake, perhaps, a similar deed, hoping for a like sympathy.

Our readers will remember the correspondence of "North Monaghan" and the Reeve of Monaghan. "North Monaghan" felt aggrieved, and made complaint to the session of the Presbyterian Church, Springville, against Mr. Young. The session found no cause for action and dismissed the complaint. "North Monaghan" then appealed to the Presbytery, which met last week in Peterboro, and sustained the decision of the "session," finding no cause against Mr. Young. A further appeal to the Synod is threatened. Surely common sense would dictate letting the matter drop. There never was any reason for making it a church matter, much less to follow the matter any further.

TEMPERANCE.—There is a movement on foot to unite all the temperance societies in Canada. A Convention for that purpose will be held on the 23 inst., in Toronto.—Delegates to the Convention will get on the fare for half fare.

Presbyterian Anniversary.

The Anniversary Services of the Canada Presbyterian Church were held last Sunday and Monday. On Sabbath the Rev. Mr. Smith preached to very large congregations. On Monday evening the Soiree took place, and a well [illegible] the Hall of the Church, the public assembled in the body of the Church and the usual tea-meeting, very interesting and impressive addresses, and [illegible] were very fine pieces by the excellent choir.

Mr. Eastwood, of the Ontario Bank, ably presided, and in his opening remarks made the announcement that the object of the services was to aid in liquidating a debt still on the church. He made the very pleasing announcement that [illegible] and the interest only five or six per cent., and that in a year or two it would be entirely wiped off.

Rev. Mr. Blain's address to the youthful part of the audience was not void of interest to all, old and young. It was on the sin of wrong doing, or as he explained it, being accustomed to do evil. He referred to the already inclined dispositions to evil, and to spontaneous of the youthful mind, and especially in an evil direction, showing how action when continued in becomes a habit; and hence that evil actions should be avoided, as they lead to evil habits and to ruin. He particularly urged the wisdom not to neglect the salvation of the soul, for compared with it all else were worthless. The sins of Sabbath-breaking, neglecting God's services, his house, his word; and the terribly prevailing vices of profane swearing, obscene language, or filthy communications, all were pointed out and animadverted on in very touching terms, and in such a way as to impress those to whom the remarks were directed. His references to the sin of drunkeness or taking intoxicating liquors were very happily delivered, and let us hope will be the means of restraining at least some of those who although not drinkers to excess, are perhaps on the straight path to it. The evil of using tobacco also received a passing notice, and all were advised to refrain from the "dirty" practice. One remark worth notice was, that in the Kingdom of Great Britain £6,000,000 were annually spent on the nasty weed. Forty millions of dollars spent on tobacco every year to be puffed off in smoke. Enough, the Rev. gentleman remarked to buy a bible for every family in the kingdom. He might have said for to buy a bible for every individual in the kingdom and a few millions to spare to send to the heathen.

Mr. Johnston, agent for the Bible Society, followed, regretting that he had been so engaged all the day with his own peculiar work that he had not time to arrange his thoughts. He however referred to the pleasing announcement that the debt was now very small and the interest small, a year or so would wipe it off, and then the beautiful church would be free; the people free to direct their energies to some other work.—He concluded by wishing them prosperity.

Mr. Smith, of Bowmanville, followed. Subject—"Prejudice and Progress." In commencing he made some laughable allusions to the advantages of tobacco. One was that the user of the weed was often thereby saved from danger, remarking that if, perchance, he should be cast among cannibals they would not put a tooth upon him, the taste of the tobacco would deter them. He also facetiously remarked that if the clothes of a tobacco user were well washed in water and the water sprinkled on cabbage plants, not an insect would touch the plants, and hence the arguments in favor of using the dirty stuff. The best part of the speech, however, referred to prejudices and their influence against progress, as prejudices too often were the result of want of information or investigation. We could not help thinking that the address had some object in view and that some day the impression left, or the prejudices removed, by the cogent arguments of the Rev. Speaker, will produce the desired effect.

Mr. McDonnell, of St. Andrew's Church, followed, on "Church Music," and few will say but he remarks were logical at any rate He dwelt on the prejudices of the people in favor of singing the psalms only, while now and then they would sing a paraphrase, which is nothing more or less than a hymn, and he quoted some beautiful hymns in proof of the wisdom of using them in the churches. He also referred to the prejudices against instrumental music in church service, and argued strongly in favor of instrumental music if it should have the effect of aiding the devotions of the people.

These two addresses appeared nicely arranged, as leaders on the subject of instrumental music, now much engrossing the attention of some Canadian churches, and certainly a church may just as well sing by proxy with an organ as by a choir.

Mr. Butcher and Mr. Rogers made no lengthened remarks—the evening being far spent. The audience then united in singing the doxology; Mr. Smith pronounced the benediction. The proceeds amounted to about $200.

Yesterday Chief Constable Arnot received a telegram from Napanee, directing him to arrest for murder two men, Cary Chase and Tom Chapman, the first 5 feet 9 inches high, 175 lbs. weight, of dark complexion; the second 5 feet 7 inches high, 160 lbs. weight, dark complexion. They were known to be north of Grand Trunk between Napanee and Port Hope. No particulars of the murder was given. On Monday evening they passed through Bridgewater.

The County Council of Victoria have agreed to expend $50 on the boundary between Emily and Smith, on the condition that this County grant a like sum; also $120 on the boundary south of Bobcaygeon, and $20 north of Bobcaygeon, on the same terms. Our Council has also set apart a considerable sum for these roads.

PRESENTATION.—We understand that W. Hall, Esq., has been presented with a very handsome clock, by the "Congregation of the Canada Presbyterian Church, Peterborough," as a slight acknowledgment of his long and valuable services as Treasurer.—He has discharged the duty of that office most efficiently thirty-three years.

BIBLE SOCIETY.—The General Meeting of the Peterborough Branch is announced for Wednesday next, the 17th inst., in the Canada Presbyterian Church. Those who have attended former meetings of this kind will welcome the return of another. Interesting addresses upon the work of Bible distribution, and the state and condition of the world at large may be looked for.

Several known Fenians have left Montreal for the States, fearing a revelation by Whelan.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

We have received a communication on county matters, but it is so long we cannot give it in full; we will give gleanings.

It first refers to the present system of granting money to townships for roads and bridges, and [illegible] the present system of granting money to townships for roads and bridges, and [illegible] the Reeves to levy [illegible] and [illegible] Council to look after the Otonabee Bridge, in connection with the Town Council.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, the Street Inspector was instructed to confer with Mr. Rogers regarding the Bridge.

An account for the burying of Robert Donaldson was referred to the Finance Committee.

A report from Mr. Carlisle on the cost of labor and material for the last year was read; also, a statement of what has been done in the matter of license; of the state of the health of the Town, and some recommendation respecting the building By-law. The documents and reports were referred to the Committee on Finance and Assessment.

Mr. O'Beirne, Chairman of the Finance Committee, read and submitted the following as their first report:—

The Finance Committee beg leave to report:

They recommended the payment of the Returning Officers account—$38.

In regard to Col. Poole's application for aid to fit up and furnish the Drill Shed, they did not feel justified in recommending more than one hundred dollars.

They recommend a reduction of $50 to the Market Clerk for losses consequent on the Market tolls.

The Committee asked for more time to consider the account of Messrs. Weller & Hatton.

The report was received and adopted.

On the second reading of a By-law respecting granting tavern license the By-law was referred to Messrs. O'Beirne and Edminson to report at next meeting.

The Clerk was instructed to advertise for and receive sealed tenders for $30,000 feet of hemlock plank, suitable for roads and bridges.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Helm, all work found necessary to be done to the building, engine, hose, &c., was ordered to be done, under the direction of Mr. Edwards, unless otherwise directed by the Council.

The Clerk was instructed to sell the Market Tolls in accordance with the existing By-laws.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, an account of Mr. Bradburn for $6, for pails, and of T. Collins, was ordered to be paid.

Messrs. Edminson, Toole, Stevenson and the Mayor, were appointed a Committee to revise the Market By-law, and for the purpose, if necessary, to take legal advice to assist in the matter, and to report at the next meeting of the Council.

The Council adjourned for two weeks.

MILLBROOK.

A Concert was given on Tuesday evening by the ladies of St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook—the proceeds to be in aid of the funds of the Church. At an early hour every available space for sitting was taken up, and hence not a few had to stand and enjoy the music and readings as best they could. Owing to the absence of some of those expected to take part in the proceedings, they were unable to carry out the programme as originally intended, but the entertainment was otherwise very pleasant and satisfactory.

"Katie's Letter," by Mrs. G. B. Armstrong, and "Two Forest Nymphs," by Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Russell were well rendered; the first being deservedly encored. A solo by Miss Cottingham, of Omemee, was given with very fine effect; also one by Miss Needler. Miss Annie Kells and Mrs. Orde each performed some pieces on the piano in very excellent style.

The Readings of Mr. Haggart were equal to any we have heard that gentleman perform, and were fully appreciated by the audience. In all such gatherings there are enough who admire the comic and to suit them too. Mr. Boswell sung some of his very comic pieces. We, however, must confess that our "bears are not always tickled with [illegible]" nor can we admire the beauty of those songs when compared with those finer, softer, more entapturing swells of the human voice as rendered by Mrs. Armstrong, Miss Cottingham and Miss Russell.

The evening was a very pleasant one, and from the crowded house, we fancy a profitable one to its promoters. We understand that at the close the ladies of St. Thomas' Church presented Mr. Haggart with a very nice copy of Shakespeare's works.

The roof of the St. Patrick's Hall, Montreal, fell in on Wednesday last. There was a grand ball in the Hall that night, and 150 persons were arranged in a grand (?) waltz, when suddenly a sharp crack was heard as of a pistol shot; shortly after another was heard, when a gentleman entered the room and informed the manager that the roof was falling in. The Hall was cleared as fast as possible, but not entirely when the roof gave way. Some few persons received hurts but no life is reported as lost. The falling in of the roof is attributed to the hurry in which the Hall was put up; others think that the cold so contracted the roof that it gave way, and some think that the motion of the dancers had something to do with the accident. It is very fortunate that no greater calamity than what is reported has occurred,—hundreds might have been buried in the ruins.

"NEW DOMINION MONTHLY."—The February number of this excellent family periodical is before us. The contents are; "The Two Gardeners"; "The Forest in Winter"; "The French Fashions"; "The Child and the Reaper"; The Teacher's Lesson"; "To a Humming Bird"; "Early Scenes in Canadian Life"; "The Symbols of Life"; "The Cruise of the Galatea"; "The Sun's distance"; "A Turkish Odstom House"; music, &c. Applications and several other articles suitable for young folks, and useful receipts. The New Dominion Monthly deserves a place in every family.

"HEARTH AND HOME."—We have received several copies of a very interesting paper of the above name, published by S. M. Pettengell & Co., N. Y. It is to contain articles on the farm, garden and fireside.—The first numbers are well got up, contain very readable articles, and also some stories that will make the Hearth and Home a welcome visitor to many. We wish the enterprize success.

The Builder is the name of a new periodical just published in London, Ontario. It is calculated for Builders, as its name implies, and will be eagerly read by others who desire to become acquainted with the different styles of buildings, their cost, &c.

The Real Estate Journal is the name of a new weekly, published in Toronto. It will prove a valuable paper to persons interested in sales and transfers of real estate, throughout the Province.

We invite attention to the New School Bill given in our columns. In about a week it will be [illegible] to Session. If there we hope to see a good turn out of the friends of education. Notice of the meeting will be given.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday night. The Mayor presided. Present—Messrs. Helm, English, Rutherford, O'Beirne, Stevenson, Edminson, Toole and [illegible].

The minutes of last meeting were read, and, on motion of Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. D. Reid, Esq., informing the Council that he had been appointed Commissioner by the County Council to look after the Otonabee Bridge, in connection with the Town Council.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, the Street Inspector was instructed to confer with Mr. Rogers regarding the Bridge.

An account for the burying of Robert Donaldson was referred to the Finance Committee.

A report from Mr. Carlisle on the cost of labor and material for the last year was read; also, a statement of what has been done in the matter of license; of the state of the health of the Town, and some recommendation respecting the building By-law. The documents and reports were referred to the Committee on Finance and Assessment.

Mr. O'Beirne, Chairman of the Finance Committee, read and submitted the following as their first report:—

The Finance Committee beg leave to report:

They recommended the payment of the Returning Officers account—$38.

In regard to Col. Poole's application for aid to fit up and furnish the Drill Shed, they did not feel justified in recommending more than one hundred dollars.

They recommend a reduction of $50 to the Market Clerk for losses consequent on the Market tolls.

The Committee asked for more time to consider the account of Messrs. Weller & Hatton.

The report was received and adopted.

On the second reading of a By-law respecting granting tavern license the By-law was referred to Messrs. O'Beirne and Edminson to report at next meeting.

The Clerk was instructed to advertise for and receive sealed tenders for $30,000 feet of hemlock plank, suitable for roads and bridges.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Helm, all work found necessary to be done to the building, engine, hose, &c., was ordered to be done, under the direction of Mr. Edwards, unless otherwise directed by the Council.

The Clerk was instructed to sell the Market Tolls in accordance with the existing By-laws.

On motion of Mr. Stevenson, an account of Mr. Bradburn for $6, for pails, and of T. Collins, was ordered to be paid.

Messrs. Edminson, Toole, Stevenson and the Mayor, were appointed a Committee to revise the Market By-law, and for the purpose, if necessary, to take legal advice to assist in the matter, and to report at the next meeting of the Council.

The Council adjourned for two weeks.

THE THESPIANS.

On Wednesday last the "Thespians" made their bow to as respectable and appreciating an audience as we have seen in this town. The plays were the comedy of "The Merry Monarch," and the farce of "A Convenient Distance," and were put on the boards in a most creditable manner. In both the comedy and the farce our old friend Mr. Walcott, took the prominent parts of Capt. Copp and Rooney and played with his usual skill and success. Eagleston was a little too boisterous though in the Monarch's part, was well performed. Edward was good. The King would have been better, had he known his part; we have seen this gentleman play the part better. The ladies' parts were creditably taken by two young gentlemen who, notwithstanding the novelty of their position, performed better than could have been expected. Of the farce little more need be said than that it was played with spirit, and the success of the piece was much enhanced by the spirited performance of the gentleman who played Lafleur. The dresses and scenery were excellent, and the third drop scene, painted by a talented townsman was a chief feature in the affair. The Thespians give another performance on Wednesday, the 24th instant, when we hope they will have a bumper house.—Com.

FIRE.—The blacksmith shop of Mr. Jas. McWilliams was consumed by fire last night. About 12 o'clock it was first noticed. There were four sets of tools in the shop, and a considerable quantity of work partly finished. The workmen had been at work on several sets of buggy gearings, these were all lost, also a considerable quantity of material and dry stuff. There was little, if anything, saved, and we regret to hear the report that there is no insurance. The loss will be very considerable.

Sir John Young has returned to Ottawa after paying a visit to the City of Montreal Sir John was well received by the Montreal [illegible] by the honest, sensible people that he made, has earned golden opinions for himself. He expressed himself against extravagant outlay and against borrowing money to pay. We hope the Intercolonial Commissioners will take the hint.

SUICIDE.—A young woman threw herself on the track, on the 22nd ult., as the train was nearing Geneva, U. S. Her head was severed from her body and dashed several feet away. She was about seven years of age. The cause of her rash act is said to be the refusal of her parents to let her marry a young man to whom she was attached.

A young lady from St. John, New Brunswick, has been exhibiting her skill as skater against a Miss Dean, of Chicago. She was beaten by her American cousin by two points. They are to have another match for $250 a side. These must be "fast" young ladies.

A man who stole a Gold Watch from a watch-maker in Bowmanville, seizing it while the watch-maker turned round to look for a chain, is said to have [illegible] in Peterboro last week. Our watch-makers and jewellers would do well to keep a look out for him.

A Boston clergyman has been replenishing his library by robbing the booksellers. Some people call it "kleptomania," but at this distance it looks awfully like stealing.

It is said that the Governor has expressed his opinion that Montreal should be the seat of Government, and that he will use his influence to have it there.

THE LATE POISONING CASE.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—The verdict of the Coroner's Jury who enquired into the cause of the death of the late Mrs. Bunnon, of this town, has been commented upon by yourself, your contemporary of the Review, and by a portion of the public on the streets, but the matter soon will pass away into the gulf of oblivion.

I heard a rumour, soon after the verdict was rendered, to the effect that some parties intended to have the case brought before the Magistrates with a view to a criminal prosecution of the guilty parties, as well as desiring to ignore or rather to contradict that false verdict, which has so shocked the moral sense of the community. Not since then I have heard no more, and [illegible] to remain where the jury left it. I have no personal interest in [illegible] protest against the conduct of the parties who are to blame in the transaction, so that no further judicial investigation is had, they may understand that is thought of their conduct by the public generally.

We have in the evidence brought before the Coroner's Jury the first time the [illegible] was desirous of procuring abortion; that she was advised by some of her elderly female neighbours what to take to effect this; that she sent her husband to get an ounce of the oil of tansy for this unpious purpose; that the husband procured this article from Dr. Bell; that he, Stenson, gave his wife [illegible] of the ounce, and that [illegible] after administering this dose to her she cried out that she was poisoned; that her husband called for help, and George Webber hearing the cries ran to the house, where he and [illegible] that Mrs. Stenson was poisoned. She looked ghastly and was in intense agony, and soon after [illegible] a family of [illegible] children behind her.

The next scene in this sad drama is the Coroner's Jury, empanelled to investigate the cause of the death of [illegible], and the most striking feature in the composition of the jury is the individual who took the case the poison which caused the death of his wife,—I refer to Dr. Bell. The evidence went to show conclusively that the object for which the poison was wanted was to cause abortion, and yet Dr Bell himself drew up the verdict which was adopted by the jury as follows:—

"That the late Jane Stinson came to her death, on the night of the 19th day of January, from having taken an overdose of Oil of Cedar, for the purpose of removing the irregularities of the system!"

Such was the verdict that some 12 or 14 men in the good town of Peterboro returned to the Coroner, and to who, a medical man, received it at their hands, and gave it to the public.

Now, while these "good men and true" tried to palm off such a verdict, as true from the result of their investigation under oath, every one else who has heard anything of the evidence kn

The Silver Movement.

Mr. Weir has at last been able to take the initial step in his movement for the exportation of the [illegible] of Silver from Canada. He has accepted the tenders guaranteeing him support on certain conditions, thereby binding himself to carry out his part. It will be [illegible] operations by the shipment last week of $60,000 silver, and this week of a similar amount.

We do not as the moment know exactly how much has been contributed throughout Canada to the fund to cover the costs of shipment of the two millions, but we are aware that it falls even yet far short of the amount Mr. Weir expected would be contributed, considering the almost universal outcry there was about the evil, and the unanimity with which it was termed the "silver nuisance." Mr Weir still runs some risk that the fund will prove insufficient to meet its object, but he expects, and has some reason to expect, that many of those who have not yet subscribed will still do so in order to gain the advantages offered and to secure without fail the export of the whole sum named. We hope that all who expect to derive any advantage from the reduction of the rate of discount, will at once send in their names as subscribers, according to their business, to the guarantee fund, and that they will not hang back, trusting to obtain the advantage without themselves contributing anything towards it.

By next Monday Mr. Weir expects to have all the details of his plan in working order, till which time he trusts his supporters will not ask him to receive their silver, his arrangements with the banks and their agencies not being yet quite complete. He will then announce by circular at what banks he will receive and pay for silver delivered to him under his contract, and whatever other information may be necessary.

We hope the enterprize may be successfully carried out, now that it is inaugurated, and that the results therefrom may equal the expectations of Mr. Weir and all those who are giving it their support.—Trade Review.

LAMATOLOGIA!

RELIGION IN COMMON SCHOOLS.

(From the N. Y. Tribune.)

The Educational Monthly has an able argument in support of the claim advanced by certain Roman Catholics and certain also of other persuasions for a partition of public school moneys in the interest (as they h [illegible]d) of Religion. And this is but one of many intimations that our common school system is in part—that its very foundations are threatened. Let us endeavour to elucidate the matter as fairly as we can:

The advocates of separate schools insist that all education must be imperfect, one-sided, misleading, that does not include religious instruction and culture, and that of the nature and sufficiency of this culture no one can assume to judge for another. One may find all he requires in the ten commandments; another may choose to add the Lord's Prayer; a third may reject these, and replace them by the Pantheism (or whatever it may be) of Comte or Lamennais The Catholic assumes not to judge for any of these, but only for himself, when he affirms that, for him religion exists in the creed sacraments, ritual organization, ministry, and observances of that Church which finds its terrestrial centre of unity and living oracle in the Bishop of Rome, commonly known as the Pope. He asks, therefore, that his children shall be educated in common schools distinctively Catholic in their character, usages and inculcations; conceding to all others the right to please themselves in the premises by having Presbyterian, Methodist, Protestant, Episcopal, Unitarian, Rationalist, Positivist, or Neologist schools, as they shall prefer. This, he contends, is true religious freedom, such as happily prevails here with regard to everything else, and ought to prevail with regard to education also.

We have tried to state the case made against our Common School system fairly and forcibly, so that not Roman Catholics only but all who, on religious grounds, demand separate schools should find their views fairly represented. Now consider what is urged on the other side:

1. The fatal fallacy involved in the demand for separate schools lurks in the quiet assumption that children are to be taught in common schools all they are to know—in other words, that education is found in the school-house. But, though every boy (and we think every girl also) should be taught a trade, we do not assume to teach trades in common schools; and a parent might as reasonably object to a public school that it fails to make boys good carpenters or blacksmiths as that it fails to make them good Baptists or Catholics. A good trade may be more essential to a youth than a knowledge of grammar or arithmetic; yet common schools teach the latter, not the former; and so of the art of reading on the one hand and the Nicene Creed on the other.

II. Our case is made fair by the fact that ample and effici[illegible] provision is made outside of our common schools for religious instruction. Not merely churches of every faith, but Sunday schools wherein every child is welcomed and gratuitously taught, are found in great abundance in every part of our city and suburbs, where the demand for separate schools is most formidable. The State sets apart one day in each week, and that the Lord's day of most Christians, for physical rest and religious culture, and assumes that those who are not Christians to render it an outward and formal deference. The intermission of productive labor, the closing of the grog-shops and beer saloons, the quiet, decorum and order generally maintained, peculiarly adapt this day to the inculcation of religious truth; and it is very generally improved. No child who really desires religious instruction can fail to obtain it here such as he prefers, unless forbidden by his parents. The Sunday School, though of modern date and non-clerical, Protestant origin, has been adopted by the Roman Catholics as a part of their regular machinery of inculcation and training; and they are pushing it with an energy and success which proves them apt scholars, and no wise averse to morality when a point is to be made by it. If any child in New York lacks religious instruction, the fault is its parents' or its own.

We hold, therefore, that it is unnecessary and unwise to disperse or redistribute our Common School pupils in accordance with the dogmatic or ecclesiastical leanings of their parents respectively—that the inconvenience and cost [illegible] doing would immensely overbalance its benefits. We should need the more schools; pupils might have to travel much further to reach one of the preferred theological stripe, than at present. We do not decide that soundness of faith is of little consequence—far from it; we only insist that provision is already made for theological instruction apart from our Common Schools, and that there is no need of making such provision within them. The Roman Catholic and the Protestant coincide with respect to spelling and grammar; the Trinitarian and the Unitarian are in perfect accord as to Mathematics at least in their application to all mundane affairs. Then why not allow them to read and [illegible] from the same text books on week days, and learn theology in their respective churches and Sunday Schools on the Lord's day? This seems to us the dictate of economy, convenience, and good sense.

III. At present, the reading of a brief extract from the Christian Scriptures is a part of the daily routine in our schools; the Catholic version being used where Catholics predominate. Hebrews and other non Christians might plausibly object to this as unfair, yet we have never heard of their doing so; and the late Archbishop Hughes apparently proposed that he had been secured to objecting to the Bible in school. If the Bible is made a Protestant Shibboleth, the true way for Catholics to defeat this is to diminish and unwillingness on their part to have it read; and this they generally do. We presume no single child was ever converted from the Catholic to any Protestant faith, or vice versa, by the use made of the Bible in our schools.

We appeal to men of intelligence, liberal minds, of any and every creed, to stand by our Common School system, and not allow it to be pulled to pieces. As a republican people, we must [illegible] it. If human experience is not a blind guide, a people cannot and will not be generally and adequately instructed in schools directed and managed by forty diverse sacerdotal corporations. Let the friends of denominational schools show us a great country whose children have been as well instructed under their plan as ours are, before they persuade us to abandon or fatally wound our all-thriving, all-embracing Common School system.

Beautifully perfumed is Hunt's Empire Hair Glose.

Jacobs' Rheumatic Liquid Cures Numbness.

Two prisoners made their escape from Woodstock gaol, a few days since, under somewhat extraordinary circumstances. The prisoners, Dane and Clark, made a key from a piece of wood. With which Clark managed to shoot back the bolt of [illegible]. Dane then, the turnkey being asleep, in the same way opened Clark's cell. They then passed to the turnkeys ward, and taking the pistols and key from under his pillow, threatening his life if they shot him up, and left, making good their escape, and have not been heard of since. This is without question one of the cleverest escapes from prison that we have heard of, and shows how utterly helpless a janker may be rendered. It is quite clear that in this instance the Woodstock jailer could only exhibit unless he was ready to sacrifice his life.—Spectator.

The Ontario Government has, without delay, proceeded to make the changes in the Crown Lands Department, which were spoken of at recent session of the Legislature, and in prospect of which twenty thousand dollars were voted to be given in lieu of pensions to those whose services should be dispensed with. We believe that the following gentlemen have been relieved from further duty in the Department:—Messrs. Sayner, P. G. Morton, Fred. A. Hall, C. W. Hurd, G. Lindsay, T. Hammond, and Col. Nash. Mr. Mesnor has been transferred to Mr Tarbutt's branch. Messrs. Millar, Langlois and W. H. Cowper have been appointed to the Crown Lands Department, while Mr. Wesley Ebbs has been transferred to the Treasurer's Department at a salary of $1,200.—Ottawa Citizen.

FREEMASONRY IN THE WORLD.—It is estimated by those who have knowledge of the subject that at present there are in round numbers about 1,250,000 Free and Accepted Masons scattered on the face of the globe. Of this number some 150,000 are in England, 100,000 in Scotland, and 50 000 in Ireland. There are about 600,000 on the continent of Europe, 380,000 in the United States, and 50,000 in other parts of the World. In England there are two or three thousand persons initiated every year, and notwithstanding Papal allocutions, and feminine denunciations, the Masonic body is said to be everywhere increasing.

OTTAWA, Monday, Feb. 8th.—There is quite a lively time in the direction of the Railroad Office this afternoon, from the number of railroad contractors going to deposit their tenders in the hands of the Secretary of the Railway Commission, Mr. Ross. The Commissioners have been engaged this evening in opening tenders and preparing a list with the sureties. It is expected they will go into an analysis of the tenders to-morrow. It must be recollected they do nothing more than to report to the Government, recommending the acceptance of certain tenders. Government decide. It is said over three hundred tenders have been presented.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy; the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished in Anatomy what is at last accomplished in Hygeine by the Great Shoshonees Remedy, which has so often checked the inroad of these lung diseases of the throat which imprudence and exposure have united to make so common.

Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or Cough and Voice Losenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25cts per box.

DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO. We sometimes hear persons say, 'my horse is really out of condition, and I cannot tell either what is the matter with him, or how to get him into better order;' they appear to be ignorant of the fact that there is within their reach a remedy safe, sure, and effectual in all cases. Many persons who deal in horses use large quantities of it, and certify that its effects are most satisfactory. One horse dealer informs us that his horses' condition and appearance are so much improved by its use that they sell more rapidly and for higher prices. The article is 'Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy.' Nothing else is equal to it for the same purpose. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

THE LUMBER TRADE.—We cannot deny that we are suffering severely in our lumber regions for want of a market for course lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have not made any purchase in the Province the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe we can't ship it to England, but serious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, bowel complaints, Frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign market for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

It is very painful to see so many public men whose desires compel them to sacrifice their health to the interests of their profession and the public. How many clergymen there are whose usefulness is marred by diseases of the larynx and bronchia! How many public men there are who feel that they could command the masses much better if they had the strength of lungs and ample voice which were so useful to them at the beginning of their career! And yet those misfortunes may be reminded by recourse to the Great Shoshonees Remedy, now for sale by all druggists.

MARRIED.

At Peterboro, on the 8th inst., by the Rev. J. D. Macdonnel, Mr. Charles Sarney, of Henley-on-Thames, England, to Martha W., only daughter of Mr. Robert Lempour, of Peterboro, Ont

DIED.

At Cavan, on the 29th January, Mr. Samuel Redmond, aged 68 years.

Suddenly, at the residence of his uncle, Wm. Dawson, Esq., on the 1st instant, Mr. Robert S. Thaxton, lately from England, aged 20 years.

At Cavan, on the 5th instant, Mrs. Elizabeth Gillings, aged 48 years.

At the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Green, on the 5th inst., Mrs. Frances Henderson, relict of the late Thos. Mitchell, Esq., of Emily, aged 72 years.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Peterborough, February 11, 1869.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	$5	50
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	95	@	1	00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	90	@	0	95
Peas "	0	75	@	0	80
Barley "	0	90	@	1	05
Oats "	0	50	@	0	60
Potatoes "	0	40	@	0	45
Hay ₱ ton	9	00	@	11	00
Hides ₱ cwt	6	00	@	6	50
Beef ₱ cwt	6	00	@	7	50
Sheepskins	1	00	@	1	50
Wool ₱ lb	0	20	@	0	21
Pork ₱ cwt	7	50	@	9	50
Eggs, per dozen	0	15	@	0	20
Butter, "	0	18	@	0	20
Cord wood	2	50	@	3	00
Fowl, per pair	0	30	@	0	30
Geese	0	40	@	0	50
Turkeys	0	40	@	1	00

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used. In no case have we known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Diarrhœa, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and continues to visit acidity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kemp, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene, by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

DARLEY'S
Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalising the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, bettering the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. HURD, Successor to Hurd & Co.,
Maiden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
NEWCASTLE, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canadas

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S
SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in about [illegible] minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICE:—215 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1ye

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all Diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
Sole Agents for Canada

New Advertisements.

SITUATION WANTED!

BY A LOWER CANADIAN, who speaks both French and English fluently; has had a long experience in the Grocery business, and well [illegible] Photography. Recommendations given if required. Apply at this office.

Peterboro, Feb. 10, 1869. 6

Galway Mining Company.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Dividend at the rate of Thirty per cent per annum, for the half year ending 18th January, 1869, has been declared on the capital paid in as that date, and that the same is payable at the Office of the Company, at Peterborough, on and after Monday, the Fifteenth day of February, 1869.

By order of the Directors.

JOHN BURNHAM,
Secretary & Treasurer.

Peterborough, February 1, 1869. 6-3in

PRUNES, PRUNES—A superior article.

DRIED APPLES!

ORANGES and LEMONS!

At A. HALL'S,
George street.

Peterboro, Feb. 3rd, 1869. 6-2in

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Omemee and Peterboro.

The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterboro, January 13, 1869. 3

FOR SALE.

100,000 Brick.

STEPHEN WOOD.

Otonabee, January 25, 1869. 2tf

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

Issuer of Marriage Licences.

OFFICE at James Best's Dry Goods Store, George Street. 3

DENNISTOUN, FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

BARRISTERS, &c.,

Hunter Street, Peterborough.

Municipality of Ashburnham.

ABSTRACT STATEMENT OF TREASURER'S ACCOUNTS.

1868.			1868.
	To balance on hand	$647 71	Feby 18	By County and Debenture rate	$1093 61
Jan. 4	Received from Collector up to Dec. 30, 1868	2431 04		Salaries for 1868	324 00
Feby 5	Non-resident's taxes up to Dec., 1868	300 90		18 Paid two cents for Municipal Manual	6 00
Mar. 10	Market and Market Rents up to Dec., 1868	86 99	Mar. 18	Mrs. Dawson, for work	2 50
"	Amount received for Bronson	146 00		Paid accounts	103 67½
Aug. 6	From Clergy Reserve Fund	82 00		Paid note	150 27
			Dec'r 18	School	375 00
				Paid for roads	394 83½
				Per postage on silver	0 33
				School moneys	10 00
				Nicholls & Bell debentures	218 75
				Balance	151 06
		$3608 71			$3608 71
1869 Jan'y 1	To balance on hand	$151 05

We, the undersigned Auditors, appointed by the corporation of the Village of Ashburnham, to audit the Treasurer's accounts, beg leave to report that we have examined the same, and found them correct.

D. HAGGART,
GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D., } Auditors.

Great Bargains
IN
FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

STEAMER AND SCOWS

FOR SALE BY

PUBLIC AUCTION

THE undersigned is instructed by Messrs. Campbell and Hilliard, Trustees, to sell by Public Auction, The STEAMER "MAGGIE HALES" and the FOUR SCOWS usually used with said Steamer. The said Steamer and Scows, are now lying at Harwood, Rice Lake.

There are in said Steamer two Engines each of 8 inches Cylinder, 18 inches Stroke and 10 Horse Power. Both in good condition.

The Scows are of large size and in good repair.

SALE to take place at CAISSE'S HOTEL, in the TOWN of PETERBORO', on TUESDAY, the SIXTEENTH day of FEBRUARY, 1869, at TWO o'clock in the afternoon.

THE STEAMER will be put up at an upset price of $4,200. There will be a Reserve Bid on each of the Scows.

TERMS of Payment easy and made known at time of Sale.

ALEX. McNEIL,
Auctioneer

Peterboro,' Jan. 28, 1869. 5-3in

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction of the Peterboro' Western Circuit, for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

In the Town of Peterborough, on

Thursday, June 3rd, 1869.

Commencing at 10 a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1868. 2

NOTICE!

THE first meeting of the Board of Instruction for the Eastern circuit of the County of Peterboro, for the examination of Teachers will be held in the School House at Norwood,

On Thursday, May 20, 1869,

at 10 o'clock, a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

By order
W. E. ROXBURGH,
Secretary.

Norwood, Jan'y 30th, 1869. 5-td

TO THE WORKING CLASS. I am now prepared to furnish constant employment to all classes at their homes, for their spare moments. Business new, light and profitable. Fifty cents to $5 per evening is easily earned, and the boys and girls earn nearly as much as men. Great inducements are offered. All who see this notice please send me their address and test the busin ess for themselves.—If not well satisfied I will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing to me. Full particulars sent free. Sample sent by mail for ten cents in stamps. Address

5-6in E. C. ALLEN, Augusta, Me

NOTICE!

ALL persons having any claims against the Municipality of Burleigh, Anstruther, &c., are hereby requested to furnish a statement of such claim, and the nature thereof, forthwith, to the Reeve.

Address, Chandos Post Office.

S. W. CLEGG,
Reeve of Burleigh, &c.

January 27, 1869. 4

CAUTION.

I HEREBY CAUTION THE PUBLIC against purchasing a note of hand made by the undersigned in favor of Mathewson & Co., of Montreal, dated 4th February, 1862, payable at 18 months after date, for $100, as I have settled and hold a receipt for the same.

W. ROBB,
Asphodel.

Asphodel, Jan. 23, 1869. 4-3in*

PORK!

50 BLS. MESS and 150 BLS. PRIME MESS, for sale at

WALTER BEAL'S,

(J. Carnegie's) old stand, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Peterboro, January 27, 1869. 4-3in

Teacher Wanted.

WANTED immediately, for School Section No. 1, Dummer, an experienced Teacher, holding first or second class certificate.

JOHN KIDD,
DAVID KELLEY, } Trustees.

Dummer, January 20, 1869. 3

WANTED!

FOR School Section, No. 10, Douro, A MALE TEACHER holding a First Class Certificate.

By order of Trustees,
ROBT. CASEMENT,
Sec'y-Treas.

Lakefield, North Douro, Feb. 2, 1869. 5

VALUABLE PROPERTY

FOR SALE,

On Aylmer Street, Peterborough.

WILL be sold by AUCTION, on SATURDAY, 27th of February, 1869, at one o'clock, the

MACHINE SHOP,

Steam Engine, Shafting and Machinery, with 80 feet frontage of Lot on Aylmer street, either in whole or in part to suit purchasers.

Terms made known at time of sale, and all information given to intending buyers.

The above premises are well adapted for all kinds of trades.

Title indisputable.

For further information apply to

WILLIAM MALCOM.

Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4

VALUABLE PROPERTY

FOR SALE,

IN THE VILLAGE OF ASHBURNHAM.

THE subscriber offers for sale the valuable property on which he at present resides, being Lot No. 4, North of Elizabeth street, consisting of half an acre of land, on which are two Dwelling Houses, Stables and Sheds attached. There is a good well of water, and the Lot is pleasantly situated on the main street. It will be sold in whole or in parts to suit purchasers. Title Perfect.

P. SARGENT.

Or at this office.

Ashburnham, Jan. 13, 1869. 3-tf

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale that Valuable Farm, the South half of Lot No. 24 in the 12th concession of Sm th.

There are 98 acres of good tillable land, nine acres of which are in woods. There is a good Log House on the property; also, Stables and Barn, and an Orchard beginning to bear.—There is also a good Well near the dwelling. It is situated 4½ miles from the Village of Lakefield. There is a Blacksmith Shop, a Store and a Post Office on the Lot.

For further particulars apply to

THOS. HOULIHAN,

Selwyn P. O., On the premises.

Smith, January 27, 1869. 4

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Terms reasonable.

Apply to

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 20. 1868. 32-tf

Houses and Lots for Sale!

THAT Commodious Stone Dwelling House and Lot on Brock street, not far from the Commercial House, Peterboro.

Also, the Lot on Mark street, Ashburnham, at present occupied by the owner, will be sold on moderate terms. For particulars apply to

MARIA FOSTER,
Ashburnham.

January, 19th, 1869. 3

FARM FOR SALE.

SOUTH HALF OF LOT No. 31 in the 11th concession of the Township of Smith.—There are 50 acres under cultivation, and the balance is good hardwood land.

For terms, &c., apply to

WM. ADAMS, Lakefield P. O.
or ALEX. PRESTON, Smith.

Smith, Dec. 23, 1868. 52

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to
T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26. 1868. 48

STRAYED, to the premises of the subscriber, lot 19 concession 15 of Harvey, A RED AND WHITE SPOTTED HEIFER. The owner can have it by paying expenses.

LEWIS PARKER,
January 20, 1869. Bobcaygeon P. O

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

READY-MADE CLOTHING

OFFERING

VERY CHEAP

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats

Winter Sack Coats

Winter Shooting Coats,

Winter Pants and Winter Vests.

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterboro, January, 1869. 4

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 5 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb' Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting. Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

A Fresh Supply of

Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,

BLANKETS,

DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,

CARPETS,

And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.

Just received by

I. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

A CARD.

J. W. GILMOUR has much pleasure in herewith returning thanks to his Friends and the Public generally, in Peterborough and its vicinity, for the liberal patronage with which they have favored him. He takes this means to inform the same that he has made arrangements to a Partnership with Dr. W. H. TAYLOR, of Montreal—a gentleman thoroughly trained to the business of Chemist and Druggist, in old and well known Establishments in that City, and who has also been in the Practice of his Medical Profession there for more than ten years—but has been obliged to relinquish its onerous duties on account of failing health. Dr. Taylor has already entered on his duties here, and will devote his time more especially to the preparation of Physicians' Prescriptions and family Receipts, and otherwise will co-operate with me in the general management of the business. The Public may rely upon having not only a careful but a skillful attention to their requirements in this department. Nothing but Pure and Genuine Drugs will be selected, and a full assortment of the Official Preparations of the British and United States Pharmacopœia will constantly be kept on hand. With these additions to his other facilities for successfully carrying on business, the Subscriber respectfully solicits a continuance of the Liberal Patronage hitherto bestowed upon him.

J. W. GILMOUR,
Corner of George and Hunter Streets.

Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4-tf

JOHN BERTRAM,

Importer and Dealer in

BAR, ROD, HOOP & SHEET IRON

SLEIGH SHOE & CAST STEEL,

Anvils, Bellows, Stocks and Dies; Hand, Sledge and Shoeing Hammers. Jowett & Firth's

Horse Rasps and Files,

Carriage Bolts made from Best Refined Iron, Proved Logging Chains, Tuttles Patent, Flint's Moulands & Robertson's Cross-Cut Saws, Machine Saws, Warranted Steelyards, Hay Knives,

Broad and Narrow Axes.

A complete Stock Hand Saws, Chisels, Gouges, Planes, Spirit Levels, and all kinds of Carpenters' Tools.

Pale Seal Oil, Leather Belting, Russian Hemp Rope.

Table and Pocket Cutlery, Electroplated and Albata Plate Spoons and Forks, H. P. Cruets, Cake Baskets, &c.,

JUST RECEIVED from Renwick-on-Tweed, 40 DOZEN of BLACK'S Cast Steel Spades and Draining Tools unsurpassed in quality.

JOHN BERTRAM,
Hardware Merchant, Peterborough.

Jan, 6th 1869. 3-tf

Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

ORMOND & WALSH,

Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very liberal patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is complete with Drugs and Chemicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would particularly impress upon their Friends and the Public generally, the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent but also responsible for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labeled.

The undersigned being very impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug Store, beg to assure their customers that Physicians prescriptions and Family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for faithfulness and correctness as to their requirements. Their Stock consists of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a respectable Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Coal Oil, Coal Lamps, &c., &c.

CHARLES ORMOND, } WILLIAM WALSH.

Peterboro', Jan. 15, 1869. 3-12in

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the Inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all articles in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,

And of best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere. Don't forget the place,

Directly opposite Mr. John Sherin's.

SHORTLY & HARPER.

Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 42-13in

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

THIS well-known Medicine is no imposition, but a safe and safe remedy, for Female Difficulties and Obstruction from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, heaviness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart lowness of spirits, hysterics, sick headache, whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamph

Poetry.

SCANDAL LANE.

BY MRS. E. A. KNOX.

It is not on the sideboard, sir,
Go search both far and wide;
Or in the town directory,
The map or railroad guide;
And if you pump your neighbors, sir,
You pump, alas! in vain,
For no one o'er acknowledged yet
He lived in Scandal Lane!

It is a fearful neighborhood,
So secret and so sly;
Although the tenants oftentimes
Include the rich and high
Tho told they're even cannibals,
And when they dine en soup,
By way of change they'll turn about
And eat each other up!

They much prefer the youthful, sir,
The beautiful and rare;
They grind up character and all,
And call it wholesome fare!
And should the helpless victim wince,
They heed not cries of pain;
There very bloody cannibals
That live in Scandal Lane!

If you should chance to dine with them,
Pray never be deceived,
When they seem most like bosom friends,
They're least to be believed;
Their claws are sheathed in velvet, sir,
Their teeth are hid by smiles,
And woe betide the innocent
Who falls beneath their wiles!

When they have singled out their prey,
They make a cat-like spring;
Or hug them like a serpent, ere
They plant the fatal sting!
And then they wash their guilty hands,
But don't efface the stain,
These very gre dy cannibals
That live in Scandal Lane!

Varieties.

A QUESTION IN MUSIC.—Billings, the celebrated musical composer, boasted that there was no point connected with the science of music that he did not understand. A wag sent him a note, requesting an interview with him, on a particular day, to consult about a difficult question in music, which he said no other man could answer. Billings promptly met him, and said to him, 'Whatever your question may be, I pledge myself to answer it, as there is nothing connected with the science I have not mastered.' 'My question is an important one,' replied the wag, with the most serious face imaginable; 'indeed, it affects the whole world, and has never yet been answered.' 'Let me hear it,' said Billings, growing excited. 'It is this,' said the other, 'when a man snores in his sleep through two octaves, so that the whole house can hear it, do you consider the sounds produced to be vocal or instrumental music?'

Why is a loafer in a printing office like a shade tree in the spring? Because you are glad when he leaves.

A young physician asking permission of a lass to kiss her, she replied, 'No, sir; I never like a doctor's bill stuck in my face.'

If there were seminaries for teaching spinology, knitology, weaverology, cookeology, washology, &c., we should have more W. F. F. W's, or Women Fit for Wives.

A certain doctor used to cook into medicines all sorts of roots and herbs, and then try them on his wife. If they didn't kill her, he was ready for his other patients.

'How many children have I?' asked a woman of a spirit-rapper. 'Four.'—'And how many have I?' asked her husband. 'Two,' was the astonishing reply. Mis-take corrected.

A piously inclined person was exhorting Pat on the subject of religion. He indignantly answered: 'Sure, an' didn't I jine the Methodist? Faix, and I did. I jined for six months, and behaved myself so well, they let me off wid three!'

A gentleman travelling on a steamer, one day, at dinner was making way with a large pudding close by, when he was told by a servant that it was dessert. 'It matters not to me,' said he, 'I would eat it if it were a wilderness.'

An incorrigible loafer, being taken to task for his laziness replied: 'I tell you gentlemen, you are mistaken, I have not a lazy bone in my body; but the fact is, I was born tired!'

In reply to a young writer who wishes to know "what magazine will give me the highest position quickest?" a contemporary advises "powder magazine, in which to contribute a very fiery article."

A Lady said to her husband in Jerrold's presence: 'My dear, you certainly want some new trowsers.' 'No, I think not,' replied the husband. 'Well,' said Jerrold, 'I think the lady, who always wears them, ought to know.'

'Well Done, John!'—'John,' said a doting parent to her gormandising son, 'do you really think you can eat the whole of that pudding with impunity?' 'I don't know, ma,' replied the young hopeful; 'but I guess I can with a spoon.'

Josh Billings says of game fowl. They don't weigh more than 30 ounces, but they make as much fuss as a ton. I have seen them trying tew pick a quarrel with a two hoss waggon, and don't think they would hesitate tew fight a meeting house if it was the least assy tew them.

A cowardly fellow—a gent—lounging at the corner of King and Young streets, kicked a newsboy the other day for pestering him to buy the Evening Globe. The lad's revenge was ingenious and complete. He waited till another boy accosted the gent, and then shouted in the hearing of all bystanders, It's no use to try him, Jim; he can't read.

A Cholerie old gentleman becoming enraged at the stupidity of an aged and faithful servant, exclaimed, 'Zounds, you dolt, I shall go out of my wits at your dullness!' To which the honest old servitor replied, 'Well, there's one comfort, master, you won't have far to go!'

Lord Brougham was pleading one day before the Court of Queen's Bench, when the judges appeared but ill-pleased with him. At lunch time Mr. Brougham left the Court for a few moments, and remarked to a friend that he had just swallowed two pints of porter. 'Porter,' remarked the other; 'my dear Brougham, that will make you stupid.' 'Stupid,' replied Mr. Brougham, on seeing the judges returning to their seats, 'well, so much the better, for now I can argue with those gentlemen.'

Hours Passing a Point.—A couple of rival politicians were disputing about the extent of a recent procession one claiming that it was a small affair, and the other that it was 'the biggest thing of the kind ever seen in the country.' 'Why,' said he, 'it was twelve hours passing a given point, an I'll make you admit,' looking at his opponent. 'I'd like to see you do it,' said the latter. 'Well, the point it took us twelve hours to pass was the public-house at the corner.' The 'other fellow' gave it up.

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES
GO TO THE
ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,

From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lannin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and tocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials and Extraordinary Cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and inconteistable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shushonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the Blood. we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Emery, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞ Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy to large pints $1.00.

☞ For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

BARLEY, OATS,

PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 3, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from E. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said E. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

A HANDSOME

Christmas Gift.

AS Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your———or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Great & Co's, $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $35. Dino with stand $33. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $45 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $55.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

Special Notice.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

(Established 1825,)

With which is now united

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Head Office for Canada,

MONTREAL,—STANDARD COMPANY'S BUILDING,

No. 47, Great St. James Street.

Manager.....W. M. RAMSAY
Inspector.....RICHARD BULL.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The EIGHT DIVISION of the Company's Profits is appointed to be made at 15th NOVEMBER 1871, and all Policies now effected will participate.

The FUND TO BE DIVIDED will be the profits which have arisen since 15th November 1865.

The COMPANY'S BUSINESS YEAR will close on 15th NOVEMBER 1868, and in order to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the PROFIT SCHEME, Proposals should be lodged with the Agents on or before that date.

Agent for Peterborough,

ALEX. SMITH.

Peterboro, Oct. 28, 1868. 44

MILLER'S

Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 75c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co; Proprietors.

167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

N. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE, Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

Money! Money!

MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.

Apply to J. A. HALL, At the Court House

Peterboro', May 8th, 1861 19

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor, &c., Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 16, 1868. 12-tf

JOSEPH HALL-

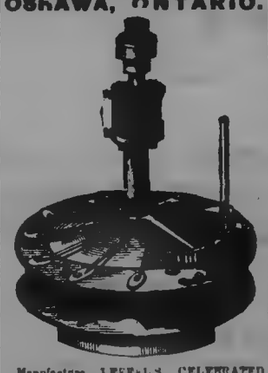
MACHINE WORKS!

ESTABLISHED 1851.

JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.

PROPRIETORS,

OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SMITHFIELD, Ohio, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patters, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us therefor. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞ We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.

Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-12in

THE ÆTNA

LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq., Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Safe Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborogh.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't
P. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phenix Insurance Company,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams: and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 8, 1868. 50

A VALUABLE

Farm for Sale!

THE Subscriber offers for sale that Excellent Farm, Lot No 21, in the 9th Concession of Otonabee. It is situated about 6 miles from Peterboro and the same distance from Keene. There are 85 acres cleared and in a good state of cultivation, and a comfortable Dwelling House, Sheds, Barns and Stables; a good young orchard bearing choice fruit. The soil is of the very best quality; about 8 acres in Fall Wheat, looking well, and 40 acres ploughed ready for spring sowing.

For terms apply to the proprietor on the premises,

JOHNSTON COONEY,
Or to JAMES STRATTON,
Examiner Office, Peterboro.

Otonabee, October 8th, 1868. 41-13in

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm. Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor, Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

DOMINION HOUSE,

PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, January, 1869. 53

W. G. THOMSON & Co's

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞ INSPECTION INVITED.

Peterboro, Sept, 30, 1868. 40

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 16, 1868. 3-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. McFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

W. WADDELL

Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of

CARRIAGE HARNESS,

Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also

HEAVY TEAM HANRESS,

Made of the very best material.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.

In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS

in Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.

Children's Carriages

From $2.00 each to $15.00.

Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.

Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking

Kept constantly on hand.

Peterboro, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

FUR SHOP REMOVED.

MR. LECH

HAS REMOVED

One Door north of Mr. Lannin's Tin Shop.

Parties desirous of having their furs cured will please leave them at Mr. Loch's residence, London street, No. 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 14

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

OF

CONSUMPTION!

IN CANADA.

MESSRS YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonee Remedy and Pills. I complied a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different receipes, but all without any good effect. Squire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottle, at once, with the Pills; as soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing its use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman Peter C. V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

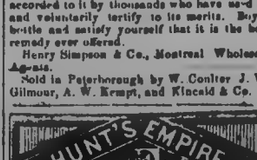
Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.

SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. H GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
U. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Brome.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSHINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston
N. JENIS, M. D., Barnston.
C. W COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MEIGS, M. D., Stanstead.
J. WEBB BREADON, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Coaticook.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MUSSEY, M. D., Boston
W. MARSDEN M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
F. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.



IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c., &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely gray, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents
Sold in Peterborough by W. Coulter, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Kincaid & Co.

NOT QUITE SO.

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it still be the losers, their horses the sufferers. to avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurld & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 19

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—The North half of No. 4, in the 4th Concession of Eusinore.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro,' Feb'y 18, 1868.

The Great English Remedy!

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

This well-known Medicine is no imposition, but a sure and safe remedy, for Female Difficulties and Obstruction from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

To all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, heaviness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, lowness of spirits, hysterics, sick headache, whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

N. B. $1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorized Agent will ensure a bottle, containing Pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, Ont.
General Agents for Canada.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills are extensively COUNTERFEITED. The genuine have the name of "JOB MOSES" on each package. All others are worthless.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, J. W Kempt, Wm. Coulter, and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell. Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, fainting, trembling, coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and easily administered to the child drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N B—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by medicine Dealers everywhere. 23

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH OF IT what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, and PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

Offices:—215 Fulton Street New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1yr

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensable article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our men all say it acts like magic."

J. W. HEWITT,
Foreman for America, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.

"The Sprain of my daughters ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.

ED. KELLY.

Gloucester, Mass., Aug 1, 1868.

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beast, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery-men and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. Westbrook Chemist, and the private U. S. stamps of Dennes Raines & Co., over the top.

An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone plate label. Look closely!

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Colds, Coughs and Consumption.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Bronchitis, Asthma and Croup.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Imparts strength to the system.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Is pleasant to take.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—always gives satisfaction or the money will be refunded. It is recommended by prominent Physicians: and while it is pleasant to take and harmless in its nature, it is a powerful remedy for curing all diseases of the Lungs.—Sold by all Druggist.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Agents,
320, St. Paul Street, Montreal.

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
37 Sole Agents for Canada.

Over a Million Dollars Saved!

Gentlemen:—"I had a negro man who $1,200 who took cold from a bad exposure, and was useless for over a year. I used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment. It soon effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.

Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1869.

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1869. No. 7.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
Concert Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing of Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

JAMES F. DENNISTOUN,

BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Notary Public. Office, Hunter street, Peterborough.

Peterboro, July 26, 1868. 31

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,

BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 39

SCOTT & GREEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

WILLIAM HEPBURN SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY at LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, direct opposite Mr. Cluxton's, George street, Peterborough.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,

SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

Conveyancers, &c.,

Peterborough, Ontario.

T. N. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN,

48 Keeps

J. O'SULLIVAN, M. D., L. R. C. P. S., I.

Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR. Coroner for County of Peterborough. Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 21-tf

J. BINGHAM, M. D., L. R. C. P. S.

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and

LICENTIATE

Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.

Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.

December 16, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,

Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.

Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.

Ashburnham, October 23, 1867. 48

J. W. GILMOUR,

DRUGGIST, Chemist and Seedsman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 18

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

Office and Store, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.

Nov. 21, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 30

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Business Directory.

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.

☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, Paper Hanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.

Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C. W.

Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO,

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits.

A. SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.

FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.

Wm. OGILVY, Agent.

Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,

PETERBOROUGH.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

From this date until further notice, the rate of intest in the above department will be

FIVE PER CENT.

PER ANNUM.

D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.

Peterboro', April 1st, 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.

ALL payments to be made on account of the

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!

MAY BE MADE TO THE

Royal Canadian Bank

And Its Agencies.

E. B. WOOD, Treasurer of Ontario.

Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,

TOBACCONIST,

George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

March 12, 1868. 11-1y

GEORGE ALLEN,

GUN & WHITE-SMITH,

Hunter Street, Peterborough,

BEGS to inform the public that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and Whitesmithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired.

☞ Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.

Peterboro, October 25, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,

DENTIST,

Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.

D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodians of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodeon, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.

Peterboro', February 5, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain

D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.

Peterboro, November 28 1868. 48

REMOVAL.

DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hazlitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.

Peterboro, July 8, 1868. 28

R. S. HOWELL,

FORWARDER,

Commission Merchant,

AND

GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,

Dealer in Lumber, &c.,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 39

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE

LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,

AND

Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Lindsay, Depart ..... 9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 1 10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart ..... 3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 4.35 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Lindsay, Depart ..... 12 35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 4.30 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart ..... 5.45 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 7.20 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Peterborough, Depart ..... 3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 6.20 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 8.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart ..... 10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Peterborough, Depart ..... 5.35 a. m.
Millbrook ..... 6.20 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 9.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart ..... 1.15 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 2.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 3.20 "

A. T. WILLIAMS, Superintendent.

May 30, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

TRAINS LEAVE

PORT HOPE STATION

AS FOLLOWS:

GOING EAST.

Express (day) ..... 9.30 a.m.
Mixed ..... 7.00 p.m.
Express (night) ..... 9.20 p.m.

GOING WEST.

Express (night) ..... 10.30 p.m.
Mixed ..... 3.00 p.m.
Express (day) ..... 10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time

Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

TORONTO LINE.

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 3.50 p.m. and 6.55 p.m.

Express at 12.55 p.m.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

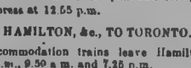
Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 7.25 p.m.

Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME

IN THE

Norwood and Peterboro'



STAGE.

ROYAL MAIL LINE!

LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a m.

LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.

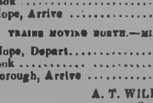
Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates

J. A. JOHNSON, Proprietor

Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.

Rates of Passage from Peterboro':

CABIN, - - $78 to $88. STEERAGE - $30.

Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.

For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to

GEORGE A. COX, Agent.
Canadian Express Co'y.

Peterboro', Nov. 7th. 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,

No. 29 Front Street, Toronto. Ont.

JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.

This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Stations, Steamboat Landings and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞ Fare $1.25 per Day 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,

WALTON STREET,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.

Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Poetry.

MR. MURRAY TO EVAN McCOLL.

(From the Spectator.)

Evan McColl, I know you well
On paper,—but if you would tell,
A brother bard (I may be bold)
A something of your race and mould,
Where you were born, and what your clan,
(For you must, of course be a Highland man,)
I'd take it kind,
And you may add when your life began,
If you can mind.

"But who are you?" you well may ask,
"That dares to call for such a task,
"That flings aside like a boorish fool,
"The clearest rules of the Chesterfield school."

If I am rough and rude of speech,
My Highland blood you must impeach,
And not my will—
I have the wish your heart to reach,
If not the skill.

When first my eyes awoke to light,
The Grampian hills were full in sight;
The Dochart, and the Lochay joined,
Reposed in deep Lochtay to bind,—
Two rows of oats, a church and inn,
Combined to form what's now Killin,
There, roughly girt by huge old stones,
The mighty Fingal laid his bones,—
And there in their grim sepulchral nest,
Black Duncan and his family rest—
Duncan, whose still existing tower,
Attests what once was feudal power—
That Duncan, whose twelve stout sons,
(For so the old tradition runs)
Fighting for what they deemed their rights,
Perished together on yon heights.

And yonder in the Dochart stream,
Scarce open to a sunlight beam,
A huge dark mass of rock and heath,
The weird, romantic, "Isle of Death,"
Guarded around by ancient trees,
Which seem to wail with every breeze,
And join in chorus with the river,
Which dashes foaming past for ever.
There, each below his own rude slab,
Repose the chief sons of Macnab—
"Sons of the Abbot," hence the name,
When Abbots liked fair maids for game,—
Long are the stern and sturdy Knox
Appeared, the papists' ears to box,—
Before "Fitzjames" bold "Roderick" slew,
Or lowland laird the highlands knew.

There, high above the rocky ledge,
Spanning the torrent in the bridge,
Where riding reckless, frenzy-filled,
Lord Robert and his horse were killed,
Careless of ruin, or spur or danger,
To fear or fate alike, a stranger,
With foaming mouth and eyes aglare,
The horse rose wildly in the air,
And, sudden as the lightning's blow,
Dashed horse and rider dead below.

Not far beyond lies Fort-in-gall,
The scene of many a bloody brawl;
But chiefly, here the Roman shield
Was driven shattered from the field;
Here Cæsar's chivalry first felt
The metal of the Highland Celt,
And, with his finger in his mouth,
Enquired the shortest passage South.

Now rise with me to yander hill,
Watered by many a crystal rill,
Covered by Scotia's darling heather
With bere and there a hill-bird's feather,
And foxglove's many tangled knots,
Holding its own until it rots,—
And to the sportsman ever dear,
The grouse and black cock crouching near,
The lark rejoicing up on high,
The eagle swooping through the sky.

But best of all to grazier's eye,
The hardy black sheep passing by,
Nibbling away with sharp white teeth,
Their perfumed provender—the heath,
And never deem their journey high
Till hidden in the misty sky;
Nor must we ever overlook
The theme of farmer, butcher, cook,
The cause of many a feud and battle,
The wild and shaggy highland cattle,
Famous from John O'Groat's to Selkirk
Adored at Amuiree and Falkirk.

Nor, for a moment, deem it folly,
To cast a glance at useful colly,
The ever faithful shepherd's dog,
Faithful through frost and snow and fog.

But worse than blameful would I be,
Were human friends forgot by me
Those friends who cheered my early years,
Increased my joy and soothed my fears—
Who nursed me, taught me and caressed me,
And when I left them, signed and blessed me

However primitive their talk,
Unstudied and untrained their walk,
Although they wore the simple plaid
Which their own thrifty wives had made,
And were content with highland bonnets,
Highland whiskey, highland sonnets,—
They were a noble race of men,
Whose like we ne'er shall see again;
Their faults I hardly wish to hide,
Their virtues I admire with pride.

How can I ever more forget
When with old Donald Roy I met
To teach me (my best schoolboy wish)
With rod and fly the streams to fish,
And when upon the mossy banks
My speckled captives lay in ranks,
I tried to think of some good plan
To recompense the good old man.

Yes! while I, here, far from these scenes,
Appreciate all mere money means,
A something says with thrilling tones,
"In Scotland you must lay you' bones."

* "Black Duncan,"—Sir Duncan Campbell, of Lochawe and Breadalbane or "Bonnacha dubhnan Caistal," of Highland tradition. He it was, I believe, who, when asked why he built his Castle at the extreme end of his property instead of in the centre, replied, "Och, we'll push yont," and he did, for he died with his stronghold pretty near the centre of his vast estate.

† "Robert Roberts' Leap."—Referring to the tragical death of one of the Earl's sons. He was cautioned by his friends not to attempt to ride the horse, which was a young untrained animal, but replied, "he would ride him if he rode to the devil."

BAD HANDWRITING.—"Your handwriting is very bad indeed," said a gentleman to young college friend, who was more addicted to boasting and cricketing than to hard study; "you really ought to learn to write better." "Ay, ay!" returned the the young man, "it is all very well for you to tell me that; but if I were to write better, people would be finding out how I spell!!"

We wonder if this does not explain why some eminent men write so badly! Reader, if you are acquainted with anybody who corresponds with us, and whom this cost hits, we authorize you editorially to proceed to put it on him, however many people there may be present to witness the transaction. The more the better!!

Selections.

What a Little Song Can Do.

A TRUE INCIDENT.

A GAY young visitor said to me the other day: "M——, do you remember that little English girl who made dresses for me last summer?"

'Yes,' I replied, 'she usually worked by the corner window of your sitting-room; a delicate, fair-haired girl, wasn't she?—seemed to be a rapid sewer—what of her?'

'Why, I heard her story the other day—a terrible story; and do you know it seems so strange to think that during all those days when she used to sit and sew for me, I never once thought of her as an individual?'

'What do you mean?'

'I mean just what I say. She never appeared to me in the light of an individual. She was just the dressmaker; and whenever I thought of her it was only in connection with fashions and mantua-making. I remember noticing sometimes that the sunshine fell brightly upon her head as she sat sewing, and that she had a shy, trembling way with her. But it never occurred to me that she had interests apart from her work—personal affairs, you know; such as you and I have. I don't believe it ever crossed my mind that she cared for anything but making dresses. And oh! such a life as that poor girl led—an awful life! She's dead now, and I'm glad of it, poor thing. Good-bye!'

'Wait a moment, Lu,' I cried; 'what a strange child you are! You surely went go without telling me more?'

'Yes, I must. It's time for my music lesson, Good-by, dear; I'll come again soon;' and off she ran, lightly humming a tune as she bastened down the stairway.

I have not seen her since; or I would, perhaps, be able to tell you the poor sewing girl's story. But I can relate an incident that came vividly to my mind even before the sound of Lu's light, receding footsteps had died away.

One lovely day in the spring of 186—, I made a startling discovery. Just when the fields were putting on their brightest green, and the fruit-trees were wreathing themselves with blossoms, I suddenly became aware that I needed raiment. All my last year's stock seemed shabby amid the vernal freshness of things. In short, as my friend, Helen Fitz, tenderly hinted, there was nothing left me but either to look like a fright or to get some new dresses.

Then arose a new trouble: the mantuamakers were in the height of their busy season. No one could I find who would take in another order. What was I to do? The Flora McFlimsy within me grew faint. If I should make the dress myself, it wouldn't have a particle of style. So my best friends assured me, with a mysterious shudder which made me feel only too thankful that my humble aspiration had been nipped in the bud.

(And all this time Nature was laughing with her blossoms, and slipping so softly and easily into her new dress!)

Well, the only plan open to me was to employ a visiting mantua-maker. After what seemed, at the time, an endless succession of vexations and dissappointments, I succeeded in hearing of that rare rara avis—a dressmaker who not only could but would make a dress—a visiting dressmaker, and a 'perfect treasure,' as Helen declared—such a 'good hand at conjuring'—could 'fit' admirably—her only fault was that she was slow. If I could stand that, Mrs. Bond was the very person I wanted; and wonderful to relate! she had a few disengaged days. So I sent a messenger, and received word in return that she would be with me early on Monday morning.

Was I satisfied then? Not quite. A strange unrest came over me—an unrest that increased as the days once between the date of engagement and Monday diminished.

To make this feeling clear, I must confess that I am of a peculiar temperament. Employes of all kinds hold a mysterious power over me. I shrink from my waiter-girl, and feel condemned in the presence of my cook. Sometimes I am almost tempted to say: 'Excuse me, Ann: forgive me, Kitty. It's not entirely my fault that some must work while others play. I know you are far more clever at washing windows, ironing, and cooking than I should be. I never in the world could wait at the table, or answer the door-bell as patiently and cheerfully as you. I'm afraid I wouldn't have the fortitude to rise before daylight on snowy winter mornings, and attend early mass before commencing a hard day's work. I'm not sure that I could deny myself as you do, in order to send money across the water to bring my cousins over. In short, Ann and Kitty, if life seems hard to you, if my kitchen is dreary, and my visitors too many, forgive me—bear with me. You might, either of you, have been a poor, helpless lady yourself, you know.'

The same feeling comes when with those who, higher in the social scale, still serve me; for all mankind are, after all, servants in some sense. I always submit my pulse deprecatingly to my physician, fearful lest my case be too unimportant for so august a personage; wonder what I should do if I had to consult a lawyer; and in church I sometimes feel so crestfallen and ashamed, that if the sexton were not so very like the Lord Chamberlain in supressed greatness and noiseless sublimity, I would, during the service, ask him to step up to the pulpit and tell Dr. Blast that if my particular case of sinfulness aggravated him I would willingly get up and go home.

Even shopmen are formidable creatures in my eyes. When at Stuart's I never can throw off the impression that the clerk who is waiting upon me owns the entire establishment. But all this is nothing to the appalling influence of fashionable milliners and dressmakers. Only the sight of the lilies of the field can sustain me when in their presence.

What wonder, then, that I dreaded this particular Monday? It came, all the same, however; and when, just before breakfast, the door-bell rang, Ann, who answered the summons, was a grander, lighter-hearted young woman than her mistress who stood in an upper room bracing herself to meet the coming presence.

In a moment Ann came up, saying, mysteriously: 'She's down-stairs, mum, and she's had her breakfast. My! but she's the queer-looking old crayture, though!'

'Show her up, Ann.

She entered—a quiet-looking, mild old woman of seventy!

I had not expected this. Fancy had conjured a dreasy, fussy young person with a manner as quick and snipping as her scissors, and a roll of fashion-plates in her hand—somebody with an iron will, who knew the exact size a lady's waist ought to be—lungs or no lungs.

But this quiet, sober old body, clad in dingy black—how could I ask her to make up my finery?

'Good-morning! Is this Mrs. Bond?' I asked, half hoping that it was not.

'I believe it is,' she answered, with a pleasant smile, taking off her shawl and bonnet as she spoke, and adjusting her spectacles carefully, so as not to tear her simple white cap. 'Shall I sit here, ma'am?'

'Oh! yes, certainly;' and, somehow, before I knew it, the old lady was cutting out a lining, and I was upstairs again (after having taken a hasty breakfast), and seated near her, running up the breadths of a skirt, everything just as easy and natural as possible.

Yes, she was slow; but I think it was because she took so much interest in her work, that she rather lingered over it. It was wonderful to see how she would turn a refractory bit of goods this way and that, until, at last it would fit in exactly where it was needed; wonderful to see her stitch, stitch, in such a steady, resolute way, and all the time with that placid expression on her face, her wrinkled little mouth pursed up, and her gray eyebrows arching mildly over her spectacles!

About eleven o'clock in the forenoon, without looking up from her work, she said: 'Mrs. D——, would it be asking too much if I wanted a cup of tea at lunch-time? It keeps me awake for the afternoon, and I can do better justice to the work.'

Awake for the afternoon! Poor old soul!

'Certainly! not at all!' I exclaimed, in a startled way. 'We always have tea at luncheon; but, whether or not, you should have it, and welcome. Why not lie down awhile, though? Please do. Rest yourself, now, on that lounge.'

'Oh! no, no indeed! thank you!' and she laughed—a quiet, sober little laugh, with a tear in it. 'The tea'll keep me up now, ma'am,' she added, cheerily; 'if you'll please get ready to try on, I'll be through in a minute.'

She staid with me for three days, working steadily and slowly all the time, kept awake by the tea, and resolutely resisting my entreaties that she should take an occasional nap. One peculiarity puzzled me. On several occasions, when, after a brief absence, I entered the room, I saw her quietly slip something into her little covered basket, which sat on the floor beside her, and resume her work as I approached.—Otherwise, she sewed as steadily as though she were moved by machinery.

But if Ann and Kitty awoke apologetic emotions within me, how much more this patient, silver-haired old lady. I could scarcely bear to see her working for me, and it was only by planning various trifling benefits for her that I could feel in any way reconciled to it. She was so old, poor soul, and she so firmly thrust away the infirmities of age, as if saying constantly to herself:—"That's right—back, keep straight; eyes, keep strong, fingers, keep nimble, for I have this dress to make."

Ah! if trouble were to come upon her, I thought, unreal, heart-rending sorrow, she could not be like this. For it so happened that I had one great trial to bear, and I knew what important allies were youth and strength. But I did not understand her yet.

On the third day—I hardly can say how it came out—she told me the story of her life, or rather it seemed to slip from her as the work slipped through her fingers—and what a life it was! Trial upon trial, sorrow upon sorrow; prosperity at first, then misfortune and poverty, then twelve years of married life, and three or four little graves; sickness; the prop of the home smitten down, a helpless invalid; then widowhood, with four children to support and educate; next, one of the children a hopeless cripple—labor, ceaseless labor; then sorrow and trouble in a married daughter's misfortune; then her two daughter's widowed and in delicate health, and with several young children, all upon her hands, she their only ark and refuge! Her youngest, an only son, she had bravely educated through it all. He had finally joined the Union army, without a word of opposition from her. At that very moment he might be lying wounded on the battle-field, or his bones might be gathered in some nameless grave, for she had not heard from him for months. And there had I been consulting with her about my sleeves!

'And you support them all—children and grandchildren?' I asked, making believe to search for a spool of cotton, for I felt too fidgety to sew.

'Yes, deary, mostly' (she had given me this name on the second day.) 'Annie's laid up with her side most of the time; and what with grieving and taking charge of the little ones while I'm off workin', poor Esther don't earn much, though she's a first-maker by trade. Now, ma'am, I'm ready for this shoulder again.'

(How blithely she spoke! I had been rather low-spirited of late—I with my one illumined sorrow, she with her load of crowding cares)! As soon as the shoulder was arranged, I went into the entry to speak with Kitty concerning dinner. When I re-opened the door I saw that mysterious movement again. My dressmaker was slipping something into her basket.

'Oh!' she said, with a slight jump, 'what a little thing starts me! I was just reading my little song.'

'Your little song?'

'Yes; it's a bit of writing I've had five or six years, the greatest comfort of my life; almost,' and she lowered her voice, 'like my Bible. It kept me up when I do believe nothing else would.'

She said this in such a cheery way, while picking out the basting-threads, that I hardly knew how to reply. But at last I said, stupidly enough:

'Don't you ever get sick, Mrs. Bond?'

'No, not often; leastwise, not enough to make me loose my day. Thank you, deary, I'll go on with that sleeve if you haint finished it, and you can take up the cording.'

'It's wonderful,' I said, tacitly following her direction, 'really wonderful, to think of your supporting all your family so, and on two dollars a day.'

'Sometimes I do wonder,' she said quietly, 'how I do it; but God helps us, and then, you know, I have my little song. I'll take them black books, please.'

We sat silently working for a few moments. At last I said, softly and reverently:

'Mrs Bond, will you teach me your little song?'

She looked up with a surprised—'What, deary?'

'That little song you were speaking of. It would do me good, too, I am sure.'

'Will you teach it to me?'

'You, child! You don't need it—young bright, and happy. It's only for tired old bodies like me.'

'Ah! but perhaps I do,' I persisted; 'life is very vexing to me sometimes.'

She bent down, and, lifting her little basket slowly raised the lid, then took out a folded sheet of paper, worn and dingy. She opened it tenderly as she handed it to me.

"This is my little song, deary, I know all it says, but it always helps me to read it, especially when things comes into my mind that oughtn't to.'

I had expected to find one of the sweet old hymns that tell of comfort and joy to come as a reward for sorrow suffered here. But the verses that I saw surprised me.

'Where did you find this poem?' I asked.

'I didn't find it. The Lord sent it to me sort of mysterious. A young girl read it out once in a room where I was sewing, and when I had a chance, I asked her to write it down for me. I don't take to such things generally; but this song is kind o' by itself.'

And so it was. For the poem was Adelaide Proctor's 'One by One.'

'I have a whole book of verses written by the same lady.' I said, still looking at the paper; 'shall I bring it and read you a few of them?'

'No, deary, I thank you kindly; but most like I wouldn't understand 'em. This little song'll last me out well enough. As you're looking at it, deary, would you mind saying it for me out loud?'

For the first time during our conversation, she laid down her work and leaned back in her chair, while I read in a voice that tried not to tremble:

"One by one the sands are flowing,
One by one the moments fall;
Some are coming, some are going,
Do not strive to grasp them all.

"One by one thy duties wait thee,
Let thy whole strength go to each;
Let no future dreams elate thee,
Learn thou first what these can teach.

"One by one (bright gifts from Heaven),
Joys are sent thee here below;
Take them readily when given,
Ready, too, to let them go.

"One by one thy griefs shall meet thee,
Do not fear an armed band;
One will fade as others greet thee,
Shadows passing through the land.

"Do not look at life's long sorrow;
See how small each moment's pain;
God will help thee for to-morrow,
So each day begin again.

"Every hour that flects so swiftly
Has its task to do or bear;
Luminous the crown and holy,
If thou set each gem with care.

"Do not linger with regretting,
Or for passing hours despond;
Nor, the daily toil forgetting,
Look too eagerly beyond.

"Hours are golden links, God's token,
Reaching heaven; but one by one
Take them, lest the chain be broken
Ere the pilgrimage be done."

I looked up. Mrs. Bond was busily sewing her "whole strength" going to the present duty, her little, wrinkled mouth intently as usual, her gray eyebrows arched mildly above her spectacles, and her sweet, old face more placid than ever.

Adelaide Proctor is with the angels now. The tumult of this busy world shall never more disturb her. But she is a gladder, more blessed angel, we may be sure, whenever that dear old woman reads her little song.

EIGHT TO SIXTEEN.

Lord Shaftsbury recently stated in a public meeting in London, that from personal observation he had ascertained that of the adult male criminals of that city nearly all had fallen into a course of crime between the ages of eight and sixteen years; and that if any young man lived an honest life up to twenty years of age, there were forty-nine chances in his favor, and only one against him, as to an honorable life hereafter.

Thus it is in the physical world. Half of all who are born die under twenty years of age, while four-fifths of all who reach that age die before another "score" owe their deaths to causes of disease which were originated in their "teens." On a careful inquiry it will be ascertained that in nearly all cases the causes of moral and premature physical death are pretty much one and the same, and are laid between the ages of "eight and sixteen." This is a fact of startling import to fathers and mothers and shows a fearful responsibility. Certainly a parent should secure, retain and exercise absolute control over the child until sixteen; it can no be a difficult matter to do this except in very rare cases, and if that control is not wisely and efficiently exercised it is the parents fault; it is owing to parental neglect or remissness. Hence the real source of ninety eight per cent, of the crime of a country such as England or the U. States lies at the door of parents. It is a fearful reflection; we throw it before the minds of the fathers and mothers of our land, and there leave it to be thought of in wisdom, remarking only as to the early seeds of bodily disease, that they are nearly in every case sown between sundown and bed-time, in absence from the family circle, in the spending money never earned by the spender, opening the doors of confectionaries, soda-fountains, beer, and tobacco, and wine, of the circus, the negro minstrel, the restaurant and the dance; then follows the Sunday excursion, the Sunday drive, with easy transition to the company of those whose ways lead down to the gates of social, physical and moral ruin. From "eight to sixteen!" in these few years are the destinies of children fixed," in forty-nine cases out of fifty!" fixed by the parent! Let every father and mother solemnly vow "By God's help I'll fix my darling's destiny by making home more attractive than the streets."—Hall's Journal of Health.

A Chapter on Hogs.

Josh Billings thus discourseth about hogs:

Hogs are generally quadrupeds.

The extreme length of their antiquity has never been fully discovered; they existed a long time before the flood, and her existed some time since.

Their is a great deal of internal revenue in a hog; there ain't much more waste in them than in an oyster.

Even their tails can be worked into whiskels.

Hogs are good quiet boarders; they always eat what is set before 'em, and don't ask any foolish questions.

They never hev any disease but the measles, and they never hev that but once; once seems to satisfy 'em.

There is a great meny breeds amongst them.

Some are a close corporashun breed, and agin some are built more apart, like a hemlock slab.

They used to hev a breed in New England, a few years ago, which they called the striped hog breed; this breed was in high repute with the landlords; almost every tavern keeper had one which he used to show to travellers, and brag on him.

Some are full in the face like a townclerk, and some are as long and lean as a cow catcher, with a steel pointed nose on them.

They kan all rute well; a hog which kan't rute well hez been made in vain.

The hog can be larnt a great meny cunning things, such as lifting the front gate off from its hinges, tipping over the swill barrel, and finding a hole in the fence tew git into a corn-field; but their ain't enny length to their memory; it is awful hard work for them to find the same hole tew git out, especially if you are enny ways anxious they should.

Hogs are very contrary, and seldom drive well the way you are going; they drive mostly the contrary way. This has never been fully explained but speaks volumes for the hog.

Weston the great pedestrian is now on his walk from Bangor, Me., to San Francisco and back, in one hundred days, for a wager of $20,000. A Bangor despatch says:

An immense crowd lined the streets, and vigorously cheered him on his way. He was dressed in a semi-military costume, and flourished a tiny whip in his gloved hand. This whip has a gold handle, and was presented to Weston by Mr. Warren Leland, of the Metropolitan Hotel. He started off with a light, springy step, in good humor, and merrily laughing at the quizzing endearments of the ladies, who waved their handkerchiefs at him from the windows of their residences. At 4 o'clock precisely he was kissed by an enthusiastic female admirer. In nine more minutes he had accomplished his first mile, and within an hour he was ten miles west of the city, walking as swift and light as a rabbit. Two close covered carriages accompanied him, containing Weston's bakers, with several of his personal friends. The horses are kept on a brisk trot by Weston's feet. At 7 p. m. Weston eat a little lunch without stopping, and as I write, the cheering fragrance of his prime cigar is floating on the chill breeze behind him. He seems confident of reaching St. Paul on time, and says that if he succeeds in this, his journey thence to New York will be comparatively easy. He said before he started:—"I have invited my newspaper friends to dine with me at Warren Leland's Hotel on the 29th day of April next, and you may be assure I am too much of a gentleman to disappoint them." If Weston succeeds in his undertaking he is to receive $20,000

A witness in a trial, in Winchester, England, before Mr. Baron Martin, persisted in telling what other people said, and interlarded his testimony so often with "said I" and "said he," that the counsel was utterly bewildered. The Court attempted to set the man right: "My good man tell us exactly what happened." "Yes, my Lord, certainly. I said I should not have the pig." "Well, what was his answer?" "He said that he had been keeping the pig for me, and that he——," "No, he did not say that—he could not have said it. He spoke in the first person." "I was the first person that spoke, my Lord." "I mean this—don't bring in the third person—repeat his words." "There was no third person, my Lord, only him and me." "Look here, my good fellow—he did not say he had been keeping the pig, he said, I have been keeping it." "I assure you my Lord there was no mention of your Lordship. We are on two different stories, my Lord. There was no third person; and if anything had been said about your Lordship I must have heard it.

In fashionable ladies slang nowadays when a man is a little the worse for liquor, they say he is 'on a Grecian bend.'

Royal College of Dental Surgeons.

The regular meeting of this corporation was held at the Queen's Hotel, commencing on Tuesday, Jany 19th and ending on Saturday.

The following members were present. B. W. Day, M. D., L. D. S., President; J. O'Donnell, L. D. S., Secretary; C. S. Cottenden, L. D. S., Treasurer; H. T. Wood, L. D. S., Registrar; F. G. Callender, L. D. S.; J. B. Meacham, L. D. S., A. D. Lavelle, L. D. S., G. V. N. Relyea L. D. S., J. S. Scott, M. D., L. D. S., and George E. Elliott, L. D. S.

Synopsis of the proceedings of the session:

The following dentists having furnished to the board the required information, that they had been in established office practice for five years previous to the passing of the Act, and also being otherwise qualified, were granted certificates to practice, and also the degree of L. D. S. E. H. Harris, Ingersoll; D. S. Rupert, St. Marys; Hugh A. Baird Acton; Chas. D. Watt, Uxbridge; John Bonner, Listowel; R. M. Revell and T. W. Fenelle, Woodstock; John Philpot Sutton, Brantford; Thomas Rowe, M. D., Cobourg; J. H. Padfield, Burk's ell; Edward Thomas and James Bastedo, Nelson; J. W. Elliott, M. Edward Bridle and M. Myers, Toronto; C. N. Yare, Oshawa; W. H. Card, Whitby; A. McMichel, Waterford, and J. Wells.

The following members of the Board were appointed to conduct the examination of candidates for licenses:—

Dental Anatomy—Dr. Day; Chemistry—Dr. Scott; Institutes of Dentistry—Messrs. Elliott and Lalonde; Dental Surgery—Messrs. O'Donnell and Wood; Operation Dentistry—Messrs. Callender and Cottenden; Dental Physiology—Mr. O'Donnell; Mechanical Dentistry—Messrs Relyea and Meacham.

The following, having passed satisfactory examination, were granted certificates to practice and the degree of L. D. S:—

M. S. Beebe, Thorold; Wm. Patterson, Paris; J. B. How, Toronto; Wm. H. Agnew, Lloydtown; J. R. Devlin, Mohawk; E. N. Pearson, Newmarket; R. Campbell, Guelph; Geo. W. Harris, Seaforth; George Cowan, Kinmount; J. M. Wells, Aurora; Chas. Graham, Sharon; C. P. Lennox, Chatham; L. McDonell, Ingersoll; P. B. Rosenberry, Arkona; J. F. Gordon, Drayton; Henry Robinson, Schomburg; Frank Soper, Cornwall; R. Nimmo, Port Hope; S. J. Sovereign, Bronte; D. V. Percock, Lindsay; J. L. McDonell, Colborne; L. Burlingham, Owen Sound; W. Wells, ——; D. W. Dalmazer, Robbin's Mills; and Chas. Colter, Strathroy.

The Finance Committee submitted their report, which was received and adopted.

Moved by J. O'Donnell, seconded by J. B. Meacham,—That all dentists, that have had an established office practice previous to the passing of the Act, be allowed to practice till the meeting in July next, providing the necessary papers are deposited with the Secretary of this Board before the 3rd of March, 1869. Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

The next meeting will be held in this city, on the third Tuesday in July next.—Globe.

The Ottawa Times, a journal likely to be well informed with regard to the matter, makes the following extraordinary statement in reference to Whelan:—

"A confession is in existence; of that there can be no doubt, but of course the confession is of a two-fold nature. The priest is held to secrecy, but the official confession now in good hands may change public opinion ere long. Whelan, let it be denied it some feel inclined to do so, confessed his crime, and some, still at large, will yet expiate the crime for which Whelan was convicted, and for which he has suffered the extreme penalty of the law. Time will tell."

The expenses of some of the candidates at the last elections in England appear to have been very high. Messrs. Gladstone and Grenfell, who were defeated in Lancashire, had to pay £11,500. Captain Stewart Osborne's expenses at Bucks-head were £1,977, and Mr. Laird's the successful candidate, £935. The two unsuccessful candidates for Liverpool had to pay £3,724. The expenses of the two Conservative candidates for Dublin amounted to £10,174. The elections are not so expensive as they used to be. Lord Morpeth, many years ago, was reported to have spent £40,000 in contesting one of the Ridings of Yorkshire.

CURING HAMS.—Take the hams as soon as the hog is cold enough to cut up, rub them well with common salt, and leave them for three days to drain; throw away the brine, and for two hams of fifteen or eighteen pounds each, mix two ounces of saltpetre, a pound of brown sugar and a pound of common salt. Rub the hams with these, lay them in a deep pickling dish, with the rind downward, and keep them for three days; well corned with salt and sugar, then pour over them a bottle of good vinegar and turn them in brine and baste daily for a month. Then hang them up to dry, and after they are perfectly dry smoke.

ST. VALENTINE.—Last Sunday was St. Valentine's Day, the anniversary of the execution of the Roman St. Valentine. Little attention is now paid to this anniversary compared with former years, when the Post Office used to be flooded with all kinds of curious and ridiculous messages. In Italy the first person met on St. Valentine's Day is called a "Valentine." Hence originated the custom of designating the person to whom a love message is sent on that day a "Valentine." It was a very old notion, alluded to by Shakespeare, that on this day birds began to choose their mates. Hence, perhaps, arose the custom of sending on this day letters containing professions of love and affection.

DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO. We sometimes hear persons say, 'my horse is really out of condition, and I cannot tell either what is the matter with him, or how to get him into better order;' they appear to be ignorant of the fact that there is within their reach a remedy safe, sure, and effectual in all cases. Many persons who deal in horses use large quantities of it, and testify that its effects are most satisfactory. One horse dealer informs us that his horses' condition and appearance are so much improved by its use that they sell more rapidly and for higher prices. The article is 'Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy.' Nothing else is equal to it for the same purpose. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy: the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished in Anatomy what is at last accomplished in Hygeine by the Great Shoshonees Remedy, which has so often checked the inroad of those lung diseases of the throat which impendence and exposure have united to make so common.

BRYAN'S WATERS.—The great public remedy have now been in use over twenty years, hence it cannot be said that they are on trial. They have been thoroughly tried, and pronounced (on the authority of those whose lives and health they have preserved) to be a pure, harmless, and eminently salutary preparation, and if taken in season will invariably cure colds, coughs, sore throat, and all Bronchial affections. One fair trial will convince the most skeptical. Sold by all medicine dealers, at 3% cts per box.

TO LUMBERMEN.

We will deliver any size of MANILLA ROPE, here or in Lindsay, at 14½ cents, freight paid.

GEO. STETHEM & Co.

Peterborough, February 10, 1869.

We have received, from Massachusetts, a lot of TAFTS LACE LEATHER, suitable for Cotton Mills, Woolen Mills, and for the heavier belting of Saw Mills. It is the best Lace Leather ever shown in Peterborough.

G. STETHEM & Co

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

Peterboro, February 10, 1869. 6

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Abstract Statement—Belmont and Methuen
Thespians—Music Hall.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1869.

PARTY POLITICS.

It is a favorite theme with the Conservative press to hand Coalitions and denounce party Governments. The reason of this is obvious. In the first place they know that it is next to impossible for them to form a purely party government; while they also know that it requires but a little prudence upon the part of the leaders of the Reform party to assume the guidance of the Ship of State alone. The history of the past goes to show that whenever the former managed to get hold of the reins of power, it was by a desperate effort, and they held them under a very precarious tenure. The only proper Conservative Government since the Union was that of 1844, formed the Viger and Draper administration, afterwards merged into that of Sherwood and Badgely, in 1847. The elections of 1844 were carried chiefly through the princely bequests of Lord Metcalfe, still the Government had but one or at most two of a majority. Then followed the Baldwin-Lafontaine administration, purely Reform, with a larger majority than any Conservative Government could ever boast of. After this came the Hincks-Morin government, in 1852, which merged into a Coalition in 1854; next year it was changed into McNab-Tache. But such was the difficulty in working the machine, that in less than five months another phase is seen in the Tache-McDonald administration—the first time that the present Dominion Premier appears on the surface; this occurred in April, 1856. In November, 1857, we have McDonald-Cartier; in August, 1858, the Brown-Dorion, and a few days afterwards the Cartier-McDonald; till, in 1862, came in the Sandfield McDonald-Sicotte, a party government, after some 8 years of coalition. Then followed the coalition to effect Confederation, which has so materially altered matters, that we can now carry our local measures by our own votes, and not having the incubus of Lower Canada votes, we can manage our affairs without offering a prid pro quo, a consideration of some moment. As Reformers in Ontario, we are quite able to form a party government, and if it is deemed desirable, by all means let us have it, and let us show to our political opponents that we can both originate and carry out reforms independent of them. One thing is certain they cannot carry any measure without us, and it may be just as well perhaps that they may see and realize the fact. An insolent cotemporary, the Telegraph, in a recent article, reviling the Ontario Opposition and especially the scape-goat of the party, Geo. Brown, deals largely in the stock in trade of the class he belongs to, in ascribing all the great reforms of the last 40 years to the efforts of parties in making "party lines impassable," or as we understand him to mean compromises; yet he wishes to make it appear that it was by the fusion of parties that these reforms were accomplished. In instances the Catholic emancipation, abolition of the Slave Trade, the Reform Act of 1832, the Union Act, the Clergy Reserve settlement and others, but claiming credit for coalition governments for effecting these important measures. This is not fair—Compromise, it is true, was resorted to, but by whom? Catholic emancipation was advocated by liberals long before it passed. It was distasteful to King George the 4th, but such was the eagerness of the country to pass the measure, that it returned a large majority of Whigs to Parliament, who succeeded in 1828 in repealing the Test and Corporation Oaths, a measure which paved the way for emancipation. About this period Daniel O'Connell, the most distinguished orator of the Catholic party, was returned to Parliament for the County of Clare. Such was the consternation produced by this Act that the Duke of Wellington saw and felt the necessity of settling this question. Accordingly, we find that he labored to overcome the prejudices of the sovereign, and in the opening of the session of 1829, in consequence of a recommendation from the throne, bills were introduced to remove the disabilities complained of and carried by nearly 2 to 1 in both Houses. It was the Tories who backed down. As to the Reform Act of 1832, it was purely the Act of the Reformers of Great Britain. The Tories yielded because they could not help it. If the measure had not been carried the King's head would have been in jeopardy, and so well was he assured of the imperative necessity of carrying the measure that he created new peers to secure a majority in the House of Lords. In like manner the Corn Bill was carried, not because it was agreeable to Sir Robert Peel, but because he could not help it. The Canada Union Act was an Act of the Imperial Parliament, and was carried independent of Canada Legislators. There was no coalition for or against that measure. The Clergy Reserve question occupied a quarter of a century in settling, and it is somewhat ludicrous to hear the Tories claim credit for its settlement. It had to be fought for hand to hand, and it was finally settled by the commutation measure of 1854, as act of a Coalition Government; but it is well known that at the elections of 1852 the Tories in a number of instances would never have been returned had they not solemnly pledged themselves at the hustings to vote for and advocate their secularization. In fine, English history returns the test that all measures affecting the liberties and privileges of the people as against an intolerant and grasping oligarchy, have emanated from the Reformers both at home and in the colonies. Our cotemporary, to whom we referred above, points us to the municipal and School system as being the offsprings of coalitions, and says if the "drill sergeant had had his way these would have been delayed if not defeated." Indeed! how comes it that both of these measures were the work of a purely party government, one in 1849 the other in 1850. We advise him to study political history better before he makes himself again ridiculous. If his prejudices so warp his judgement that he can only discover in Edward Blake an ability to "crack," and in the whole of the opposition no more than a row of pins, we advise him to bide his time, and save his ink, or he may yet, like some of his party, have to eat his words and honor the very men he now labors so hard to belittle.

THE NEW SCHOOL BILL.

We have drawn the attention of our readers to this Bill so often that we must claim their forbearance while we do so again.—Our reasons for doing so now is that the Chief Superintendent will soon visit us, and our desire is that the Bill will be so fully discussed that if ever it becomes law it will be so fully in accordance with the wants and wishes of the people that it will not require patching every year.

In the first place, the whole School law should be consolidated—that Trustees may know where to look for the law. It should also be given in the Manual, in full, and notes and comments accompanying it; not as at present—portions of the law accompanying the notes.

The first and second clauses of the Bill provide for County Superintendents, and do away with township, town, city and village Superintendents. These clauses will meet with very little opposition, and the third clause constituting a city a county, for the purposes of the Act, will be allowed to pass.

The 4th clause confers all power on Superintendents in the Council of Public Instruction, and should be amended. Teachers of five or more years standing who have during that entire period held first class certificates of qualification, should be eligible, and no person who has not been a Teacher should be appointed.

The fifth clause—granting power to County Councils to nominate candidates for the office, should have the power of appointing, provided the person appointed has been a Teacher, and holds a first class certificate of qualification.

The sixth clause relates to the duties of County Superintendents—as at present.

The seventh refers to salary, and should be left to the contending parties.

The eighth should be entirely quitted.—No Superintendent should have power to force a Teacher upon the people. A good Teacher can almost always remain in a section as long as he wishes to do so.

The ninth clause should be amended, so that the County Superintendents of three or more adjoining townships should form the Examining Board, and that once in three years the Board so constructed should have power to grant certificates of Provincial extent; the programme of such examination to be according to the branches taught in the Normal School.

The tenth clause—fixing a minimum for Teachers' salary, should be omitted. Let every Teacher make the best bargain he can; fixing salaries will lead to evasion of the law.

The 11th, 12th, 13th, 14 and 15 clauses will do no harm except in giving a power to the Superintendent to veto the action of Township Councils in changing boundaries of sections.

The 17th and 18th are strongly objectionable, as they will never be enforced unless the Government appoint special detectives.

The fact is, compulsion may be demanded for cities, towns and villages, but will prove dead letters in the rural sections. In the townships, Councils might have the power to pass By-laws to compel attendance; but let us not go back to de-potism unless the people desire it and bind themselves to carry it out.

The Visit of the Chief Superintendent of Education.

Our readers are aware that on the 3rd of March Dr. Ryerson will visit Peterborough for the purpose of urging the claims of his proposed School Bill, and with a view to securing the approbation of the public before it shall be enacted; and in order that we may be able to form an opinion on the merits of the Bill, we have given our readers the Bill in full in our last issue.

There is one very remarkable thing in reference to this Bill: The Chief Superintendent is now travelling the Province advocating it and expecting the people to give an intelligent assent to it, and yet he has not so much as furnished a single copy to the public.

The Journal of Education is considered the medium of affording information to Trustees and Teachers on all matters of importance connected with education, and yet the new Bill that proposes such sweeping changes in the School law has not appeared in the Journal, and the only reason that can be assigned for withholding it, must be that Dr. Ryerson may have the first opportunity of explaining it in conventions. How he, under the circumstances, can expect the Canadian public to form an opinion on this question at all, people are at a loss to conceive.

The Committee, too, have withheld the Bill, since it passed through their hands. Why did they not order a copy of it to be printed in the Journal of Education and sent to each Board of Trustees, that they might have an opportunity of reading it before being called upon to decide either for or against it? The people of Canada have heard many a tirade against the masses permitting their superiors to think for them, and yet what is this effort on the part of those in authority but one to couple the masses to receive their ipse dixit without investigation. Dr. Ryerson should be the last man to solicit or receive the assent (in ignorance) of the people. It the people are to be consulted, surely common sense would dictate informing them on those subjects they are called upon to discuss.

We hope the friends of education will come out on Tuesday evening next and try and arrange their opinions on this very important Bill, and be prepared to give those opinions in the convention.

WHELAN.

The execution of this unfortunate man has at length taken place—on Thursday last at 6 minutes past eleven o'clock; and, as was expected by all who gave any serious reflection to the case, he died without making any public confession that would implicate any of his accomplices: for accomplices he must undoubtedly have had. From the very moment that the news of the atrocious murder was known to the public, it was believed to be the fiendish work of that most cruel and bloody organization, the Fenian brotherhood, Whelan being only considered an instrument in their hands to perform the bloody deed. It was hoped for a time that such information would be elicited at the trial as would lead to the detection of the ring-leaders in Canada, but so far as the public are aware this has not been done, although there can be little doubt but that the Government has information that has never yet been made public.

Ever since the election in Montreal when Mr. McGee defeated his opponent, the celebrated Barney Dev in, there appears to have been a secret conspiracy to take away McGee's life, and for that purpose they dogged his footsteps wherever he went. In Montreal there was some organization for that purpose, but whether the members received their inspiration from the United States or from an organization of Fenians in Canada, few will ever know. There can be little doubt, however, that there were (and perhaps are still) enough of the discontented and blood-thirsty, whose rage against McGee was maddened by whiskey, and whose sympathy with Irish grievances were intensified by their libations, until they resolved to destroy all whom they imagined stood in the way of their manner of redressing them.—And there will be some difficulty in clearing the minds of many Canadians of the idea that some of the principals in the election contest are not as deep in the crime as Whelan, but who have been able to keep so far in the back ground as to evade the law. Indeed, Whelan, before his execution, more than once intimated that parties in a higher position than he, were not ignorant of the plot, and at one time it had got abroad that Whelan had said, O'Farrell, of Quebec, who made himself so busy at the trial, and who it was known did not scruple at the means used to get the real criminal acquitted, was the instigator of the foul crime.

There is now a general satisfaction at the execution of Whelan, and this is greatly increased from the fact he said enough to prove that he did not die innocently. More than once he declared to those who talked with him, that he knew who shot McGee, but that he did not fire the shot; only watched for those who did. This, however, rendered him as much a principal in the murder as if he fired the shot, and hence from this acknowledgment itself, the execution was a righteous one. None, however, believe him in asserting his innocence of firing the shot. On the contrary, everything points to the fact that he did, and there must have been confederates too, although not yet fully known.

Buckley and Doyle, who let him into the House so often, and furnished him means of admission so many times during the night, are as guilty, morally, as the man who has suffered the extreme penalty of the law, and there are strong reasons for believing that they were in the plot. Buckley, almost ever since his arrest, feigns madness; the doctors now pronounce it real, and of so it is not to be wondered at. He is still in prison, and so is Doyle. Some sad reflection must have passed through their minds, if they are capable of reflection at all, when the news of the execution reached them; but it is to be feared that they are too much hardened in crime to have a pang of remorse on account of it.

Reporters who were present at the execution say that the Confessor who attended Whelan prevented him making a public confession of his crime, lest he might in an unguarded moment make known the promoters of the dreadful deed. If this be so, it will only tend to prove more firmly the insincerity of some who make loud professions of being opposed to Fenianism, and of having a detestation of the crime of assassination, but who thus use their position to prevent the revealing of the assassins. It would certainly have been as well to let him have his own way, and let consequences follow.—In another column will be found the different versions of the facts as reported by eye-witnesses.

We are pleased to observe that John Walton, Esq., President of the Agricultural Society of this Riding, has been elected as a member of the Provincial Board of Agriculture. In view of the serious financial derangement, and mal-administration of the affairs of the Association, recently made public, it is especially important that there should be a thorough overhauling of the accounts, and a faithful and correct report given to the public of the state of affairs. We are, therefore, especially gratified to find that the Board is composed of new men save two. We hope the new members will face the task imposed upon them without fear, favor or affection. We will answer for our member doing his duty faithfully and straight-forward.

TO TEACHERS, TRUSTEES, AND THE FRIENDS OF EDUCATION GENERALLY.—There will be a meeting in the Town Council Chamber on Tuesday evening, 23d instant, at 7.30 p.m., in order to discuss the new School Bill, and to arrange if possible to assent thereto in whole or in part.

A VALUABLE HOG.—Mr. Wm. Fowler, of North Monaghan, brought in a hog to market on Tuesday last, for which he received the handsome sum of $74.86. It was but 2½ years old when killed and weighed 713 lbs, and brought $10.50 per 100 lbs. Beat this who can.

TO TEACHERS.—There will be a Teachers convention in Ashburnham, on the last Saturday of February, inst., at 11 o'clock, and we trust that there will be a full attendance as important business will be brought before the meeting that day.

The roofs of two new stores on Notredame street, Montreal, fell in on Saturday, smashing through everything till they reached the cellar. There were no persons in the stores at the time. The Witness says that several of the new buildings put up last summer are not considered safe in this respect. There was little, if any, snow on the roofs of any of these buildings.

Paris ladies are dropping the riding habit and now wear Turkish pataloons and a short skirt reaching to the knees.

Hunt's Empire Hair Gloss is a Luxury which once enjoyed will always be remembered.

SMITH COUNCIL.

The Council met. All the members present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and signed.

The Auditors report of the receipts and disbursements of the Treasurer, for the year 1868, was read and adopted and the Clerk directed to have the same printed in sheet form and to procure the copies.

A By-law appointing Samuel McKibbon, Assessor, Matthew Watson, Collector and Inspector for the current year, and fixing the remuneration of the Assessor at $15, the Collector at $80, and the Inspector at $30, received its several readings and passed.

A petition from Andrew Tully Assessor for 1868, was received and read—praying for a further remuneration for his services. Prayer of petition not granted.

Thomas Houlihan applied for compensation for 1 sheep killed by dogs. The Treasurer was directed to pay him the sum of two dollars.

John Graham applied for the sum of $1.10 paid by him as tax on one dog, said dog having been shot two or three days after being assessed. Treasurer was directed to pay the same.

A petition from James Bowie and Josiah Hunter praying the Council to open up the Government allowance for road between lots 24 and 25 in the 5th concession, was presented and read. The Clerk was directed to inform Robert Johnson that the Council intend to pass a By-law on the 20th instant, to provide for opening up the same.

The Reeve was empowered to convey to the Trustees of School Section No. 4, Smith, that piece o. parcel of land situate on the north west corner of lot 19, in the 3rd concession, containing one acre, for the site of a School House, &c.

After verbally appointing 95 Pathmasters, 13 Pound-keepers and 14 Fence Viewers, the Council adjourned till the 26th inst.

DUMMER COUNCIL.

The new Council met in conformity with the Statute, on Jan 18th, when David Rose, Esq., as Reeve, and Messrs. H. Ferguson H Spence, G. Payne and J. Wason, as Councillors, made and subscribed the necessary declarations of qualification and office. Minutes of last meeting were read and signed.

Mr. John Dewart, Sen., was heard before the Council respecting a dog that he affirmed was killed shortly after it was assessed, and desired the Council to abate the dollar on it.—Council refused to do anything in the matter.

Mr. W. McMillan made application to have his taxes abated, which was not granted.

The Reeve nominated Mr. Wm. Snelgrove as Auditor, and the Council appointed Mr. Jas. Mackie as the other Auditor, to audit the Treasurer's accounts for 1868.

On motion of Mr. Wason, seconded by Mr. Spence.—It was decided to pay part of the County taxes in each year with any monies accruing from the sale of lands for taxes.

The Clerk was instructed to notify the Treasurer to return two dollars for Statute labor for 1868, against the west half of lot 13 in the 4th con., with other arrears, to the County Treasurer.

Mr Hugh Drain was appointed Assessor for present year at a salary of $40.

An order for $1.93, issued in favor of James Darling; as arrears against his land.

Mr. William Kidd was appointed License Inspector his duties to commence on the 1st of March next.

The Clerk was authorized to instruct Messrs Fairbairn & Cassels to collect from Strickland & Brothers the sum of $12, for timber removed from certain road allowances.

A By-law to appoint Auditors, Assessor and License Inspector; and a By-law to provide for the payment of certain sums of money read and passed.

Council adjourned to the 20th day of Feb. next.

THE McGEE MURDER.

We clip the following from the Teregraph of Monday; we know not from what source it has been obtained, or what credence there is to be placed in the incidents it notes. We give it to our readers, and they can form their own opinion on it. Time will possibly unravel the mystery yet hanging over this tragedy,—if not, eternity will bring all to light:—

The finale of the conspiracy to murder Thomas D'Arcy McGee by the execution of Patrick James Whelan, has at length drawn to a close. The question now, to public attention is directed to, who are the other conspirators—(for beyond all doubt there are others)—and why are they not in durance vile? Public opinion, to which may be added the publicly expressed opinions of many, points to a person of legal lore. True, there are very strange stories afloat. There is circumstantial evidence in existence, to evade which would almost seem impossible. As an instance, it is asserted that the party here alluded to, on the night of the murder, went to Mr. James Goldwin's, a gentleman known to be a personal friend of Mr. McGee, and inquired for Mr. McGee. This party, it is well known, was not friendly to the murdered man. On the same night, after the midnight hour, a buggy drove up to the toll-gate on the road to Aylmer. The gate was locked. The traveller knocked at the door, and on the gate-keeper appearing, the following conversation is reported by him to have taken place:—

"Do you know what time it is?"

"No, Sir; but it must be after 2 o'clock."

"Oh no, it can't be that late"—a watch was produced, opened, and pointed to—"See that; its only 25 minutes after 1 o'clock."

"Don't you know who I am?" "No, Sir; I don't know that I ever saw you before."

"Why, I'm Mr. —— ——, of ——, an attorney."

This ended the conversation, the gate was opened, and the ostensible traveller went on his way to Aylmer.

At or near 3 o'clock, a. m., this same party drove up to Mr. Holt's hotel—horse very heated—left him at the door a few minutes, and then returned to Ottawa.

Now the party here alluded to says he went to visit a friend at Aylmer, who he heard had died that day. The family of the deceased party have no knowledge of a visit on the night in question, and what is more, deny any friendship or familiarity existing between the parties here referred to. Admitting a friendship, was it not a strange hour for the visit. Again, what could be the necessity for the mummery at the toll gate? Was there an apprehension of an arrest, and was this juggling performed so as to enable this legal trickster to prove an alibi? We know not which; but lay those facts before the public—that tribunal which has a right to know, and let them judge for themselves.

Buckley, Doyle, Murphy, Kinsella and Enright are still in jail, awaiting trial for their connection with the conspiracy. We do not, for a moment, think that any of them were present when the foul deed was perpetrated; but there is strong proof of their knowledge of the act and complicity in the hellish plot. Doyle, who is also in jail for his connection with the affair, on account of failing health was admitted to bail, and has since paid the debt of nature.

Whelan has stated that there were two others engaged in the infernal plot, the carrying out of which has forfeited his life; and he did not fire the shot; this, however, was not stated on the gallows. We now have certain evidence before us, which, in a very strong sense, confirms this statement. On the north west corner of O'Conner and Sparks streets, stood a building occupied by Mr. George Clarke as an hotel. A lady, who was a boarder in this house, and who then occupied a front room on Sparks street, recollects hearing a bigger drive off from the front of the building, about or immediately after the report of the pistol-shots was heard on the morning of the murder. Now, farther past the hotel there was no fence, and the field was open, across to Queen street. On Queen street, first lot east from the corner of Bank street, is a small two story frame cottage. In this building lives Mrs. Davidson. A little after 6 o'clock on the morning of the murder, she heard the report of a pistol shot, and shortly after, her attention was attracted by the sound of a hurried foot-step coming across the lot.—Her child being unwell, she was awake, and went quickly to the front window. In doing so, she made a noise by upsetting a small stand. The noise attracted the attention of the party on the street; for, on looking out of the window, she saw a man standing, or rather pausing for an instant, and who gave a hurried and furtive glance behind him, as if peering into the darkness to discover if he was followed. He then turned, ran across to the west side of Bank street, then paused for an instant, again looked back, and then ran hurriedly off up Bank street towards the woods. This man is described as tall, having light trowsers and a dark coat, and wore a beard on the chin—a goatee. Now, this really does compare favorable with Whelan's statement, and is also corroborated by that of LACROIX, who it will be remembered said he saw a man run off in that direction. Public opinion points very strongly to the person who drove to Aylmer as being one of the other two to whom Whelan refers; and the third, we are informed, who answers Mrs. Davidson's description, could yet be arrested. Be this as it may, there is evidently a screw loose yet, or a yarn in the skein to be unravelled. Whelan's admission in his written statement convicts him of complicity in more ways than one. He does admit it, by asserting Buckley and Doyle's innocence; for how could he know they were innocent unless he had a knowledge of whom the guilty were. It is to be had, to see, through either legal or political blundering, trickery or cowardice, the guilty miscreants, who now, if Whelan's story be true, have a double murder on their blackened and crime-stained souls, no matter who, or of what country or creed—go scot free and escape the rope's end they so justly merit.

Accident in Otonabee.

On Monday, the 15th inst., a large straw stack, nearly 100 feet in length, the property of James Miller, Esq., of the Township of Otonabee, fell, burying beneath it 14 valuable cows, 3 of which were killed instantly, and another injured so that its recovery is considered extremely doubtful. When we reflect that the stack was built on posts so as to afford a shed for the stock, its enormous size, and the fact that there were in the yard 45 head of cattle and his flock of sheep, it is a matter of wonder that the loss was not vastly greater. The hired man, Mr. Archibald Angus, who saw that the stack was about to fall in, attempting to drive the stock out of danger, very narrowly escaped with his life. Mr. Miller was absent at the time in Keene. When he arrived the animals were all extracted, through the efforts of about 60 of the neighbors who repaired thither on hearing of the occurrence. —COM.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

The following is a list of the gentlemen elected members of the Council of the Agriculture and Arts Association, for Ontario, at the recent elections:—

Division No. 1 George McDonell, Cornwall.
" 2 Hon. J. Skead, Ottawa.
" 3 Andrew Wilson, Maitland.
" 4 Edam Mallory, Napanee.
" 5 John Walton, Peterborough
" 6 George Graham, Brampton.
" 7 James Cowan, Waterloo.
" 8 J. C. Rykert, M.P.P., St. Catherines.
" 9 Hon. David Christie, Paris
" 10 Robert Gibbons, Goderich.
" 11 Lionel E. Shipley, Falkirk.
" 12 Stephen White, Charing Cross, Kent.

It will be seen that only two members of the old Board, Messrs. Christie and Rykert, have been re-elected.

Three Young Men Shoot and Kill Each Other Instantly.

(From the Memphis Avalanche. Feb. 9.

One of the most painful and tragic events that ever transpired in Arkansas, occured on Thursday last at Mariana, a village in Phillips county, twenty five miles north; west of Helena. The actors in this bloody tragedy are all young men of good standing and excellent character, men of the very best stamp, brave, generous, and in the very heyday of youthful manhood, and their sudden and terrible dissolution has not only shrowded three homes in dismal mourning but cast a gloom over the whole country.

The particulars of this terrible event, as far as we have been able to gather them from parties living near Marmora, are briefly these:—It seems that on Thursday of last week, while Mr. Tom Freeman was driving a wagon and team in the direction of Mariana, he was accosted by Mr. Tom Slaughter, of Mississippi, who, together with his cousin, Mr. Arthur Slaughter, was riding on horse back in the same direction. The remark made by the first Mr. Slaughter was something to the effect "he was d—d glad that they could afford at least one white driver in Arkansas!" Mr. Freeman, it is alleged, being rather deaf, interpreted this remark as an insult, and bitterly cursed the young man. They, or one of them, remarked that it was all right, said they would see him in Mariana. Upon the arrival of the wagon at Mariana, Tom Slaughter ordered Freeman to dismount, drawing a pistol at the time. It is supposed accidently was discharged, wounding Freeman in the leg. Immediately upon this, Freeman fired, and instantly killed Tom Slaughter, the ball passing through his body in the region of the heart. Mr. Arthur Slaughter, being present, levelled his pistol and fired upon Freeman, shooting him through the head, not, however, before Freeman had simultaneously fired, mortally wounding Arthur Slaughter, who died instantly. Thus in a few minutes, three brave young fellows were sent to their long account, without warning, and from a trifling cause. Mr. Arthur Slaughter's father, Capt. H. P. Slaughter, is a prominent citizen of the country, and was a member of the Legislature in 1856 7.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.—The new Parliament was formally opened yesterday afternoon. The Queen was not present; but the Royal Speech was read by the Lord Chancellor. The relations with foreign powers are said to be of a most satisfactory character; and it is anticipated that the Alabama negotiations with the United States will result in a firm and durable friendship. As to domestic matters prominence is naturally given to the state of Ireland. The suspension of the Habeas Corpus Act is said to be no longer necessary; and the hope is earnestly expressed that the legislation about to be proposed with reference to the Irish Church, while carefully guarding personal rights and the interests of religion, will "secure the undivided feeling of the people of Ireland on the side of loyalty, and efface the memory of past contentions."

Dr. Colby's Anti-Costive and Tonic Pills, Sugar-Coated.

Jacobs' Rheumatic Liquid Cures Lame Back.

WHELAN.

The following report of the execution, a copy from the Globe's report in order that our readers may have all particulars.

The last act in the Thomas Tragedy has come and gone. Whelan was yesterday morning, expiated his crime on the scaffold, and the foul blot on his brother's blood-soaked name with an irrepressible cross has somewhat been illuminated.

THE MURDER.

It was about half past two o'clock on the morning of the 7th of April, 1868, that Mr. D'Arcy McGee, M. P. for Montreal, left the Legislative hall, at Ottawa, to proceed homewards. Shortly before leaving he had concluded one of his most powerful oratorical efforts, which showed that whatever disloyalty might have tinged the earlier career, that had now disappeared, and that he was loyal to the core, loving his Queen and country as a good patriot ought to do. This last feature was the mainspring of its whole tragedy. Disloyalty hated him for his patriotism, and his success in his honourable career drove them mad with envious rage. Nor was this hatred and rage merely a passive thing; for that morning, as D'Arcy McGee was in the act of inserting his latchkey into the door of his hotel, an insidious, cowardly assassin stept softly from his lurking place and as only a coward could act, shot him through the head from behind, and with an execration on his lips the coward disappeared. The people of the hotel, first hearing the noise of Mr. McGee at the door, and then alarmed by the report of the pistol shortly after, went out, found the body of the murdered man, lying all ghastly and bloody and dead—his half-smoked cigar by his side, and his latch key in his hand—a martyr to principle.

THE EFFECT OF THE MURDER

When the facts of this horrible act was telegraphed throughout Canada and over the world, the effect was electrical. The memory of the Clerkenwell explosion and the Manchester murder was fresh on men's minds, and they asked each other whether, the influence of a band of miscreants a species of political Thuggism was being developed in the world. And a cry for quick, dire punishment on the perpetrators of this cowardly deed was raised all over the world. Rewards of almost unheard of amounts were offered for the discovery of the murderers, and justice was at once on the alert. The murder, however, had been so skilfully and cautiously executed, that it was seen that the greatest difficulty would have to be encountered in the search. Suspicion, nevertheless, pointed in a certain direction—There were a number of characters prowling about Ottawa at the time, whose Fenian proclivities were pretty certainly understood—men capable of any act where cowardice and cunning were required, so at once, on the very day of the murder, the officers of justice laid hold of the whole crew, and amongst them was the now notorious

WHELAN.

That he was an active instrument in the hands of the Fenian brotherhood, there was not the slightest doubt. Conceited to an extravagant degree, boastful, active, ambitious for applause, he became a plant tool in the hands of its cunning Centres. In his sober moments, he boasted of his Fenian proclivities; in his cups, he vowed special and repeated vengeance against D'Arcy McGee, denying his fealty to the Queen for years; and we find him at Quebec two years before the murder, arrested as a Fenian; in the summer of 1867, we find him working in Toronto, and that, too, in the tailoring barracks of the 13th Hussars, for the purpose doubtless of feeling as to the loyalty of the soldiers, or to obtain information as to the movements of the troops prior to and during the Raid. In the spring of 18 8, he is at Ottawa, lurking about grog shops, and still speaking of the delegation in which he held D'Arcy McGee. Then he betakes himself to haunting the House of Commons at all hours, and there making himself conspicuous by the absurdity and strangeness of his movements. On the morning of the murder his manner was particularly marked.—He was wonderfully restless—now out and now in,—getting up to his feet and sitting down again. A little before D'Arcy McGee left the House, he left it, his feet encased in moccasins, and armed with a six-barrelled revolver. Not long after the murder, he entered a tavern, and, strange to say, when an acquaintance exclaimed that D'Arcy McGee was murdered, and he was going to see the body, Whelan either expressed the least surprise at the information, nor did he shew the slightest gladness at the fact that the man whom he hated with so perfect a hatred had at last been removed! But the most suspicious fact of all was, that when the barrels of his pistol were examined, five of them clearly indicated that they had been loaded for some considerable time, while the sixth was loaded with a fresh cartridge.—These things all pointed, so far, toward Whelan but still for a time the prospect of obtaining a conviction was somewhat doubtful.

COMMITAL FOR TRIAL.

Though Whelan's history was suspicious, mere suspicion fails to condemn a man—it is right that it should be so—but on the 22nd of April there appeared, before the Police Magistrate, Jean Baptiste de Lacroix, who stated that at the very moment of the murder he had seen a man answering to the description of D'Arcy McGee about to open the door of his hotel—besides he saw Whelan—whom he recognized—fire a pistol at the first man, he saw McGee fall and Whelan run away. Lacroix gave as his reason, why he did not give his information earlier, that he was afraid. And good reason he had too of being afraid. The gang who could assassinate one man could with little compunction shoot another. On the 24th of April the links in the chain were completed. Two Detectives swore that in a conversation they had heard Whelan over and over again speak of himself as the murderer. In that conversation he had shewn no signs of compunction, but gloried in the foul deed he had committed, and with his natural boastful to be the result of muscular action; but at the end of four minutes he gave his long gasp as naturally as if he had died in his bed. He kicked his heels together twice—about two minutes after the drop fell. Other physical symptoms indicated the awfulness of the mental agony the poor being had undergone prior to the final moment.

The execution took place at 11:15 exactly. There were sixty troops in the north yard of the gaol under Capt. Bonbery. There was not a shade of necessity shown for their services.

THE DISPOSAL OF THE BODY.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11, noon.

A hearse was drawn up in front of the gaol awaiting the delivery of Whelan's body the moment it was cut down, in order to be handed over to Mrs. Whelan.

Sheriff Powell sent a policeman ordering the hearse to be removed.

It appears that Sir John A. Macdonald, desirous to shirk responsibility, placed the body at the disposal of Sheriff Powell. The Sheriff, however, refused to take the responsibility. The consequence is that the Privy Council have taken the matter up, and have decided that the body shall not be given up to Mrs. Whelan for interment.

It is said great preparations for a wake have been made at Michael Starr's tavern here to-night. It is stated that the Government have received information from Montreal that it is intended to hold a grand public funeral there on Sunday next. It is thought the Government will insist on private interment if the body is given up to Mrs. Whelan.

INCIDENTS OF THE EXECUTION.

2:30 P. M.

Whelan wore the same tie and sash he wore at the trial, and the badge, and was dressed as neatly as ever.

There were not the slightest pity manifestations from the crowd. A feature in the crowd was the fact that several hundred boys and girls were present, and we are informed that some clapped their hands when the white cap was adjusted.

The body was cut down after hanging 45 minutes, and it now lies in the coffin at the foot of the gallows.

Before coming out of the corridor, Whelan shook hands with the Sheriff and said, "forgive me," to which the Sheriff replied, "with all my heart." He then called for Governor Powell, asked him to shake hands and said "God bless you Governor," and shook hands heartily.

The military and police force was complete in every respect, and the arrangements reflect the highest credit on the authorities.

On medical authority we are informed that Whelan was thoroughly broken down. Shortly before his execution, he went into the water closet, and sent fairly down on his knees, completely unnerved. Without the influence of the priests, the doctors believe it would have been necessary to carry him to the scaffold.

The executioner was from Toronto, and offered to hang twenty other Fenians on the spot.

St. Sweetland has been deluged with letters from scientific men relative to Whelan. One gentleman from Toronto was very eager to have a portion of the muscle of the murderer of D'Arcy McGee; likewise a portion of the hair of his head, and the hair of his beard in separate parcels. He is a microscopist and wishes the various enclosures sent unpaid. A trio of physicians from Montreal desired to have Whelan's bone muscle and beard after the execution.

On Tuesday Mr. Goodwin waited on the prisoner with a letter he had received from Mrs. D'Arcy McGee in which that lady expressed her regret at the unfortunate complexity of circumstances that had led to such disastrous consequences to her and him.—She stated that from her heart she forgave him for having made her a widow and her children fatherless. Whelan sent his thanks for her sympathy, but the bearer was to tell her that she was mistaken in thinking that he killed her husband. He showed no sorrow for her and whistled shortly after.

Whelan, in his short speech, when he came to "God save Ireland" was well up and was about to launch out, when one of the priests pushed him almost violently back, and the last sentence, "God save my soul," was laid in tones like a child under the eye of the schoolmaster. There was a howl arose from some parts of the crowd at the intervention. There was not the slight est sympathy exhibited in the crowd for the culprit. Some cheated that D'Arcy McGee had a more pleasant death than his murderer after all.

YET ANOTHER SCENE.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11, 6 p. m.

This morning, a little before his execution, Whelan asked for a pipe; this was furnished him and he smoked it to the bottom.

He then asked for a cup of the strongest tea. This also was given him and he drank it.

One of the priests and two nuns then entered into his cell with him and prayed.—When he came out, after drinking another cup of tea, he rose and rushed into the wash closet and falling on his knees prayed with an intense agony, the sweat rolled in great drops down his face as he kept saying "Lord have mercy on my soul;" "Saviour of the world have mercy on my soul," "Jesus have mercy on my soul;" and for some minutes was in an intense state of mental suffering.

Afterwards he became more calm and walked up and down the corridor.

When he was at the far end of the corridor, the executioner made his appearance. At the sight of him Whelan became perfectly petrified, and stood stock still for some minutes. After a little he recovered himself, came forward and shook hands with all present; but every one felt that he had lost all command of his muscles. His hand was cold and clammy—as one said, it felt like a fish.

When speaking of Lacroix on Tuesday, he said "Lacroix is a liar, for the man who shot McGee had a mask on him, and Lacroix said he saw his face."

The greatest acknowledgement is due by your reporter to Sheriff Powell and the other officials, for the kindness and courtesy they showed him in all the arrangements. They had a difficult task to perform in accommodating the various parties, and ought to have received a little more courtesy and consideration from some quarters than they did.

Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or Cough and Voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25cts per box.

IAMATOLOGIA!

THE LUMBER TRADE.—We cannot deny that we are suffering severely in our lumber regions for want of a market for course lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have not made any purchase in the Provices the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe we can't ship it to England, but serious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, burns, bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign market for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

IAMATOLOGIA!

It is very painful to see so many public men whose desires compel them to sacrifice their health to the interests of their profession and the public. How many clergymen there are whose usefulness is marred by diseases of the larynx and bronchia! How many public men there are who feel that they could command the masses much better if they had the strength of lungs and ample voice which were so useful to them at the beginning of their career! And yet these misfortunes may be remedied by recourse to the Great Shoshonees Remedy, now for sale by all druggists.

BIRTHS

At Peterboro, on the 15th instant, the wife of Mr. James Noble, of a daughter.

DIED.

At Ashburnham, on the 13th instant, Mr. Malcom McGregor, aged 79 years.

At Peterboro, on the 14th instant, Mr. Edward Fry, aged 43 years.

At Peterboro, on the 14th instant, John, infant son of Mr. John Reid, aged 13 months.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

PETERBOROUGH, February 16, 1869.

Flour ₱ brl	$4 50	@	$5	50
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0 90	@	1	00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0 90	@	0	95
Peas "	0 75	@	0	80
Barley "	0 90	@	1	05
Oats "	0 50	@	0	60
Potatoes "	0 40	@	0	45
Hay ₱ ton	9 00	@	11	00
Hides ₱ cwt	6 00	@	6	50
Beef ₱ cwt	6 00	@	7	50
Sheepskins	1 00	@	1	00
Wool ₱ lb	0 20	@	0	21
Pork ₱ cwt	7 50	@	9	50
Eggs, per dozen	0 15	@	0	20
Butter,	0 18	@	0	20
Cordwood	2 50	@	3	00
Fowl, per pair	0 20	@	0	30
Geese	0 40	@	0	50
Turkeys	0 40	@	1	00

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alterative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phythisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is last superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kemp, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, trembling coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and safe. Administered to the child drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N B—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 22

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Colds, Coughs and Consumption.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Cures Bronchitis, Asthma and Croup.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Imparts strength to the system.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—Is pleasant to take.
ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM—always gives satisfaction or the money will be refunded. It is recommended by prominent Physicians: and while it is pleasant to take and harmless in its nature, it is a powerful remedy for curing all diseases of the Lungs.—Sold by all Druggist.

PERRY DANIS & SON, Agents,
380, St. Paul Street, Montreal

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and inconteatable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hosey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

NOT QUITE SO.

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their horses the sufferers, to avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurld & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 18

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph or that congestion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size: by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. HURD, Successor to HURD & Co.,
Maiden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.
NORTHROP & LYMAN,
NEWCASTLE, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canadas
PRICE WENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICES:—215 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1yr

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
37 Sole Agents for Canada

"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensible article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our men all say it acts like magic."

J. W. HEWITT,
Foreman for America, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.

"The Sprain of my daughters ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.

ED. SEELY."

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1865.

It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beast, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery-men and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. Westbrook Chemist, and the private U. S. stamp of Deman Baines & Co. over the top.

An effort has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone plate label. Look closely!

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

New Advertisements.

THESPIANS!

In the Music Hall,

Thursday Even'g, Feb. 25, 1869.

THREE SIDE-SPLITTING FARCES.

The Kiss in the Dark!

SLASHER AND CRASHER.

THE LIMERICK BOY!

February 17, 1869. 7-2in

SITUATION WANTED!

BY A LOWER CANADIAN, who speaks both French and English fluently; has had a long experience in the Grocery business, and understands Photography. Recommendations given if required. Apply at this office.

Peterboro, Feb. 10, 1869. 6

Galway Mining Company.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Dividend at the rate of Thirty per cent per annum, for the half year ending 18th January, 1869, has been declared on the capital paid in at that date, and that the same is payable at the Office of the Company, at Peterborough, on and after Monday, the Fifteenth day of February, 1869.

By order of the Directors.

JOHN BURNHAM,
Secretary & Treasurer.

Peterborough, February 1, 1869. 6-3in

PRUNES, PRUNES—A superior article.

DRIED APPLES!

ORANGES and LEMONS!

At A. HALL'S,
George street.

Peterboro, Feb. 3rd, 1869. 5-2in

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Omemee and Peterboro.

The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterboro, January 13, 1869 3

DENNISTOUN, FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
BARRISTERS, &c.,
Hunter Street, Peterborough.

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

Abstract Statement of Accounts

BETWEEN THE MUNICIPALITY OF

BELMONT AND METHUEN

AND

WILLIAM REA, TREASURER, FOR THE YEAR 1868.

To balance on hand at last audit, including Dog Tax	$469 86
Am't received of County Treasurer, per Reeve	706 00
Am't received on acc. of timber dues	64 00
Am't received of Non-resident tax on Lot No. 7, in the 2nd concession of Belmont	85 56
Fines on account of Temperance Act	40 00
Clergy Reserve Fund	95 80
Am't received of Collector on acc. of Taxes, 1867	519 00
Am't of Dog Tax, on acc. of Taxes, 1867	17 00
Am't received of Collector on acc. of Taxes, 1868	859 08
Dog Tax, on acc. of Taxes, 1868	44 00
	2892 81
Balance due Treasurer	39 81
	$2932 62

By amount paid on account of Roads and Bridges	$1662 91
Municipal expenses, salaries, &c.	143 87
Schools	1444 34
Sub-Treasurer of School Monies	140 00
Miscellaneous Expenses	127 30
	$2932 62

Examined and found correct.

SAMUEL ELLIOTT,
JOHN ANDERSON, } Auditors.

Great Bargains IN FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction of the Peterboro' Western Circuit, for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

In the Town of Peterborough, on

Thursday, June 3rd, 1869.

Commencing at 10 a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1868. 2

NOTICE!

THE next meeting of the Board of Instruction for the Eastern circuit of the County of Peterboro, for the examination of Teachers will be held in the School House at Norwood,

On Thursday, May 29, 1869,

At 10 o'clock, a. m.

N.B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

By order
W. E. ROXBURGH,
Secretary

Norwood, Jan'y 30th, 1869. 5-1d

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale that Valuable Farm, the South half of Lot No. 24 in the 13th concession of Smith.

There are 98 acres of good tillable land, nine acres of which are in woods. There is a good Log House on the property; also, Stables and Barn, and an Orchard beginning to bear.—There is also a good Well near the dwelling. It is situated 4½ miles from the Village of Lakefield. There is a Blacksmith Shop, a Store and a Post Office on the Lot.

For further particulars apply to

THOS. HOULIHAN,
Salwyn P. O., On the premises.
Smith, January 27, 1869. 4

TO THE WORKING CLASS. I am now prepared to furnish constant employment to all classes at their homes, for their spare months. Business new, light and profitable. Fifty cents to $5 per evening is easily earned, and the boys and girls earn nearly as much as men. Great inducements are offered. All who see this notice please send me their address and test the business for themselves.—if not well satisfied I will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing to me. Full particulars sent free. Sample sent by mail for ten cents in stamps. Address

5-4in E. C. ALLEN, Augusta, Me

NOTICE!

ALL persons having any claims against the Municipality of Burleigh, Anstruther, &c., are hereby requested to furnish a statement of such claim, and the nature thereof, forthwith, to the Reeve.

Address, Chandos Post Office.

S. W. CLEGG,
Reeve of Burleigh, &c.

January 27, 1869. 4

CAUTION.

I HEREBY CAUTION THE PUBLIC against purchasing a note of hand made by the undersigned in favor of Mathewson & Co., of Montreal, dated 4th February, 1862, payable at 18 months after date, for $103, as I have settled and hold a receipt for the same.

W. ROBB,
Asphodel.

Asphodel, Jan. 13, 1869. 4-3in*

PORK!

50 BLS. MESS and 150 BLS. PRIME MESS, for sale at

WALTER BEAL'S,

(J. Carnegie's) old stand, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Peterboro, January 27, 1869. 4-3in

Teacher Wanted.

WANTED immediately, for School Section No. 1, Dummer, an experienced Teacher, holding first or second class certificate.

JOHN KIDD,
DAVID KELLEY, } Trustees.

Dummer, January 20, 1869. 3

WANTED!

FOR School Section, No. 10, Douro, A MALE TEACHER holding a First Class Certificate.

By order of Trustees,
ROBT. CASEMENT,
Sec'y-Treas.

Lakefield, North Douro, Feb. 2, 1869. 5

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE,

On Aylmer Street, Peterborough.

WILL be sold by AUCTION, on SATURDAY, 27th of February, 1869, at one o'clock, the

MACHINE SHOP,

Steam Engine, Shafting and Machinery, with 90 feet frontage of Lot on Aylmer street, either, in whole or in part to suit purchasers.

Terms made known at time of sale, and all information given to intending buyers.

The above premises are well adapted for all kinds of trades.

Title indisputable.

For further information apply to

WILLIAM MALCOM.

Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE,

IN THE VILLAGE OF ASHBURNHAM.

THE subscriber offers for sale the valuable property on which he at present resides, being Lot No. 4, North of Elizabeth street, consisting of half an acre of land, on which are two Dwelling Houses, Stables and Sheds attached. There is a good well of water, and the Lot is pleasantly situated on the main street. It will be sold in whole or in parts to suit purchasers. Title Perfect.

Apply to the owner on the premises.

P. SARGENT.

Or at this office.

Ashburnham, Jan. 13, 1869. 3-tf

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

Terms reasonable.

Apply to

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of land attached, lately occupied by R. H. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 30, 1868. 32-tf

Houses and Lots for Sale!

THAT Commodious Stone Dwelling House and Lot on Brock street, not far from the Commercial House, Peterboro.

Also, the Lot on Mark street, Ashburnham, at present occupied by the owner, will be sold on moderate terms. For particulars apply to

MARIA FOSTER,
Ashburnham.

January, 19th, 1869. 3

FARM FOR SALE.

SOUTH HALF OF LOT No. 31 in the 11th concession of the Township of Smith.—There are 50 acres under cultivation, and the balance is good hardwood land.

For terms, &c., apply to

WM. ADAMS, Lakefield P. O.
or ALEX. PRESTON, Smith.

Smith, Dec. 23, 1868. 52

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26, 1868. 48

STRAYED, to the premises of the subscriber, lot 19 concession 15 of Harvey, A RED AND WHITE SPOTTED HEIFER. The owner can have it by paying expenses.

LEWIS PARKER,
Bobcaygeon P. O

January 20, 1869.

FOR SALE.

100,000 Brick.

STEPHEN WOOD.

Otonabee, January 13, 1869. 2tf

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

Issuer of Marriage Licences,

OFFICE at James Best's Dry Goods Store, George Street. 3

READY-MADE CLOTHING

OFFERING

VERY CHEAP

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats,

Winter Sack Coats,

Winter Shooting Coats,

Winter Pants and Winter Vests.

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

☞ BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterboro, January, 1869. 3

Books and Stationery!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro, December 16, 1868. 51

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, Mr. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting.

Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

A Fresh Supply of

Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,

BLANKETS,

DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,

CARPETS,

And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.

Just received by

I. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

A CARD.

J. W. GILMOUR has much pleasure in herewith returning thanks to his Friends and the Public generally, in Peterborough and its vicinity, for the liberal patronage with which they have favored him. He takes this means to inform the same that he has made arrangements to a Partnership with Dr. W. H. TAYLOR, of Montreal—a gentleman thoroughly trained to the business of Chemist and Druggist, in old and well known Establishments in that City, and who has also been in the Practice of his Medical Profession there for more than ten years—but has been obliged to relinquish its onerous duties on account of failing health. Dr. Taylor has already entered on his duties here, and will devote his time more especially to the preparation of Physicians' Prescriptions and Family Recipes, and otherwise will co-operate with me in the general management of the business. The Public may rely upon having not only a careful but a skillful attention to their requirements in this department. Nothing but Pure and Genuine Drugs will be selected, and a full assortment of the Official Preparations of the British and United States Pharmacopœia will constantly be kept on hand. With these additions to his other facilities for successfully carrying on business, the Subscriber respectfully solicits a continuance of the Liberal Patronage hitherto bestowed upon him.

J. W. GILMOUR,
Corner of George and Hunter Streets.

Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4-tf

JOHN BERTRAM,

Importer and Dealer in

BAR, ROD, HOOP & SHEET IRON

SLEIGH SHOE & CAST STEEL.

Anvils, Bellows, Stocks and Dies; Hand, Sledge and Shoeing Hammers. Jowett & Firth's

Horse Rasps and Files,

Carriage Bolts made from Best Refined Iron. Proved Logging Chains, Tuttle's Patent, Flint's Morlands & Robertson's Cross-Cut Saws, Machine Saws, Warranted Steelyards, Hay Knives,

Broad and Narrow Axes.

A complete Stock Hand Saws, Chisels, Gouges, Planes, Spirit Levels, and all kinds of Carpenters' Tools.

Pale Seal Oil, Leather Belting, Russian Hemp Rope.

Table and Pocket Cutlery, Electroplated and Albata Plate Spoons and Forks, E. P. Cruets, Cake Baskets, &c.,

JUST RECEIVED from Renwick-on-Tweed, 40 DOZEN of BLACK'S

Cast Steel Spades and Draining Tools

unsurpassed in quality.

JOHN BERTRAM,
Hardware Merchant, Peterborough.

Jan. 6th 1869. 3-f

Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

ORMOND & WALSH,

Corner of George and Simcoe Streets

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very liberal patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is complete with Drugs and Chemicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would particularly impress upon their Friends and the Public generally, the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent but also responsible for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labelled.

The undersigned being fully impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug Store, beg to assure their customers that Physicians prescription and Family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for faithfulness and correctness as to their requirements. Their Stock consists of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a respectable Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Coal Oil, Coal Lamps, &c., &c.

CHARLES ORMOND, } WILLIAM WALSH.
Peterboro', Jan. 15, 1869. 3-13in

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all articles in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,

And of best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place,

Directly opposite Mr. John Sherin's.

SHORTLY & HARPER.

Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 42-13in

The Great English Remedy.

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

This well-known Medicine is an unfailing and safe remedy, in Female Difficulties and obstruction from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. To married ladies it is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, heaviness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart lowness of spirits, hysterics, sick headache, whites, and all the painful diseases originated by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

N. B. $1 and six postage stamps enclosed to any authorized Agent will ensure a bottle, containing Pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, Ont.
General Agents for Canada.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills are extensively COUNTERFEITED. The genuine have the name of "JOB MOSES" on each package. All others are worthless.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter, and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

Over a Million Dollars Saved!

Gentleman:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad burn; a leg, and was useless for over a year. I used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Vegetable Mustang Liniment. It soon effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.

Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1867.

The Principles of Breeding.

LECTURE BEFORE THE MACHUSETTS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, BY CHARLES L. FLINT.

(From the Hearth and Home.)

GENTLEMEN,—Your studies in botany have taught you that, in the vegetable world, the growth and perpetuation of plants are governed by fixed law. The principle of fixed law runs through all nature, the animal as well as the vegetable kingdom. In the matter of farm stock, its perpetuation is controlled by certain fixed principles of breeding.

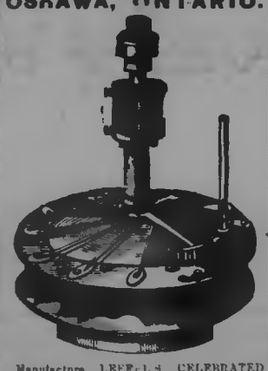
There is great difference in the breeds of our stock, and in animals of the breeds.—Some fatten easily, and come to maturity early, and others do not. Some possess remarkable milking qualities, while others yield milk sparingly. Some are noted for their butter qualities, and others are fine workers. Now, we want to search out and find the rules which govern the transmission of the various qualities, that we may be enabled at will to breed animals possessing the distinct characteristics we desire. The old maxim that "like produces like" is a good one, and it is safe to follow. But there are individual cases in which it does not always hold good. If an animal has the power to transmit its own qualities, it is because it possesses them itself—that is, it is inherent in the animal. If I breed with two animals that are dissimilar, the one having the strongest inherent transmitting power, or the strongest purity of type, will give character to the offspring. A ram and ewe alike will produce a lamb possessing the qualities of both parents, but they will be intensified, and that lamb will possess more power to transmit his qualities than did his parents. But if the parents possess opposite qualities, the case is very different. You are familiar with the rules of mathematics—let us apply them here to make this point plain.—Take two animals similar in type, but one more strongly marked than the other; let 100 represent the quality of one and 75 the other; put these animals together, and the offspring will be represented by 100 +72, or 175. But let the parents be dissimilar, and the qualities of the one you most desire be represented by 100, and the result will be strictly and mathematically true in practice, but it is a fair illustration of the result of such breeding. A ram long bred in a certain line possesses long-bred powers, and will be likely to transmit them, though they will be weakened in his progeny from a low-bred ewe. If he be very strong in this power of transmission, he may overcome the power of the ewe, and transmit his qualities, so that in outward appearance the offspring may appear like himself.

A marked case of this kind I have had under my eye the past year. I owned a flock of very good ewes, but of no fixed breed or type. Into this flock I put a long and pure-bred Southdown buck, from the farm of Thomas Buffum, Esq., of Newport, R. I.—the same buck which you now have on your College farm. The result was, I obtained a lot of very beautiful lambs nearly as strongly marked with the Southdown characteristics as are the pure-bred lambs which I see in the fields of the College farm. They strongly resemble the father, and have but little likeness to their mothers. But though they look nearly as well as your lambs, they will not compare with them in value for breeding purposes. This then may be laid down as one of the first principles of breeding, that long-bred animals have the most power to transmit their qualities, and if animals possessing this power in different degrees are put together, the one in which this power predominates will give the character to the progeny. Mate a Galloway bull, for instance, with a native cow, and the calf will, as a general thing, be hornless. Put a ram without horns with ewes with horns, and most of the lambs will be without horns—that is, they take the characteristics of the father, rather than the dam; and this rule holds good generally in breeding, though, like all other rules, it has, of course its exceptions. Hence, if this position be correct, the first principle which the good sense of the farmer would dictate, would be to select a bull from a breed most noted for the qualities he wishes to obtain in the greatest perfection, and especially if the cow is deficient in those qualities. A bull, for instance, of fine bone and other good points in perfection, will make up for the deficiency of some of these points in the cow. Breed only from the best animals, not the best-looking merely, but those possessing the best and strongest hereditary qualities. I have heard practical men say they did not care a fig for the blood of the animal, but wanted one that looked right to the eye. Don't be deceived by any such notion. Some animals may be excellent of themselves, but destitute of the power to give their qualities to their descendants. The Oakes cow, so celebrated some years ago, is an instance in point. She was one of the most remarkable cows for milk and butter of her day. Where she obtained her qualities was never known, and she never had a calf that possessed them. Blood is of the greatest importance, and the longer the ancestry, the better, for the more perfect the type, and the stronger the transmitting power. It is essential to have a good male, for he transmits his qualities to more animals than the female, has usually more vigor, and more power to transmit. The influence of the male is more generally to transmit the qualities of his mother; therefore, if you wish to breed milking-stock, use a bull whose mother was a good milker. There are three general points to be sought in breeding: First, milk; second, beef; third, labor. Milking qualities are not confined to any race or breed, but are a characteristic of the species, as mammalia. But high milking qualities have become fixed in certain stock, by their being long-bred for that purpose. The wild cow has stronger powers of reproduction than when domesticated, and the power to produce milk is hereditary, but the power to give milk in large quantities and for a long time is the result of breeding. The Texas cow gives milk; but a heifer from one of those cows by a pure-bred bull would be destroyed when she produced young by the sudden change in her milking organization; her system could not endure the strain, her udder would be incurably diseased, and she would die. As good dairy qualities have been bred in the cow, great care should be taken that they do not deteriorate, for they have a constant tendency to return to their wild state. A tendency to fatten lessens the milking qualities of a breed, as this tendency separates the particles from the blood which should be conveyed to the mammillary glands, and deposits them in the adipose tissues of the body, so that high milking and fattening qualities are rarely found in the same animal. The completeness of the separation of the fatty elements of the blood, and their deposit as the oily globules of the milk, determine the capacity of the cow to milk and fatten at the same time. This quality is sometimes desirable, as in the London dairies, where the animals are fed, so as to lay on fat, and when the yield of milk falls below four quarts per day, the animal is sold to the butchers, and her place supplied from the country.

After the storing away of the fatty elements in the blood, it will depend on the structure and organism of the animal whether it is deposited as fat or milk—One makes more milk, and another less from the same material; it depends upon which preponderates in the organism, the adipose tissues or the mammillary. Animals disposed to fatten possess the first conditions of milkers—the power to take the fatty matters from their food and deposit them in the blood. The influence of parturition is to excite the mammillary glands to activity, if the animal be healthy, and thus to form all the deposited fatty matter into milk. Some animals consume the adipose tissue, so that cows milked until they become very poor are difficult to bring up again and fatten. For dairy purposes, it is our object to breed so as to stimulate the mammillary gland to activity, and if we neglect to do this for any length of time, the animals become such poor milkers as to be unprofitable for dairy stock. So, to breed for fat is against milk; milk and meat do not generally go together; yet the best milkers, when the flow of milk ceases, are the best to fatten. For breeding for the dairy, choose cows that give large quantities of milk, for large milkers bring good calves. Thus one point is gained.—For grade or native cows use thoroughbred bulls of milking-stock, and the calves will be better than their dams. But with a well-bred cow and a low-bred bull, you are going in the wrong direction, and your stock will deteriorate. To breed for beef, select large, well-formed cows, thoroughbred bulls. Breeding in and in is practised by many, but, in my opinion, it is safe only in narrow limits, and in skilful hands. Cross-breeding of pure animals of different breeds may be practised for the purpose of obtaining milk beef, or other desired qualities in the off-spring, but should never be practised to obtain animals as breeders.—The application of these principles to breeding for the dairy and the time when heifers should come in, are points of much discussion and diversity of opinion. I believe in having heifers come in at two years old, or before they are three, for they will make better and larger milkers. The reason is, that at that early age the effect of bearing and the stimulation of the milk organism of the animal will be to give her character as a milker. I would also have heifers come in in late spring or summer, when they are at pasture, with abundance of succulent grass for the same reason. So far as my observation goes, it is better to have heifers come in at two than three years old, better in summer than winter, provided she has been well fed and cared for. There is this offset, however—a liability to check her growth and size. So, also, the has an influence on the character of the stock.—For dairy stock, the best age of the bull is from eighteen months to two years, but for work stock the bull should be at least three years old. It is very desirable, in breeding valuable stock, to produce a large proportional number of heifers, but this matter of the relations of the sexes is one over which we have little, if any, control. And all the rules which have been laid down to guide in this direction have been found to fail. I will not stop to discuss the indications of milking qualities, but simply to mention some of the most prominent.

First, the milk-mirror, or escutcheon. Guenon, a Frenchman, whose life was passed among cows and dairy cattle, and who was a careful and intelligent observer, discovered certain marks on the udder and its surroundings, which he called the escutcheon, and deemed an infallible sign of milking qualities. It consists in certain perceptible spots, rising up from the udder in different directions, forms, and sizes, on which the hair grows upward, while the hair on the other parts of the body grows downward. This turning up of the hair is an indication of the structure and tissues beneath, and if the mirror is strongly marked, by placing the hand upon it, veins and network may be felt. The milk-mirror is one of the best signs of a good milker, but sometimes this mirror is possessed by cows of inferior quality. In such cases, the other signs of the quality will be wanting. We should find whether the cow possesses such marks on a large udder in proportion to the size of animal, and soft, thin skin, with loose folds extending well back, capable of great extension when filled, but shrinking to a small compass when empty; large, well-developed milk-veins, especially the large ones under the belly, which should extend well forward to the navel, and apparently lose themselves in a cavity in the flesh, into which the end of the finger can be inserted. If the cow possess these in connection with the mirror, she may be taken as a good milker. The escutcheon is found in young calves, and when found well developed, the calf should be preserved for the dairy. There are a great number of external signs, which judges consider indications of milk, most of which are found to fail in individual cases; but a good cow should always have a strong constitution, as indicated by large lungs, which are in a deep, broad, and prominent chest, broad and well-spread ribs, a respiration somewhat slow and regular, a good appetite, and rich in milk, a strong inclination to drink, which a large secretion of milk almost invariably stimulates. In such cows the digestive organs are active and energetic, and they make an abundance of good blood, which, in turn, stimulates the activity of the nervous system, and furnishes the milky glands with the means of abundant secretion. A bright, sparkling eye, but of peculiar placidness of expression with no indication of wildness, but a mild, feminine look; small, tapering, yellowish horns; small, thin neck, tapering toward the head; fore-quarters small, compared with the hind-quarters; and a thin, yellow, flexible skin throughout, are pretty sure indications of milk. To save trouble and annoyance, farmers often wish to know at what time of the heat cows are most sure of impregnation; but there is no time which can be fixed with certainty; though from the middle to the last stage of the heat, or from six to twelve hours after the symptoms appear, is best. If impregnation does not take place, it may be calculated that there will be a recurrence of symptoms in seven, fourteen, or twenty-one days. To stimulate these, or to hasten the time of its recurrence, give highly nutritious food; linseed-meal will be found good for that purpose. Never run a cow, cut off her tail, dash cold water upon her, or resort to any other barbarous practise to insure impregnation; these things are all utterly absurd, and cannot in the slightest degree affect the internal organs of reproduction. The great oat care should be taken in selecting the the bull for a young heifer that is to be kept for breeding purposes. The first impregnation will give the character or type to her future progeny; and if the first male be a scrub, no after intercourse with thorough-bred animals will ensure good calves. Mental impressions, also, at the time of impregnation, have a great influence in determining the character of the offspring. Numberless instances are recorded proving this fact, and we cannot be too careful in selecting the associates of our pure-bred stock.

JOSEPH HALL
MACHINE WORKS!
ESTABLISHED 1851.
JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.
PROPRIETORS,
OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patters, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us thereon. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞ We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.
Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-13in

THE ÆTNA
LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M.P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq., Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Safe Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't.
P. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phenix Insurance Company,
BROOKLYN, N. Y.
OFFICES:
No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.
CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,
With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams; and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 8, 1868. 50

A VALUABLE
Farm for Sale!

THE Subscriber offers for sale that Excellent Farm, Lot No 21, in the 9th Concession of Otonabee. It is situated about 6 miles from Peterboro and the same distance from Keene. There are 85 acres cleared and in a good state of cultivation, and a comfortable Dwelling House, Sheds, Barns and Stables; a good young Orchard bearing choice fruit. The soil is of the very best quality; about 8 acres in Fall Wheat, looking well, and 40 acres ploughed ready for spring sowing.

For terms apply to the proprietor on the premises,

JOHNSTON COONEY,
Or to JAMES STRATTON,
Examiner Office, Peterboro.

Otonabee, October 6th, 1868. 41-13in

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

PHOTOGRAPHY!
FOR GOOD PICTURES
GO TO THE
ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take
BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,
From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a
GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,
Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases
Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,
MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN
BOOTS AND SHOES!
George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lansin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. J. H. AMES. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and tocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and inconteatable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hosey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞ Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

☞ For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

BARLEY, OATS,
PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 24

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from R. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said R. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

A HANDSOME
Christmas Gift.

AS Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your———, or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's., $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $25. Ditto with stand $33. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $45 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $55.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

Special Notice.
THE STANDARD
LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,
(Established 1825.)
With which is now united
THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.
Head Office for Canada,
MONTREAL,—STANDARD COMPANY'S BUILDINGS,
No. 47, Great St. James Street.

Manager ..... W. M. RAMSAY
Inspector ..... RICHARD BULL.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The EIGHT DIVISION of the Company's Profits is appointed to be made at 15th NOVEMBER 1870, and all Polices now effected will participate.

The FUND TO BE DIVIDED will be the profits which have arisen since 15th November 1865. The COMPANY'S BUSINESS YEAR will close on 15th NOVEMBER 1869, and in order to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the PROFIT SCHEME, Proposals should be lodged with the Agents on or before that date.

Agent for Peterborough,
ALEX. SMITH,
Peterboro, Oct. 28, 1868. 44

MILLER'S
Infallible Tick Destroyer
FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 70c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co.,
Proprietors.
167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.
Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money to Loan,
ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE,
Solicitor.
Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

Money! Money!
MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.

Apply to J. A. HALL,
At the Court House
Peterboro', May 8th, 1861 19

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.
Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.
Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

DOMINION HOUSE,
PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of
WINTER DRY GOODS,
At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of
PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.
Also, a Complete Assortment of
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,
VERY CHEAP.
THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,
Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in
JACKETS AND MANTLES.
An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.
☞ A call is respectfully invited.
GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.
Peterboro, January, 1869. 53

W. G. THOMSON & Co's
Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms
ARE NOW OPEN
WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN
Fall and Winter Goods.
☞ INSPECTION INVITED. ☜
Peterboro, Sept, 30, 1868. 40

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED
That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by
J. W. GILMOUR,
In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of
PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,
Paints, Oils,
DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,
Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.
PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS
Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 2-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. McFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of
PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES
TOGETHER WITH
Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,
SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,
Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.
Also, a complete assortment of
LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.
KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

W. WADDELL
Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of
CARRIAGE HARNESS,
Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also
HEAVY TEAM HARNESS,
Made of the very best material.
Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.
In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of
TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS
In Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.
Children's Carriages
From $3.00 each to $15.00.
Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.
Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking
Kept constantly on hand.

Peterboro, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL
To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.
R. THOMPSON & SUN
MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

FUR SHOP REMOVED.
MR. LECH
HAS REMOVED
One Door north of Mr. Lansin's Tin Shop.

Parties desirous of having their furs saved will please leave them at Mr. Lech's residence, London street, No. 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 14

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE
of
CONSUMPTION!
IN CANADA.

MESSRS YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different receipes, but all without any good effect. Squire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottle, at once, with the Pills; so soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c, left me; and by continuing its use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER O. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman Peter O.V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.

DR. COLBY'S ANTI-COSTIVE & TONIC PILLS.
SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. H GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
C. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Frome.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSHINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENES, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MIGIS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BREADON, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Coaticook.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MUSSY, M. D., Boston
W. MAUSDEN, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
E. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.
ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

JACOBS' RHEUMATIC LIQUID.

IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c., &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.
ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

HUNT'S EMPIRE HAIR GLOSS

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely grey, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents
ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

NOT QUITE SO.

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their horses the sufferers, to avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurld & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 18

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—The North half of No. 4, in the 4th Concession of Ennismore.

Apply to JAS. HALL.
Peterboro,' Feb'y 16, 1868.

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1869. No. 8.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars, Handbills, Funeral Cards, Invitations, Bill Heads, Horse Bills, Show Bills, Concert Bills, Programmes, Posters, Stage Bills, Business Cards, Blanks, &c. With every variety of Coloring and Bronzing. Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this Office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand. Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, Paperhanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 15

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—OFFICE, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.

Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C. W.

Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO,

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits.

A SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.

FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.

Wm. OGILVY, Agent.

Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,

PETERBOROUGH.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

From this date until further notice, the rate of intest in the above department will be

FIVE PER CENT.

PER ANNUM.

D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.

Peterboro', April 1st. 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.

ALL payments to be made on account of the

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!

MAY BE MADE TO THE

Royal Canadian Bank

And Its Agencies.

E. S. WOOD, Treasurer of Ontario.

Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,

TOBACCONIST,

George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

March 12, 1868. 11-1y

GEORGE ALLEN,

GUN & WHITE-SMITH,

Hunter Street, Peterborough,

BEGS to inform the public that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and Whitesmithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired. ☞ Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.

Peterboro, October 25, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,

DENTIST,

Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.

D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodians of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodian, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.

Peterboro', February 5, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain

D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.

Peterboro, November 28 1866. 46

REMOVAL.

DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hazlitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.

Peterboro, July 8, 1868. 26

R. S. HOWELL,

FORWARDER,

Commission Merchant,

AND

GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,

Dealer in Lumber, &c.,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 14, 1868. 36

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 16

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,

BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 20

SCOTT & GREEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public, Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

WILLIAM HEPBURN SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Clarkson's, George street, Peterborough.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

DENNISTOUN, FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

BARRISTERS, &c.,

Hunter Street, Peterborough.

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,

SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

Conveyancers, &c.,

Peterborough, Ontario.

T. N. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN,

48 Keene

J. O'SULLIVAN, M.D., L.R.C.P.S., I

Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR. Coroner for County of Peterborough. Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 21-tf

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and

LICENTIATE

Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.

Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.

December 16, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,

Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.

Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.

Ashburnham, October 23, 1867. 48

J. W. GILMOUR,

DRUGGIST, Chemist and Seedsman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH.

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

OFFICE AND STORE, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.

Nov. 27, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES, W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE

LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,

AND

Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Lindsay, Depart	9.25 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive	1 10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart	3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	4.25 "
Lindsay, Arrive	6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Lindsay, Depart	12 35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive	4 20 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart	5.45 p. m.
Millbrook	7 20 "
Lindsay, Arrive	9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Peterborough, Depart	3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	4.20 "
Port Hope, Arrive	5.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart	10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	11 35 "
Peterborough, Arrive	12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Peterborough, Depart	5 30 a. m.
Millbrook	6 20 "
Port Hope, Arrive	8.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart	1.15 p. m.
Millbrook	2 35 "
Peterborough, Arrive	3.20 "

A. T. WILLIAMS, Superintendent.

May 30, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

TRAINS LEAVE

PORT HOPE STATION

AS FOLLOWS:

GOING EAST.

Express (day)	9 30 a.m.
Mixed	7.00 p.m.
Express (night)	9.20 p.m.

GOING WEST.

Express (night)	10.30 p.m.
Mixed	3.00 p.m.
Express (day)	10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time

Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

TORONTO LINE.

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a m., 3.50 p.m. and 6.55 p.m.

Express at 12 56 p.m.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

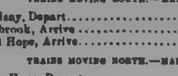
Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.15 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 1.25 p.m.

Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME

IN THE

Norwood and Peterboro'



STAGE.

ROYAL MAIL LINE!

LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a m.

LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.

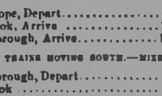
Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates

J. A. JOHNSON, Proprietor

Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.

Rates of Passage from Peterboro':

CABIN, - - $74 to $88. STEERAGE - $30.

Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.

For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to

GEORGE A. COX, Agent. Canadian Express Co'y.

Peterboro', Nov. 7th. 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,

No. 20 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.

JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.

This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Stations, Steamboat Landings, and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞ Fare $1.25 per Day. 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,

WALTON STREET,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.

Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Poetry.

BABY POWER.

Six little feet to cover,
Six little hands to fill,
Tumbling out in the clover,
Tumbling over the still:
Six little stocking ripping,
Six little shoes half worn,
Spite of that promised whipping,
Skirts, shirts, and aprons torn!

Behind the big store creeping,
To steal the kindling wood;
Into the cupboard peeping,
To hunt for "somesin dood,"
The dogs they tease to snarling,
The chickens know no rest,
Yet—the old man calls them "darling,"
And loves each one "the best."

Smearing each other's faces,
With smut or blacking-brush,
To forbidden things and places,
Always making a rush;
Over a chair or table,
They'll fight and kiss again,
When told of slaughtered Abel,
Or cruel, wicked Cain.

All sorts of mischief trying,
On sunny days—in doors—
And then perversely crying
To rush out when it pours;
A raid on grandma making—
(Impthe of her nice new cap,)
Its strings for bridles taking,
While riding on her lap.

Their little head, all sunny,
To pillow and bless at night,
Riotous Alick and Dunnie,
Jeanie, so bonnie and bright!
Three sons immortal slumber,
Crowned by that golden hair,
When Christ his flock shall number,
Will all my lambs be there?

Now with the stillness round me,
I bow my head and pray,
"Since this faint heart has found thee,
Suffer them not to stray,"
Up to the shining portals,
Over life's stormy tide,
Treasures I bring—immortal,
Saviour be thou my guide.

HYMNS.

The following Essay was delivered by Mr. Jas. A. Hall, at a meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association. It will be read with interest by many of our readers:—

"Give me the making of a nation's songs, and I care not who makes its laws."

As with sermons, so it is with churches. Give me the church that has the right kind of hymns and knows how to sing them, and I care not what the form of church government, or what the particular sect, there you will find that all is life and energy and enthusiasm; but where you have a bald, dry, meagre body of hymns, and where "with linked sweetness long drawn out," the Precentor leads the congregation, or still worse, where a highly trained and accomplished choir sings for the listening audience then you will almost inevitably find dullness and apathy, and an absence of all those higher feelings and emotions and energies that should characterize all our congregations.

Hymns have always held a prominent place in the history of the Church. From the day when the newly born nation of Israel first raised their exulting voices on the shore of the Red Sea, onward through all the ages of the Church's history, every great event has had its corresponding hymn, some only alluded to, some given entire in the sacred volume. The "Song of Miriam," the "Song of Jasher," the "Song of Deborah," the many songs of David and the other psalmists, the beautiful hymn of Mary, "My soul doth magnify the Lord, the "Song of Simeon," and onward still, through sunshine and shade, persecution and prosperity, do we find the children of God in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in their hearts to the Lord."

"Songs of praise the angels sang,
When Jehovah's work began,
Songs of praise awoke the morn,
When the Prince of Peace was born.
Heaven and earth must pass away,
Songs of praise shall crown the day.
God will make new heavens, new earth,
Songs of praise shall hail their birth,
And shall man alone be dumb
Till that glorious kingdom come?
No! the Church delights to raise
Psalms and hymns and songs of praise."

The importance of hymns has been fully recognized in all ages of the Christian Church, both by the Christians themselves and by their opponents. As early as the second century we find the opposers of the new religion composing songs for the express purpose of counteracting the mighty effect of the early Christian hymns, which were then being sung everywhere. Jerome, writing in the fourth century, says, "one cannot go out in the fields without finding the ploughter at his hallelujahs and the sower at his hymns."

To fulfil their high purpose in the church, hymns must be of the right kind. They must, in the first place, be simple, so that "he that runneth may read," requiring no stretch of the imagination to comprehend the meaning intended to be conveyed. No high-flown poetic diction should grace their verses, for of hymns if of anything, is the saying true that "beauty unadorned the most." Some of the most popular of our modern hymns offend in this point to a great degree. I feel that it is rash for me to find fault with hymns that are found in every hymn book, and which are sung wherever the English language is spoken, but I cannot help expressing my opinion that the extremely popular "Nearer, My God, to Thee," does not fulfil the conditions required of a hymn. It requires some effort of thought, for example, to discover exactly what is meant by raising Bethel out of our stony griefs, and by other like expressions in that beautiful hymn; whereas a hymn should be such as requires no thinking to discover it meaning, should go direct to the heart of the humblest and least educated follower of Jesus—to those even who, perhaps, never heard of Jacob, and in whose hearts Bethel awakens no loving response.

Our best hymns again are evidently the result of the personal experience of the writer, the very outpourings of his soul of his experience of God's goodness in time of prosperity, of help in time of need, and of his cheering presence in the dark hour of affliction, persecution or trial.

Many of the finest psalms of David are of this character; psalms that have found an echo in many a human heart in all ages since that day, and which will yet serve to comfort, strengthen and support many.—Such an one is that beatiful psalm "The Lord's my Shepherd," which has been fitly described as "a pilgrim commissioned of God to travel up and down the earth singing a strange melody, which when one hears he straightway forgetteth whatever sorrow he hath." Though most of them are more suitable for private reading and meditation and as subjects of discourse from our pulpits than for singing in our congregations; and I think that the body to which I belong have erred to a great extent in confining themselves so much to the use of these psalms—that they have hindered the growth of those qualities which we find so fully developed by the right use of those hymns, which, not looking forward only sometimes with a dim foreshadowing of the coming Messiah, rejoice in the full glory of the risen Saviour, and which are able from experience and not from mere foresion, to sing that.

"Jesus lives, no longer now,
Can thy terrors, death, appal us?
Jesus lives and this we know,
Thou, oh grave canst not enthral us.
Jesus lives for me he died,
Then alone to Jesus living,
Pure in heart may we abide,
Glory to the Saviour giving."

Another requisite in hymns is that they be well well sung. How often is the experience of Watts that of many in all our congregations. "Of all our religious solemnities," he says, "psalmody is the most unhappily managed. That very action which should elevate us to the most delightful and divine sensations doth not only flatten our devotion, but too often awakens our regret, and touches all the springs of uneasiness within us." Very different from this is the effect of the heart-stirring hymns of the Reformation in Germany, where, in many instances, the people actually sang the priests out of their pulpits, and where one of the Cardinals was constrained to say,—"The interests of Luther are furthered in an extraordinary degree by the singing of his hymns by people of every class, not only in churches and schools, but in dwellings and shops, in markets, streets and fields." Very different, also, the effect of that noble hymn of Wesley's, when the thousands of rough uneducated men made the Cornish hills echo with their prayer, "Oh, for a thousand tongues to sing my great Redeemer's praise," and the same hymn as sung by us to-night with only a voice here and there in the assembly joining at all in the melody.

In fulfilling these conditions, the hymn may be truly said to merit the character given to it by Savonarola, "A hymn is a singing angel, and goes walking through the world scattering the devils before it."

In the dark ages of Europe all trace of religious life seems to have disappeared in the general gloom, but even there we find that life still lingered in many places, and from out the monasteries and cells of the monks have come down to us hymns of surpassing beauty, telling us of faith unfailing, and hope and love unquenched in the decay of all that was noble and true around. It adds interest to that beautiful hymn, "Jerusalem the Golden," to know that it gave sweet consolation to its composer in the Abbey of Cluny seven hundred years ago—to know that in those dreary days there were hearts that could sing to us of

"That sweet and blessed country,
The home of God's elect,
That sweet and blessed country
That eager hearts expect.
Jesus in mercy lead us
To that dear land of rest,
Who art with God the Father,
And Spirit ever blest."

The famous hymn "Dies Irae" is also the production of the close of the Middle Ages, and also the composition of a monk. This hymn has been said to have been oftener translated than any other book except the Bible. In the English language there are translations almost innumerable, a verse or two of the latest of which I shall read from the last number of McMillan's Magazine:—

"Day of wrath, oh, dreadful day,
When this world shall pass away,
And the heavens together roll,
Shrivelling like a parched scroll;
Long foretold by saint and sage,
David's harp and sybil's page.

"Day of terror, day of doom,
When the Judge at last shall come;
Thro' the deep and silent gloom,
Shrouding every human tomb,
Shall the Archangel's trumpet tone
Summon all before the Throne.

"Then the writing shall be read,
Which shall judge the quick and dead,
Then the Lord of all our race
Shall appoint to each his place,
Every wrong shall be set right,
Every secret brought to light.

"O, remember, Saviour dear,
What the cause that brought thee here,
All the long and perilous way,
Was for me who went astray;
When that day at last is come,
Call, O call, the wanderer home.

"Thou who bad'st the sinner cease
From her tears and go in peace,
Thou who to the dying thief
Speakest pardon and relief,
Thou, O Lord, to me hast given,
Even to me, the hope of Heaven."

A Christian nobleman put up on his journey at a little village inn, where a mild, immoral dance was going on. Having obtained permission to look on at the dance, he went up to the musicians and asked them if he could have any tune he wished played for his money, and on being told he could, he asked them in one of the falls of the dance to play a hymn and sang it with them. Some ran away, but most stayed, and he prayed with these, and this was the beginning of a singular awakening in the neighborhood. Battles have been won by means of hymns, as at the battle of Leuthen, when Frederick the Great's wife army marched to victory singing one of Hermann. It was at the battle of Lutzen that Gustavus Adolphus sang with his army Luther's Corinen Heroicum, and after it, that, kneeling on the field, he thanked God for victory in a stanza of the same hymn. The Te Deum won the battle of Leipsic. Many of our hymns' as well as of the psalms, derive additional interest from the time and circumstances under which they were composed. Then we read the favorite "God moves in a mysterious way," with a new interest when we remember that Cowper composed it during a solitary walk, under a presentiment of the return of the fearful malady that threw such a gloom round his later years. One of the most beautiful and most popular hymns of Germany had its origin in the following manner—A young Christian student at Hamburg named Neumark, had become so poor that, one after the other, everything he possessed had gone to the pawnbrokers. Nothing was left him but his violincello, which he loved as his own soul. At last his poverty compelled him to sacrifice it also. Late in the evening he took it to the pawnbrokers, and before parting with it, hugged with tears in his eyes to play on it once more, and sing to his playing a simple hymn. As he rushed out he ran against a servant who had been standing enraptured at the music, and to whom Neumark, in his sorrow imparted his story. Not many days elapsed before the servant again sought Neumark with an offer of the secretaryship to the Swedish ambassador, to whom he had made known the circumstances, bringing with him sufficient to redeem the violin. Hastening home with it, he began at once to play with such sweetness that his family scarce knew whether she was in heaven or on earth. Calling to her at length, he said, "Well, my good woman, perhaps you will do me the kindness to call in as many people as there are in the house and street, and I will sing you a song you never heard before, for I am the happiest man in Hamburg.—Go, bring me a congregation and I will preach them a sermon on my violincello.' In a few minutes the room was full, and Neumark, after playing a bar or two, opened his mouth and sang:

"Leave God to order all thy ways,
And hope in him whate'er bet de,
Thou'lt find him in the evil days,
Thine all sufficient strength and guide.
Who trusts in God's unchanging love,
Builds on the rock that nought can move.

"What can these anxious thoughts avail,
These never ceasing moans and sigh?
What can it help us to bewail,
Each painful trouble of our lot?
Our cross and trials do but press
The heavier for our bitterness.

"He knows when joyful hours are best,
He sends them as he sees it meet;
When thou hast borne its fiery test,
And now art freed from all deceit,
He comes to thee all unaware,
And makes thee His own loving care.

"Sing, pray and swerve not from His ways,
But do thine own part faithfully,
Trust his rich promises of grace,
So shall it be fulfilled in thee;
God never yet forsook at need
The soul that trusted him indeed."

It is a curious fact in the history of hymns that in no country have the great poets had any part in their productions,—Milton, Spencer and Wordsworth were all eminently Christian poets, but they have added nothing to our body of hymns. It is among the workers in this world that we look for our great hymn writers; earnest men like the Wesleys, with their souls engrossed in the Lord's work. Simple country parsons like Watts and Doddridge; monks and schoolmasters, and shoemakers, and humble men whose names, if ever known to fame, have been long forgotten. Even in the Bible we find our hymn writers not the great poets like Isaiah, the author of the Book of Job or the Prophets, but it is David the shepherd and warrior; Mary, the virgin mother; Simeon, the aged waiter for Jesus. It is by them that those glorious hymns were sung, which have been echoed by thousands in every land, and which will yet be chanted with holy joy from the rising to the setting sun.

We cannot be too thankful for the large body of hymns with which we have been so richly blessed. The fondest recollections of our infancy and childhood are linked with hymns which entwined themselves round hearts in those happy hours when round our mother's knee we first learned to lisp the praise of Jesus' name, and where first we sang of that "land of pure delight where saints immortal reign." Sad experience has sung over again to many of us that "Here we suffer grief and pain, here we meet to part again," and how often since those happy hours, though childhood and youth, manhood and old age, have these simple hymns been the means in God's grace of pouring balm into the wounded spirit, of comforting the sorrow-laden, and of supporting the tried and the tempted! And when our days of hymn-singing on earth are ended, and when our lips can no longer chant Christ's praises here below, below, may we all meet again in that blessed land to sing anew in His kingdom with unending joy, "Worthy the Lamb that was slain. Blessing and honor and glory and power to Him that sitteth on the throne for ever and ever."

A SAGACIOUS BEAST.—In the Garden of Plants in Paris, the keepers were recently engaged in destroying a great number of rats, when one of them escaped and ran to the spot allotted to the elephant. Seeing no other refuge in the twinkling of an eye the rat snugly ensconced himself in the trunk of the elephant, very much to the dissatisfaction of the elephant. He stamped his foot and twisted his trunk around like a wind-mill, and then stood suddenly still, apparently reflecting on what it was best to do. Presently he ran to the water-trough where he was accustomed to drink, plunged in his trunk and filled it, and then raising it, dashed out the rat in a torrent like that which issues from the hose of a fire-engine. When the rat struck the ground the elephant seized him, and made him undergo the immersion and projection three or four times. The fourth time the rat fell dead. The elephant, with a quiet but majestic air, crushed it under his foot, and then went round to the spectators to make his usual collection of dainties.

A THRILLING INCIDENT.

The following incident is extracted from a very interesting paper in Bentley's Miscellany, entitled 'Hoors of Hindostan.' The cobra capella is said to be one of the most venomous species of serpents of the East, his bite being attended by almost instant death:

We had been playing in the evening at whist. Our stakes had been gold mohur points, and twenty on the rubber. Mazey, who was always lucky, and I won five consecutive bumpers, which lent a self-satisfied smile to his countenance, and made us losers anything but pleasant, when he suddenly changed countenance and hesitated to play. This the more surprised us, since he was one who seldom pondered, being an perfectly master of the game that he deemed long consideration superfluous.

'Play away, Mazey; what are you about?' impatiently demand-d Churchill, one of the most impetuous youths that ever wore the uniform of the body guard.

'Hush,' responded Mazey, in a tone which thrilled through us, at the same time turning deadly pale.

'Are you unwell?' said another, about to start up, for he believed our friend had been taken suddenly ill.

'For the love of God sit quiet,' replied the other, in a tone denoting extreme fear or pain, and he laid down his cards.

'If you value your life more not.'

'What can be mean? Has he taken leave of his senses?' demanded Churchill.

'Don't start—don't more, I'll tell you,' in a sort of whisper I can never forget, uttered Mazey.

'If you make any sudden motion I'm a dead man!' he exclaimed.

We exchanged looks. He continued:

'Remain quiet and all may yet be well. I've a Cobra capella around my leg.'

Our first impulse was to draw back our chairs; but an appealing look from the victim induced us to remain, although we were aware that should the reptile transfer but one fold, and attach himself to any other of the party, that individual might already be counted a dead man, so fatal is the bite of that dreadful monster.

Poor Mazey was dressed as many old residents still in India, namely, breeches and silk stockings. Therefore the more plainly felt every movement of the snake. His countenance assumed a livid hue; the words seemed to leave his mouth without the features altering his position, so rigid was the look, so fearful was he lest the slightest muscular movement should alarm the serpent and hasten his bite.

We were in agony little less than his own during the scene.

'He is coiling round,' muttered Mazey. 'I feel him cold, cold to my limb; and now he thickens. For the love of heaven call for some milk. I dare not speak loud; let it be placed near me; let some be placed on the floor.'

Churchill cautiously gave the order, and a servant slipped out of the room.

'Don't stir! Northcote, you moved, you moved your head. By everything sacred I conjure you not to do so again. I've a wife and two children in Europe; tell them I died blessing them—that my last prayers were for them. The snake is winding around my calf; I leave them all I possess. I can almost fancy I feel his breath. Great God, to die in such a manner!'

The milk was brought and carefully put down; a few drops were sprinkled on the floor, and the affrighted servant drew back. Again Mazey spoke:

'No! it has not effect! I dare not look down, but am sure he is about to draw back and give the bite of death with more than fatal precision. Receive me, O Lord, and pardon me! My last hour has come! Again he passes! I die firm, but this is pas endurance! Ah, no! He has undone another fold, and loosens himself! Can he be going to some one else!' We unvoluntarily started.

'For the love of heaven stir not! I'm a dead man; bear with me. He still loosens—he is about to dart. More not, but beware!—Churchill he falls off that way. Oh! the agony is too hard to bear. Another pressure and I am dead! No, he relaxes.'

At the moment poor Mazey ventured to look down: the snake had unwound himself; the last coil had fallen, and the reptile was making for the milk.

'I am saved! I am saved!' and Mazey bounded from the chair and fell senseless into the arms of one of his servants. In another instant, need it be added, we were all dispersed—the snake was killed and our poor friend carried more dead than alive to his room.

OLD MAIDS.—A sprightly writer expresses his opinion of old maids in the following manner:—I am inclined to think that many of the satirical aspersions cast upon old maids tell more to their credit than is generall imagined. Is a woman remarkably neat in her person? 'She will certainly be an old maid.' Is she particularly reserved toward the other sex? 'She has all the squeamishness old an old maid.' Is she frugal in her expenses and exact in her domestic concerns? 'She is cut out for an old maid.' And if she is kindly humane to the animals about her, nothing can save her from the appellation of an 'old maid.' In short, I have always found that neatness, modesty, economy, and humanity are the never-failing characteristics of that terrible creature—an 'old maid.'

"Why were you not up with the lark this morning, as I last night told you to be, sir?" said an irate father to his sluggard son. "The reason that I was not 'up with the lark' this morning, was because I was 'on a lark, last night, sir."

State Prison Inspector Rhodes, of New York, was once told that he could't, if he wished, find a Democratic minister to officiate as chaplain of Auburn Prison, and it is said that this reply was "I'll have a Democratic minister if I have to go to h—ll for him."

GOVERNMENT HOUSES.

COMPARATIVE COST OF THE TORONTO BUILDINGS.

The Picton Times has been enquiring into the cost of the new Government House at Toronto and comparing it with the cost of others that have been provided heretofore. We quote from its article:—

"We will begin with Spencer Wood, situated on the north bank of the St. Lawrence, two miles beyond Lewis Gate, Quebec; purchased by government in 1851, of H. Atkinson, Esq., for $40,000. Improvements commenced in 1851, and finished in 1856, at a total cost of $142,859 70. On the night of the 28th February, 1860, the State portion of Spencer Wood was destroyed by fire, and rebuilt it in 1862 and 1863 at a cost of $28,015 71c.—Total cost of Spencer Wood, $210,693 41c. It is a two story brick building 185 x 50 feet, with a wing 56 x 23, and shingled roof—the outbuildidings need not be described.

"Cataraqui, Quebec, leased of Henry Burnall, Esq., after Spencer Wood was burned, at the annual rental of $1,600, with an agreement that the property should be sold by auction when no longer required. If it did not sell for $20,000 the government should make up the balance. Improvements were made by government, at the cost of $8,781 71. On the 2nd February 1863, when Spencer Wood was again rebuilt, the property was sold by auction and brought $12 100—the government paying the balance of $,800. Cataraqui then cost the country in three years: rent $4,800; repairs, $3,781 67; smart money at sale 7 900; total, $23,491 67.

"Monklands, Montreal, leased in 1844, for ten years, at $1,800 per annum. A new wing and outbuildings were constructed at a cost of $41,643 28. When the seat of government was removed to Toronto, in 1849, the lease was sold by public auction for $500 a year—leaving the government to pay a balance of $1,300 per annum, until the expiration of the lease in 1866. We have then: five years rent, at $1,800, $9,000; expended, $41,642 28; five years' unexpired lease, at $1,300, $6,500; total, $57,143 28. This large sum for ten years only!

"The Hulton Hall, Ottawa, leased on the 2nd August, 1865 for a term of twelve years from the heirs of Hon. Thomas McKay, at a yearly rental of $4,000, with the right of purchasing the property within three years, at $70,000. The house was built twenty five years ago, of stone, and measures 73 feet in length, and 41 in breadth. It has been enlarged, and now presents a front of 210 feet, two stories in height. The total cost of additions and improvements, up to 1st July, 1867, was $80,819,66; and it is not yet completed. A ball room is to be added and improvements on the grounds to a very large extent are determined on. Let us now see what we have:—three years rent, at $4,000, $12,000; purchase money, $70,000; improvements up to 1st July, 1867, $80,819 66; total $165,819,66.

"We omit the Government House at Kingston the old Government House, Montreal, and the old Chateau St. Louis, Quebec. As the article is quite long enough, we pass on at once to the—"Government House, Toronto, was originally a wooden rough cast building, 104 x 76, built in 1828, with two wings built, in 1849 and 1820, at a cost of $66,252,40. It was occupied by the Government from 1853 to 1858 when it was still further improved, but we are not not able to ascertain the cost. In 1862 the property was handed over to the barrack master, to be occupied by the military authorities, and was destroyed by fire on the 10th January of that year.

"The Government House occupies the site of the old one, and is about the same size. It is two stories high with an attic, built of brick, and in a very plain style. The grant last year for its erection was $50, 000, and it will exceed this by $5,000 or 55,000 in all; an additional sum of $45,000 was granted to furnish it and construct outbuildings—(the stables and outbuildings having been built 30 years ago, frame rough-cast, and having been occupied by the troops are almost a ruin)—to lay out and improve the grounds, which comprise over six acres.

EARLY MARRIAGES.—All great men like Franklin, advocate early marriages; and all great men with rare exceptions have been men who married young. Wordsworth had only £100 a-year when he first married. Lord Eldon was so poor that he had to go to Clare Market to buy sprats for support. Coleridge and Southey we can't find had any income at all when they got married. We question whether Luther at any time had more than £80 a-year.—Fathers, you say you teach your sons prudence—you do nothing of the kind; your worldly-wise and clever son is ruined for life. You will find him at the Selling lists and billiard saloons. Your wretched worldly wisdom taught him to avoid the snares of marrying young, and soon—if he is not involved in embarrassments which will last him a life—he is a blase fellow, heartless, false, without a single sentiment of manly men; he has "no God, no heaven, in the wide world!"

The Viceroy of Egypt is making great preparations for the reception of the Prince and Princess of Wales. A large caravansery is being constructed near the great pyramid of Gizeh for the accommodation of the royal party and suite. The royal steam yacht will be placed at their disposal for a trip up the Nile.

Sir Bernard Burke states, in his, Vicissitudes of Families," that of the twenty-five barons who were appointed to enforce the observance of Magna Charta, there is not now in the House of Peers a single male descendant.

Cory O'Lee we thinks that the Algerians ought to attain perfection in riding the velocipede, for the more revolutions you make the faster you go.

The Queen's Speech at the Opening of Parliament.

London, Feb. 16.—The formal opening of the new Parliament, which was postponed last year, in consequence of the resignation of the Disraeli Ministry, took place this afternoon. Members of the House of Commons were summoned to appear at the bar of the Chamber of Peers to hear the Royal speech.

The Queen was not present, but Her Majesty's speech was read to the assembled Houses by the Lord Chancellor.

The speech is in substance as follows:

The Queen assures the Lords and Commons that the relations of Great Britain with all Foreign powers are at present on an excellent footing.

The hostilities which threatened to break out in the East have been prevented by the Conference of the Great Powers at Paris.

The hope is expressed that the negotiations with the United States will place on a firm and durable base the friendship which should ever exist between England and America.

The disturbances in the colony of New Zealand are to be regretted, but the Queen is sure that Providence, and moderation on the part of the Government, will prevent the recurrence of such unhappy events.

The estimates which will be laid before the House of Commons by Her Majesty's Ministers are formed on the basis of economy, coupled with efficiency in the administration of the service.

The continued suppression of the operation of the writ of habeas corpus in Ireland is regarded as unnecessary.

The ecclesiastical arrangements for Ireland are to be considered by Parliament. The legislation for their final adjustment will make large demands upon the wisdom of both Houses.

On this subject the Queen concludes as follows:

I am persuaded that a careful regard will be had for the interests involved, and for the welfare of religion, and that through the application of principles of equal justice in all questions before them, Parliament will secure the undivided feeling of the people of Ireland in the side of loyalty and law, efface the memory of past contentions and cherish the sympathies of an affectionate people.

If we can place any reliance on the last words of murderers, the gallows must be a gate-way to Heaven. Not one red-handed ruffian who dies by the rope, out of every dozen, but tells us he is going straight into the everlasting realms of bliss. Be he Protestant, Catholic, Turk or Chinaman, we have the same story—he wouldn't live if he had a chance to; he wouldn't change places with the greatest man on earth.—Jones, who was hanged in London a few weeks ago, proclaimed his innocence of the crime, pitched into sundry people in a most unchristian manner, and then started for Heaven as a Methodist. Whelan said he would be "in Heaven in a little while." A few days before his death he swore like a trooper; but finding all hope gone, he became devout, participated in religious exercises, went to the gallows with the secret of his crime hidden in his breast, shouted "God save Ireland," and started for Heaven as a Catholic. Thus we find the gallows merely a platform at the gate of Heaven for all who stain their hands with another's blood. It is to be hoped that the repentance of such men is heartfelt and sincere. But when we remember their awful crimes, what a farce it seems to hear them talk of Heaven as angels of light might talk. If these repentances are true, there must be more murderers in Heaven, in proportion than others.—Telegraph

Brick Pomeroy's Opinion of the United States Government:—In a few days the last of the Presidents of the United States, in accordance with, and agreeing to the Constitution of the country, will have vacated the Executive chair, and the destinies of America will pass into the hands of its first Dictator. Aided and backed in his efforts for power for himself and plunder for his minions, by a parliament of thieves, robbers, land-grabbers, plunderers, extravagant aristocratic tools of tyranny, and fit agents for the bon ted slave-holders of the land, it is with a feeling of sadness we look upon the future of this country.—It is with a feeling of dread for the peace, prosperity, and good name of America that we lament the day is so near when the last of our constitutional Presidents who believes in the Constitution, and faithfully endeavor to uphold it, shall be compelled in obedience to laws made by the people, and respected by him, to leave the chair of State in the hands of a man who has no policy, no aim, no ambition other than to please a few men who are his keepers.

Railway Accident.—Two freight trains got off the track on Saturday night, one a short distance below Kingston, and the other at Collin's Bay, about seven miles this side of Kingston. The former detained the Eastern Express about three hours and the Western Express some six hours. The accident at Collin's Bay was more serious, nine cars and the tender having gone off the track, tearing up the bridge for a considerable distance, and damaging the cars somewhat. A construction train went out from Kingston shortly after daylight with a gang of about forty men, and succeeded in getting the track clear and the bridge repaired about eight o'clock evening. The workmen had a hard time of it, as the weather was bitter cold, and a high wind was accompanied by rain and hail. The Express due here on Sunday morning did not arrive until Sunday at midnight.—Recorder.

A curious accident occurred lately at Varna, which is thus described by a correspondent on the spot. "While some workmen were pulling down an old house in the town to make room for a Government office now in course of construction, they came on one of the shells thrown by the Russians during the bombardment of 1828, which had since remained quietly imbedded in the thickness of an outer wall amid rubble and mortar. No match, of course, remained, and the touch-hole was full of dirt. One of the workmen, an Albanian, rolled the projectile down, and taking it between his knees, began cleaning it with a chisel, when suddenly it exploded, threw down all around, wounded several, and killed the Albanian on the spot, cutting off both his legs at the hips. The unlucky man was a Christian of the Greek rite, and thus added one more to the long list of his co-nationals who have owed their destruction to Russian intervention in their behalf."

A singular coincidence of events has recently occured at Ely, where a Mr. Thomas Ellis, finding his last hour was approaching, sent a message to that effect to his friend Mr. John Keeter, who was also in declining health, and the reply was "Tell my old friend I shall not be long after him. Within one hour both where dead. They were born on the same day and hour, and died on the same day and hour, aged seventy-five.

RED RIVER.

(From the Nor-Wester.)

The largest portion of the population of Red River are not farmers, although there is any abundance of the best farming land on the continent. The Nor Wester accounts for this by the fact that hitherto the immense herds of buffalo in the vicinity, and the abundance of fish, fowl, and rabbits, have caused men to follow hunting in their youth for sport, which afterwards became a vocation in their manhood. This class, a very large one, although holding some of the finest lands in the settlement, do little more than cultivate a potato patch, and perhaps raise a few bushels of wheat. Any attempt to make farmers out of this material will fail, because men do not easily quit the grooves in which their existence has been running, and this time of scarcity clearly shows that the buffalo driven westward by the encroachment of settlement, by the U. S. military posts, will stay there, and that this people, this large proportion of our present population will have to leave this settlement and follow them. We may take it then for granted that a large number of such, having no seed to put in the ground, having killed their working cattle for food, and retaining yet only their buffalo running horses, will sell their places for what they can and move westward. "What in one man's meat is another man's poison," and the truth of this old saying will be exemplified here this year. Never was there a time when this country presented so many inducements to the immigrants. Let immigrants come in early in the spring and bring good sound Canadian seed grain with them and we can safely promise them the purchase of lots with houses, stables, land broken and fenced, for a merely nominal price; and we can safely assure a ready cash market for all the grain they can raise and at least double the ordinary prices in Ontario. And we can promise, too, what we look upon as a greater boon still whether the negotiations fail in England or not, that another year will not see us under the hated rule of the Honorable H B. Co.

Nova Scotian Affairs.—The Globe's Halifax correspondent says that a member of the League offered $1,000 on Mr. Goudge, Howe's opponent in Hants, without meeting any one to accept. The Unionist has a strong article declaring Mr. Howe's appointment to the Cabinet an insult to the Union party, and that he has no claim to the support of the Union men of Hants.

Mr. Howe is making Reciprocity a strong point in his canvass, alleging that if he is elected there will be better prospects of obtaining a new Treaty.

The second meeting of the Hants Campaign came off on the 15th at St. Croix. The district was always strong for Mr. Howe, but at present the opposition to him is so strong that it was with difficulty that he obtained the use of the school-house to hold his meeting. The trustees at first refused to allow him to use the building; but subsequently they gave permission, and the meeting was held. Mr. Howe opened and was followed by Mr. Goudge and one of his friends. The district is not large, but it will go largely for Mr. Goudge.

The Temperance Party in the English Parliament.—The temperance party in Great Britain is marching slowly, but surely, on to victory. It will probably be a number of years before they secure a prohibitory law for the whole country; but that they will ultimately do so, no one who has studied the history of reforms, and who believes in the triumph of good over evil, can for a moment doubt. A new effort is to be made during the present session of Parliament to secure the passage of the Permissive Bill, the principle of which is, that the licensing of drink shops is a matter for the decision of the rate-payers. It is calculated that there are about one hundred and twenty members who have more or less pledged themselves to support the bill. Sir Wilfred Lawson is expected to introduce the measure in the House of Commons some time in March. The question will make rapid progress now that the Reform Bill has admitted so many of the laboring classes to the right of suffrage. A house-to-house canvass, in certain districts, shows that seven-tenths of the working people, and nearly one-half of the aristocracy, favor the Permissive Bill; while only one fifth of the middle classes are friendly to its principles.—Witness.

The Constitutional Amendment.—A few days ago the Senate of the United States passed, by more than the requisite two thirds majority, an amendment to the constitution proving that no discrimination should be made among the citizens of the United States in the exercise of the elective franchise, or in the right to hold office in any state, on account of race, color, nativity, property, education, or creed. As the Senate is the more conservative body, it was then supposed that the House would readily concur in the above amendment; but, contrary to expectation, it has refused, and has passed an amendment of its own which differs from the Senate amendment in that it leaves out the office-holding clause, and mentions only race and color as the respects in which all men are to enjoy equal rights. The Senatorial plan is far more extensive than the other, and would stand less chance of obtaining the ratification of three fourths of the States. Probably the Senate will modify its amendment, so as to meet the views of the House; in which case we may hope to see the last vestige of Slavery, in the form of political injustice o the blacks, swept from the statutes of the United States.

Ocean Race.—On Monday week last the Cunard steamer Russia, and the Inman steamer City of Paris, started from New York on an ocean race. Some months since the City of Paris beat the Cunard steamer Cuba, and the pride of the Cunarders was deeply wounded in consequence. Some heavy bets have been made on the result. This race will be one of the most exciting that has ever been contested by steamships, as not only the prestige of the Cunard line is involved, but the postal grant by the British Government for carrying the English mails to this country, now possessed by the Cunard line, and for which the Inman Company are contending in London, may be transferred from the Cunard line if the Russia is beaten. Later.—The City of Paris arrived at Queenstown one hour and a half before the Russia.

Serious Charge.—The Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal News writes; The feeling here is very strong against one of the legal gentlemen connected with the defence, and it was reported last night that he had been arrested. Whelan still continues to blame him, and all the circumstances that have come to light since the assassination, go far to implicate him. It appears that he was here that night, and drove up to Aylmer, where he arrived early in the morning, and was particular in calling the attention of some parties to the hour at which he arrived.

TO LUMBERMEN.

We will deliver any size of MANILLA ROPE, here or in Lindsay, at 14½ cents, freight paid.

GEO. STETHEM & Co.

Peterborough, February 10, 1869.

We have received, from Massachusetts, a lot of TAFTS LACE LEATHER, suitable for Cotton Mills, Woolen Mills, and for the heavier belting of Saw Mills. It is the best Lace Leather ever shown in Peterborough.

G. STETHEM & Co.

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

Peterboro, February 10, 1869. 6

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mill Feed for Sale—Thos. Short.
Notice—I. Robinson & Co.
"Twa Nichts at Hame"—Kennedy.
Occult Science—Drs. Ruttley & Andrus.
Thespians, to-night.
Abstract—Peterboro Grammar School.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1869.

The Folly of the Present Method of Selling the Non-resident Lands for Taxes.

For some time past the cry was that non-resident land owners were made to suffer by the unjust method of assessing their property and collecting statute labor tax; and there was ground for the complaint to some degree. The scale is now turned however, and the non-resident has the best of it.

In the first place, the resident only does anything to improve the township where he resides. He clears his land, builds houses, makes roads, drains, &c., for the purpose of benefitting himself, of course; but he cannot improve his farm without to some degree enhancing the value of the farm adjoining him, the owner of which may be a non-resident, and for this improvement the non-resident should pay something. The resident wisely considered that the keeping of that wild lot on speculation retarded the general advancement of the township and locality, and set his wits to work to devise means of making him pay for his speculations, and in too many cases made him pay dearly for his chance of gain. The law now works the other way, to the great detriment of the residents who have now to pay not only the tax on their own property, but also on all the non-resident lands in the municipality. It is worked in this way;—The municipal by has to pay the whole county rate and whole school rate in December, but the non-resident lands cannot be sold for five years, by this time the amount has become considerable. The lands are advertized, and on the day of sale perhaps sold, perhaps not sold, as the case may be. The owner of the lot or his agent is present, and bids in the lot, but does not pay the amount. On the day of the adjourned sale all lands that have not been paid for are put up again and sold to the highest bidder, and the owner or his agent on that day buys in his own land for a mere fraction of the taxes due on it, and thus the township is cheated out of the balance.

But some one will say, why do those present not bid on the land? And suppose they do: a lot is rarely sold for as much as the taxes; the purchaser cannot touch a stick on his newly acquired property for a year; during that time the owner can come along and pay the taxes for it, and thus redeem it. Some lots on which there were arrears of taxes were sold for less than a tenth part of those taxes, and bought in by the owners too, a least so we are informed on good authority. And yet on those very lots the residents had to pay the county tax and local school tax, and, in fact, had to provide for all the necessary expenditure of the municipality, while a shrewd non resident can avoid paying anything more than a mere trifle. The very fact that the bidder is known to be the owner prevents competition in bidding, and even where another buys, it has been at almost nothing, hardly the price of one pine tree that may chance to be on the land.

Now to remedy this, we think that our Legislature should provide that Township Collectors should have the power to sell timber if such there be on the lot, to the amount of the taxes, but no more, and that at the same rate that timber has been sold in the neighborhood; or a permissive clause be inserted in our Municipal Act to enable councils to bid in a lot unless it realizes at the sale at least the amount of taxes against it. The Township Council would be able to judge what lots they might safely buy in, and one that they could not safely purchase for the taxes, has evidently been rated too high. The owners might still have a right to redemption as at present, but after one year the Council might have power to sell such land to the best advantage. As the present law is the non-residents in the new Townships have the best of it, and the result is that the residents are somewhat burdened to meet those taxes that non-resident landowners should bear a part of. Assessors in those new townships should also be more careful in assessing the lands. Thousands of acres of land they never see, and in consequence do not know whether it is good or bad or worthless. Yet they assess it at a fixed common rate. This they must see is unfair; in fact, is dishonest, and they may rely on it that parties will avoid the payment if they can. Land should be assessed for what it is worth and no more.

Kennedy, the Scottish Vocalist is Coming Again.—We have great pleasure in announcing to our readers that Mr. Kennedy so renowned for his rendering of Scottish song, is again to visit us on the 8th and 9th of March. We have only to mention this to ensure him a full house. All lovers of a pleasant nicht or twa among the ballads of their native Scotia will be present; aye, and many a one not from Scotia will avail himself of this opportunity of hearing the Scottish "Dookens in song."

Changes in Market By-law.

The Town Council has had several meetings lately to prepare By-laws in connection with the Market, licenses, and sale of Butcher's meat in the Town.

The new By-law provides for a free market every Wednesday, on which day no tolls will be collected from owners of waggons or others who come to the Market place to sell articles of farm or other produce. This will afford an opportunity for establishing two market days in the week, which we trust will not be lost sight of by both farmers and intending purchasers; if the farmers come in there will soon be a general resort of people on Wednesday the same as on Saturday, at present.

The toll for double waggons is fixed at 10 cents instead of at 7 cents as heretofore, and of single vehicles at 5 cents instead of 2d; for other articles 2 cents; for weighing, two, three, and five cents according to weight; for weighing a load of hay or straw ten cents.

The time for forestalling is extended to 12 o'clock, noon.

Another feature in the new By-law is providing for granting liberty to establish Butcher's Stalls other places through the Town than the Market House, to parties petitioning for such liberty. Hence, by the By-law, a stall for the sale of Butcher's meat, may be established at any place in the Town except the Market Block. This will have its effect on the rents for the Market Stalls; but it is argued that the advantages of cheap meat will counterbalance any loss the citizens may sustain. Of course the By-law can be repealed if it does not prove to answer the object sought.

The Licenses for Taverns having legal accommodation is fixed at $67; for Saloons at $100; for shops $72. The number of Taverns is to be unlimited. This is reasonable; if one gets license why should not all who apply.

The Council also find that parties come into Town from time to time to auction Bankrupt and other stock, to the injury of the honest dealers; and Auctioneers come along who take out license to sell these stocks. In protection to the town Auctioneers, it is proposed to charge a license of $50 a year, or for any part of a year, instead of $25 as heretofore, to non-resident Auctioneers, and $25 to those who have been residents for at least one year.

We hope these changes shall prove beneficial for the objects sought. The changes in the Market By-law affect the citizens most tangibly, if they ensure to the people cheap meat, a regular supply, and that of as good a quality as they have been getting, they will have reason to thank the Council for them; but if, on the contrary, they fail in that, we have no doubt but that the Council will gladly repeal the By-law.

SPAIN.

This country is not likely to return again to order and liberty, without a struggle to retain the shackles with which it has been chained. The people, by a large vote, have declared in favor of a monarchical form of government, but the great trouble will be to select a king who shall suit the people and the Cortez, at the same time. More than one effort has been made to assassinate Gen. Prim, but to no avail, and nothing short of ignorant fanaticism would attempt such a deed. The murder of Lincoln did not aid the Southern Confederacy, nor the assassination of McGee benefit Fenianism; no more can the assassination of General Prim aid the cause of religion or of liberty in Spain.

The women of Spain have sent in a monster petition to General Serrano. The petition is as follows:—

"To the President of the Provisional Government:

"Your Excellency: We do not ask grace or implore clemency; we demand justice. We claim respect and protection to our rights as Catholics, as Spaniards and as women. If we had a voice in the public assemblies or a seat in the Cortes, there we would flock to defend, even at the risk of our lives, the persecuted religion, the mangled peace of our families and the derided faith and honor of Spain. But we have only tears with which to weep and voices with which to mourn. For this reason we send to your Excellency our tears and sighs, asking what we have the right to ask, and what your excellency has the obligation to respect and protect. When from the lips of our mothers we learnt the holy truths which light the way to Heaven, the only morality which teaches us to be good mothers, good daughters, and good wives, we learn that in Spain we ought only to adore the true God. Those who, like your Excellency, wear the sword in the belt, on grasping it swore as Christians and promised as gentlemen to shed the last drop of your blood in defence of our most holy faith—the joy of our souls, the peace of our numerous families, the honor of our country—and when those of us who have the privilige of being mothers teach our children to speak, we bless our wise laws which will not allow that their souls can be indoctrinated in other than the beautiful idiom of Santa Teresa, of Jesus and of St. John of the Cross."

The Pastoral of the Cardinal Archbishop denounces the toleration granted by the Provisional Government, as "infamous," "extravagant," "impious," "criminal," scandalous, and there are at work secret influences that will not be easily made to succumb. The confiscation of church treasure to prevent it falling into the hands of the reactionary party, amounted to $100,000,000. At Burgos the Governor was murdered in the Cathedral, while making an inventory of valuables. The religious question is assuming formidable proportions, and will prove most terrible in its consequences, no doubt.

The Snowfall.—In the early part of the winter complaints were heard of poor sleighing, and very many were afraid that there would not be enough to allow of the necessary hauling of wood, &c. During the last two weeks there has fallen enough to satisfy the most fastidious on the snow question. During Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, 14 to 16 inches must have fallen, so that now the roads are almost impassable. According to Dr. Smallwood, of Montreal, the month of February when only half run, exceeded by 8 inches the greatest snow fall in a month for 26 years. The mean fall for 20 years, 79.50 inches per annum. Greatest depth in one month, Jan., 1861, 31.80.—Greatest depth in one day, 11.15. Total depth in 1861, 99.58. Total depth 1868, 105.27. Snow fall this winter, so far: October, 1868 4.02; November, 17.28; December, 27.96; January, 1869, 38 07; February 16 up to noon, 40.04; total 118 27. If that were so in the first half of February, we may truly say that the greatest snow fall of one month in twenty years has fallen in February, 1869.

Remember the Thespians in the Music Hall to-night.

PERSONAL.

Owing to some discussion that has taken place in a local paper anent the subject of the removal of a teacher from the Lakefield School, we have been requested to refer to the matter, as being somewhat cognizant of the whole affair.

In regard to the Superintendent having anything to do with the removal of Mr. Smyth, the last writer is correct, in saying that he "was not removed by the Local Superintendent," and it is well known that his consent for a removal is not required and has never been sought by any one. If any entry has been made in the Trustees' Minute Book to the effect that the teacher was removed by the Local Superintendent, we can only say that it ought not to have been made. The writer, who is also Local Superintendent of Schools, never went as Superintendent to Mr. Smyth to remove him; when solicited to do so, he distinctly told those who waited on him that he had no such power vested in him by law.

And, of all those who desired Mr. Smyth to go away only two ever expressed them selve against him as Teacher. The burden of the complaint was not against him as a Teacher, but because of some other unhappy feeling that had arisen, and concerning which the section was divided. Indeed it is due to Mr Smyth to say that many who voted for Trustees, believed to be opposed to engaging him as a Teacher, said they did so, not against him as a Teacher, but to restore peace between parties, if possible.

The writer of this article was the first who mentioned the propriety of offering Mr. Smyth compensation for losses that would be sustained if he removed, and when this was agreed to, we simply advised Mr. Smyth to take a situation offered him in the Union School—and offered to him because he is believed to be a good Teacher. He took our advice as a friend, and hence his removal.

We would advise the good people of Lakefield to forget the past and do the best they can to live in amity over School matters in the future. Newspaper correspondence seldom makes friends.

ASHBURNHAM.

The Council met on Monday evening.

The Reeve and Messrs. Bennett, Burnham and Jas. Z. Rogers were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Petitions from Mr. H. Morgan and W. Swanston for tavern Licenses, were received and referred to the License Inspector.

On motion of Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Bennett, the clerk was instructed to receive all petitions for tavern license, and to refer them to the inspector.

The Council have passed a By-law providing that license for not more than four taverns, and for four shops, shall be granted.

The Council adjourned till the first Monday in April, at 7 o'clock, p. m.

WHO WOULD BE SICK?

Our town is, at present, visited by two Doctors—Ruttley & Andrus—who profess to cure all manner of diseases that the other physicians cannot cure. They do not use medicine, professing to perform their cures by the "Laying on of Hands." They gave a public lecture in Hill's Music Hall on Monday evening, to a crowded house. The lame, deaf and blind were present to learn to walk, hear and see. The Doctors expressed themselves confident to cure all who would go to them, and several persons went up publicly, to be treated for their diseases. The manipulations were hand-rubbing, and now and then a slight application of what we believed to be water. Some lame, some deaf, and some with sore eyes, lost voice, running sore, itching in the face, &c., were treated before the public, and the Doctors announced that they would be in the Hall next day from 9 to 11 a. m. to cure the sick poor. We are not prepared to say that they cured all who went to them, nor are we in a position to say that any were cured except such as were affected with rheumatism; the rubbing seemed to affect them, and Mr. T. Leonard declared he was cured. Many, on coming from the platform, said they were cured.

The Doctors bring testimonials with them to which they refer the inquisitive. If they can cure by the laying on of their hands, they should have a trial. They do not claim any miraculous power, only the possession of animal magnetism, or mesmerism and electricity, which they claim to be the right and left hand of Jehovah. If they can cure, a few days will demonstrate it. If they turn out to be imposters, they will soon receive their deserts.

This morning they were brought before Messrs. Edwards and Chambers, on charge of practising as M. D's, and fined $30 each and costs. They paid the fine and left, declaring they would give the M. D's of Peterboro $10, as they would soon make it. We cannot give a full report for want of space.

BIBLE SOCIETY.

The annual meeting was held on Wednesday evening last, in the Canada Presbyterian Church.

Judge Deanistoun, President of the Society, occupied the chair.

Rev'd Messrs. Gilmour, Rogers, Stock and McDonnell, Mr. Johnson, Agent of the Society, and Messrs. Eastwood and Campbell took part in the proceedings.

Mr. Fairbairn, Secretary, read a very interesting report of the labours of the Society, and by the Colporteur appointed by it.

Wm. Hall, Esq., read the Treasurer's and Repository Report.

Mr. Eastwood moved the adoption of the Report, seconded by Rev. Mr. Gilmour. Both those gentlemen made some very appropriate remarks on the circulation of the Sacred Scriptures and the benefits accruing therefrom.

Mr. A. H. Campbell moved, seconded by Rev. Mr. McDonnell, a resolution expressing thankfulness for the general co-operation of so many denominations in carrying on the work of the Bible Society.

Mr. Johnson spoke on the great success that has attended the operations of the Society in different parts.

Rev. Mr Stock also addressed the meeting on the spiritual power of the word of God over men's hearts and lives.

Curling.—The Cobourg Curling Club have carried off the palm from Orono and Belleville Clubs, and, if we mistake not, from the Keene Club too.

Go to the Thespians To-night.

REPEAL.

Mr. Howe is now before his constituents asking for his re-election. He has considerable opposition, but will in all probability succeed. When he accepted office he no doubt counted the cost, and bargained for compensation. Even Repealers are not proof against Dominion gold or legal tenders, we may therefore, reckon on his election. How he will reconcile his bargain and sale with the interest of Nova Scotians, few are not able to conceive. One thing is certain, that his course has destroyed the repeal movement, proving it to be a matter of dollars and cents, something that John A. knows "howe" to manage.

Repudiation of the Terms for Settling the Alabama Difficulty.—Lately Lord Clarendon, and the American Minister in England, came to an understanding in reference to the manner of settling those long rattled of claims, agreeing that they should be determined by arbitration. One representing England, and one the United States, and in case of their disagreeing, some European sovereign was to be selected as umpire. The Senate refuse now to sanction the work of their Ministry, and thus the matter is to remain a bone of contention, and a cause for election orations against Britain for years to come.

Brutal Assault.—A man named Pirie, a councellor of Dundass, brutally assaulted the Editor of the True Banner lately as he was on his way from the post office, after night. Pirie, like a cowardly assassin or tiger, sprung upon his victim from some lurking place, and knocked him down, struck and kicked him in the most brutal manner. Pirie is a councillor and by all accounts more fit for herding among the "browsing beasts" than dwelling among men. The Banner had exposed some of his public and private acts, and for so doing was thus brutally abused. The ruffian who would thus revenge himself, Whelan-like, falls little short of deserving Whelan's fate.

Another Old Settler Gone.—We omitted last week to notice the death of the Hon. George Strange Boulton, one of the earliest settlers in the County of Northumberland. He was well known in and around this town. He has held various offices, and latterly, prior to Confederation, was a member of the Upper House. He was a kind and true friend to the poor; a consistent politician of the ultra Tory school; a patriotic and public spirited citizen; and we are sure his loss will be severely felt in the town of Cobourg where he has lived so long and done so much towards its prosperity.

The Dominion Choralist.—This is the title of a new publication from the office of the Montreal Witness, by Mr. John Dougal & Son. It consists of about 30 to 40 pieces, with Music neatly arranged, and well suited for family or Sabbath Schools. Some of the pieces are secular, and the greater part are religious, but the whole, like all issued from the Witness office, is of a purely moral character. The music alone is worth five times the price of the Choralist, which is only 25 cents.

Midge Proof Wheat.—Mr. D. Sutherland has shown us a sample of very nice wheat known as "Platt's Midge Proof." He imported it from the front, where it has been raised with success. Farmers wishing to see or purchase it would do well to call at Mr. Sutherland's Storehouse, Ashburnham, and examine it. He offers to sell it as cheap here as it can be got at the front.

Rev. Dr. Ryerson, Chief Superintendent of Education, will be in Peterboro' on the 3rd of March. All who take an interest in the New School Bill, would do well to come and hear him. Mr. E. C. Hill has kindly offered the Music Hall for the occasion—The convention will, therefore, be in Hill's Music Hall, instead of the Court House, as heretofore.

The Cobourg Sentinel says, that a movement is on foot to establish a smelting furnace in that town for the manufacture of iron. It will require a capital of about $100,000, which they propose to raise in shares of $10 each, to bring it within reach of individuals of small means to aid in the enterprise.

Confederation in Newfoundland.—The Halifax Reporter says that a private telegram has been received there stating that the Newfoundland Assembly have passed the address, affirming union with the Dominion by a vote of 20 to 9; the Legislative Council by a unanimous vote.

Valuable Property for Sale.—We would remind our readers of the sale of that valuable property on Aylmer street advertized by Mr. Malcom. The sale will take place on Saturday at 12 o'clock, noon. Mr. Malcom will supply all information on application to him.

There is a rumor that Sir. Geo E. Cartier is to remain in London as plenipotentiary of the Dominion of Canada. There is another that he was to leave for Canada on the 18th and that John A. was waiting his return to appoint a time for the Dominion Parliament to meet, which is time,—probably the last.

It is said that great distress prevails among the hand loom weavers of Glasgow, and as trade in Scotland is generally very dull, large numbers of people are idle.—Philanthropists are moving for their relief.

Billiards.—Cyrille Dion, of Montreal, and J. W. Cronn, of Belleville, are to play for a purse of $500, at Belleville, on Tuesday, 2nd of March.

The Thespians to night will appear in new costume. The programme bespeaks a pleasant evening.

The Thespians.

We, last night, had the pleasure of witnessing a rehearsal of the Thespians and we are satisfied from the manner in which the plays were rehearsed, that they will be placed on the boards with satisfaction to the public, and that all who attend the performance may expect a pleasant evening and a hearty laugh.—COM.

Hunt's Empire Hair Gloss is a Luxury which once enjoyed will always be remembered.

Dr. Colby's Anti costive and Tonic Pills, sugar-coated.

Jacobs' Rheumatic Liquid Cures Lam Back.

Go to the Thespians To-night.

To the Editor of the Peterboro' Examiner.

Sir,—

The Lakefield branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society, held its anniversary on Thursday, the 18th of February, in the absence of Isaac Gerlaw, Esq., president of the society. R. A. Strickland, Esq., was called to preside over the meeting.—The meeting was opened by singing a hymn. The Rev. Mr. Thom read a portion of Scripture and the Rev. Mr. Schofield engaged in prayer. The claims of the Bible Society were very earnestly and eloquently advocated by the Rev. Messrs. Schofield, Stock, and Thom, by the Agent of the Bible Society, and S. B Johnson, Esq.—The subscription and collection amounted to $90. $60 were appropriated to the British and Foreign Bible Society, in London; $20 to the Toronto Bible Society, and $10 to the Montreal Bible Society.

Yours, &c.,

W. C. NICHOLLS.
Sec. L. B. S.

Lakefield, Feb. 19, 1869.

The Coming Girl.—She will vote, be some one in the world, will cook her own food, will earn her own living, and will not die an old maid. The coming girl will not wear the Grecian bend, dance the Germania, ignore all possibilities of knowing how to work, will not endeavor to break the hearts of unsophisticated young men, will spell correctly, understand English before she affects French, will preside with equal grace at the piano or wash tub, will spin more yarn for the house than for the street, will not despise her plainly clad mother, her poor relations, or the hand of an honest worker; will wear a bonnet, speak good, plain, unlisping English, will darn her own stockings, will know how to make dough nuts, and will not read the Ledger oftner than she does her Bible. The coming girl will walk five miles a day, if need be, to keep her cheeks in a glow, will mind her health, her physical development, and her mother; will adopt a costume both sensible and conducive to comfort and health, will not confound hypocrisy with politeness; will not place lying to please above frankness; will have courage to cut an unwelcome acquaintance; will not think refinement is French duplicity; that the assumed hospitality where hate dwells in the heart, is better than condemnation; will not confound grace of government with silly affection; will not regard the end of her being to have a beau. The coming girl will not look to Paris, but to reason, for her fashions; will not aim to follow a foolish fashion because milliners and dressmakers decreed it; will not torture her body, shrivel her soul with puerilities, or ruin it with wine and pleasure.—In short the coming girl will seek to glorify her Maker and to enjoy mentally His works. Duty will be her aim and life a living reality.—Church Union.

BRITISH TAXATION.

Nearly the whole revenue of the British empire from customs is derived from seven articles, and ninety-six and a half per cent. of the revenue from these comes from spirits, malt and licenses. The figures for customs for the last two years are these:

	1867	1868
	£	£
Sugar and molasses	5,647,787	5,582,473
Tea	2,659,718	2,827,317
Coffee	397,190	399,161
Corn, meal and flour	797,636	869,328
Spirits	4,173,627	4,228,403
Wine	1,391,191	1,408,993
Tobacco and snuff	6,458,011	6,542,280
Other imports	577,066	681,481
Sundries	200,838	104,580
Total Customs	22,290,066	31,684,819

The British income tax is little more than ten per cent, but yields just about as much as the United States; and the whole revenue of the kingdom is considerably in excess of that of the United States, although we tax some hundreds of articles where Great Britain taxes one. Yet the resources of the two countries are not practically very different in amount.

England has tried both plans; first, that of adjusting universal taxes so as to protect and help everything; and secondly, that of selecting a few articles to tax, solely for revenue purposes. By the latter plan she now collects more revenue, more cheaply, and with incomparably less pressure on the people, than she ever could by the former.

New York, Feb. 19.—The Tribune's Washington special says:—An American gentleman in Cuba, who is in a position to know the rebellion and its prospect quite well, sends information to Washington stating that the insurrection gains ground, especially in the Eastern Department.—Advices from various points make this certain. The patriots have a Provisional Government under the supreme command of Gen. Quesada, Cespedes being Secretary of War. It proposes emancipation, equal political rights for all colors. The wealthier patriots have all emancipated their slaves, many of whom are armed. No terms for the Spanish Government will now be listened to. Independence only will be accepted. That established, the Cubans will seek protection from the United States, and eventually seek to become a member of the American Union.—The revolution occupies one half of the Island, and increases daily. The Havana Junta have sent the Provisional Government large drafts on New York, and promises to raise immediately one million of dollars. An agent will soon be sent to Washington, asking belligerent rights.

The Kingston Whig says:—"Insolvent Acts are necessary in a new country at times, to enable honest men overburdened with debts to get rid of their liabilities and have a fresh start in life; but they never should become permanent; for then they degenerate, and become loop-holes for scoundrels to crawl into and cheat their fellowmen. The Insolvent Debtor's Acts fo. Canada have existed long enough; all the honest men have partaken of their benefits, and they now serve only to screen rogues and vagabonds. The sooner the Acts are repealed the better."

Costly Election.—Parliamentary honors cost something in England. Some of the candidates at the recent elections were bled most unmercifully. Messrs. Gladstone and Grenfel who were defeated in Lancashire had to pay £11,500. Captain Sherrard Osborne's expenses at Birkenhead were £1,877, and Mr. Laird's the successful candidate for Liverpool had to pay £4,524. The expenses of the two Conservatives candidates for Dublin amounted to £10,174.

Canadian Justice.—The Scottish American Journal in alluding to the execution of Whalen, says very truly: 'The contrast between the speed of the United States Government in the execution of the assassins of President Lincoln, and the delay of the Government in this instance is very striking, and to those not immediately interested in either, the conduct of the Canadian authorities will appear highly creditable to them and to Canadian justice. Neither mutual law nor mob law is needed in British America to punish criminals.'

IAMATOLOGIA!

A WARNING.

(From the Toronto Globe.)

The organ of the Licensed Victuallers' Association calls for organization to prepare for another onslaught upon the Legislature next session. It is explained that the repeal of the restriction upon liquor selling on Saturday evening, would have been obtained during the session just closed, but for the tactics of Mr. Blake and the mismanagement of Mr. Wood. The organ wants "justice" secured next year, and calls frantically for "union and organization"—for a "competent and energetic committee" in "every village," or at least "a faithful manager" of the interests for which the Victuallers are striving. With these, it is believed, that success may be attained.—Without such "union and organization," it is admitted that there is not much chance.

We do not believe that there is very much chance, whatever the Licensed Victuallers may do. The popular voice is overwhelmingly against them. People are convinced that the Saturday evening law works well, and its repeal would be the death of nearly every representative who voted for repeal. At the same time, it is as well that the friends of morality and order throughout the country should be on their guard, and be prepared, if necessary, to meet the threatened attack upon the existing law. The licensed victuallers may not, in many years, have so favorable an opportunity for pressing their demands as the present. It is no small matter that they have the government thoroughly committed to their views. The Provincial Secretary owes his seat to them, and was pledged to them before he was elected. Mr. Wood sympathizes with them most warmly, and knight for them as he never fought for any other interest save his own. The other members of the Cabinet, if not so warm in the liquor-sellers' cause, are committed to it and to the redemption of Mr. Cameron's pledge. If ever the Licensed Victuallers are to be formidable, it is while they have the Government on their side.

From Cobourg.

Cobourg, Feb. 17, 1869.

The Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario met here yesterday. Bro. Right Worshipful M. Bowell, M. P., in the chair.

To-day the following officers were elected:
M. Bowell, M. P., W. M.
D. G. Hatton, Sen., D. M., Peterboro.
N. S. McDonald, Jr., D. M.
S. S. Peck, Treasurer, Minden.
A. J. Van Ingen, Secretary.
Dr Oronhyatekha, D. G. S.
Rev. W. Burns, G. C.
Dr. G. J. Potts, Lecturer.
Alex. Barr, G. D. C.

The next annual meeting of this Grand Lodge will be held in the Town of Belleville.—Intelligencer.

It is understood that the Commissioners have decided upon the tenders for the Intercolonial Railway, of which there had been no less than 200 given in. The first, second and fourth section have been let to Messrs. James and George Worthington, and the third section to Messrs

How to Save the Fourth Dollar.

(From Harper's Weekly)

"I hope every voter will remember," said Mr. Sneaker in his speech upon the Civil Service bill, "that out of every four dollars raised in taxes one dollar goes to the thieves!" That would seem to tell the story plainly enough. Twenty-five per cent. of the revenue of the country is stolen and wasted. If there be a more powerful practical argument for a system which should secure honesty and capacity in the civil service we do not know what is. And notwithstanding the immense part which patronage plays in our politics—for patronage is the power by which the gentlemen in parties, of whom we speak elsewhere, control their followers—we yet believe that most, certainly the best, of the men in public life would prefer to be relieved of the harassing consequences of the present appointing system.

There are probably to-day scores of thousands of incompetent persons armed with letters of introduction from local politicians, and with no other credentials than what is vaguely called party fidelity, who are hovering expectant and ready to pounce upon the offices upon the accession of General Grant. The immense majority of these who recommend these persons know nothing whatever about them. If they should urge a bank, or a merchant, or any man in any business to employ persons of whom they knew nothing, they would justly lose their reputation, not only as men of judgment, but as men of common honesty. Yet they hardly hesitate to recommend to the Government for lucrative and responsible positions persons whose names they have never heard before and which they forget the next moment.

All this confusion and folly and knavery by which every tax-payer in the country most grievously suffers and which in intolerable vex every man who interests himself, as every man, in politics, could be avoided by the very simple plan of introst the civil service to proved capacity and character. It is obvious that the great multitude of the people who wish to save every fourth dollar would be infinite gainers, and that those who are anxious to retain the present system are liable to the most damaging suspicions. All the hucksters in politics, all the rings, all those who mean to live dishonestly upon the public, will be warmly opposed to any change in the present shiftless and absurd method of filling the public service. To the victors belong the spoils, says some vehement partisan. But did the victors ever put an officer whom they had not proved in command of the captured city?

ROMAN CATHOLIC STATISTICS.

It appears on examination of the new "Roman Catholic Directory," published permissu superiorum, and under the sanction of Archbishop Manning, there are thirty peers of the three kingdoms and fifty baronets who profess the Roman Catholic faith, and also thirty-eight members of the House of Commons. There are now thirteen Romish "dioceses," including the "archdiocese" of Westminster, all of which, taken together, from the "Province" of Westminster, with Archbishop Manning at its head. Of the twelve "suffragans," there remain only two, Dr. Ullathorne, of Birmingham, and Dr. Brown, of Menevia and Newport, who were among the hierarchy revived by Pio Nono under Cardinal Wiseman in 1850. The other "suffragans" are Dr. Grant, of Southwark, Dr. Turner, of Salford, Dr. Brown, of Shrewsbury, Dr. Roskell, of Nottingham, Dr Gross, of Liverpool, Dr. Vaughan, of Plymouth, the Hon. Dr. Clifford, of Clifton, Dr. Amherst, of Northampton, Dr. Cornthwaite, of Beverley, and Dr. Chadwick, of Hexham. During the past year there have been no less than 63 Romish priests ordained in England and Wales, 56 belonging to the regular, and seven to the secular clergy. There 19 Roman Catholic Chaplains to the forces, including three "on half-pay." The total of Roman Catholic priests in England and Wales is given as 1,489, the number of churches, chapels, and "mission-stations" as 1,122; the monasteries, or convents of men, as 67; the nunneries, or convents of women, as 214; and the colleges as 18 in all, including some "preparatory colleges," or, as we should term them, school. Of the chapels in England and Wales, no less tan about 640 are registered for marriages, and, therefore, the "Directory" "says, may be regarded as parochial." The Roman Catholic Church in Scotland, it appears from the same authority, is presided over by four bishops, and geographically divided, not into "dioceses," but into "districts." These are three in number—the Eastern, the Western, and the Northern. These "districts" number 201 clergy, who serve 207 chapels and "mission stations." Besides these, there are in Scotland 18 convents for women and two colleges It may be in eresting to know that the list of Roman Catholic priests in 1769, just one hundred years ago, included only eight English and six Irish peers.

TORY DISSATISFACTION.

The Hamilton Times, one of the most zealous Reform journals in the Providence, exposes the hypocrisy of the Tory journals in their daily assaults upon Mr. Brown and the Globe. In referring to the tactics of the Tory papers our contemporary says:

"There is nothing Tory journals and Tories generally so ardently desire as the utter overthrow and disorganization of the Reform party, yet they have always been in the habit of mobbing and rioting at George like very shrews, because, according to their statements, he for years pursued a course that, while it defeated the Reform party, kept Tories in office; and now they assail him with more than former virulence, because they say the course pursued by the GLOBE in driving Reformers out of the ranks of the Reform party, over to the Tories, and that the result must be the entire disruption of the present Opposition. Now the fact is, that if the Tories believed their own statements—if they believed the GLOBE was doing the work ascribed to it, they would "rejoice with exceeding great joy," and would, by praising independence and wisdom of its policy, urge it to continue on its course, instead of assailing George Brown, and denouncing the GLOBE'S condemnation of bribery and treachery. The truth is, they have an intense hatred for George Brown, and no inexpressible dread of the power and influence of the GLOBE, and hence the torrents of invective they pour out upon both Mr. Brown and his journal. And what is more, they do not believe in the truth of their utterance, though they fain would convince Reformers to the contrary."

POST OFFICE ROBBED.—A telegram from Brighton of the 19th says. "The Campbellford post-office was robbed last night of its mail and the safe of the postmaster, Mr. J. M. Ferrin was rifled of about $1,000. No clue to the propetrators.

A NEW JERSEY LOVE STORY.

A bit of horse car romance happened a while ago to a conductor in Jersey City, beginning in a delicious flirtation with a bread-and-butter school girl of "sweet sixteen," and rising gradually through all the gradations of courtship, to a settled engagement of the loving pair, and a final elopement and marriage. It turned out, however that the girl had "sold" the conductor, who, for his part, imagined that he had won a splendid prize, and that the weary days of his horse-car drudgery were about to terminate for ever. It seems that the girl's head was full of yellow novels, that she lived in the atmosphere of runaway matches—of rich heiresses marrying young gentlemen—and so she persuaded herself that she was an heiress, and that her father was a Western millionaire, who had doomed her to the slavery of school life, when she ought to be enacting yellow literature dramas, and be the heroine of a stunning romance. The conductor was first caught by her luxuriant locks, and then by her rary yarns about her brother's fabulous possessions in the growing West.—And so the couple were married, the conductor borrowing the money wherewith to enslave them both until one of them should die. The young wife was met by her "husband" to her aunt in New York, to whom she blabbed the secret. Then the bright side of the future buttery was turned, and the dark side began to show itself. The girl's parents were made acquainted with the fact that their "gal" "Sal" had become a woman and a wife, and they hurried to New York and carried her off with them to the West. The husband went after her, and there learned that his wife's parents lived in a log house, and that "pa's chariot" was a wheelbarrow, and his "hoss" an old buck goat and a cow. The conductor returned to Jersey City, "a wiser and a sadder man." Last Friday evening, as he was on his way to the city as a passenger on an Erie street car, and while he was good-humoredly taking with the driver on the front platform, the horses gave a sudden leap, and he was hurried overboard, and ran over and killed.

IMPORTANT TO MAGISTRATES.—The following clause in the Law Reform Act of 1868, passed the 19th December last, should be known by all Magistrates: "In amendment of sections one and four, one hundred and twenty four of the Consolidated Statutes of Upper Canada entitled, "An Act respecting the Returns of Convictions and Fines by Justices of the Peace and of fines levied by Sheriffs," It is enacted that the returns of convictions and fines by Justices of the Peace therein mentioned shall henceforth be made to the Clerks of the Peace instead of the Courts of Quarter Sessions, and shall be made quarterly on or before the second Tuesday in the months of March, and June, September and December in each year, and shall embrace in every instance, all convictions not embraced in some previous returns, and shall be published and fixed up by the Clerks of the Peace in the manner in said fourth section provided within two weeks after the times hereby limited for the making of such returns: and in amendment of section five of the said Act, the words "Minister of Finance of the Province shall be struck out of said section, and the words "Treasurer of Ontario" inserted in their place.

It is some time since we heard anything of that stupendous undertaking the Mont Cenis tunnel. A Paris correspondent says: A few months more and the railway lines of France and Italy will unite beneath a mountain of 1,600 metres high. It is dreadfully slow work, as the tunnel has to be pierced through dreadfully hard greenish-grey sandstone, mixed with quartz; 1,320 metres were hollowed out last year, at the rate of 110 a month. The tunnel is to be 12 220 metres in length; 9,166 metres of the work are already completed—3,363 on the Italian side, and 5,803 on the French; the remaining 3,054 metres will take about 27 or 28 months to accomplish; so we may reasonably hope that by March or April, 1871, this stupendous work will be completed, and the railway joining the Victor Emmanuel and the Piedmontese lines will be opened by the end of the year.

SUDDEN DISAPPEARANCE.—Our Town was thrown in quite an excitement on Saturday morning, the 13th inst, when it was learned that G. H. Phippen who has been dealing rather largely in the dry good trade in this place for the last four months, suddenly took his departure for the States, carrying with him it is thought about $12,000, leaving the remainder of his goods for the benefit of his numerous creditors, the shop was closed by the Sheriff, and after taking stock it is found that the amount of goods will not reach $4,000, and that his liabilities are some $14,000, thus leaving his creditors 8 cents on the dollar or thereabouts.—Napanee Standard.

Pummelling newspaper men is becoming a popular amusement in Canada. A short time ago a Brantford Editor was beaten; then a Bruce editor received a pounding. The other day Mr. Somerville of the Dundas True Banner, was brutally assaulted by a town councillor named Pirie. And lastly, the Globe's corresponding at Ottawa was trounced by a hot-headed Irishman, respecting whom he was accused of not telling the truth. The Toronto Telegraph says that an editor fighter who visited that office the other day on a hostile errand, was thrown down an 18 foot staircase which effectually took the fight out of him. Sherbrooke Gazette.

Intemperance is the great national vice of Sweden. It has become so alarming that the legislature is called upon to interfere. Even the victims, it is said, join in the cry. The king of Sweden sympathises with the temperance men, but hesitates to act. The agitators call for a statute rigidly prohibiting the manufacture of liquor.

DIED.

Suddenly, at Hamilton, on the 20th inst., Charlotte Annie, youngest daughter of Mr. Robert Johnston, Merchant of Peterboro, aged 22 years.

Miss Johnston had been on a visit to Mr. Thos. White's, formerly of this town, and had been as well as usual, and on Saturday morning was enjoying herself with the rest of the family, when she suddenly complained of giddiness, and died in about twenty minutes. The blow will be severely felt by her friends. Her remains were brought to Peterboro and interred on Tuesday.

At Peterboro, on the 14th inst., Mr. Edward Fry, aged 64 years.

Deceased was a native of Barry, County of Longford, Ireland; and came to this country in 1826. He settled in this Town in the year 1832, where he commenced the Cabinet Making business, which he carried on till the time of his death. He was much respected by all who knew him, and his remains were followed to the Little Lake Cemetry by a large procession of sorrowing friends and relatives. He leaves a widow and large family to mourn his loss.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Peterborough, February 25, 1869.

Flour ₱ bbl	$4 50	@	$5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0 95	@	1 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0 90	@	0 95
Peas "	0 75	@	0 80
Barley "	0 90	@	1 00
Oats "	0 55	@	0 58
Potatoes "	0 40	@	0 45
Hay ₱ ton	9 00	@	11 00
Hides ₱ cwt	6 00	@	6 50
Beef ₱ cwt	6 00	@	7 50
Sheepskins	1 00	@	1 00
Wool ₱ lb	0 20	@	0 21
Pork ₱ cwt	7 50	@	10 50
Eggs, per dozen	0 15	@	0 20
Butter, "	0 18	@	0 20
Cordwood	2 50	@	0 00
Fowl, per pair	0 20	@	0 30
Geese	0 40	@	0 50
Turkeys	0 40	@	1 00

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL Pain and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICES:—215 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1yr

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, br lass, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, billious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hoey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞ Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

☞ For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine Agents for Peterborough—Messrs Kempt, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr. Bell.

Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or Cough and Voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25cts per box.

IAMATOLOGIA!

THE LUMBER TRADE.—We cannot deny that we are suffering severely in our lumber regions for want of a market for coarse lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have not made any purchase in the Province the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe we can't ship it to England, but serious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, burns, bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign market for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

It is very painful to see so many public men whose desires compel them to sacrifice their health to the interests of their profession and the public. How many clergymen there are whose usefulness is marred by diseases of the larynx and bronchial How many public men there are who feel that they could command the masses much better if they had the strength of lungs and ample voice which were so useful to them at the beginning of their career! And yet those misfortunes may be remedied by recourse to the Great Shoshonees Remedy, now for sale by all druggists.

Occult Science

DEMONSTRATED.

MARVELLOUS ACHIEVEMENTS OF ANIMAL MAGNETISM.

WONDERS OF UNPONDERABLE AGENCY.

Messrs. Ruttley & Andrus,

Healers of

CHRONIC DISEASES,

Have taken Parlors in the Commercial Hotel, Peterboro,

For a limited time.

Read the following Affidavits:

County of York.

I, Theresa Bedley, of 86 George St., Toronto, make oath and say:—My child, Henry Bedley, aged six years, has for the past three years been nearly deaf; he was treated three times by Messrs Ruttley & Andrus, who perfectly restored his hearing. I can confidently recommend the doctors

THERESA BEDLEY.

Sworn before me this 8th day of January, '68—Wm. Grant, Commissioner.

County of Perth.

Michael Mulligan, of the village of Carrobrook, being duly sworn, doth depose and say, that he had suffered from Paralysis for ten months, his foot being so dead he burnt a sock on it to cinder, feeling neither heat or pain; was perfectly cured with two treatments.

Sworn before me this third day of August, '64—Jas. Hall, Commissioner in Q. B.

N.B.—This case was made four years ago, and remains until this day.

County of York, City of Toronto.

Personally appeared before me, A. McNabb, Police Magistrate, Mrs. Nancy Johnson, of 334 Elizabeth street, who being duly sworn, doth depose and say, that she has been now 31 years of age; that she has suffered from Asthma from her earliest recollection; was treated twice by Messrs. Ruttley & Andrus about six weeks ago; has since took a severe cold, but has had no symptom whatever of Asthma. Considers herself perfectly cured.

Sworn before me this 22nd day of Jan., 1869.

A. McNABB,
Police Magistrate.

(Signed) Nancy Johnson.

County of Brant, Town of Brantford.

I, Rachel Brooks, residence next door to Cockshut's wood-yard, make oath and say, that four years ago, I was stricken down in the public market, with a total paralysis of my right side. I was perfectly cured by five minutes treatment, in Kerr's Music Hall, by Mr. Ruttley, I am 79 years of age.

Sworn before me this 4th day of Dec., 1868., James Weyms, Police Magistrate.
(Signed) Rachel Brooks.

The Blind Seo.

Mary Ann Fisher, totally blind for three months from Egyptian Ophtalmia and opacity of the cornea—sight perfectly restored in a few days, and has remained good for twelve months. Reference to Rev. S. Tweedale, a distinguished clergyman of the Church of England.

Please call at our parlors and see this clergyman's letter.

Messrs Ruttley & Andrus brought one John L. Ellis into their office, who has been deaf and dumb for eleven years; has never been known to hear anything since infancy, who is now fourteen years of age next month, can now hear a watch tick six inches from his ear, has been in the Hamilton Deaf and Dumb Asylum for four years, and is well educated. Residence, 132 Terauley street, Toronto. Witness to the above, Jas. Ellis, grandfather of the said John C. Ellis, and Clery Martin, his uncle.—Leader, Jan. 8th, 1869.

Mrs. L. E. Irish was cured four years ago of one of the largest Ovarian Tumors that ever afflicted womankind.

Mrs. Harrison was cured of a Cancer three years ago.

Miss M. Tracay, cured of blindness from aggravated scrofula.

Please call and see their letters proving the facts.

Messrs. Ruttley & Andrus do not profess to cure all diseases flesh is heir to; they only profess to cure curable diseases.

MESSRS. RUTTLEY & ANDRUS,
Commercial Hotel,
Peterboro, February 23, 1869. 8

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, trembling, cough, indigestion, low spirits frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and self-administered to the child drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N B—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 22

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the congestible lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the diseased vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. HURD, Successor to Hurd & Co.,
Malden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canadas
PRICE THIRTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
Sole Agents for Canada.
87

New Advertisements.

"Twa Nichts at Hame."

MUSIC HALL,

MONDAY AND TUESDAY,

8th and 9th March.

Last Appearance prior to departure for California.

Kennedy's Songs of Scotland.

In addition to a choice selection of Songs, Mr. KENNEDY will recite

"WATTY AND MEG,"

Or How to Cure a Scolding Wife.

PIANO-FORTE, - MISS KENNEDY.

Admission 25 cts, Reserved Seats 50 cts.

Tickets can be had at the door. Doors open at 7, commence at 8.

Peterboro, Feb. 24, 1869. 8-2in

NOTICE!

WE hereby respectfully request all parties indebted to us, to call and settle their accounts without delay, as money is much wanted and must be had.

I. ROBINSON & Co

Peterboro, Feb. 24, 1869. 8-4in

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Senior Board of Instruction of the Peterboro' Western Circuit, for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

In the Town of Peterborough, on

Thursday, June 3rd, 1869.

Commencing at 10 a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1868. 2

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Apply to
FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 49

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to C. A. WELLER.
Peterboro, August 20. 1868. 32-tf

FOR SALE!

At ALLANDALE MILLS,

Twenty Tons of Mill Feed,

Deliverable at the Mills or in Peterboro.

THOS. SHORT, Agent.
Allendale Mills, Feb. 24, 1869. 8-tf

THESPIANS!

In the Music Hall,

Thursday Even'g, Feb. 25, 1869.

THREE SIDE-SPLITTING FARCES.

The Kiss in the Dark!

SLASHER AND CRASHER.

THE LIMERICK BOY!

February 17, 1869. 7-3in

NOTICE!

ALL persons having any claims against the Municipality of Burleigh, Anstruther, &c., are hereby requested to furnish a statement of such claim, and the nature thereof, forthwith, to the Reeve.

Address, Chandos Post Office.

S. W. CLEGG,
Reeve of Burleigh, &c.

January 27, 1869. 4

PORK!

50 BLS. MESS and 150 BLS. PRIME MESS, for sale at

WALTER BEAL'S,
(J. Carnegie's) old stand, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Peterboro, January 27, 1869. 4-3in

SITUATION WANTED!

BY A LOWER CANADIAN, who speaks both French and English fluently; has had a long experience in the Grocery business, and understands Photography. Recommendations given if required. Apply at this office.

Peterboro, Feb. 10, 1869. 6

Galway Mining Company.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Dividend at the rate of Thirty per cent per annum, for the half year ending 18th January, 1869, has been declared on the capital paid in at that date, and that the same is payable at the Office of the Company, at Peterborough, on and after Monday, the Fifteenth day of February, 1869.

By order of the Directors

JOHN BURNHAM,
Secretary & Treasurer.

Peterborough February 1, 1869. 6-2in

PRUNES, PRUNES—A superior article.

DRIED APPLES!

ORANGES and LEMONS!

At A. HALL'S,
George street.

Peterboro, Feb. 3rd, 1869. 5 2in

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Omemee and Peterboro. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterboro, January 13, 1869. 3

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

ABSTRACT

From the Yearly Statement of Receipts and Expenditure

OF THE PETERBOROUGH

GRAMMAR AND UNION SCHOOL,

FOR THE YEAR 1868.

RECEIPTS.			EXPENDITURE.
Balance, cash on hands from 1867		$ 544 00	Salaries—Grammar School	$1444 38
Grants—Grammar School	$317 50		do Common School	2409 17
do Common School	294 00	1211 50	do Other	300 00	$4153 55
Assessment		3024 00	General Expenses		227 85
School Fees		1090 63	Firewood		275 80
Balance on promissory notes discounted		100 00	Discounts		80 53
			Furniture		29 84
			Repairs		78 00
			Insurance		60 00
			Rents		40 00
			Balance cash on hands		264 85
		$5910 13			$5910 13

The above abstract is correct.

J. EDWARDS,
EDW. PEARSE, } Auditors.

Peterborough, February 20th, 1869.

Great Bargains

IN

FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR,

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2 75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

W. WADDELL

Has in stock a Splendid Assortment of

CARRIAGE HARNESS,

Silver and Japanned Mounted. Also

HEAVY TEAM HARNESS,

Made of the very best material.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's RIDING SADDLES, BRIDLES, WHIPS, SPURS, &c.

In addition to the above he has the largest and best stock of

TRUNKS, VALISES AND TRAVELLING BAGS

In Peterborough, at prices to suit purchasers, and everything usually kept in a First Class Saddlery.

Children's Carriages

From $8.00 each to $15.00.

Remember the place, next door to Mr. Wm. Coulter's Drug Store, and directly opposite Geo. Stethem & Co's Hardware Store.

Frank Millar's and Harris's Harness Blacking

Kept constantly on hand.

Peterboro, July 22, 1868. 30

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

W. G. THOMSON & Co's

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞ INSPECTION INVITED. ☜

Peterboro, Sept, 30, 1868. 40

NOTICE!

THE next meeting of the Board of Instruction for the Eastern circuit of the County of Peterboro, for the examination of Teachers will be held in the School House at Norwood,

On Thursday, May 29, 1869,

At 10 o'clock, a. m.

N.B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

By order
W. E. ROXBURGH,
Secretary

Norwood, Jan'y 30th, 1869. 5-td

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale that Valuable Farm, the South half of Lot No. 24 in the 13th concession of Smith.

There are 98 acres of good tillable land, nine acres of which are in woods. There is a good Log House on the property; also, Stables and Barn, and an Orchard beginning to bear.—There is also a good Well near the dwelling. It is situated 4½ miles from the Village of Lakefield. There is a Blacksmith Shop, a Store and a Post Office on the Lot.

For further particulars apply to

THOS. HOULIHAN,

Selwyn P. O., On the premises.

Smith, January 27, 1869. 4

TO THE WORKING CLASS. I am now prepared to furnish constant employment to all classes at their homes, for their spare months. Business new, light and profitable. Fifty cents to $5 per evening is easily earned, and the boys and girls earn nearly as much as men. Great inducements are offered. All who see this notice please send me their address and test the business for themselves.—If not well satisfied I will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing to me. Full particulars sent free. Sample sent by mail for ten cents in stamps. Address

E. C. ALLEN, Augusta, Me

8-4in

VALUABLE PROPERTY

FOR SALE,

IN THE VILLAGE OF ASHBURNHAM.

THE subscriber offers for sale the valuable property on which he at present resides, being Lot No. 4, North of Elizabeth street, consisting of half an acre of land, on which are two Dwelling Houses, Stables and Sheds attached. There is a good well of water, and the Lot is pleasantly situated on the main street. It will be sold in whole or in parts to suit purchasers. Title Perfect.

Apply to the owner on the premises.

P. SARGENT.

Or at this office.

Ashburnham, Jan. 13, 1869. 2-tf

Houses and Lots for Sale!

THAT Commodious Stone Dwelling House and Lot on Brock street, not far from the Commercial House, Peterboro.

Also, the Lot on Mark street, Ashburnham, at present occupied by the owner, will be sold on moderate terms. For particulars apply to

MARIA FOSTER,
Ashburnham.

January, 19th, 1869. 3

CAUTION.

I HEREBY CAUTION THE PUBLIC against purchasing a note of hand made by the undersigned in favor of Mathewson & Co., of Montreal, dated 4th February, 1867, payable at 18 months after date, for $102, as I have settled and hold a receipt for the same.

W. ROBB,
Asphodel.

Asphodel, Jan. 23, 1869. 4-3in*

FOR SALE.

100,000 Brick.

STEPHEN WOOD.

Otonabee, January 12, 1869. 2tf

A CARD.

J. W. GILMOUR has much pleasure in hereby with returning thanks to his Friends and the Public generally, in Peterborough and its vicinity, for the liberal patronage with which they have favored him. He takes this means to inform the same that he has made arrangements to a Partnership with Dr. W. H. TAYLOR, of Montreal—a gentleman thoroughly trained to the business of Chemist and Druggist, in old and well known Establishments in that City, and who has also been in the Practice of his Medical Profession there for more than ten years—but has been obliged to relinquish its onerous duties on account of failing health. Dr. Taylor has already entered on his duties here, and will devote his time more especially to the preparation of Physicians' Prescriptions and family Recipes, and other wise will co-operate with me in the general management of the business. The Public may rely upon having not only a careful but a skilful attention to their requirements in this department. Nothing but Pure and Genuine Drugs will be selected, and a full assortment of the Official Preparations of the British and Canadian Pharmacopœia will constantly be kept on hand. With these additions to the business I am successfully carrying on the same, and Subscriber respectfully solicits a continuance of the Liberal Patronage hitherto bestowed upon him.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Corner of George and Hunter Streets.

Peterboro, Jan 27, 1869. 4-tf

NEW HARNESS SHOP,

In the Village of Lakefield.

THE undersigned beg to inform the inhabitants of Lakefield and surrounding country, that they have opened out the above shop and are prepared to supply all orders in their line as cheap as can be supplied in Peterboro or elsewhere.

Harness of all Description and Styles,

And at best Workmanship and Material always on hand, or made to order.

The public will find it to their advantage to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place,

Directly opposite Mr. John Sherrit's.

SHORTLY & HARPER.

Lakefield, Oct. 14, 1868. 42-13in

Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

ORMOND & WALSH,

Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very liberal patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is complete with Drugs and Chymicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would particularly impress upon their Friends and the Public generally, the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent but also responsible for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labelled.

The undersigned being fully impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug Store, beg to assure their customers that Physicians prescriptions and family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for faithfulness and correctness as to their requirements. Their Stock consists of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a respectable Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Coal Oil, Coal Lamps, &c., &c.

Poetry.

THE EDITOR'S SONG.

The editor sits at his table
Writing as well as he's able,
Paragraphs, leader and puff;
His scissors beside him are lying,
While he is in agony trying,
To copy to furnish enough.

Toil, toil, toil!
What a weary life is mine!
Wasting the precious midnight oil
On leader and column and line.
Working from morn till night,
Working from night till morn.
Oh! who was that steam press ever made,
Oh! why was the editor born?

Toil, toil, toil!
And whose is the gain when won?
Whose are the trophies we achieve?
And for whom are the laurels won?
To stand in the foremost rank
Of each hard fought party fray,
To toil and toil and only get
Abuse and neglect for pay.

Toil, toil, toil!
What a thankless task is ours,
To bake the bread and press the cheese
That Senator Jones devours!
To sit on a three-legged stool,
While others have hair-stuffed seats,
To prepare the hash and cook the stew,
But never taste the meats!

Toil, toil, toil!
As the constant drop on the stone
So the ceaseless, endless work,
Wears away body and soul!
Though the poet splutter and write
Though the orator bully and brawl,
If it were not for the editor's pen,
What were the use of it all?

Toil, toil, toil!
Christians, Mormons and Jews,
Is there a man on this weary earth,
But grows richer by reading the news?
Richer, richer, richer,
As they read it by sunlight and taper,
And yet there isn't a soul of them all
But grudges to pay for his paper.

Toil, toil, toil!
There's a row in the very next street!
Somebody is going to murder his wife,
And I must be first out.
Yesterday at this time,
Two policemen got choked in a riot;
And as it goes from morning till night,
And an editor never knows quiet.

Selections.

AN EXTRAORDINARY DOG FIGHT.—A correspondent of Wilke's Spirit, writing from Logansville, Penn., tells the following story, which he says is vouched for by some of the most respectable citizens in that neighborhood:—"The victor in the singular contest was Jacob Karstetter, Esq., an old resident of the country, and who is well known for his unerring aim strong nerve and great endurance. He served in the late war from beginning to end, and, although beyond the age required by law, he offered his services from pure love of adventure and patriotism. He is a man of wealth, and consequently not a hireling soldier. But now to the fight.—He was rather rude to a dog owned by a sporting man, who told him he had better take care or the dog would bite him. The dog was a large bull, and uncommonly ferocious. The gentleman remarked, he would bet $5 that he could get down on all fours, fight and whip the dog, dog fashion, and not touch him with his hands. The bet was taken at once. Down went Karstetter, who commenced a series of growls, and made a forward motion toward the dog. The dog, seconded and biased by his owner, at once opened the fight, neither intimidated nor frightened by the unearthly growls, shouts, snarls and exclamations of his antagonist, but seizing him by the left cheek drew first blood in good style. After a moment Karstetter got the upper hold and changed the base. He actually got the dog by the ear, and shook him so severely that the dog cried out with terror, and after he had sufficiently punished his tormentor let him go, when he made off as fast as his legs would carry him, howling with pain."

A good story—but, of course, utterly untrue—is now circulating among the wits at the expense of two great poets. Tennyson, whose manners are said to be far from polished and polite, was sitting one day with his feet on a table, when his friend, seeing some people approaching, suddenly called out, "My dear Tennyson, pray take down your feet! People will think that you are that American, Longfellow."

A leading Massachusetts lawyer appeared before the Legislative Committee on Railways a few days ago, and made a forcible and eloquent argument on behalf of the New Bedford Railroad. At its conclusion, the chairman struck him dumb by remarking: "I believe you appear for the Providence Road." He had been advocating the cause he had been retained to oppose.

A negro had a severe attack of rheumatism, which finally settled in his foot. He bathed it, he rubbed it, and swathed it, but all to no purpose. Finally, tearing away the bandage, he stuck it out, and, with a shake of his fist over it, exclaimed: "Ache away, den, ole feller, ache away; I shan't do nuffin more for yer; dis chile can stan' it as long as you ken; so ache away!"

"William, thee knows I never call anybody names; but William, if the mayor of the city were to come to me, and say, Joshua, I want thee to find me the biggest liar in all Philadelphia, I would come to thee, and put my hand on thy shoulder, and say to thee, 'William the mayor wants to see thee.'"

"Fourpence apiece for eggs! Why, in my own country I could get a dozen for that money". The speaker came from Ireland, in reply to the question why he did not remain in Ireland, where prices were so low—"Ah, sir, eggs are plenty, but fourpences are scarce."

Some beautiful "spiritual manifestations" at Greenfield, Mass.—weird music on a piano at the dead of night—created a great tremor and sensation in the family, which were spoiled when it was discovered next morning that the cat had been innocently walking over the keys.

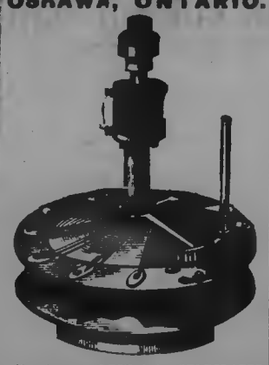
A PERFECT CURE.—Town man—"How jolly it must be living down here in the country!" Country gentleman—"Oh, I don't know. It's rather a torpid sort of life; time passes very slowly." Town man—"Time passes slowly? You should get somebody to draw on you at three months!"—Punch.

A Judge said to a toper on trial for drunkenness: "Prisoner you have heard the complaint for habitual drunkenness; what have you to say in your defence?" "Nothing, please your Honor, but habitual thirst."

Not having heard from the debating societies in relation to the conundrum, "Why do hens always lay eggs in the day time?" a contemporary answers, "Because at night they are roosters."

By a thoughtful, but henpecked, old boy: In our schooldays, the "rule of three" is proverbially trying—how much harder, in after life, do we feel the rule of "one!"

JOSEPH HALL
MACHINE WORKS!
ESTABLISHED 1851.
JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.
PROPRIETORS,
OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Dec. 25th, 1866.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patterns, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us thereon. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞ We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Sawrigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.
Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-13in

THE ÆTNA
LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co, Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq, Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq, Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq, Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq, Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Sole Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro. Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't.
P. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phenix Insurance Company,
BROOKLYN, N. Y.
OFFICES:
No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.
CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,
With a large and constantly increasing surplus.
Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 18, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams; and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 3, 1868. 50

VALUABLE PROPERTY
FOR SALE,
On Aylmer Street, Peterborough.

WILL be sold by AUCTION, on SATURDAY, 27th of February, 1869, at one o'clock, the

MACHINE SHOP,

Steam Engine, Shafting and Machinery, with 80 feet frontage of Lot on Aylmer street, either in whole or in part to suit purchasers.

Terms made known at time of sale, and all information given to intending buyers.

The above premises are well adapted for all kinds of trades.

Title indisputable.

For further information apply to
WILLIAM MALCOM.

Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to
T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26, 1868. 48

READY-MADE CLOTHING
OFFERING
VERY CHEAP
AT THE
MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats,
Winter Sack Coats,
Winter Shooting Coats,
Winter Pants and Winter Vests.

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

☞ BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterboro, January, 1869. 3

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.
OF THE
BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!
and where customers may rely on getting
GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

A Fresh Supply of
Cloths, Tweeds, Flannels,
BLANKETS,
DRESS GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FURS,
CARPETS,
And a small lot of very choice BUFFALO ROBES.
Just received by
I. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, October 21, 1868. 43

PHOTOGRAPHY!
FOR GOOD PICTURES
GO TO THE
ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take
BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,
From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.
If you want a
GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,
Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.
A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases
Kept constantly on hand.
Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter Street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,
MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN
BOOTS AND SHOES!
George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lannin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of
Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,
For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.
A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.
CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.
All Work Warranted.
A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.
J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and Knitting Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 26, 1868. 19-tf

JOHN BERTRAM,
Importer and Dealer in
BAR, ROD, HOOP & SHEET IRON
SLEIGH SHOE & CAST STEEL,
Anvils, Bellows, Stocks and Dies; Hand, Sledge and Shoeing Hammers. Jowett & Firth's
Horse Rasps and Files,
Carriage Bolts made from Best Refined Iron Proved Logging Chains, Tuttles Patent, Flint's Morlands & Robertson's Cross-Cut Saws, Machine Saws, Warranted Steelyards, Hay Knives,
Broad and Narrow Axes.
A complete Stock Hand Saws, Chisels, Gouges, Planes, Spirit Levels, and all kinds of Carpenters' Tools.
Pale Seal Oil, Leather Belting, Russian Hemp Rope.
Table and Pocket Cutlery, Electroplated and Albata Plate Spoons and Forks, E. P. Cruets, Cake Baskets, &c.,
JUST RECEIVED from Roswick-on-Tweed, 40 DOZEN of BLACK'S
Cast Steel Spades and Draining Tools
unsurpassed in quality.

JOHN BERTRAM,
Hardware Merchant, Peterborough.

Jan. 6th 1869. 3-tf

MILLER'S
Infallible Tick Destroyer
FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 75c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co.,
Proprietors.
167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.
Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.
Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and
Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,
Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prize, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money to Loan,
ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

Money! Money!
MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers,

Apply to J. A. HALL,
At the Court House

Peterboro', May 8th, 1867 19

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

BARLEY, OATS,
PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the
HIGHEST CASH PRICE
For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from R. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said R. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

A HANDSOME
Christmas Gift.

AS Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your———, or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's., $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $25. Ditto with stand $33. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $45 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $45.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the
NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;
Fancy Goods, suitable for
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,
In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;
PAPER AND ENVELOPES
Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;
Account and Blank Books;
ROOM PAPER
Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;
ALBUMS
In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.
The principal
DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS
And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!
EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the
FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.
Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.
Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.
SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.
Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.
A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.
Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Picnic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting.
Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

DOMINION HOUSE,
PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of
WINTER DRY GOODS,
At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of
PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.
Also, a Complete Assortment of
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,
VERY CHEAP.
THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,
Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in
JACKETS AND MANTLES.
An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.
☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, January, 1869. 53

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of
PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,
Paints, Oils,
DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,
Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.
PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS
Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 2-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. McFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of
PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES
TOGETHER WITH
Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,
SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,
Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.
Also, a complete assortment of
LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

FUR SHOP REMOVED.
MR. LECH
HAS REMOVED
One Door north of Mr. Lannin's Tin Shop.

Parties desirous of having their furs well will please leave them at Mr. Lech's residence, London street, No. 4.

Highest Prices paid for all kinds of Raw Furs.

WILLIAM LECH.

Peterboro, April 1, 1867. 14

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE
OF
CONSUMPTION!
IN CANADA.

MESSRS YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different receipes, but all without any good effect. Squire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottles at once, with the Pills; so soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished the complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing its use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER U. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman Peter U. V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.

SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy for all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. H. GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
U. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Bruce.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSHINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENLS, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MEIGS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BREADON, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Coaticook.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MUSSY, M. D., Boston.
W. MARMION, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
* E. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c., &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID
Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely grey, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents
ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

NOT QUITE SO.

"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected;" but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which has done more than any thing else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their beasts the sufferers, to avoid both use "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine," and you will be satisfied with the result.

Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurld & Co. is on each package.

Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all Medicine Dealers 18

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—The North half of No. 4, in the 4th Concession of Eastnorth.

Apply to
JAS. HALL.

Peterboro', Feb'y 18, 1868.

MARCH

1869

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1869. No. 9.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars, Handbills, Funeral Cards, Invitations, Bill Headings, Horse Bills, Show Bills, Concert Bills, Programmes, Posters, Stage Bills, Business Cards, Blanks, &c. with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing

☞ Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY. Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

C. A. Weller. (47) D. G. Hatton.

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,

BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 29

SCOTT & GREEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

WILLIAM HENDRIE SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY at LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Clinton's, George street, Peterborough.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

DENNISTOUN, FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

BARRISTERS, &c.,

Hunter Street, Peterborough.

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,

SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,

Conveyancers, &c.,

Peterborough, Ontario.

R. B. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN,

Keene

J. SULLIVAN, M.D., L.R.C.P.S., I

Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR. Coroner for County of Peterborough. Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 31-tf

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and

LICENTIATE

Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.

Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.

December 16, 1863. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,

Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.

Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.

Ashburnham, October 13, 1867. 43

J. W. GILMOUR,

DRUGGIST, Chemist and Seedsman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

W. COULTER, PETERSBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.

Cavan and Bridge, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.

Nov. 17, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 30

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.

Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 30

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Business Directory.

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand. ☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, Paperhanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.

Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C. W.

Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO,

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits.

A SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.

FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.

Wm. OGILVY, Agent.

Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,

PETERBOROUGH.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

From this date until further notice, the rate of interest in the above department will be

FIVE PER CENT.

PER ANNUM.

D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.

Peterboro', April 1st, 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.

ALL payments to be made on account of the ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!

MAY BE MADE TO THE

Royal Canadian Bank

And Its Agencies.

E. B. WOOD, Treasurer of Ontario.

Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,

TOBACCONIST,

George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

March 12, 1868. 11-1y

GEORGE ALLEN,

GUN & WHITE-SMITH,

Hunter Street, Peterborough,

BEGS to inform the public, that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and White-smithing. Sawing Machines also neatly repaired.

☞ Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.

Peterboro, October 25, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,

DENTIST,

Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.

D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodians of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodian, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.

Peterboro', February 8, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain

D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.

Peterboro, November 28 1866. 48

REMOVAL.

DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hazlitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.

Peterboro, July 8, 1868. 2

R. S. HOWELL,

FORWARDER,

Commission Merchant,

AND

GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,

Dealer in Lumber, &c.,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 36

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE

LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,

AND

Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Lindsay, Depart	9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive	1 10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart	3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	4.25 "
Lindsay, Arrive	6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Lindsay, Depart	12 35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive	4 20 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart	5.45 p. m.
Millbrook	7 20
Lindsay, Arrive	9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Peterborough, Depart	3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	4.20 "
Port Hope, Arrive	5.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart	10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	11.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive	12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Peterborough, Depart	5 30 a. m.
Millbrook	6 20 "
Port Hope, Arrive	8.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart	1.15 p. m.
Millbrook	2.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive	3.20 "

A. T. WILLIAMS, Superintendent.

May 20, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

TRAINS LEAVE

PORT HOPE STATION

AS FOLLOWS:

GOING EAST.

Express (day)	9.30 a.m.
Mixed	7.00 p.m.
Express (night)	9.20 p.m.

GOING WEST.

Express (night)	10.30 p.m.
Mixed	3.00 p.m.
Express (day)	10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

OF CANADA.

TORONTO LINE.

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 9.50 p.m. and 6.55 p.m. Express at 12 55 p.m.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.50 a.m. and 2.25 p.m. Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME

IN THE

Norwood and Peterboro'

STAGE.

ROYAL MAIL LINE!

LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a m.

LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.

Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates

J. A. JOHNSON, Proprietor

Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.

Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.

Rates of Passage from Peterboro':

CABIN, - - $74 to $88. STEERAGE - - $30.

Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.

For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to

GEORGE A. COX, Agent. Canadian Express Co'y.

Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,

No. 20 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.

JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.

This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Depots, Steamboat Landings and Wholesale Stores of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞ Rate $1.25 per Day. 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,

WALTON STREET,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.

Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Poetry.

LOVE LIGHTENS LABOR.

A good wife rose from her bed one morn,
And though with a nervous dread
Of the piles of clothes to be washed, and more
Than a dozen mouths to be fed.
There's the meals to get ready for the men in the field,
And the children to fix away
To school; the milk to be skimmed and churned,
And all to be done this day.

It had rained in the night, and all the wood
Was as wet as wet could be;
There were puddings and pies to bake, beside
A loaf of cake for tea.
And the day was hot, and her aching head
Throbbed wearily as she said,
"If maidens but knew what good wives know,
They would be in no haste to wed!"

"Jennie, what do you think I told Ben Brown?"
Called the farmer from the well;
And a flush crept up from his brousad brow
And his eyes half bashfully fell:
"It was idle," he said,—and coming near,
He smiled, and stooping down,
Kissed her cheek—'twas this; that you were the best
And the dearest wife in town!

The farmer went back to his field, and the wife
In a smiling and absent way,
Sang snatches of tender little songs
She'd not sung for many a day.
The pain in her head was gone, and the clothes
Were white as the foam of the sea;
Her bread was light, and her butter was sweet,
And as golden as it could be.

"Just think," the children all called in a breath,
"Tom Jones has run off to sea!
He wouldn't we know, if he only had
As happy a home as we."
The night came down, and the good wife smiled
To herself as she softly said,
"Tis so sweet to labor for those we love
It's not strange that maids will wed!"

Selections.

How we Kept Thanksgiving at Old Town in the Times of 1780 and Onward.

BY MRS. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

People have often supposed that because the Puritans founded a society where there were no public amusements that there was, therefore, no fun going on in the ancient land of Israel, and that there were no cakes and ale, because they were virtuous. They were never more mistaken in their lives.—There was an abundance of sober, well considered merriment, and the hinges of life were well oiled with a sort of secret humor, such as to this day gives the raciness to real Yankee wit.

Besides this, we must remember that life itself is the greatest possible amusement to people who really believe they can do much of anything with it—who have that intense sense of what can be brought to pass by human effort, that was characteristic of the New-England Colonies.

To such it is not exactly proper to say that life is an amusement; but it certainly is an engrossing interest that takes the place of all amusements.

Looking over the world on a broad scale, have not public entertainments very generally been the sops thrown out by engrossing upper classes, to keep lower classes from inquiring too particularly into their rights, and to make them satisfied with a stone, when it was not quite convenient to give them bread? Wherever there is a class that is to be made content to be plundered of its rights, there is an abundance of fiddling and dancing, and amusements, public and private are in great requisition. It may also be set down, we think, as a general axiom, that people feel the need of amusements less and less precisely in proportion as they have solid reasons for being happy.

Our good Puritan fathers intended to form a state of society of such equality of conditions, to make means of securing the goods of life so free to all, that everybody should find abundant employment for their faculties in a prosperous seeking of their fortunes; hence, will they forbade theatres, operas, and dances, they made a state of unparalleled peace and prosperity, where one could go to sleep at all hours of day and night, with their house-doors wide open, without bolt or bar, yet without apprehension of any to molest or make afraid.

There were, however, some few accepted fêtes—Election-Day, when the Governor took his seat with pomp and rejoicing, and all the housewives outdid themselves in election cake; and one or two training-days, when all the children were refreshed and our military ardors quickened by the roll of drums, and the flash of steel bayonets, and by grand marching and evolutions, sometimes ending in that sublime act of military operation, a sham fight in which nobody was killed.

The Fourth of July took high rank after the Declaration of Independence, but the king and priest of all festivals was the autumnal Thanksgiving-Day.

When the apples were all gathered, and the cider all made, and the yellow pumpkins rolled in from many a hill in billows of gold; when the corn was husked, and the labors of the seasons done, and the warm, late days of Indian summer came in dreamy and calm and still, with just frost enough to crisp the ground of a morning, but with warm traces of benignant sunny hours at noon, there came over all the community a sort of genial repose of spirit—a sense of something accomplished, and of a new gold era mark made in advance on the calendar of life. And this deacon began to say to the minister, of a Sunday: "I s'pose it's about time for the Thanksgiving Proclamation."

Rural dressmakers about this time, were extremely busy in making up festival garments; for everybody's new dress of they were to have one at all, must appear on Thanksgiving-Day.

Aunt Keziah and Aunt Lois and my mother talked over their last summer's bonnets, and turned them round and round on their heads, discovering sagely of prospective ribbons and lininga, and of all the hundred bonnets that there were in the parish, and how they would probably appear after the Thanksgiving changes.

My grandmother, whose mind had long ceased to wander on such worldly vanities, was at this time offensively reminded by her daughters that her bonnet wasn't respectable, or it was announced to her that she must have a new gown.

Such were some of the distant horizon-gleams of the Thanksgiving festival.

We also felt its approach in all departments of the household—the conversations, at this time, beginning to turn on high and solemn culinary mysteries and receipts of wondrous power and virtue.

New modes of elaborating squash-pies and quince-tarts were now oftimes carefully discussed at the evening fireside by Aunt Lois and Keziah, and notes seriously compared with the experiences of certain other aunties of high repute in such matters.

I noticed that on these occasions their voices often fell into mysterious whispers, and that receipts of especial power and sanctity were communicated in tones so low as to escape the vulgar ear entirely.—I still remember, to this day, the solemn shake of the head with which my Aunt Lois conveyed to Miss Mehitable Rossiter the critical properties of mace, in relation to its powers of producing in corn-fritters a suggestive resemblance to oysters. Ours was an oyster-getting district, and that charming bivalve perfectly easy to come at, the interest of such an imitation can be accounted for only by the propensity of the human mind for works of art.

Forasmuch as a week before-hand, "we children" were employed in chopping mince for pies to a most wearisome fineness, in pounding cinnamon, allspice, and cloves in a great iguous-vitæ mortar; and the sound of this pounding and chopping re-echoed through all the rafters of the old house with a hearty and vigorous cheer, most refreshing to our spirits.

In those days there were none of the thousand ameliorations of the labors of housekeeping which have since arisen—no ground and prepared spices and sweet herbs—everything came into our hands in the rough and in bulk; and the reducing it into a state for use was deemed one of the appropriate labors of childhood. Even the very salt that we used in cooking was rock salt, which we were required to wash and dry, and pound and sift, before it came into a condition for use.

At other times of the year, we sometimes murmured at these labors, but those that were supposed to usher in the great Thanksgiving festival were always entered into with enthusiasm. There were signs of richness all around us—stoning of raisins, cutting of citron, slicing of candied orange peel—yet all these were only dawnings and intimations of what was coming, during the work of preparation, after the Governor's Proclamation had been read.

The glories of that Proclamation! We knew beforehand the Sunday that it was to be read, and walked to church with alacrity, filled with gorgeous and vague expectations. The cheering anticipation sustained us through, what seemed to us, the long waste of the sermon and prayers, and when at last, the auspicious moment approached, when the last quaver of the last hymn had died out, the whole house rippled with a general movement of complacency, and a satisfied smile of pleased expectation might be seen gleaming on all the faces of the young people, like a ray of sunshine through a garden of flowers.

Thanksgiving was now dawning! We children poked each other, and fairly giggled with unrepressed delight, as we listened to the crackle of the slowly unfolding document. That great sheet of paper impressed us as something supernatural, by reason of its mighty size, and by the broad seal of the State affixed thereto; and as the minister read therefrom, "In the name of His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts." A Proclamation—our ninth was with difficulty repressed by admonitory glances from our sympathetic elders.

Then, after a solemn enumeration of the benefits which the Commonwealth had that year received at the hands of Divine Providence, came at last the naming of the eventful day, and at the end of all the imposing heraldic words, God save the commonwealth of Massachusetts," and then, as the congregation broke up and dispersed, all went their several ways, with schemes of mirth and feasting in their heads.

And now came on the week in earnest. In the very wathes of the night preceding Monday morning, a preternatural stir below stairs and the thunder of the pounding barrel announced that the washing was to be got out of the way before daylight, so as to give ample scope and room enough for the more pleasing duties of the season.

The making of pies at this period assumed vast proportions that verged upon the sublime: pies were made by fifties and fifties and hundreds and made of everything on the earth, or under the earth. The pie is an English institution, which, planted on American soil, forthwith ran rampant, and burst forth into an untold variety of genera and species. Not merely the old traditional mince pie, but a thousand strictly American seedlings from the main stock, evinced the power of American housewifery of adapting old institutions to new uses. There were pumpkin pies, cranberry pies, huckleberry pies, dried-cherry pies, peach and plum pies, green-currant pies, custard pies, apple pies, mulberry-pudding pies, pies with squash, and pies without, pies adorned with all sorts of fanciful fittings, and architectural strips laid across and around, and otherwise varied, attested the boundless fertility of the feminine mind when once let loose in a given direction.

Fancy the heat and rigor of the great manufacturing, when Aunt Lois and Aunt Keziah, my mother and grandmother, all in ecstasies of creative inspiration, ran, bustled, and hurried, mixing, rolling, tasting, examining, alternately setting us children to work when anything could be made of us, and then shooing us all out of the kitchen when our misinformed childhood ventured to take too many liberties with sacred mysteries. Then out we would all fly at the kitchen-door, like sparks from out a blacksmith's window.

In the centre of the kitchen the jolly old oven roared daily, in great volcanic billows of flame, snapping and gurgling as if the old fellow entered with joyful sympathy into the frolic of the hour, and then his great heart being once warmed up, he brooded successively over generations of pies and cakes, till batteries, and dressers, and shelves were all loaded with a jostling abundance.

A great cold north chamber, where the sun never shone, and where in winter the snow sifted into the window-cracks, and ice and frost reigned with undisputed sway, was fitted up to be the storehouse of these surplus treasures. There, frozen solid, and thus well preserved in their icy fetters, they formed a great repository for all the winter stores; and the pies baked at Thanksgiving often came out fresh and good with the violets of April.

During this eventful preparation week, all the female part of my grandmother's house-hold, as I have before remarked, were at a height above my ordinary state of mind. They moved about the house rapt in a species of prophetic frenzy. It seemed to be considered a necessary part of such festivals that everybody should be in a hurry, and everything in the house turned bottom-upward with enthusiasm. So at least we children understood it, and we certainly did our part to keep the ball rolling.

At the period the constitutional activity of my good Uncle Elishim Sherrill increased to a degree that might fairly be called preternatural, and he justified the character which we have elsewhere given him of the Care-taker General of the parish.

Thanksgiving-time was the time for errands of mercy and beneficence throughout the country, and Uncle Elishim's old sawboned horse and rattling wagon were on the full jump in tours of investigation into everybody's affairs in the region around.

On returning, he would fly through our kitchen like the wind, leaving open doors, up-setting whatever came in his way—now a pan of milk and now a basin of mince—talking rapidly and forgetting nothing, only the main, important point in each case that gave it significance, or enabled any one to put it to any sort of use.

When Aunt Lois checked up his benevolent effusions by putting the test questions of practical efficiency, Uncle Elishim always remembered that he'd forgotten to inquire about that, and skipped through the kitchen, and springing into his old wagon, would rattle off again on a full jit, to correct and amend his investigations.

Moreover, my grandmother's kitchen at this time began to be haunted by those occasional hangers-on and retainers of uncertain fortune whom a full experience of her bountiful habits led to expect something at her hand at this time of the year. All the poor loafing tribes, Indian and half Indian who at other times wandered, selling baskets and other light wares, through the land, were sure to come back on Old Town a little before Thanksgiving-time, and report themselves in my grand-mother's kitchen.

The great hogshead of cider in the cellar, which my grandfather called "the Indian's hogshead," was on tap at all hours of the day, and many a mugful did I draw and dispense to the tribes that basked in the sunshine at our door.

Aunt Lois never had a hearty conviction of the propriety of these arrangements, but my grandmother, who had a prodigious verbal memory, bore down upon her with such strings of quotations from the Old Testament that she was utterly routed. "Now," says my Aunt Lois, "of course, I suppose we shall have Betty Poggunut, and Sally Wonsaning, and old Obscue and his wife, and the whole tribe down, roosting round our doors, till we give them something! That's just mother's way; she keeps a whole generation at her beels."

"How many times must I tell you, Lois, to read your Bible? was my grandmother's reply under; and read over the sound of the pounding and chopping in the kitchen could be heard the voice of her quotations.

"If there be among you a poor man, in any of the gates of the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not harden thy heart, nor shut thy hand from thy poor brother. Thou shalt surely give him, and thy heart shall not be grieved when thou givest to him, because that for this thing the Lord thy God shall bless thee in all thy works; for the poor shall never cease from out the land.'

These words seemed to resound like a sort of herald proclamation to call around us that softly shiftless class who, for some reason or other, are never to be found with anything in hand at the moment that it is wanted.

"There now, to be sure," said Aunt Lois, one day when our preparations were in full blast, "there comes Sam Lawson down the hill, limpsier than ever. Now, he'll have his doleful story to tell, and mother'll give him one of the turkeys."

And so of course it fell out. Sam came in with his usual air of plaintive assurance, and seated himself, a contemplative spectator, in the chimney-corner, regardless of the looks and signs of unwelcome on the part of Aunt Lois.

"Lord-a-massy, how prosperous everything does seem here!" he said in mournful tones over his inevitable mug of cider. "So different from what 'tis t'our house. There's Hepsie, she's all in a stew, and I've just been got her thirty-seven cents' worth o' nutmegs. She says she's sure she don't see how she's to keep Thanksgivin', and she's down on me about it just as if 'twas my fault. You see, last winter, our old gal biter got frose. You know, Miss Badger, that air cold night we had last winter? Wal, I was off with Jake Marshall that air night. Yeh, see, Jake, he had to take old General Dearborn's corpse into Boston to the family vault, and Jake he kind o' hated to go alone. 'Twas an almighty cold time, and sez to me, 'Sam, you jest go 'long with me,' and so I was sort o' sorry for him, and I kind o' thought he'd go 'long. Wal, we come along to Josh Bemell's tavern—there at the half way house, you know. It was swinging cold. We stopped to take a little suthin' warmin', and we sort o' sot an' sot over the fire, till, first we knew, we kin' o' got asleep, and when we woke u we found we'd left the old General hitched up to the post, pretty much all night. Wal, didn't hurt him some—'twas allers a favorite place 'o his'n; but takin' one thing with another, I didn't git home till about noon next day. and, I tell you, Hepsie she was right down there hadn't been no wood split, nor the the barn fastened up, nor suthin'. Lord-a-massy! I didn't mean no harm; I thought there was wood enough, an' I thought likely Hepsie'd get out an' fasten up the barn; but Hepsie, she was in one o' her contrary streaks, an' she wouldn't do a thing, and when I went out to look, why sure enough there was our old tom turkey jest froze as stiff as a stake—his claws jes a stickin' straight up, like this." Here Sam struck an expressive attitude, and looked so much like a frozen turkey as to give pathetic reality to the picture.

"Well, now, Sam, why need you be off on things that's none of your business?" said my grandmother. "I've talked to you plainly about that a great many times, Sam," she continued in tones of severe admonition. "Hepsie's a hard-working woman, but she can't be expected to see to everything; and you ought to have been at home that night to fasten up your own barn and look after your own creatures."

Sam took the rebuke all the more meekly as de perceived the stiff black legs of a turkey poking out from under my grandmother's apron, while she was delivering it. To be exhorted and told of his shortcomings, and then furnished with a turkey at Thanksgiving was a yearly part of his family programme.

In time he departed, not only with the turkey, but with us boys in procession after him, bearing a mince and a pumpkin pie for Hitty's children.

"Poor things," my grandmother remarked; "they must have something to keep Thanksgiving on! 'Taint their fault that they've got a shiftless father."

Sam, in his turn, moralized to us children, as we walked beside him.

"A body'd think now that Hepsie'd learn to trust in Providence!" he said, "but she don't. She allers has a Thanksgiving dinner bespoken, but that 'ere woman aint grateful for it, by no manner o' means.—Now, she'd be just as cross as she can be, 'cause this 'ere aint our turkey, and these 'ere aint our pies. Folks does lose much that has such dispositions."

A multitude of similar dispensations, during the course of the week, materially reduced the great pile of chickens and turkeys which black Cæsar's efforts in slaughtering, picking, and dressing, kept daily supplied. Besides these offerings to the poor, the handsomest turkey of the flock was sent, dressed in first-rate style, with Deacon Badger's dutiful compliments to the minister. And we children, who were happy to accompany black Cæsar on this errand generally received a seed-cake and a gracious word of acknowledgment from the minister's lady.

Well, at last, when all the chopping, and pounding, and baking, and brewing, preparatory to the festival, were gone through with, the eventful day dawned. All the tribes of the Badger family were to come back to the old home, with all the relations of every degree, on both sides of the family, to eat the Thanksgiving dinner, and it was understood that in the evening the minister and his lady would look in upon us together with some of the select aristocracy of Old Town.

Great as the preparations were for the dinner, everything was so contrived that not a soul in the house should stay from the morning service of Thanksgiving in the church, and from listening to the Thanksgiving sermon, in which the minister was understood to take the occasion to express his views freely concerning the politics of the country, and the state of things in society generally, in a somewhat more secular vein of thought than was deemed exactly appropriate to the Lord's day.

It is to be confessed that when the good man got carried away by the enthusiasm of his subject, to extend these exercises beyond a certain length, anxious glances, exchanged between good wives, sometimes indicated a weakness of the flesh—having a tender reference to the turkeys and chicken-pies which might possibly be over-done in the ovens at home. But your old brick oven was a true puritan institution, and backed up the devotional habits of good housewives by the capital care which he took of whatever was committed to his capacious bosom. A truth well tried even would have been ashamed of itself all its days, and blushed redder than his own fires of a God-fearing house-matron, away at the temple of the Lord, should come home and find her pie-crust either burned or underdone by his over or under zeal; so the old fellow generally managed to bring things out exactly right. When sermons and prayers were all over, we children rushed home, to see the great feast of the year spread.

What chitterings and chatterings there were, all over the house, as all the aunties and uncles and cousins came pouring in, taking off their things, looking at each oth'r's bonnets and dresses, mingling their comments on the morning sermon with various opinions on the new millinery outfits, and with bits of home news and kindly neighborhood gossip.

Uncle Bill, whom the Cambridge College authorities released, as they did all the other youngsters of the land, on Thanksgiving-Day, made a breezy stir among them all especially with the young cousins of the feminine gender.

The best room on this occasion was thrown wide open, and its habitual coldness had been warmed by the burning down of a great stack of hickory logs, which had been heaped up, unsparingly, since morning. It takes some hours to get a room warm where a family never sits, and which has not, therefore, in its walls one particle of the genial vitality which comes from the inspiration of human beings; but on Thanksgiving-Day, at least, every year, the marvel was effected in our best room.

Although all servile labour and vain recreation were by law forbidden on this day, according to the term of Proclamation, it was not held to be a violation of this precept that all the nice old aunties should bring their knitting-work, and sit gently trotting their goodies round the fire nor that Uncle Bill should start a well-fed group among the girls and children, while the dinner was being set on to the long tables in the neighboring kitchen. Certain of the good female elders' relatives of serious and discreet demeanor assisted on this operation.

But who shall do justice to the dinner, and describe the turkeys and chickens and chicken-pies, with all those endless varieties of vegetables which the American soil and climate have contributed to the table, and which, without regard to the French doctrine of courses, were all piled together, in joyful abundance, upon the smoking board!

There was much carving, and laughing and talking, and eating, and all showed that cheerful ability to dispatch the processions which was the ruling spirit of the hour.

After the meal came the plum-puddings, and then the endless array of pies till human nature was actually bewildered and overpowered with the tempting variety, and even we children turned from the profusion offered to us, and wondered what was the matter, that we could eat no more.

When all was over, my grandfather rose at the head of the table, and a fine, venerable picture he made as he stood there, his silver hair flowing down in curls each side his clear, calm face, while, in conformity with the old puritan custom, he called their attention to a recital of the mercies of God, in his dealings with their family. It was a sort of family history, going over here and there, and touching upon the various events which had happened. He spoke of my father's death, and gave a tribute to his memory, and closed all by the application of a time-honored text, expressing the hope that, as years passed by, we might so number our days as to apply our hearts unto wisdom, and then he gave out that psalm, which in those days might be called the national hymn of the Puritans:—

"Let children hear the mighty deeds
Which God performed of old,
Which in our younger years we saw
And which our fathers told.

"He bids us make his glories known—
His works of power and grace;
And we'll convey his wonders down
Through every rising race.

"Our lips shall tell them to our sons,
And they again to theirs,
That generations yet unborn
May teach them to their heirs.

"Thus shall they learn in God alone
Their hope securely stands;
That they may not forget his works,
But practice his commands."

Then we all united in singing to that venerable tune of "St. Martin's"—an air which the reader will perceive, by its Multiplicity of quavers and inflections, gave the greatest possible scope to the cracked and trembling voices of the ancients, who united in it with even a more zeal than the younger part of the community.

Uncle Elishim Sherrill, forbid had up in a new, crisp, black suit, and with his spindle-shank trimly encased in the smoothest of black silk stockings, and looking for all the world just like an alert and spirited black cricket, confided himself on this occasion to singing counter, in that high, weird voice which he must have learned from the wintry wind that usually piped around the corners of the old house. But any one who looked at him as he sat with his eyes closed, beating time with head and hand, and foot, and, in short, with every limb of his body, must have perceived the exquisite satisfaction which he derived from this mode of expressing himself.

I much regret to be obliged to state that my graceless Uncle Bill, taking advantage of the fact that the eyes of all his elders were devotionally closed, and stationing himself a little in the rear of my Uncle Elishim, performed an exact imitation of his counter, with such killing facility that all the younger part of the audience were nearly dead with suppressed laughter.

Aunt Lois, who never shut her eyes a moment on any occasion in her life, when there was anything to be "seen to," discerned this iniquity from a distant part of the room, and in vain endeavoured to stop it by vigorously shaking her head at the offender. She might as well have shaken it at a hobolink tilting on a clover-top. In fact, Uncle Bill was Aunt Lois' weak point; and the corners of her own mouth were observed to twitch in such a suspicious manner, that the whole moral force of her admonition was destroyed.

And now, the dinner being cleared away, we youngsters, already excited to a tumult of laughter, tumbled into the best room, under the supervision of Uncle Bill, to relieve ourselves with a game of Blind man's-buff, while the elderly women washed up the dishes, and got the house in order, and the men-folk went out to the barn to look at the cattle, and walked over the farm and talked over the crops.

In the evening the house was all open and lighted with the best of tallow candles, which Aunt Lois herself had made with especial care for this illumination.

It was understood that we youngsters were to have a dance, and black Cæsar, full of turkey and pumpkin-pie, and giggling in the merry jollity of his heart, had that afternoon rosined his bow and tuned his fiddle, and practised jigs and Virginia reels in a way that made us children think him a perfect Orpheus.

For most among the guests arrived the minister and his lady. She in a grand brocade satin dress, open in front to display a petticoat brocaded with silver flowers, with her silver flowers, with her well-formed hands shining out of a shimmer of costly lace, and her feet propped on high-heeled shoes. Madam Lathrop justified the prestige of good society which always hung

(Continued on fourth page.)

TRICHINA SPIRALIS.

This is the name of a disease that has lately appeared in New York and also in Hamilton. It is the result, it would appear, of eating pork uncooked—which appears to be a habit not uncommon among Germans. Sudden alarm, the Times says, was created at Hamilton by the sudden death of a young woman by this mysterious disease. The Times, in giving an account of the disease, says:—

The symptoms exhibited in the illness of Mr. Getz and family, as observed by the attending physicians, were as follows: The first attack, as before mentioned, took the form of violent diarrhœa, attended with great pain, which continued for forty-eight hours. This was succeeded by difficulty in opening the mouth, partial paralysis in the muscles of the jaws, puffed and swollen condition of the face, difficulty of sight, contraction of the pupils of the eyes, constant fever, and intense thirst. The tongue assumed a deep red colour, dry and glazed. Great difficulty experienced in swallowing. Great pain and soreness to touch in all the muscles, and special and more constant pain in calves of the legs. Loss of muscular power, and inability to walk. Light-ness in the head, with slight delirium. Intense itching of the whole surface of the body. The pupils finally dilated, but sight not impaired. Patients continually sinking, but no loss of flesh comparatively as observed in general fevers. No appetite or ability to eat; the muscles of deglutition totally paralysed. The urine highly acid, and finally highly albuminous. In the case of deceased, a total loss of power in the right arm finally occurred. The parents of deceased still continue prostrated in the manner described, and the recovery of the mother, at least, is considered quite beyond hope. The theory advanced by Dr. Cheshire of the action of the trichinosis in the human system is that, like other animalcules, they have a period of growth and decay in substance to which they are not native, and where the system of the patient is sufficiently vigorous to withstand the severe prostration, recovery is not hopeless. Cases have been reported where the patients have survived the attack, and it is hardly reasonable to suppose that the trichinosis continued to exist in the muscles after recovery of apparent health. These serious results from the use of pork as food, will necessitate care on the part of consumers. It is believed that the article is sufficiently secured against harm by thorough cooking. In Germany all pork is officially inspected before its sale is permitted, and ultimately the same restriction will have to be adopted on this side of the Atlantic.

A NEW DISEASE—TRICHINOSIS.

A new disease has appeared in New York, resembling trichina, which caused so much talk two or three years ago. The World says it has proved fatal in several cases, and mentions the following which came under the observation of medical men at the New York Hospital:—

"On Saturday, Peter Nelson, another patient, came into the house affected with a strange disease, and the symptoms in this case were of the typhus fever. On Sunday morning he seemed to be in about the same general condition. There were appearances of typhus fever, but there was nothing these to decide the case definitely. On Sunday evening, as the physician of the house all was making his evening calls, he inquired of the patient in regard to his feelings. He was suffering from a pain in his back, and on examination it exhibited a tenderness in every spot where the physician pressed, the man showing how painful the operation was by his expression. The physician then pinched other portions of the body, and the pain was again felt, the same tenderness was again exposed. The suspicions of the surgeon were at once aroused, and he pinched his muscles in different parts of the body, the man suffering severe pain.

"The doctor then enquired whether he had been in the habit of eating raw meat, and Nelson replied that he had two or three times a week; he got it at his boarding house. The doctor cross-examined the patient regarding the disease, and the result was, that the patient had been used to eating sausage two or three times a week, and on Sunday he had eaten both pork and sausage. One physician thought it best to make an incision to render certain the suspicions they felt, and they communicated their purposes to the patient. He consented himself willing to suffer it to clear up the mystery, an examination of a piece of the muscle was made, and it was found to be full of living trichina. Upon questioning him further, it was learned that he lived at No. 5 Carlyle street, at a sailor's boarding house. In his statement he said that he was not the only one who had been prostrated by the disease, but numbers had been taken in the same way. He resided at that place until January 31, and no less than six persons had exhibited the same symptoms. While reading there the landlord, whose name we have not learned, his wife, the bar-keeper, and three others, as far as he could recollect, had been sick in nearly the same way he had been. The landlord, his wife, and the bar-keeper still remained there, whether dead or alive he did not know; but of the others three had come to the hospital—one had gone to a Brooklin hospital, a man named Lissenessen; one had been brought to the New York hospital about two or three weeks ago, and remaining one was also brought to the latter place on Thursday last.

"Yesterday afternoon the physicians of the hospital went to Carlyle street, and found the statement made by the patient to be correct. The landlord, his wife, and the bar-keeper, Schaekel, were all well—Nothing was heard from the man in the Brooklin hospital. The other man, a runner, had left that boarding house, and was at the hospital at about the first of February. The runner was the fourth one taken sick, and after a short and painful illness he died, the physicians attributing his death to bronchitis or typhus fever. The second death occurred about ten days ago. The remaining man was taken in charge and is almost well. His name is Charles Rasmerson. A piece of muscle was taken from Rasmerson last evening, for the purpose of examination, but was thought that the attack in his case was so slight that no trichina would be discovered.

"The explanation of the manner in which the disease originated seems to be somewhat remote. These min te animals are most abundant in rats or mice and the supposition is that some of the pigs coming from the West have eaten these animals, which abounded on the prairies, and thus have taken the disease. Their marvellous multiplication soon fills the whole body of the pig, and pork containing them eaten by persons, gives them the same disease.—Only a few days are necessary to increase their number a thousand fold, and their ceaseless activity is unbearable, and unless properly treated will ultimately cause death. The worms bred in the pork are taken into the stomach, arrest the action of the gastric juices, and work their way to all fleshy parts of the frame. Report has it, that no amount of boiling in hot water can kill them, and they will scarcely yield life at all. The origin of the disease, which is called trichina spiralis was detected in the pig, examined by the microscope, and almost exactly resembling human beings into sausages and eaten by us, in which meat underwent partial digestion. To day the physicians will go to Brooklin to visit the patient at the hospital in that city.—The whole case is a severe commentary upon the manner in which a sailor's boarding house is kept.

A Bishop's Pastoral on the Dance and Infanticide.

Bishop A. C. Coxe in view of the approach of Lent and the pastoral letter of the House of Bishops, has just sent forth to the "clergy and laity of the Dioceses of Western and Central New York," over whom he has jurisdiction, an extraordinary pastoral address. Of the dangers, excesses and sins of the time, he thus feelingly warns the churchmen:

"The enormities of the theatrical exhibitions, and the lasciviousness of dances too commonly tolerated, in our times, are there (in the letter of the House of Bishops) so specially pointed out as disgraceful to the age, and irreconcilable with the Gospel of Christ, that I feel it my duty to the souls of my flock, to warn those who run with the world to 'the same excess of riot,' in these things, that they presume not to come to the Holy Table. Classes preparing for confirmation are informed that I will not lay hands, knowingly, on any one who is not prepared to renounce such things, with other abominations of 'the world, the flesh and the devil.' Let all those choose deliberately whom they will serve; and if salvation be worth striving for, let them be persuaded to a sober life, self-denials and to the poor and innocent enjoyments which it only can create. It is high time that the line should be drawn between worldly and godly living; and I see no use in a Lent that is not sanctified to such ends.

"I have hitherto warned my flock against the blood guiltiness of ante-natal infanticide. If any doubt existed heretofore, as to the propriety of my warnings on this subject, they must now disappear before the fact that the world itself is beginning to be horrified by the practical results of the sacrifices to Moloch which defile our land. I ask attention to an article on 'population' which appears in the periodical called Harper's Magazine for February, 1869. Again I warn you that they who do such things cannot inherit eternal life. If there is a special damnation for those who 'shed innocent blood,' what must be the portion of those who have no mercy upon their own flesh?"

The Assassination of the Governor of Burgos.

We translate the following letter written from Burgos to a Parisian newspaper. It is dated on the 29th of January:—

"Every thing is mysterious in the clerical assassination of the progressista Gov. Gutherez de Castro.

"The old cathedral has a cloister, the door of which opens upon one of the aisles, on the right side. It is reached by a flight of steps. The governor, attended by a delegate from the municipal police, by his secretary and several priests, he ascended the stairs to go to the cloister in which were deposited the books and other objects of which he was to take an inventory. A crowd already much excited had followed him, and had pressed near the church doors, where a picket of 20 military men forced them to keep back towards the archbishop's palace.

"From the moment the Governor walked up to the archives nothing is known.

"Has he been killed by the crowd or by the priests who accompanied him?

"If it was true that a pistol was fired, why did not the militia run to his assistance? But they heard nothing; he must have called for help, for he was not struck dead at one blow. He must then have been murdered in the cloister where he was surrounded by the priests only, as none of the crowd had penetrated there. As I was telling you, all is mystery in this sad affair.

"However, it is very well known now that the crime was the result of a plot.—Among the individuals arrested are 10 ecclesiastics and 71 other individuals.—Some of the latter have already confessed that they had been paid for several day's past, to be prepared to create disorder when the government should attempt to pillage the church.

"The Penumenio Espanol a Catholic paper published, before the Official Gazette, the secret circular by which the governors were instructed to make the inventory of church property on the 24th. How could the editors have obtained it?

A contest case is about to come before the Belgian courts, the facts of which are thus stated by the Chronique of Doornaar:—"A nun belonging to one of the best families of the neighborhood was placed by the lady superior in a damp underground cell. She had been several days in confinement when, from the narrow opening by which her prison received a little light from the garden, she succeeded in attracting the attention of a man working there, who consented to procure for her writing materials, and to convey a letter to her brother-in-law. The latter on receiving the communication went to the convent and asked to see his sister-in-law, but was informed that she was in religious retirement and could not be seen. He returned three hours later accompanied by a commissary of police, whom he left outside and then repeated his demand; he received a similar reply, but he insisted, and the superior at length became evidently embarrassed. He then opened the door to the police officer, who compelled the directress to accompany them to the cellars under ground, where they found not only the lady in question, but also five other nuns confined in the same manner, all of whom took advantage of the commissary's presence to quit the establishment and return to their friends."

DRINKING.—There is an impression among Canadians that the Americans don't drink, and your correspondent shared that opinion with the rest of his countrymen, but he has lately had ample reason to change his mind. Chicago is a fair specimen of American cities in that line. The Times, a journal supposed to be well posted in everything concerning Chicago estimates that there are no less than two thousand drinking houses in the city, mostly called saloons, and that for 1868 there was no less a sum than ten millions dollars paid into the saloons for drink, or five thousand dollars on an average to each one. That gives a saloon to every 125 inhabitants who pay on an average $30 each, per annum, for drinking. Will you say after this that the Americans don't drink? You haven't got a town or city in Canada that can show such an exhibit.

Dr. Colly's Asp-Centre and Tonic Pills supply a long felt want.

TO LUMBERMEN.

We will deliver any size of MANILLA ROPE, here or in Lindsay, at 14½ cents, freight paid.

GEO. STETHEM & CO.

Peterborough, February 10, 1869.

We have received, from Massachusetts, a lot of TAFTS LACE LEATHER, suitable for Cotton Mills, Woolen Mills, and for the heavier belting of Saw Mills. It is the best Lace Leather ever shown in Peterborough.

G. STETHEM & Co

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

Peterboro, February 10, 1869. 6

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Note Lost—Hugh Drain.
Farm for Sale—D. Hunter.
Hardware, &c.—John Bertram.
Abstract—Township of Dummer.
Grain for Sale—Wm. McBain.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1869.

Dr. RYERSON'S CONVENTION.

Dr. Ryerson, Chief Superintendent of Education, held his convention here yesterday, through the kindness of Mr. E. C. Mill, in the Music Hall.

There was a very large and intelligent audience, the Hall being pretty well filled.

J. Carnegie, Jr., M. P. P., was called to the chair, and Mr. J. Stratton was requested to act as Secretary.

The Rev. Gentleman commenced by referring to the progress of education in the county, stating that in 1847 the average of school attendance was 1971; in 1857 it was 3684; in 1867 it was 5457. The amount raised for school purposes in 1847 was $2868; in 1857, $11,863; in 1867, $18,464. He then referred to the growing tendency towards a free school system, as out of 83 schools in the county, 73 were free, by the vote of the people. The Doctor then proceeded to discuss the proposed bill, with respect to the amendments therein. He explained the necessity for having a superintendent who would be compelled to give his whole time and attention to the work and its details, and remarked that his qualifications should be such as to command respect, while he should be a practical educationist; a man who knew how to conduct a school, manage a class, exhibit the most improved methods of teaching, and in every way be ready and qualified to set an example to teachers in the working of a school room. He next referred to his visits and to the result of them, in the past, and to the experience he had gained in his visits to other countries to inquire into the workings of their school systems. He further informed the meeting that the committee on education had made several changes not published in the imperfect bill issued. He then presented a set of ten questions, which embraced the whole changes contemplated, and had those questions put from the chair in order.

1st question—Do you approve of County Superintendents in place of Township Superintendents? This embraced the two first clauses of the Bill. This question was carried.

On the 2nd question—Do you approve of the qualification of County Superintendents as proposed? This embraced the 4th section.

The following amendment by Mr. Dixon, seconded by Mr. A. C. Dunlop, Esq.,—That that section 4 be struck out and the following substituted—"Any person having taught a public school for at least three years, either as a first class Teacher of a Common School or as head master of a Grammar School or any one who at the passing of this Act is a County Superintendent of School shall be considered to have the necessary certificate of qualification of a County or City Superintendent," was carried.

On this amendment there was considerable discussion by Mr Dixon, Mr. Brown of Hastings, and some others, who dealt some very hard blows at the Chief Superintendent and in return he gave some of them very hard thrusts.

The 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th were passed with some explanatory remarks by the Doctor. The committee contemplate paying half the Superintendent's salary; and the kind of accommodation referred to in the 8th clause is to be established by the Council of Public Instruction with due respect to the size of the house more especially.

In reference to the 9th clause, the following amendment was put and carried:

Moved by James S. Dixon, M. A., seconded Mr. Stratton,—"That the 9th section be struck out and the following inserted in its place: 'The Minister of Education shall divide the Province into Circuits each consisting of the Cities, Counties, or union of Counties under the supervision of five County Superintendents, and the Superintendents of each such circuit shall be a Local Board of Examiners for the examination and licensing of Teachers for the Schools of said Circuit, and moreover the Minister of Education shall select from amongst the county and city Superintendents seven members to form a Central Board of Examiners for the examination of teachers for Provincial Certificates; but no teacher shall be eligible for examination before this Central Board unless he (or she) holds a first class Certificate from a Local Board and has been recommended for aptitude to teach by the Superintendent of the City or County to which he or she has taught."

On the 10th clause being explained that it was intended to add weak school sections' out of a fund for that purpose, it was agreed to. Clauses 11, 12 13 and 14 being on matters of detail, were passed over; but Mr. Edwards moved seconded by Mr. Read, that the 15th clause be struck out. This was lost.

The Doctor then remarked that 16 and 17 merely gave power to Magistrates to compel parents and guardians to send their children to school six months. Compulsion being, therefore, permissive only, was passed over; every one present being satisfied that it would never be enforced, except when neighbors chance to quarrel.

The High School was then taken up by the Gentleman, but he was determined to have his own way on the Bill. Everything he proposed was overborne, in short Mills would not receive any attention from the Legislature. To discuss the Bill at all was a perfect farce, and should never have been attempted. It was only when the people were determined to record their views on the matter, whether he was willing or unwilling, that a resolution was put and carried, providing to make it compulsory on County Councils to provide for Grammar or High School support in proportion to the number that attended from the county.

P. Pearce, Esq., P. M. Grover, M. P., D. W. Dumble, Mr. Stratton, and others argued the claims of the Grammar Schools, but they were told, again and again it was useless.

At the close a vote of thanks was moved by Peter Pearce, Esq., seconded by J. B. Dixon, M. A., to the Rev. Doctor for the able and patient manner in which he had explained the Bill, for which he returned thanks.

At the close of the meeting he appeared quite exhausted on account of the continual travel and holding of meetings every day.

Who have a Right to Attend Our Common Schools.

At a late session of the Grammar and Union School Board, a resolution was passed to collect at the rate of 50 cents per month from non-resident pupils attending the Union or Grammar School, and 25 cents to resident pupils. Some members of the Board understood the resolution to include as non-residents all who reside outside the limits of the town, whether they pay taxes or school rates in town or not. In consequence of this, objection was made, on the grounds that the children of ratepayers have equal rights to attend the school, no matter where their parents or guardians reside.

It is well known that several persons residing outside of the limits are largely interested in the town and pay taxes too, and they felt that an injustice was done to them in compelling them to pay 50 cents per month. The following extract from a letter from the Chief Superintendent of Education, in answer to a communication on the subject, will settle the matter. The letter is dated 22nd of February, 1869.

"SIR,—I have the honor to state in reply to your letter of the 3rd instant, that, strictly speaking, the law does not authorize Common School Trustees to admit any but children of School Ratepayers of the town to the Common School of the municipality. It is immaterial whether the ratepayers are resident or non-resident. Both classes have an equal right to send children to the school."

This would seem to set the matter at rest. There can be no doubt that the children of ratepayers, resident or non-resident, have equal rights to attend the school. Several members of the Board held these views, and this letter from the Chief Superintendent confirms them as legal.

The remainder of the letter refers to the Grammar School and the admission of pupils from the Grammar School circuit. The Chief Superintendent is not so explicit on this as on the first matter.

Young Mens' Christian Association.

A very interesting public meeting of this Society was held on Monday evening in the Good Templars' Hall, which was crowded on the occasion.

The President, Mr. W. Cameron, occupied the chair. The meeting was opened by singing a hymn, reading a portion of Scripture, and prayer by the Rev. Mr. McDonnell.

The Secretary read the minutes of the previous public meeting, and they were approved.

Mr. Crawford read an essay, the subject of which was, "Why is God and His Word disbelonged." After the reading there was some discussion on the matter contained in the essay.

Mr. Cassels, Barrister, also read an eloquent and learned essay on the "Philosophy of the Stones." This essay was listened to with breathless attention.

D. W. Dumble, Esq., made some remarks at the close, followed by the Rev. Mr. McDonnell, and the Rev. W. M. Rogers. There being difference of opinion between Mr. McDonnell and others who desired to take part in the discussion, it was agreed to bring the matter up again.

The chairman also remarked, in answer to suggestion, that in future, if possible, the subject of the essays would be published previous to their being read publicly, in order to give an opportunity for intelligent discussion. The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. W. M. Roger.

The meetings of the Association promise to be unusually interesting and instructive. The next public meeting, we believe will be held on the first Monday of April.

East Riding Agricultural Society.

There was a meeting of the Directors of the East Riding Agricultural Society on Tuesday at Keene.

There were present P. M. Grover, M. P., President, James Miller and R. Harrison, Esqrs., Vice-Presidents, and Messrs. Blezard, Pearce, Burgess, and Renwick.

There were several members of the Agricultural Association of Otonabee present also.

The Otonabee Society reported that they had already arranged for the construction of a building in which to hold the next annual Fall Show.

The Director prepared a Prize List, and instructed the Secretary to have the same issued as soon as possible.

Committees of Management are as follows:

For the Stock, &c.—Messrs. Renwick, Miller, Blezard, Stewart, J. Brickenridge, J. T. McKee, A. R. Kidd, W. Burgess, and J. Birdsall, Esq'a.

For Produce, Manufacture, &c.—Dr. McCrea and Dr. Dean, Jas. Drummond, Alex. Campbell, jr., Robert Harrison, P. M. Grover, P. Pearce, W. Laing, Geo. Evans, and H. Burnham, Esqs.

The Fair is to be held on the first Wednesday and Thursday in October next at Keene.

Provincial Agricultural Society.

The Board met last week and elected a Mr Mallory, President. A race was made to try Mr. Christie's chances, but it proved of no avail. Mr. Mallory, however, became the nominee of Mr. Christie and supporters.

A Mr. Graham, of Brampton, was elected Treasurer.

The accounts of the Treasurer were submitted, and found to be as given in the report of Mr. White, and as the Board will award published.

There should have been a thorough investigation ordered, and the causes that led to the deficiency ferreted out. The old Board got off very easy, considering the way they allowed the affairs of the Society to run behind.

There were the same worthies who managed the affairs of the Provincial Exhibition, Messrs. Mallory, Christie and Wilkie, and Messrs. Graham, Stewart and Wilson, parties who UNACCOUNTABLE.

A notorious character called Mason, has caused a stir among the tavern-keepers of Toronto, Hamilton, Kingston, Montreal, Quebec and other places, by hauling them before the Magistrates for violation of the Liquor law of the Province.

It is well known that everywhere in the Province the law is set at defiance by those whom it concerns. No one is willing to bear the odium of being an informer. Bars are open Saturday night, and Sunday, and Sunday night, and no one interferes; and a terrible cry is heard everywhere that such is the case, but no one troubles himself about it more than to shed crocodile tears over existing evils.

George Albert Mason, however, goes to work, hauls up the violators of the law and has them fined; and, all at once, one universal stream of abuse is poured on him in every town, and by newspaper writers also, that are not silent about closing the bars on Saturday night and Sunday. How can this be accounted for? Almost the entire newspaper press of Canada abuses Mason for trying to enforce the observance of the law. They say his motives are bad, he cares only for his share of the fine. Why was the fine offered? Why does that clause exist in the statute, if not to induce some one to inform for the gain? and is it not inconsistent to abuse Mason for merely taking advantage of the statute, and thereby making money in a legal way? It is more honorable to make money according to law than contrary to law; and it certainly does not appear consistent to abuse Mason and glory in his persecution, for enforcing the law, while the violators of the statute are pitied and encouraged in a work that is wrong, illegal and unholy.—Mason no more deserves censure than the excise officer who seizes the illicit still, or confiscates property because its owner has sought to evade the statute. Both Mason and the officer work for the remuneration; yet the excise officer is praised when he seizes goods because the owner has evaded the law, and Mason is a rascal, a blackguard, an informer, because he compels liquor dealers to respect the law. Is it not unaccountable?

The Ottawa press deserves no trifling censure for the manner in which they acted in the matter of an assault on the Globe's correspondent at the capital. Michael Stoer and one Goodwin, it would appear, visited Whelan on the same day, but not at the same time. The correspondent made the mistake of reporting them as accompanying each other. For this trifling error Goodwin brutally assaulted the reporter, for which the assailant was deservedly fined by the magistrate. The petty political spleen of some of the Ottawa journals towards the Globe showed itself in rejoicing over the brutal treatment Mr. Hubertus received. A contemporary remarks that the conduct of the Ottawa papers can only be accounted for on the plea of jealousy toward the Globe. What small souls they must possess if envy caused them to approve conduct that their better judgment would unhesitatingly condemn.

The fund already subscribed toward endowing Queen's College exceeds $45,000. That is the way for the Old Kirk people to go to work. A little effort will entirely free them from the need of government aid, and from the necessity of going to Toronto on a begging excursion every year. Once endowed by their own money, they will be independent to carry out whatever theory may seem most agreeable to their ideas of educating those who may enter their institution.

Judge Wilson lately decided in a Toronto appeal case, that a magistrate cannot convict a man for drunkenness alone; he must also be disorderly. Of course, then, drunkenness is not the crime, it is being disorderly. Then the law should really say so, and not combine the harmless act of drunkenness with the criminal disorderly. In many cases the man is fined for being drunk; by the judge's decision drunkenness is no crime.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, DUMMER.—Service will be conducted in St. Andrew's Church, Dummer, on Monday, the 8th inst., at 6 p. m., by the Rev. D. J. Macdonnell. A collection will be taken up in aid of the Home Mission of the Presbytery of Victoria. After service a meeting of the congregation will be held to make arrangements for the employment of a missionary during the summer.

FAILURE.—A kind of exchange banking office known as Brown & Chewett, or Brown's bank, in Toronto, stopped payment last week. The liabilities are $93,000. It is not known how the Losses originated that necessitated the closing of the concern, the mere supposition is that dealing in Erie stock and gold was the first cause.

FRANK LESLIE'S LADY'S MAGAZINE.—The March number of this popular Magazine has been received. It contains a large paper pattern, a colored fashion plate, besides other plates that are so much prized by the ladies. The literary part is varied, and to many will prove very welcome. The Lady's Magazine is one of the best of the books on fashions.

We have been requested to state that the next meeting of the Teachers Class conducted by Mr. Dixon will meet in the Union School, on the 2nd Saturday of this month, at 10.30 A. M. Those desirous of joining the class will please attend this meeting.

SUBJECTS—

Reading—52nd to 65th page, 5th Book. Parsing—"The Bridge" Algebra—Fractions.
Arithmetic—Square Root.

MARRIED, Feb. 27.—An engagement took place between the Spanish troops and the insurgents at Colonia St. Domingo, in the province La Grandes. Many were killed on both sides. The result of the battle is not known. Reports from Cuba, however, assume only that a fight occurred between the rebel forces under Gen. Quesada and the army of Gen. Prim, in the vicinity of Guanaja, and assert that the government troops were routed.

To-day, 4th of March, President Johnson's term of office expires, and President Grant will take his place at the White House. Preparations on a grand scale are now going on in Washington for the inauguration of the new President, and numbers of strangers will be in the city to witness the ceremony of which the [illegible] will be the principal actor.

Gen. Grant has maintained politicians by his studied silence in regard to the policy and personnel of his cabinet, and curiosity upon the subject is wonderfully excited all over the country.

The Committee of the Protestant Home beg to acknowledge with thanks the following donations received during February:—Mrs. S. Smith, milk three times a week; a basket of cakes from the Soiree in Canada Presbyterian Church; a Friend, one dozen eggs; Mr. White, Monaghan, a quarter of mutton and suet; Mrs. Fowlie, two pairs of pillow cases; Mrs. F. Haultain, a parcel of clothing; Mrs. Macdonnell, clothing; Mr. L. Payne, a load of wood.

The committee also beg to acknowledge, with many thanks, the sum of thirty dollars received from Dr. McNab, being his moiety as prosecutor of two fines imposed on Messrs. Reddy & Shanahan in the police court.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

On Thursday evening last the Thespians gave a second entertainment for the season. The audience was certainly a very respectable one, and the manner equal to the highest expectations. For amateurs, the Thespians acquitted themselves well. "A Kiss in the Dark" was very amusing and drew forth considerable merriment; but "The Limerick Boy" was the favorite. "Paddy Miles's Boy" performed his part as well as any Limerick boy could have done, and so did "Dr. Costes" and his son "Henry." "Mrs Fidget" and "Jane" performed their parts as well as ladies of the masculine sex usually do. Indeed all did their parts well. "Slasher and Crasher" was undoubtedly well done, and must have cost both time and taste for that sort of thing. And "Mr. Blowhard," "Slasher," "Crasher," "Dan" and "Rose" were the principal characters; but "Slasher" and "Crasher" managed their cards so as to elicit the greatest admiration. The Thespians intend giving a few more entertainments, when no doubt bumper houses will reward their efforts to afford amusement. The great success that has attended the Club the last two nights will encourage a large audience for their next entertainment.

ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—In the House, the Senate's joint resolution tendering sympathy to the people of Spain came up. Mr. Banks from the Committee on foreign affairs, reported a substitute, sympathizing with the people of Spain in their efforts to establish the liberties of the nation and with the people of Cuba in their efforts to secure political independence, and authorizing the President to recognize the independence of Cuba whenever in his opinion a Republican form of Government shall have been established. The substitute was agreed to and the joint resolution passed unanimously.

HAVANA, March 1.—The Diario reports an engagement between the troops and insurgents at the town of Cifuentes, in which the troops were victorious. The same paper states that 300 rebels have surrendered at Villa Clara.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Dr. Harris presented a report to the Board of Health yesterday that small-pox is spreading in the city, and more general vaccination is recommended.

THE LOCK AT OTTAWA.—The old story of the two British commanders in the Low Countries, namely, the Earl of Chatham and Sir Richard Strachan, proves to be re-enacted at Ottawa, where Parliament cannot be convened for want of the George Gilbert. A wag of the time wrote, concerning the two first named worthies, a distich, which, with a change of names, might apply to our own two knights-baronets:—

"The Earl, with his sword drawn,
Was waiting for Sir Richard Strachan:
Sir Richard, longing to have at 'em,
Was waiting for the Earl of Chatham."

Kennedy took his farewell of Toronto last night, and before an audience the like of which is seldom witnessed in the Music Hall. The "old song" and "oft-told tale" were repeated, and carried with them additional interest from the fact that the vocalist bade farewell to the city for three years and a-half. In the interim he visits [illegible] After singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the Queen" in chorus, the audience gave three rousing cheers for the vocalist.—Globe.

He will be here on Monday and Tuesday evening.

THE DOMINION MONTHLY.—This very welcome periodical for March has been received. This number closes the present volume. It is needless to recommend it to our readers as it is already a great favorite in families. The publishers of this magazine offer to present the volume just closed, (from October to March inclusive) bound, to any person who shall remit $2 for three new subscribers for one year, beginning either with October last or with April next.

A clerical elopement took place from Pennsylvania, Jefferson County, Pa., last week. The Rev. Mr. Shorthill, lately a Baptist preacher, ran away with Mrs. Colket, one of his flock. The lothario, leaves behind a wife and family, who are in great pecuniary distress, and the faithless deserts a good husband and two lovely babes. The guilty pair have been traced in the direction of Indiana, and the indignant Mr. Colket has very foolishly started in pursuit of his wife.

Mr. Weir reports that the silver movement has a more promising aspect than ever. $50,000 more will be ready to forward to-morrow, and probably another $50,000 before the end of the week. The country generally is beginning to respond better to the movement.

THE LUMBER TRADE.—We cannot deny that we are suffering severely in our lumber regions for wants of a market for coarse lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have not made any purchases in the Provinces the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe will can't ship it to England, but serious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pea Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, burns, bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign manufactory for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

Jacobs' Rheumatic Liquid is invaluable.

SMITH COUNCIL.

The Council met [illegible]th, 20th Feb., 1869.

The Council met.—Present—Isaac Garbutt, Reeve, Montgomery, [illegible], Councillors.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. Stinson [illegible] Montgomery made application for compensation for one sheep each, killed by dogs. The Treasurer was directed to pay each the sum of two dollars.

Petitions for a certificate for a tavern license were received from Mrs. Moore, John Pope, Asa Dunbar, Richard Northey, Stephen Nicholls, James Kearney, Jr., Matthew Young and Richard Hill. A resolution was passed granting the same upon said Petitioners complying with the requirments of the law and the By-laws of the Corporation made in that behalf.

The following By-laws received the first second and third readings, and passed:—

A By-law to regulate shops taverns and other houses of public entertainment, to declare the terms and conditions required to be complied with and the security to be given by any applicant for a certificate to procure a license to keep the same.

A By-law to appoint overseers of Highways, Poundkeepers and Fence Viewers for the township of Smith for 1869, and to form the roads therein into divisions for the performance of Statute labour and the expenditure of commutation money therefor.

A By-law to define the duties, powers and privileges of the inspector of shops, taverns and other houses of public entertainment.

A By-law for regulating Statute labour, and to define the duties of overseers of highways and those who work under them.

A By-law to open up the Government allowance for road between Lots 24 and 25 in the 8th concession.

A By-law to establish certain Road Divisions on the boundary lines of Smith, to appoint overseers for the same and to determine the amount of Statute labour to be performed thereon.

The clerk was instructed to notify Robert Johnston to remove all rail, fence or other obstacles to the construction of a public highway on the Government allowance for road between Lots 24 and 25 in the 8th concession, on or before the first day of January.

North Monaghan Township Council.

Monaghan, Feb. 27, 1869.

The Council met at 10 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment. All the members present.—Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

PETITIONS.

That of J. Murphy, signed by fourteen others, to have Edward Stenson appointed overseer of highways for section No. 4.—Granted.

That of Wm. Brock and others, asking by two others, to have Geo. Howden appointed overseer in place of Alex Donnelly who acted for the division last year.—Granted.

Those of John Green and Wm. S Scott, for a renewal of their tavern licenses for 1 reason [illegible] for inspecting of taverns.

Appointing overseers of Highways, and Defining Road Divisions; fixing the amount to be paid for certificate to obtain tavern license; to regulate the granting of certificates for procuring tavern licences; and commuting the Statute labour of Alex Donnelly for five years, for which he is to turn-pike and bridge a certain portion of road to the satisfaction of the Council, were finally passed.

A By-law defining the duties overseers of highways and other township officers, received two readings.

ORDERS.

Henry Collins for $16, being amount due for collecting taxes; same $6.50 for a sheep killed by dogs on the night of Nov. 1st, 1868; for Mrs. Glynn, $6, charity]

Councillor Birney was authorized to purchase three new scrapers for the use of the Municipality.

The Collector returned the roll, which showed that $3498 37 had been collected thereon.

The following deductions on which no property [illegible] were allowed:—C. Boyd remitted, $4.40; rates on late Judge Boucher's income, $20 87; Mrs Patterson, assessed in error, $1 41; Joseph Hunter, deceased, $3) 77; H. Crarath, not to be found, $1.91; and taxes on five dogs killed since Assessment [illegible] payment, $5, making in all $36 42.

The [illegible] were appropriated by the county council to the township of Monaghan to be expended on roads and bridges in said township and boundaries thereof, the following shows the Reeve's distribution to the several road divisions:—Angus Davidson, to cut down hill on No. 7th, the 12 con., $30; Geo. Howden, on drain road south of 12 con., $20; Jo. Bennett, on loop line North of Learys, [illegible] to 12 con., $20; Wm. Kingan, on qr. road [illegible] 12 to 9 con., $20; Wm. Hopkins, on 13 con. from toll gate Northward, $10; Robt. Dunlop, on boundary line between [illegible] and Monaghan on 12 con., for gravelling [illegible]; [illegible] on boundary between Smith and Monaghan on lake road division No 3, $10; Robt. Goodfellow on boundary between North and South Monaghan, $10. In addition to this, section 24 of By-law 345 commits council for 1868 being repealed, by which the amount of $20 mentioned in said section of By-law will be expended on the drain road south of the corporation of Peterboro' to the 12 con., under the superintendence of commissioner John Hagarty.

The Assessor to deliver the assessment roll to the clerk on or before the 10th day of April according to statute.

Council adjourned to the first Saturday in May, at 9 o'clock, a. m., then to meet as a Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll and for the discharge of other township business.

DUMMER COUNCIL.

Dummer, Feb. 20th, 1869.

Council met pursuant to [illegible]—Present—D. Rose, Esq., Reeve, and Messrs. Wilson, Sprague, Ferguson and Payne.

Minutes of last meeting read and signed.

Ordered that the Auditors' Report of the Treasurer's accounts for 1868, as finally audited by Council, be received and adopted, that the clerk publish the Abstract in the "Peterboro' Review" and "Peterboro' Examiner," and have 50 copies of the detailed Statement, as directed by Council, printed at the "Examiner" Office.

The following amounts were ordered to be paid:—To Chris. Crow, for a sheep killed by dogs, $6.50; to Abraham Wigmore, Abatement of taxes for 1868, $2.69; to the clerk, for registering a road By-law, $2.

A By-law to provide regulations for the Inspector of Licenses was passed.

Council adjourned to the 27th inst., for the purpose of receiving applications for tavern and shop licenses, and other business.

RIGHTEOUS OVER MUCH.

The Rev. J. K. Smith, of Galt, has been cited before the Presbytery of the Canada Presbyterian Church, at Guelph, on several charges, which we give below in full:—

"We, the undersigned, beg to bring forth to the notice of your Presbytery, that for some months back doctrines have been taught and inculcated by the pastor of this church which are so Mormonism and diametrically opposed to the standards of the general church government of the C. P. C. that we cannot conscientiously adhere to this church as Presbyterian, if the views held and endorsed by the Rev. J. K. Smith of Galt, are considered as the correct tenets of your body, but believing as we do that your Presbytery has been misinformed with what is going on in your church here, we beg to lay before you the causes pointing to [illegible] some of the statements made and wholly endorsed by the Rev. J. K. Smith.

1st. That [illegible] believes and is saved, he has no warrant to pray for anything; that he is to quit the praying, reading his Bible and church publications, and [illegible] they, (the unconverted) might take them all and roll them into a bundle, and cast them away.

2nd. That the [illegible] overboard of the Confession of Faith, the Longer and Shorter Catechisms and the usual Journals contained therein, and [illegible] that doctrines would never save any souls, but were only stumbling blocks in the [illegible].

3rd. That Mr. Smith has fostered, encouraged and endorsed everything, or nearly so, that has been said by a person called Dougherty in the south of Plymouth [illegible] Brother, taking him and his doctrines into the church and in endorsing his speeches in such words as the following:—"If Paul has [illegible] to the Gospel, as it has been presented by my dear brother this night."

4th. That the [illegible] words as stated by the [illegible] stated [illegible] preaching and abusing of other clergymen of the town, who were denominated as preaching souls to hell, and wilfully misleading their people.

5. That many unsound, unscriptural doctrines have been taught in the building of Knox's Church, with the sanction and countenance of the Rev. Mr. Smith, which are highly calculated to mislead, confound, and utterly sap the fundamental tenets held by Presbyterians. Therefore, your humble petitioners would humbly pray that your Rev'd body would take the matter into your serious consideration, as we, among with large numbers of others, have no other resource but to bring this matter before your Rev'd Court, as Moderator of, and a member of the Session of Knox's Church, are the parties referred to in the charges."

(Signed)

GAVAN HUME,
MORRIS C. LUTZ,
W. W. LANGLAW,

of the Reverend the Guelph Presbytery in connection with the Canada Presbyterian Church, in the matter of the petition of Gavin Lindsay and Wm. Moore against the Rev. J. K. Smith, Galt:

In answer thereto, and in reference to the statement that I have taught Morrisonism and false doctrines, I beg to say that during the progress of the great work of God where with our community has been so highly blessed, no doctrine opposed to the standards of our church, or inconsistent therewith, has been taught by me, and particularly that none of the errors of Morrisonianism have been inculcated, but that the fundamental doctrines of Grace, in perfect accordance with the standards of our Canada Presbyterian church, have been set forth in those services and been, under God, blessed I believe to the spiritual edification of believers and the salvation of many souls.

1st. In reference to the first two statements made under this head, I distinctly affirm that no such statements were made by me or any other, and as to the third statement under this head, I as distinctly affirm that at these services no man was ever taught not to pray, not to read his bible, not to go to church, etc., but it was taught that the unbelieving sinner who may have been offering prayer, reading his bible, going to church, etc., must cease from and abandon these as any ground of trust before God, and depend for acceptance with God upon a thing else but the finished righteousness of the Lord Jesus Christ. During these services it has been plainly taught that it is the obligation of every person to pray, that the Gospel requires prayer to be offered up in faith through the mediation of Jesus Christ, that the prayer of unbelief is not acceptable prayer, inasmuch as by his unbelief the sinner puts his way to the throne of Grace, but that with the weakest faith the sinner may come acceptable to the throne of Grace. The burden of the teaching on the subject of prayer has been that as a proof of self righteousness, prayer must be given up, in the same way as faith itself is to be made the ground of the sinner's confidence before God. In dealing with sinners in the great matter of their personal salvation they have not been directed to put away to the performance of any duty but to come at once and accept of Christ, and that the first duty of the sinner is to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ to the salvation of his soul.

2nd. In reference to head No. 2, I beg to state that, so far as known to me, no reference has been made in those evangelistic services to the confession of faith and subordinate standard of our Church, certainly none of a disparaging nature, which assuredly I could not have made, as I most firmly adhere to them, and as assuredly would not have allowed to pass without remark if made by another. As to the statement that we have taught at those services that doctrines would never save any soul, I may say that I accept that as a truism, though I can scarcely imagine that ant such statement was ever made by me or any other, as it would have been holding the common sense of any man in very low estimation to suppose that he could imagine that doctrines of themselves, without personal belief in them, could save any soul. As to the statements that we have taught that doctrines are only a stumbling block in the way, I beg to say that nothing was ever said against doctrines as such, but against the trusting in doctrinal knowledge and intellectual acquaintance with gospel truths as a ground of peace before God.

3rd. In reference to head No. 3, I beg to state that, after being satisfied that the regular movement opening up in Galt was a work of God; after attending several of the evangelistic services which were being held; after personal conference with Mr. Russel as to the points of truth taught at those services; and after seeing testimonials of the most satisfactory description as to his moral character and evangelistic work in Scotland, I cordially invited him to carry on evangelistic services in Knox's Church, and that we have been closely associated in those services for many weeks; and I now beg to state to this presbytery that I thoroughly approved of the drift and burden of his teachings on the great matter of salvation for sinners through faith in the justifying righteousness of our Lord Jesus Christ.—That I cheerfully recognise him and his co-labourer, Mr. Carrol, as sent by God to accomplish a great spiritual work in our community. That they have set forth with admirable clearness, plainness, boldness and earnestness, the grand fundamental doctrines of the Gospel of Jesus Christ; and that having seen the stamp of God upon the labours of those Evangelists, and the seal of his spirit upon their earnestness and unflagging zeal in striving to win souls to Christ I cannot but bear my humble testimony, as I now do before God, to the self-denying and successful evangelistic labours of those beloved brethren. Hundreds upon hundreds in Galt, its neighbourhood, and other places, will, I am persuaded, rise up to call those men blessed at the great day of the Lord's coming.

I may state Mr. Russell disclaimed when he came to Galt, and still disclaims any connection with the Plymouth Brethren, or any denomination acting upon the principles of Richard Weaver and other Evangelists in the mother country; but by having no denominational relations, he will probably encounter less opposition and prejudice in his evangelistic labours.

4th. In reference to statements made by Mr. Russell in an address at one of the evangelical services, reflecting upon the attitude of Ministers in Galt towards this work of God, I beg to state that I made no reference whatever to those statements, either in the way of approving or condemning them, in any remarks which I made at the close of Mr. Russell's address. I may add that I still feel as I felt when the remarks referred to fell from Mr. Russell, that while I would not certainly have made the statements myself I have nothing to say, either in the way of justifying or condemning them; but leave the whole matter to Him who as between man and man can alone judge righteous judgment.

5th. The statements made under this head, being absolutely indefinite, need no reply. I may, however, state to the Presbytery, that in those Evangelistic services, there was no [illegible] of any doctrinal [illegible] to those statements of the [illegible] to the best of my [illegible] [illegible] spoken [illegible] every word that has been [illegible] the lips of speakers has been [illegible] carefully guarded against any possible misconstruction. It might be too much to say; but I am fully persuaded that the great burden of all the preaching for the three months past, has been in perfect accordance with the Gospel of Jesus Christ, and with the standards of our [illegible] Presbyterian Church.

(Signed) J. K. SMITH.
Pastor of Knox's Church, Galt.

The Presbytery dismissed the petition and continued Mr. Smith. The Presbytery also appointed a committee to proceed to Galt and to enquire into the rise, progress and present position of the revival. It is to be feared that too many have the form of godliness but oppose the power, and often, no doubt, in all good conscience. They cannot be all things to all men easily.

[illegible] "ague [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] about her. Her lord and master, in the gentlest whiteness of his collar as to wrist and bosom, and in the immaculate neatness and keeping of all his clerical, and the perfect peas of his grand, felt-lined overcoat, clerical wig, did honor to her conjugal care.

They moved through the room like a royal prince and princess, with an appropriate, gracious, well-considered word for each and every one. They even returned with punctilious civility the awe-struck obeisance of Black Caesar, who giggled over straightway with joy and exultation at the honor.

The spirit of the Proclamation concerning rum recreation received by universal custom a very liberal interpretation on Thanksgiving evening, when all sorts of wassail and jollity were held to be in keeping with the spirit of the hour.

My Uncle Bill, famous for his histrionic performances, related the history of 'The Plymouth Family,' with such twists and contortions and biting extremes of the ludicrous, as perfectly overcame even the minister, and he was to be seen, at one period of the evening, with a face purple with laughter and the tears actually rolling down over his well-formed cheeks, while some of the more excitable young people almost fell in trances, and rolled on the floor in the extreme of their merriment. In fact the assemblage was becoming so tumultuous that the scrape of Cæsar's violin and the forming of set for a dance seemed necessary to restore the peace.

Whenever or wherever it was that the idea of the sinfulness of dancing arose in New-England, I know not—it is a certain fact that at Old Town, at this time, the presence of the minister and his lady was not held to be in the slightest degree incompatible with this amusement.

We appeal to the memory of many of our readers, if they or their parents could not recall a time in New-England when, in all the large towns, dancing assemblies used to be stately held, at which the minister and his lady, though never uniting in the dance, always gave an approving attendance, and where all the decorous, respectable old church-members brought their children, and stood themselves to watch an amusement in which they no longer actively partook.

No one looked on with a more placid and patronizing smile, as one after another began joining the exercise, which, commencing first with the children and young people, crept gradually upward among the elders.

Uncle Bill would insist on leading out Aunt Lois, and the bright color rising to her thin cheeks brought back a fluttering image of what might have been beauty in some fresh, early day.

As to Uncle Eliakim, he jumped and frisked, and gyrated among the single sisters and maiden aunts, whirling them into the dance, as if he had been the little black gentleman himself. With that true spirit of Christian charity which marked all his actions, he invariably chose out the homeliest and most neglected for partners; and thus worthy Aunt Keziah, dear old soul! was for a time made quite prominent by his attentions.

Of course, the dances in those days were of a strictly moral nature. The very thought of one of the round dances of modern would have sent Lady Lathrop behind her big fan in helpless confusion, and exploded my grandmother like a full-charged arsenal of indignation.

As it was, she stood with her broad, pleased face radiant with satisfaction, as the wave of joyousness crept higher and higher around her, till the elders, who stood keeping time with their heads and feet, began to tell each other how they had danced with their sweethearts in good old days gone by. And the elder women began to boast of steps that they could take in their youth, till the music finally subdued them, and into the dance they went.

'Well, well!' quoth my grandmother, 'they're at it so hearty, I don't see why I shouldn't try it myself;' and into the Virginia reel she went, amid screams of laughter from all the younger members of the population.

But I assure you, my grandmother was not a woman to be laughed at, for whatever she once set on foot she 'put through' with a sturdy energy befitting a daughter of the Puritans.

'Why shouldn't I dance?' she said when she arrived, red and resplendent, at the bottom of the set. 'Didn't Mr. Despondency, and Miss Muchafraid, and Mr. Ready-to-halt, all dance together, in the Pilgrim's Progress?' And the minister, in his ample flowing wig, and my lady, in her stiff brocade, gave to my grandmother a solemn twinkle of approbation.

As nine o'clock struck, the whole scene dissolved and melted; for what well-regulated village would think of carrying festivities beyond that hour?

And so ended our Thanksgiving at Old Town.

WITTY THOUGHT WEARY.—An honest Hibernian whose bank pocket, to use his own phrase, had stopped payment was forced to the sad necessity of perambulating the streets two nights together, for lor the want of a few pence to pay his lodgings, when, accidentally hearing a person talking of the lying-in hospital he cried, "That's the place for me, for I have been lying out these two nights past."

A BASHFUL young man escorted an equally bashful young lady. As they approached the dwelling of the damsel she said, entreatingly, "Zekiel, don't tell anybody you beau'd me home." "Sary," said he, emphatically, "don't you mind. I am as much ashamed of it as you are.'

A NEW HAMPSHIRE editor, who has been keeping a record of big boots, announces at last that "the best that beat the best that beat the other best is now beaten by a boot that beats all the boots, whether the original best, the best that beat the best, or the best that beat the best that beat the best."

FEMININE WIT.—A fair one wrote to her lover, begging him to send her some money. She added by way of postscript, "I am so ashamed of the request I have made in this letter that I sent after the postman to get it back, but the servant could not overtake him."

YANKEE SUBLIMITY.—A New York paper says:—An winged lightenings dart from the heavens when the Eternal has unbarred their bolts, so does a fat niggar run like the Deuce when a big dog is after him.

An article, announcing the decease of a person, says:—"His remains were committed to that bourne whence no traveller returns accompanied by his friends."

A MAN out West, who offered bail for a friend, was asked by the judge if he had any incumbrance on his farm. "Oh, yes," said he, "my old woman."

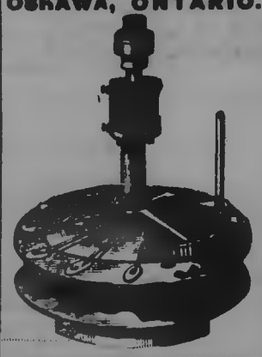
WHY is a peacemaker like a drunkard?—Because he takes the pledge, but cannot always keep it.

WHEN do flowers become highwaymen? When they show pistils and stamens.

WHEN does a ship tell a falsehood?—When she lies at the Wharf.

THE best head-quarter—Brains.

JOSEPH HALL
MACHINE WORKS!
ESTABLISHED 1851.
JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.
PROPRIETORS,
OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Dec. 28th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patters, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us therefor. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.
Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-13in

THE ÆTNA
LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Sole Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't.
P. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phenix Insurance Company,
BROOKLYN, N. Y.
OFFICES:
No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,
With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

Farm for Sale.

A DJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams: and two good frame barns, 50 x 36; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 6, 1868. 50

Galway Mining Company.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Dividend at the rate of Thirty per cent per annum, for the half year ending 18th January, 1869, has been declared on the capital paid in at that date, and that the same is payable at the Office of the Company, at Peterborough, on and after Monday, the Fifteenth day of February, 1869.

By order of the Directors.

JOHN BURNHAM,
Secretary & Treasurer.

Peterborough February 1, 1869. 6-3in

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Omemee and Peterboro.

The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterboro, January 13, 1869. 2

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to
T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26, 1868. 46

READY-MADE CLOTHING

OFFERING

VERY CHEAP

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats,
Winter Sack Coats,
Winter Shooting Coats,
Winter Pants and Winter Vests.

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

☞ BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterboro, January, 1869. 3

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES

GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,

From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lessin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. 37

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and Knitting Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

W. G. THOMSON & Co's

Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms

ARE NOW OPEN

WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN

Fall and Winter Goods.

☞ INSPECTION INVITED. ☜

Peterboro, Sept. 30, 1868. 40

JOHN BERTRAM,

Importer and Dealer in

BAR, ROD, HOOP & SHEET IRON

ENGLISH SHOE & CAST STEEL,

Anvils, Bellows, Stocks and Dies; Hand, Sledge and Blowing Hammers. Jowett & Firth's

Horse Rasps and Files,

Carriage Bolts made from Best Refined Iron. Proved Logging Chains, Tuttles Patent, Flint's Mortands & Robertson's Cross-Cut Saws, Machine Saws, Warranted Scalyards, Hay Knives,

Broad and Narrow Axes.

A complete Stock Hand Saws, Chisels, Gouges, Planes, Spirit Levels, and all kinds of Carpenters' Tools.

Pale Seal Oil, Leather Belting, Russian Hemp Rope.

Table and Pocket Cutlery, Electroplated and Albata Plate Spoons and Forks, E. P. Cruets, Cake Baskets, &c.,

JUST RECEIVED from Renwick-on-Tweed, 40 DOZEN of BLACK'S

Cast Steel Spades and Draining Tools

unsurpassed in quality.

JOHN BERTRAM,
Hardware Merchant, Peterborough.

Jan. 6th 1869. 2-tf

MILLER'S

Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS, Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 75c. and $1.00. A 25c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co.,
Proprietors.

187 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

Money! Money!

MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.

Apply to J. A. HALL,
At the Court House

Peterboro', May 8th, 1861. 19

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

BARLEY, OATS,
PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 24nd August, 1867. 34

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from R. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris. The said R. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.

Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

A HANDSOME

Christmas Gift.

AS Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your——, or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's, $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $26. Ditto with stand $33. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $45 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $55.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting.

Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

DOMINION HOUSE,

PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, January, 1869. 53

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR,

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the carefu preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 2-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. McFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1866. 35

Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

ORMOND & WALSH,

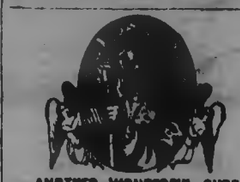
Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very liberal patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is complete with Drugs and Chemicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would particularly impress upon their Friends and the Public generally, the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent but also responsible for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labelled.

The undersigned being fully impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug Store, beg to assure their customers that Physicians prescriptions and Family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for faithfulness and correctness as to their requirements. Their Stock consists of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a respectable Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Coal Oil, Coal Lamps, &c., &c.

CHARLES ORMOND, | WILLIAM WALSH.

Peterboro', Jan. 15, 1869. 2-13in



ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

CONSUMPTION!

IN CANADA.

MESSRS YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different receipes, but all without any good effect. Espire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottle, at once, with the Pills; so soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing its use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER U. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman Peter U. V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am could at that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.

SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. H GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
C. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Bromo.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSHINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENKS, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MAGOR, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BRADDON, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAVIS, M. D., Coaticook.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MUSSY, M. D., Boston
W. MARSDEN M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
E. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c., &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely grey, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H. Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents

ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

Peterborough Examiner.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.) "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." (TERMS $1.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Vol. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 11, 1869. No. 10.

The Peterborough Examiner,

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL,

AND

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED AT

PETERBOROUGH,

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING,

EVERY Description of Book and Job Printing executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

Pamphlets, Circulars,
Handbills, Funeral Cards,
Invitations, Bill Headings,
Horse Bills, Show Bills,
General Bills, Programmes,
Posters, Stage Bills,
Business Cards, Blanks, &c.

—with every variety of Coloring and Bronzing Powders.

Lawyers blanks of every description, kept constantly on hand.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and carefully attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES STEVENSON,
DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,
DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand. ☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,
SADDLER, Dealer in Harness, Trunks, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,
PAINTER, Paper Hanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 18

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PANTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season. Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C. W.
Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO,
GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits.
A. SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank.

FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.
Wm. OGILVY, Agent.
Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,
PETERBOROUGH.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

From this date until further notice, the rate of interest in the above department will be

FIVE PER CENT.
PER ANNUM.
D. S. EASTWOOD,
Manager.
Peterboro', April 1st, 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.

ALL payments to be made on account of the
ONTARIO GOVERNMENT!
MAY BE MADE TO THE
Royal Canadian Bank
And Its Agencies.
E. B. WOOD,
Treasurer of Ontario.
Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,
TOBACCONIST,
George Street, Peterborough, Ont.
March 12, 1868. 11-1y

GEORGE ALLEN,
GUN & WHITE-SMITH,
Hunter Street, Peterborough,
BEGS to inform the public that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and Whitesmithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired.
☞ Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.
Peterboro, October 25, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,
DENTIST,
Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.
D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodians of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodian, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.
Peterboro', February 5, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!
Teeth Extracted Without Pain
D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.
Peterboro, November 28 1866. 48

REMOVAL.

DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hazlitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.
Peterboro, July 8, 1868. 26

R. S. HOWELL,
FORWARDER,
Commission Merchant,
AND
GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT.
Dealer in Lumber, &c.,
PORT HOPE, ONT.

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.
D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor.
Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 39

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE
LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,
AND
Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

On and after the FOURTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Lindsay, Depart ..... 9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11.35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 1 10 p. m

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 4 25 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.
Lindsay, Depart ..... 12.35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 4 20 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 5.45 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 7 20 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Peterborough, Depart ..... 3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 4 20 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 5.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11 35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.
Peterborough, Depart ..... 5.30 a. m.
Millbrook ..... 6 30 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 8.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 1.15 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 2.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 3.20 "

A. T. WILLIAMS,
Superintendent.
May 30, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

TRAINS LEAVE
PORT HOPE STATION
AS FOLLOWS:

GOING EAST.
Express (day) ..... 9 30 a. m.
Mixed ..... 7.00 p.m.
Express (night) ..... 9.20 p.m.

GOING WEST.
Express (night) ..... 10.30 p.m.
Mixed ..... 3.00 p.m.
Express (day) ..... 10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time
Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

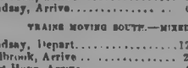
GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
OF CANADA.

TORONTO LINE.

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.
Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 3.30 p.m. and 6.55 p.m.
Express at 12 55 p.m.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.
Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.30 a.m. and 7.25 p.m.
Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME
IN THE
Norwood and Peterboro'



STAGE.

ROYAL MAIL LINE!

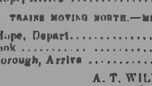
LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a. m.

LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.

Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates
J. A. JOHNSON,
Proprietor
Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.

Rates of Passage from Peterboro':
CABIN, - - $[illegible]88. STEERAGE, $30.
Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.
For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to
GEORGE A. COX, Agent.
Canadian Express Co'y.
Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,
No. 20 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.
JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.
This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Stations, Steamboat Landings and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is liberally patronized by business men generally. ☞ Fare $1.50 per Day. 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,
WALTON STREET,
PORT HOPE, ONT.
T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.
Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,
CLERK of the Peace. Office 4th Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,
COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,
BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 39

SCOTT & GREEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public, Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
WILLIAM BERACHE SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Cluxton's, George street, Peterborough.
Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

DENNISTOUN, FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
BARRISTERS, &c.,
Hunter Street, Peterborough.

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law,
SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,
Conveyancers, &c.,
Peterborough, Ontario.
T. M. FAIRBAIRN, ROBERT CASSELS, JR.

DR. DEAN,
Keene

J. O'SULLIVAN, M. D., L. R. C. P. S., I
Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR.
Coroner for County of Peterborough
Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 21-tf

J. BINGHAM, M. D., L. R. C. P. S.
GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and
LICENTIATE
Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.
Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.
December 16, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,
Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.
Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.
Ashburnham, October 23, 1867. 43

J. W. GILMOUR,
DRUGGIST, Chemist and Seedsman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 18

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 18

ALEX. MCNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and townships of Cavan and South Monaghan.
OFFICE AND STORE, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'.
Nov. 27, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clark, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,
INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.
Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

GEORGE BROWNLEE,
ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

Poetry.

LASTING IMPRESSIONS.

You may gaze upon an object
Till its likeness you retain,
And through distance, and through darkness
You behold that form again;
So I ponder on thy goodness
Till there grew about my heart
Many never dying feelings
Which make up its better part.

You may listen to a measure,
Till its sentiment and tone
Find a hiding place within you,
And the song becomes your own;
So I treasured up thy sayings
And now, in my own, I find
The echoes of thy accents,
The reflections of thy mind!

There are perfumes we remember
When their sources are no more;
There are flavours that will linger
When the banqueting is over;
So, the charms thy presence yielded
Have outlived thy honied breath,
And my soul, that feasted freely,
Will partake of them till death!

Selections.

SPASMODIC VIRTUE.

(From the Saturday Review)

As we said nice may very well entrust its interests to the generous consideration of society. It is true that we have never heard the voice of society, in its recognised organs in the press, more unanimously, more impressively, or more eloquently virtuous. The other day, for example, the new Gorse ment, falling into the fashion of the hour issued the edict that is to save their civil servants from their own imprudence and the claws of the usurers. Forthwith the press, to a journal we believe, preached us enthusiastic sermons on that text, pregnant with the loftiest wisdom. As we read, we felt the deepest admiration for their costly self-abnegation. We turned with interest and pity to the advertising columns to see what filled the blank where, paragraph after paragraph, the fowlers used to spread their snares. We found, to our shame, that our fanciful ideas about consistency had duped us; for there in the old place, and by way of comment on the admirable leader, were the rival buildings of the benevolent capitalists who offer you anything from £10 to £10,000 on your note of hand, sent by cheque or Post-office order. We know no more austere moralist than the journal that opens its hospitable columns as the chosen organ of the maisons d' accouchment et avortement; of the model baby-farm where the air is as deadly as in the Pontine marshes. The grim austerity of its virtue is only equalled by the blaze of gorgeous word-painting and the wealth of Oriental imagery with which it inculates it. Its backbiters may liken it to Satan in the robes of a fairy or to Dr. Dodd with the forged bills in his pockets, drawing tears from the eyes of his rapt congregation. What is certain is that preachers of this sort are in admirable keeping with their flocks, and that pastor and people thoroughly understand each other. On their pedestals of virtue readers shudder pleasantly at the dramatic picture of nightly orgis in the Haymarket, worked up with a thousand prurient touches. They chorus their bluff Brityish indignation in response to the manly outburst of the worthy magistrate who characterized Mr. Brooke's little entertainment as odious "bestiality." And on the same evening the family is to be seen filling a box at the theatre—the British Cornelia surrounded by her jewels—children from the nursery, girls from the schoolroom débutantes in the first freshness of their youth; while a sprinkling of men—brothers, lovers, or acquaintances—are grouped in the background. If the young ladies and the boys do not pluck some fruit from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil—rather more evil than good perhaps—it is not the fault of the mother who takes them there. To say nothing of the ballets, where the poetry of art elevates your soul above the gross suggestion of the senses, the manager relies for his effects on the female form, tastefully disposed in every conceivable combination; its nudity just sufficiently relieved by dress and veiled by a gauzy to leave it fascinatingly suggestive instead of repellingly coarse. "Startling effects," indeed, as the playbills advertise them, would they have been to the last generation. Nowadays these things are taken as matters of course, although it would puzzle an intelligent Fiji Islander to know why we should scout as barbarous the costume of the ladies in his family, whose simple toilets of bead necklaces and shell girdles are sanctioned by climate and immemorial custom, while our own women are encouraged to undrape themselves for show and not for comfort. Probably the breath of the anathema will narrow itself in time. Sensible girls cannot help reflecting that if there is no impropriety in the freest display of the leg on the stage, it is absurd to be prudish about their ankles in private; and the argument, if good for so much, is good for more. Indeed, reasonable parents begin to admit this; and the present excessively patents begin to admit that; and the present excessively decollete fashion of their daughters' dresses marks a decided step in the inevitable direction. Then there can be no better school for sharpening the faculties than bringing your daughters to hear the doubles entendres that salt so plentifully many of our most successful plays. It gives them all the excitement of guessing conundrums for prizes of forbidden fruits. La glace se fond vite au Palais Royal, we recollect hearing in a piece played at that genial theatre, and certainly the sensuous atmosphere of a London playhouse is just the temperature in which the forbidding coldness of virgin purity is likely to warm and dissolve. But if innocent girls may see and hear things like these and take no harm, why be so hard on poor Mr. Brooke and his satisfied chorus?

We have succeeded so far already that we may defy the most experienced roue to judge us by appearances. In other days there was something so distinctive in the dress and manner of the lorette that it was impossible for the goats to huddle themselves unobserved among the sheep. Now the whole young-lady world may be equally proper, or improper, for anything you can say to the contrary. Take a man about town of a few years ago, and wake him up from a Rip Van Winkle slumber in a fashionable church, lighted for afternoon service. Let his eyes wander over the wilderness of faded and badly-matched chignons and the indescribable cut of those dresses that display the form in a gross harshness of outline, and were it not that the devotees had got prayer-books instead of tea-cups in their hands, his first impression would be that he had got into a midnight meeting of Magdalens. A study of the pews would confirm him in the idea that half-repentant St. John's Wood had had for excitement from the Argyle to the Alter. Go to the Crystal Palace on a Saturday afternoon, and you find that the delicate good taste of our ladies has nearly succeeded in putting their erring sisters quite at their ease. It is impossible for uncharitable virtue to take to throwing stones, for, as far as exterior go, it may unawares be stoning incarnate propriety as it masquerades in the trappings of the Haymarket.

Much unpleasantness is thus spared to familiar, for you cannot be expected to know all the acquaintances your son has made, and the ladies he is escorting must certainly be assumed to be all they ought to be, for in dress and demeanour they are the very counterparts of his sisters. You do occasionally see a hideous dowdy from the country, with her own hair simply done, neither docked, nor frizzled, nor plastered, not supplemented; her cheeks fresh from the bath instead of the powder-box, and her figure draped in the exploded graces of the dresses of a few years back. She has no sort of manner; instead of giggling or shrieking, she talks in a subdued tone; she blushes, as well she may, and she has at least the grace to be conscious of the absurd appearance she makes, for she drops her eyes to the critical stare of the amateur instead of ogling him in defiant challenge in return. But even in the most select places of entertainment it is hopeless altogether to exclude improper characters, and the sight of an occasional object of pity and disgust—the reflection of a horrible fate—is useful as indicating the progress we have made, and as stimulating us to persevere in the path we are pursuing.

Consul for the Fenians in the United States.

Feinnism is evidently not yet dead, although we once hoped that the Fenians had gained sufficient experience in their former attempts to achieve something of practical importance to their organization, to be slow to repeat such suicidal experiments looking to the capture either of Ireland or Canada, or any other British possession. It seems, however, that there are still misguided persons in this country who are ready to undertake some rash venture of the kind, regardless of the inevitable consequence. Otherwise what can the following advertisement, which recently appeared in the New York Sun mean?

"TO EARNEST IRISH NATIONALISTS.—All Irishmen of action, desirous of taking part in the Irish Naval Expeditionary Corps, now organizing, are requested to communicate at once with Wm. J. O'Connell, Secretary, 323 West 21st St., New York City. Men of nautical experience are particularly called on."

The reporter of the paper referred to, who sought an interview with the advertiser, tells us that 'we have an expedition on foot now which has been inspired by the thunder of G. F. Train's guns, and which is to make things hot for Buttannia where she least expects it. Determined Irishmen are organizing a band of experienced soldiers and sailors for a long and daring naval cruise. The first is nearly complete, and the persons are unknown even to Marshal Murray's deputies. The movers are true Fenians, and have no idea of sleeping while any of their countrymen are immured in British prisons. The precise object they decline to state, but, but indirectly that a good fleet vessel with a heavily armed crew and a marine corps could make a sensation on the coast of Australia or a West India Island. Like Paul Jones, they might land on the sands of the West Indies, make a raid into the interior, and carry off the plate of some English magnat.'

This, together with the meeting of the Irish Nationalists at the Cooper Institute of the 15th inst., shows that the Fenian element in this city is at present more active that usual of late. It is needless to say, however, that the wrongs of Ireland, real or supposed, cannot be redeemed by any such expeditions as that here spoken of; but if any such ill-advise not to say insane project is on foot, the attention of the United States Government should be directed to it at once, both for the sake of those engaged in it, who would be courting the fate of pirates, and to preserve the peace between the two great sections of the Anglo Saxon race. The Sister Isle cannot possibly be benefitted by such schemes as have thus far been set on foot for her peaceful liberation from the yoke of England, and the most intelligent part of the Irish people, have no sympathy with them. The Fenians will ultimately discover that they can gain nothing by employing physical force against the British Government, and the tendency of British legislation is now so strongly in favor of Ireland, that the Irish in the course of time will be left without a grievance. The pacific solution of the Irish question will leave the Fenians with their occupation gone, and bind Ireland to England by friendly as well as political ties. The Fenians of to day may deny the possibility of this, but time works wonders, and there if no stronger reasons to be urged against the fusion of the English and Irish elements than there were at one time against the English and Scotch and yet the Scotch people are now amongst the firmest supporters of the English Government. England, Scotland and Ireland, will yet be a happy family, politically and otherwise, and Feinnism is a mere bugbear.—N. Y. Albion.

IN EASTERN WATERS.

A correspondent of the London Times gives a very interesting account of a canoe voyage through Egypt and Syria, from which we make the following extract:—

"My canoe was carried by railway from Suez to Cairo with much difficulty and expense. The natives laughed at me for "buying tickets" as a passenger, it being the constant practice on that line to bribe the guard with 5f. and travel as one likes.

"The voyage on the Nile through the Delta was charming. Free a day, floating on the beautiful river, I always found my tent ready at night, with the English ensign in the luggage boat, or a lantern if it was dark. The fertility of this region is beyond description, but the people are filthy and ill-looking, though the cotton crop now gives much employment, and close to the still and quant ruins of ancient cities we see steamboats pass, and hear the shrill note of a railway and busy wheel of English cotton gins, and pumping engines from Lincolnshire. At Mansourah the canoe was transported to the Zoser river, and I hired a new luggage boat, until, paddling through the field of Zoar, I transferred the Rob Roy to Lake Menzaleh, braved as a sea, and with innumerable islands, and myriads of water fowl, flamingoes, and pelicans, and fish so plentiful that you catch them with unbaited hooks. Here I visited Materiah, the Venice of Egypt, built on two islands, and wholly immersed in fish. The Governor visited my boat with his suite, as indeed, was the case in most towns. Then the canoe went up the river Mureus, that I might see the wonderful remains at Zan, the Zoar of old, only seven years younger than Hebron, and yet until three years ago buried in the sand. Thenceforward slaves, statues, and cisterns here and at Beb el Hygar—another place seldom seen by travellers—are quite enough to reward a tour in the Delta, and they lose little even when compared with the sights of the higher Nile. After an active week with rod and gun on Lake Menzaleh I sailed to Port Said.

"From Egypt the Rob Roy was taken to Beyrout, and I brought her safe over Mount Lebanon, through snow a foot deep, until we launched her on the river Abana, which bore me swiftly through the magnificent gorge of Deomar to the plain of Damascus. I paddled at night into the town, under the bridges, up to the Pacha's Palace, and then rested the canoe on the water in the marble basin of the hotel, where many visitors came to see her, among others the Pasha and his suite and the English Consul, Mr. Rogers, who is about to change his post of duty to Cairo, and who will leave a blank here not to be easily supplied.

"The canoe was next carried on a pony's back through the crowded bazaars until again she floated on the Abana, and in two days more I reached the mouth of the river and camped in a desolate marsh for Christmas. Panthers, hyenas, and other wild beasts are said to be common here, but I feared more than these the wild boars, for if wounded they would pursue me in shallow water, and one thrust of the tusk would finish my voyage. I saw hundreds of the tracks of the boars in the reeds, but never was the water deeper than two feet. The only boat that had ever been on this lake of Atelieh was lost the first day three years ago, and after a fortnight the dead bodies of three men in it were discovered, by offering a large reward to a man who went out naked upon a raft of reeds to search.

"After the first ten minutes on this lake I became invisible to those on shore for the whole day, being concealed by the dense reeds, through which I steered by compass, and placed cotton rags on the higher plants at intervals, to show me the way for my return. Next the Rob Roy went to the Pharpar, which river is far less interesting than the Abana. It has few on it, little game, and winds excessively, but is monotonously tame. This falls into Lake Hijarieh, upon which I spent two delightful days and, crossing it, landed the Rob Roy canoe in the Hauran. To come thus to this dangerous, desolate region was, of course, utterly without precedent; and, leaving the canoe, I ran quickly up the nearest hill and gazed over the vast wilderness upon the ruins of the "giant cities of Bashan" and on the two other I kes marked vaguely on some maps, or distinctly (and then quite wrong) upon others. I took compass bearings from the shore and the lakes in every part, but the details of these, which will be useful to geographers, I need not enter upon here.

"There is much open water upon Lake Hijarieh, but the weeds cover five-sixths of its surface. These weeds are about ten feet high, several that I measured were 12 feet, yet the canoe easily penetrated the dense covering, and thousands of water fowl rose as she passed into their thickest haunts. In one part I came to an island with ruins of basalt and scores of boar tracks, and the soil all torn up by their tusks. In another I entered a channel and went with the current until this was too strong to justify hopes of returning against it by nightfall. The canoe was, of course, ready for a night bivouac, and with provisions for two days, and I found quite invaluable the little "canoe cousine" (made for me at Hepburn's, in Chancery lane), which I can carry in my pocket ready to provide a hot meal anywhere, and in any weather, in less than ten minutes. The country east of the lakes is a bare desert, without one tree, and named "The Road of the Robbers." I landed on this, and walked a long way in the bright sunny day, being quite safe for a retreat to my boat if the wildest Arab approached, and safe, too, from his gun, for in a few minutes I could hide in the screen of reeds on the water.

"All this region, though so near Damascus, is unknown and unsafe. I had to take two soldiers (mounted well, but wretchedly armed), for in the 11 days spent in these excursions, and the newspapers (Arabic) here and at Beyrout are about to caroborate the discoveries made in their territory by a foreigner, which may be briefly summed up as follows:

1. The Abana has three mouths, but the largest is not near Harrna (as in Vandevelde's excellent map), but near Hush Hammer. These flow into a marsh which has no outlet. It is wrongly called a lake, for so no part is there a hundred yards of open water at all seasons.

2. The Pharpar has two months, but the larger is the southern one, to the south of Kaseein, and not near Vandevelde. These both fall into Lake Hijarieh, which is rightly called a lake, with an average of five feet of depth, plenty of open water, and an overflow into another lake (Aayah Hauael, not Bela, as in Vandevelde). Also the Lake Mairh Brak is only a marsh and the river Kunneifa was perfectly dry when I crossed its bed twice in a short excursion to the first at the Giant cities, Brak.—Since Porter's description of these—that is to say, three years ago, this wonderful stone town' can no longer be regarded as uninhabited. An Arab has come to it from Aleppo, and gathered 100 people round him, who now occupy the ancient dwellings as long tenantless. In a few years more the houses will be plastered, and the adornment of the sight will be destroyed.

"Being in light marching order, with only saddle-bags, I put up in the Sheikh's house. We entered the yard through a gate with a stone door still turning on its hinges as it may have done in the days of Abraham. I slept in a room with stone rafters, each 10 feet long, and a window having its shutter one slab of stone. I had brought with me half of a Times, kindly sent from England, and here in Bashan I read of the English elections and of Mr. Bright as a Cabinet Minister.

"It was, indeed, a strange sensation when I closed this window for the night, and the heavy slab turned easily by a push from one of my fingers. Mr. Rogers has sent to the British Museum one of these extraordinary slab doors, about six inches in thickness; also a copy of the inscription on a stone in the particular house, which is in Greek, and dated, I believe, more than 2,000 years ago.

"I visited a number of villages in the plain of Damascus. The people there are handsome; many of them are tattooed. They wore very brilliant colours, chiefly red (as in Egypt one sees always blue), and long red boots turned up at the ends. They are strong, healthy, good humored, and intelligent. Their houses are of mud, but not very dirty. They ran in crowds along the rivers while the canoe passed, but when it was on shore (and wrapped in carpets) it was constantly supposed to be a coffin, and several times the women shrieked as I took off the cover and launched the boat. Blessed with fine wealth and perfect health, I have enjoyed this canoe voyage in Syria and Egypt to the highest degree, and once more over the spurs of Hermon, which is now all white in snow, I hope to launch the Rob Roy on Lake Huleh, and then descend the sacred Jordan.

I WISH I HAD CAPITAL.

So we heard a great strapping young man exclaim the other day in an office. We did want to give him a piece of our mind so bad; and we'll just write to him. You want capital, do you? Haven't you got hands and feet and muscle, and bond, and brains, and don't you call them capital? What more did God give anybody? Oh, but they are not money, say you. But they are more than money, and nobody can take them from you. Don't you know how to use them? If you don't, it's time you were learning. Take hold of the first plow, or hoe, or jack-plane, or broad-axe you can find, and go to work. Your capital will yield you a large interest. Aye, but there's the rub!—You don't want to work; you want money on credit, that you may play the gentleman and speculate, and end by playing the vagabond. Or you want a plantation with plenty of darlings upon it to do the work, while you run over the country and dissipate; or you want to marry some rich girl who may be fool h enough to take you for your good looks, that she may support you. Shame on you young man. Go to work with the capital you have, and you will soon make interest enough upon it to give you as much money as you want, and make you feel like a man. If you can't make money on what capital you have, you could not make it if you had a million dollars in money.—If you don't know how to use bone and muscle and brains, you would not know how to use gold. If you let what capital you have be idle and waste and rust out, it would be the same thing with you if you had gold! you would only know how to waste it. Then don't stand about idle, a great helpless child, waiting for somebody to come and feed you but go to work. Take the first work that you can find, no matter what it is, so long as you do it well; always do your best. If you manage the capital you will soon have plenty more to manage; but if you can't or won't manage the capital God has given you, you will never have any other to manage. Do you hear young man?

The Paris Figaro says; 'Two friends met in the street. 'What a shocking bad hat you wear!' exclaims one of them. 'My dear friend, I like my own liberty.' 'But what on earth has your liberty to do with that hat?' 'Oh, a great deal, my wife has sworn she will never walk out with me as long as I shall wear such a hat.'

A story is going the rounds of a party of ladies who were caught in a shower having the colour washed from their cheeks. A lady at our elbow thinks the colour of some of the gentlemen's noses would not be washed out without a water-spout.

The Dublin news-boys shout, "Glorious news from Tipperary! Another landlord shot!" whenever a murder of that sort is committed.

At a ball in Fosterburg, near Alton, Ill., given a few nights since, five, or six persons drank poisoned liquor, two of whom died.

A boy in Brentwood, England, recently snapped a pistol at the head of a woman. It was not loaded, but the woman fell dead—killed by imagination.

A LAND OF DEATH.

A BLACK SHADOW ON THE PACIFIC COAST. FRAFFUL RAVAGES OF THE SMALL POX IN CALIFORNIA.

(Correspondence of the New York Sun.)

Early in December the small pox broke out in San Francisco. At first but little attention was paid to it beyond the ordinary course of vaccination. But the disease grew virulent and many deaths occurred. Through some fatal mistake, numbers of persons were vaccinated with impure matter, and the ordinary medical treatment seemed to have scarcely any effect upon the disease. So fatal were its ravages that public attention was immediately drawn to it. The people became excited, and a large meeting was held to devise means to stop the the spread of the contagion. The proceedings of this meeting were published in the San Francisco journals, but they were toned down to a moderate degree, through fear of effecting the usual influx of winter and spring immigration. People's sense of appeal to cover up the fearful ravages of the disease and to conceal its deadly character. The streets are filled with funerals, and the grave-diggers have no hands and graves full. In some cases burials are made by night. Despite every precaution the contagion remains as deadly as ever and though it can scarcely be said to be increasing, its decline is hardly perceptible. All the post house are full. Fathers and children, mothers, brothers and sisters are dying daily and nearly every person in the city has lost some acquaintance or relation. The Chinese have suffered terribly. Their native doctors have neither experience nor common sense in the treatment of small pox, and as a natural consequence three out of every five of their patients run into eternity. But the ravages of the epidemic are not confined to San Francisco. Nearly the whole state is infected, and some towns have been decimated by the pestilence. Thus far, Sacramento, Marysville and Stockton have escaped the malignant type of the disorder, but it has run through the lower counties of the state like a tornado. In Gilroy and Los Angeles it has been fatal beyond precedent, and San Francisco can be called reasonably healthy when its death rate is compared with that of the other towns. Some of those affected appear to toil by inches, in spite of every available prescription. The physicians stand aghast. In some cases vaccination appears to have entirely lost its power, and men, women and children with vaccine scars on their arms as large as twenty shilling pieces have fallen victims to the epidemic. Hospitals have been hastily finished and every effort has been made in these towns to stay the progress of the disease, but thus far, with little effect.—Whole families have died. In one instance a father and four children died within twenty-four hours, and in a hotel at Los Angeles nine persons were buried within a week. But the plague spot of the State, thus far, has been that of San Juan, in Monterey county, some one hundred miles from San Francisco. The town contains a thousand persons.—The alarming accounts of the mortality in San Francisco and Gilroy excited some apprehension, and an effort was made to prevent the appearance of the epidemic in San Juan. A man came down from the grapes growing district of Sonoma County, and registered his name in the hotel. When questioned concerning the small pox in the house he acknowledged its fatal incidence and said that fearing he might catch it, he had taken precaution to be vaccinated before leaving home. In twenty-four hours his arm swelled to the size of his body, and was covered with gangrenous sores. An examination by the physicians resulted in the discovery of the fact that the man had actually been inoculated with the most malignant type of the small pox. He died a sickening mass of putrifaction within forty-eight hours, and was buried at midnight.—Steps were taken on the instant to prevent the spread of the disease.—The dead man's blankets, underclothes and other garments were hid well; but unfortunately, some echo'l children discovered the half-burned rags and caught the infection. In one week numbers of them died, and the epidemic obtained a firm foot hold in San Juan. Out of a population of one thousand four hundred were taken down with small pox, and of these four hundred persons, one hundred and sixty died. This is a fearful rate of mortality, and I doubt whether the annals of this loathsome disease can surpass it. In some country towns, away from the reach of skilful doctors, and where the proper medicines are scarce, two-thirds of the cases prove fatal. Throughout the State the mortality has been unprecedented. I have thought it my duty to give your readers this information, because of the position throughout California to keep the whole thing as quiet as possible. It is proper that people intending to come to California from the States should be made acquainted with the facts, and I send them to you, earnestly hoping that you will obtain them before your readers. The truth has been too long concealed.

A small party of English gentlemen, headed by Capt. Ashland passed through Washington, last Fall, with dogs, guns and other sporting requisites, intending to spend some time in the pursuit of game among the mountains of the Blue Ridge. They were so well pleased with the country that a large tract of land has been purchased near Gainesville, on the Manassas Railroad, and two of the party have left for Europe, for the purpose of bringing out a small colony of English emigrants. It is expected to arrive about the 1st of April.

BUTTER-MAKING IN WINTER.—Keep the animals warm, feed three times a day, give some roots, and plenty of cornmeal or the ground or made by grinding oats and barrowfat peas together. When the milk is strained set the pan on the stove and warm the milk slowly; when as hot to the finger can easily be borne, set the pans away in a room not cold enough to freeze. Keep the creampot moderately warm.

A MODEL LADY.

ONE WHO COULD MAKE HER OWN WAY IN THE WORLD—A VICTORIOUS STRUGGLE FOR LIFE.

The New York correspondence of Providence Press gives the following story of an energetic woman:

"She was born a 'lady,' as the world says. She had a loving father, who spared no means to give her the brilliant accomplishments of her station. She had a troop of lovers—gay flatterers around her beauty and wealth. One she married, and rich and imposing was the wedding. But the married life turned out unhappily. The husband after spending the fortune of his wife in reckless living and involving the father in debt, ran away at last and left the young mother of his child alone, with his debts and disgrace, and her own sad heart to endure, to work for a living as best she could or starve if work she could not.—The deserted woman pined away at first, and shed bitter tears, and became faded and broken. One day she awoke to the stern fact that she must work or starve.—She could go back to her father, and her pride kept her from former friends.—What did she do? In vain she told over her list of talents. Every chance seemed closed to her. By sewing she could not earn enough to live and pay her rent. Her music she had neglected after marriage.—The doting father had given her ornament and frills in her education—nothing to which she could put hands to for support. At this time a man said to her "Come down to my farm this season, and work in the strawberry field." Nothing but dire necessity made her go. The man was kind to her, and made the work light. All the season she worked for him, and in the open air, and with that plain, regular living, her heart came back to her. She became healthful and hopeful, as in former days.—There was chance, then the season was over, she said to her employer, 'Take me into your business! I have shown you what I can do. My past life I shall drop. I will become a business woman.' He thought she was jesting at first; but she was in earnest. Her offer was accepted. For three years this woman acted as clerk, and manager for one of the large produce raisers of Jersey. The details of the business came into her hands. No better salesman than she, and no better executive. At last she bought an interest, afterwards half of the business. It seemed as if her whole life had been led by somebody else; from being a nervous, timid woman, she grew into a sound, brisk, labo ous worker. She made a good home in Jersey for her child and aged father. And to-day there is no more popular dealer in the market, and no more capable woman in New York, and no finer appearing lady anywhere than the self-made woman, who can daily be seen managing her extensive business in Washington Market, associating with market men but never forgetting, nor do they, that she is a lady, and commanding all the respect due to her sex."

An Interesting History.

Among the schools of Chicago, is an elderly lady—the mother of five interesting children. She was the first born of the late Thomas H. Benton, one of the most distinguished senators of the United States. In her young days she was the belle of Washington city, carrying away the palm from the dark eyed daughters of the South and the rosy cheeked damsels of the North. She gave her love to a young gentleman—then a clerk in one of the offices of Washington. Her father knew the youth and recognized his abilities, and when he solicited the daughter's hand it was cheerfully given. The wedding was a brilliant one, many of the great men of the country being present to wish them joy and cheer them at the commencement of their domestic voyage. The young husband was shortly afterward admitted to the bar of the United States Supreme Court and was soon recognized as one of most prominent members. For many years he practiced his profession with great success, and was on the high road to wealth and fame. Then came the discovery of gold in California and the consequent rush of emigrants to the new El Dorado. Among those who determined to go to California was the husband. He consonsulted with his wife, and she like a true woman, decided to accompany him.

Together they came to California, where the husband soon took a leading position at the bar, and amassed a fortune. But, he became a confirmed drunkard, lost his practice, mortgaged his property, died, leaving his wife with one child without a dollar. The noble woman immediately took in sewing to earn a living, but found that she could hardly keep soul and body together by that means. Some friends of her father and husband offered to aid and assist her, but she would receive nothing so long as she could help herself. She, however, would be thankful for assistance in procuring her a position as teacher in one of the public schools. She was appointed, and is now engaged in the public school of this city, teaching a primary. A sad change in the fortunes of one who started in life with such brilliant prospects.

Growth of Catholicism in New England.

The Boston Journal has the following from Manchester, N. H.

Within the last half century there has been rapid growth of manufactures in New England, until now, in productive power and in political and social influence, it is the leading interest. Of her population of three and a half millions, at least one third are supported by manufacturing. This rapid growth of manufacturing towns employing to a large extent foreign laborers most of them Irish, the Roman Catholics in all the manufacturing districts. In Lowell, Lawerence, Biddeford, Lewiston, Dover and Nashua they are now more numerous than any other individual sect. Accommodation which in New Hampshire, had no existence thirty years ago, is to-day the leading religious body in her most populous and thrifty city.

I cannot give a clearer view of the religious aspect of the growing towns of this section than by describing those of Manchester, whose people are a fair representative of the entire class. There is in this city of twenty-six thousand people, twelve churches or religious societies. Of these two are Roman Catholic, two Congregational, two Universalist, two Methodist, one Episcopalian, one Unitarian, one Calvinistic Baptist, and one Free Will Baptist. Beside these there is a small circle of Spiritualists and one of Adventists. The Catholic churches are the largest and best attended. One of them, just completed, is the costliest and most splendid church edifice in the State. The Catholic population of the city numbers seven thousand, and the church attendance is nearly half that number.

It is estimated that not more than six thousand, of the nineteen thousand Protestant population of this city attend church, or have any connection with any religious organizations. I am safe in saying, at least, this much, that less than half of this people, who are of suitable age to attend church, ever enter a religious meeting of any kind.

CHURCH TROUBLE.

CATHOLIC CHURCH CONTROVERSY AT AUBURN—A PRIEST EXPELLED FROM THE ALTAR.

Auburn, N. Y. Monday, Feb. 22.

There was great excitement in the Catholic Church in this city yesterday morning. A large number of Catholics assembled at 8 o'clock to resist the action of Bishop McQuaid in removing the old pastor Rev. Thomas O'Flaherty, who has labored among them twenty three years, and to whom a large majority of the Catholics of this city are warmly attached. The people after assembling, resolved themselves into a meeting, and unanimously condemned the action of the Bishop and refused to permit him or his appointee, Rev. M. Kavanagh, to say mass. A large number pushed their way to the altar, and taking the latter by the arm, led him out of the church. It was feared that violence would be committed on him; but, by the interposition of Father O'Flaherty, it was prevented. After the Bishop and Father Kavanagh left the church, the assembly unanimously resolved to hold an other meeting at 11 o'clock.—At that hour over one thousand Catholics assembled, and passed a series of resolutions declaring a determination to stand by their old pastor, and strongly condemning the action of the Bishop, and expressing their determination no longer to submit to abuses of what they termed a one man power in the United States; but to appeal at once to the ecclesiastical authorities of the country, and, if necessary, to Pope Pius IX. Addresses were made by influential Catholics, sustaining the resolutions, which, on a vote, were adopted without a dissenting voice. Further trouble is anticipated, as the meeting resolved the new pastor should not be permitted to occupy the parsonage.

CONVENT LIFE—STRANGE ACTION BY A SISTER OF MERCY.

A strange case came before the Queen's Bench, in London, on Wednesday the 3rd inst. One Catholic lady, by the name of Saurin, a member of the convent at Hull, brought an action against two others—one of them Mrs. Star her lady superior—for assault, libel and the detention of certain articles of clothing—all charges arising out of the expulsion of Miss Saurin from the convent for alleged improprieties, which expulsion, she declares, was calculated to injure her character, and was effected by unlawful means. The case is full of details, and it is likely to occupy some time. The ladies have lived together in one convent for many years, and had once been on the best of terms. Their quarrel may prove instructive; not that it is likely to reveal to us any of the 'secrets' of conventual life, as the term is sometimes understood, though it may bring to light one or two of the plain truths. The evidence has gone far enough to prove that the life inside these establishments is very like the life outside—quarrels between the ladies, heart-burnings, jealousies, "rows" on this side of the curtain, and on that which the world sees, peace, propriety, demureness, and sisterly love, just as in any family of grown daughters or ladies school.

THE PATENT COMBINATION.—The Hon E. B. Wood calls himself a Simon Pure Reformer, and we suppose he considers the Patent Combination Government a Reform Government. Let us see how it stands in that respect. Sandfield Macdonald was placed in his present position as Premier by Sir John A Macdonald, the leader of the Tory party for the last sixteen years, and the two Macdonalds carried on the last election campaign in partnership. Mr. Wood represents the Tory party of South Brant—He abandoned the Reformers who first nominated him, became the candidate of the Tories of that constituency and Sir John A. Macdonald came forward recognized him as one of his disciples, and carried him into Parliament.

Stephen Richards, another member of the Cabinet supported Sir John A. Macdonald for fifteen years, frequently opposed Reform candidates for Parliament, accepted many favors from Sir John A. Macdonald for services rendered, and finally joined with Sandfield in the conspiracy against the Reformers of the West. Mr. Carling is devoted to Sir John's interest, and never claimed to be anything but a Tory. Mr. M. C. Cameron has more than once boasted that he was born a Tory, and meant always to remain a Tory. Now this excludes the whole list of the Patent Combination Government of Ontario.—Seeing that every man in the Local Cabinet owes his position to the leader of the Tory party, either because he has been a follower of his for many years, or because he agrees to support him now, we would ask what proportion of Sandfield's Government is reform—and who of all its members represents Reform interests and the Reform party? Mr. Wood did not present this matter-of-fact view of the case to his Brant constituents at the late dinner.—Hamilton Times.

FRIGHTENED AWAY.—While our legislators at Quebec are devising means to keep our French Canadian population from going to the United States, and to induce those who have gone to return—the militia enrollment recently commenced is frightening hundreds, if not thousands, to flee across the line, lest they should be obliged to fight in a war which they imagine is about to burst upon this Province. The S. Johns News says the railway depot at that place is daily crowded with men, women and children fleeing from this imaginary danger. In connection with this stampede a good joke is related of a militia colonel in one of the rural parishes, who succeeded in allaying the fears of his excited neighbors, by the following patriotic speech: "My brave friends and fellow citizens, be easy and have confidence. You know me. You know that I never would lead you where there might be danger! God Save the Queen!"

The "Schoolmaster", would prove the best remedy that the Legislature could apply in a case like the above. Sherbrooke Gazette.

BRYAN'S WAFERS.—The great public remedy have now been in use over twenty years, hence it cannot be said that they are on trial. They have been thoroughly tried, and pronounced (on the authority of those whose lives and health they have preserved) to be a pure, harmless, and eminently salutary preparation, and if taken in season will invariably cure colds, coughs, sore throat, and all Bronchial affection. One fair trial will convince the most skeptical. Sold by all medicine dealers, at 25 cts per box.

It is very painful to see so many public men whose desires compel them to sacrifice their health to the interests of their profession and the public. How many clergymen there are whose usefulness is marred by diseases of the larynx and bronchiæ! How many public men there are who feel that they could command the masses much better if they had the strength of lungs and ample voice which were so useful to them at the beginning of their career! And yet these misfortunes may be reminded by resource to the Great Shoshonees Remedy, now for sale by all druggists.

TO LUMBERMEN.

We will deliver any size of MANILLA ROPE, here or in Lindsay, at 14½ cents, freight paid.

GEO. STETHEM & Co.

Peterborough, February 10, 1869.

We have received, from Massachusetts, a lot of TAFTS LACE LEATHER, suitable for Cotton Mills, Woolen Mills, and for the heavier belting of Saw Mills. It is the best Lace Leather ever shown in Peterborough.

G. STETHEM & Co

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

Peterboro, February 10, 1869. 6

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Canadian Land and Emigration Co.—C. J. Bloomfield.
Auction Sale of Lands—C. Stapleton.
Music hall—Townsend Family.
Abstract—Township of Otonabee.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, MARCH 11, 1869.

JOHN SANDFIELD'S SPEECH.

It is not every day that the Premier of a country makes a set speech, and consequently not every day that electors have an opportunity of judging a man by his words.—During political campaigns, candidates are allowed considerable latitude on account of the excitement of contests and the willingness with which parties agree to saddle all irregularities of speech and behaviour on the overworked imaginations of candidates and people. None of these can, however, be charged with being the cause of John Sandfield's mock defence of himself and his government at Brooklyn, Ontario, on the 3rd instant.

The electors of South Ontario had called a public meeting at Brooklyn, to which they had invited their member, Doctor McGill, to give an account of his reasons for going over to the combination without the consent of his constituents. Owing to the great storm the previous days, the meeting was postponed till the 10th. But John Sandfield was there, and Mr. Richards was there to defend their newly fledged disciple, and of course they must be heard, and the Premier made a speech, but such a speech—a commingling of things sacred and of things profane, politics, and mutilated portions of scripture—has rarely been heard from the lips of any public man heretofore. He tried to defend his cause in taking Tories into his cabinet on the plea that he owed nothing to the Reformers; as they had never done anything for him. Then must he not have been a sorry fool to belong to a party that would do nothing for him. The Hamilton Times partly remarks that Reformers elected him for 20 years to represent them, but of course that is nothing when J. A. says take in my friends.

He next excuses some of his sayings against Reformers during the late contest, on the grounds of not being accountable for what he said, which some are foolish enough to interpret to mean that John Barleycorn held the ascendancy over John Sandfield, at the time. Surely this is too much to insinuate, thus for every slip there is a human weakness to lay the blame on' or a foe to be kept out of office. The naughty Globe, too, and its chief, George Brown, were not the friends of John Sandfield. No; he must therefore keep away from both, better be down with his open enemies than his former friends unless he can rule; and hence the combination, as the only thing that could be kept under control, and they through the whole speech, the Attorney General must be the monarch of all he surveys, party or no party to the contrary, notwithstanding; government, country, politics, friends, must all sink beneath his nod, or allow him to trod thereon, on his way to power.

The Government Ball Room, too, is defended. It must be there, for the Attorney General willed it so; but they may sing psalms in it if they choose. The Tories were subservient to him, they received as their reward, all the pap he could afford to offer; and, people of Ontario, keep quiet, there is plenty money laid by. Next year there will be a scramble, perhaps $50,000 to your railway will not come amiss. Ah! there it is, buy them up; and thus we find our Premier going about making a public exhibition of his love of power; his bargain and sale to John A., and his readiness to follow the footsteps of his newly chosen guide, and buy up opposition. What a pass we have come to.

LICENSES.

The following is a list of parties who have taken out Licenses to sell spirituous liquors for 1869:—

Geo. Mitchell, saloon.
Geo. Snider, tavern.
Thos. Green, tavern.
Wm. Chambers, tavern.
Wm. Croft, tavern.
Et. Phelan, tavern.
Wm. Courtice, saloon
D. Faucher, saloon.
Wm. McDonald, saloon.
Geo. Rees, saloon.
Geo. Patterson, saloon.
John Sullivan, tavern.
Tim. Cavenagh, tavern.
Ed. Shaver, tavern.
H. Uin, tavern.
John Reed, tavern.
Wm. Tierney, tavern.
P. A. Hunter, tavern.
Turver & Jewett, tavern.
S. Jayes, tavern.
W. H. Henthorn, tavern.
Bridget Drugman, tavern.
John Maloney, shop.
John Dunlop, tavern.
Jas. Campbell, shop.
Edward Robson, shop.
Thos. Collins, shop.
John Wilson, tavern.
John Cameron, shop.
Geo. Cronn, tavern.
Thos. Realty, tavern.
Angus McDonald, shop.

M. Boyd, Esq., and others, are endeavouring to get a telegraph line to Bobcaygeon, via Lindsay. An effort is also being made to get one to Norwood, via Colborne.

KENNEDY.

The celebrated singer of the songs of the native land pleased and delighted the ears of his countrymen on Monday and Tuesday evenings. Crowded houses rewarded him for his coming amongst us. There is no doubt but that he carried away free Peterboro over two hundred dollars in Yankee silley.

Just as the close of the proceedings on Tuesday evening, A. H. Campbell, Esq., President of the St. Andrew's Society here, appeared on the stand, and after a few well chosen remarks on the inimitable manner of Mr. Kennedy's rendering of Scottish songs and the emotions that they were calculated to raise in the minds of brither Scots, the sentiments of affection, love of country and of countrymen, he conveyed to Mr. Kennedy the kind wishes of the St. Andrew's Society, of that large audience, and of the inhabitants—he might say of Peterboro—for the safe journey of Mr. Kennedy and family to California, whither he is about to proceed, and for their safe return, and expressed a wish that he would again visit Peterboro as soon as he could do so.

Mr. Kennedy returned thanks for the expression of this sympathy and wish for his prosperity, and said that after his visit to California and British Columbia he intended to return a while to Auld Scotia, but hoped to again visit Canada and Peterboro.

All then joined in singing Auld Lang Syne, and concluded by singing the National Anthem.

MR. KENNEDY ENTERTAINED AT A SUPPER.

The members of the St. Andrew's Society afterwards entertained Mr. Kennedy at supper in the Caisse House, to which about 40 members sat down. After partaking of the repast and drinking the usual loyal toasts—"The Queen," "The Prince and Princess of Wales," "The Governor General and Lieut.-Governor," &c., Mr. A. H. Campbell, who ably presided, gave the health of the guest, which was received with a gude will.

Mr. Kennedy in reply gave an epitome of his personal history, his start in life and his success, the particulars of which elicited no small share of applause as manifesting his talent, indomitable energy and zeal in the extension and cultivation of those national feelings of love of country for which his countrymen are so noted. Thus, with songs and jokes, delineating Scottish character, a few hours were pleasantly passed away. At the close all present gave a hearty shake hands and added numerous good-wishes for the speedy, safe and prosperous voyage and safe return of himself and family.

Auld Lang Syne and God save our Queen ended this very pleasant evening with Kennedy.

One of the 53rd Regiment, at Quebec. Shot.

In another column will be found the particulars of a shooting case that has occured at Quebec. A man named Whittaker, it appears, has been guilty of a like crime to that for which he now suffers, while in London, Ontario, and it is only a few weeks, if not days, since the distressed father of the unfortunate young woman which he seduced in London and got to proceed to Quebec to abandon her, was in Quebec to recover his daughter from a house of prostitution. This time the brother of Whittaker's victim takes vengeance into his own hand, and having obtained a revolver, seized the first opportunity and shot the seducer. Such a course not to be wondered at, and if it should have the effect of preventing the repetion of Whittaker's crime from fear of consequences, it will not be much regretted. It will be argued that Whittaker was rushed into eternity without a moments warning, but who could guarantee that time would make him any better, and just as reasonably might it be argued that it was wiser to slay one victim than to allow him to continue to bring to ruin numerous unsuspecting victims. No sane man can advocate the violation of law in taking away the life of a fellow being, even for murder, but that it is done is not to be wondered at; on the contrary the wonder is, that it is not done oftener, when it is taken into consideration that there is too often, no other redress. A law suit with a few shillings or pounds damages is poor redress for the ruin of a family, while the libertine gets free.

Sancton, the absconding cashier of the Commercial Bank, N. B., has laid whole sale charges of corruption against the President and directors, declaring that they should be in confinement. For twenty years the managers have been helping themselves. Sancton took about $90,000 or $100,000 but $10,000 is nothing, thought of, as he cannot give within $10,000 of the exact figures.

A WORD TO TEACHERS.—Dr. Ryerson declared most emphatically in the convention last week, that it was a foregone conclusion to prohibit the issuing of third class Certificates, and the New Bill makes no provision for them. Let teachers take the hint and so use their time as to be able to obtain second class certificates. The spare time of one year, well spent, will enable them to do so.

DEATH OF VICOUNT GOUGH.—Cable despatches announce the intelligence of the death of the Right Honorable Vicount Gough, at the age of 90 years. He served at the capture of the Cape of Good Hope, in the Peninsula, and in China and India, for which he received several marks of respect from his Sovereign. He was born in Lemerick, in the year 1779.

The Brockville Schools cost $4,200, or about a dollar a head for every man woman and child in the Town. The Grammar School cost an additional sum of $1,087 25; of these sums $4,114 required to be levied as a tax on the property.

LITERARY CLUB.—We are requested to state that a business meeting of the Peterboro Literary Club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock, in the Club Rooms over the Royal Canadian Bank. A full attendance of the members is requested.

The Ottawa Citizen says: Delegates are to start from Newfoundland for Ottawa in a few days and may be expected here towards the end of the month to arrange the terms of admission of Newfoundland into the Dominion.

Mr. Howe has been very ill, but is recovering. There were no election meetings of either party during his illness.

John Redpath, of Montreal, died of paralysis, on Friday last at the age of 73.

IAMATOLOGIA!

A LIBEL CASE.

Mr. Patrick Boyle, of the Irish Canadian, Toronto, was taken to Ottawa last week on a warrant for publishing a libel against the jailer of the Carleton or Ottawa jail. The article said to contain the libel was written on the occasion of the death of one Patrick Doody, who was confined in the jail on a charge of Fenianism. Doody died in the jail, and the Canadian charged the Jailer with causing his death. The following is given as containing the gist of the libel:—

"PATRICK DOODY'S" FUNERAL.

"It is now beyond question that the cruel treatment which the late Patrick Doody received at the hands of the gaoler in Ottawa, while imprisoned in that miniature purgatory, was mainly the cause of that unfortunate victim's early death. We cannot conceive how any individual possessed of the instincts of humanity could so belie his nature by acting so barbarously towards a prisoner, helpless and at his mercy; but the fact is made public that Doody, for stating to the Grand Jury who visited the gaol that the meat supplied him was tainted was placed in solitary confinement and fed on bread and water during the whole time of his probation. This statement is given on the best authority, being taken from the lips of Doody himself a few hours before he died; and its reiteration since has caused disgust and indignation at the foul advantage taken of an enfeebled man because he did not choose to violate his conscience by telling a falsehood.

Boyle was sentenced to take his trial at the next assizes, but was afterwards released on bail of $1,000 himself and two sureties of $500 each. This is the same individual whose paper was seized by the government for his Fenian sympathy.

TOWNSEND FAMILY.—We invite attention to the advertisement of those distinguished tragedians. They will visit Peterborough on the 15th, 16th, and 17th instant, when they will present some of those celebrated plays of the renowned Shakspeare. The Townsend Family are highly spoken of wherever they have been.

ONTARIO POULTRY ASSOCIATION.—The fourth Exhibition of this Association will be held on the 21st and 22nd of April, in the Agricultural Hall, Toronto.

WHITNEY'S MUSICAL GUEST.—The month scarcely dawns upon us before the March number of this excellent monthly musical magazine with its abundance of musical intelligence, items, and choice new music appears promptly upon our table. The present number contains 10 pages of reading matter headed with a splendid story entitled, "A Voice that Charmed," followed by various interesting items and a brief sketch of the popular song writer, Frank Howard, also 10 pages of new music: Annie of the Dale, by C. T. Dondore; Sunlight of my Life is Shaded, by C. F. Shattuck, and Merry School Girl Waltz, by Carl Mezzo. The catalogue price of above music is 95c. and the price of magazine is only One Dollar a year. It is a marvel of cheapness. Send 10c and get a specimen copy.

The Late School Convention.

To the Editor of the Ex-miner.

DEAR SIR,—Our indefatigable Chief Superintendent of Education has just held his fourth convention in this town, and I must say that the results have been quite as unsatisfactory as on former occasions. Look for a moment at the composition of these conventions, and how they are conducted, and you need not wonder at the results. The Chief Superintendent asks the school officials and others interested in the cause of education to meet him at a certain place. Trustees, Teachers, Superintendents, Members of Parliament, Clergymen and others accordingly assemble, all and sundry, and are treated to a long homily on the advantages of education, a tedious dissertation upon some proposed amendment to the school law, asks for expression of opinions upon the amendment and should such expressions be against his favorite scheme he loses no opportunity to silence the opposition. All he seems to want is for the people to say, amen, and he is delighted. When a proposition was made to change the composition and responsibility of the Board of Public Instruction, how indignant he became, and how severely he treated the unhappy wights who would call in question the infallibility of that body. He instanced the transcendent learning and ability of some of them, and visited those calling in question the correctness of the Board in the selection of reading books, with withering rebuke and sarcasm. No one need wonder at the diffidence of ordinary individuals exposing themselves to his attacks, when the first men of the land have quailed before him. He has a way and a mind of his own and his coming among the people to ask concurrence or an expression of opinion is mere bunkum. He has made up his mind to have these alterations, and the only obstacle in the way of carrying his pet measures is the Parliament. The approval or disapproval of any or all of his measures by conventions, cannot be taken as an index of the popular expression of any county he visits. He talks the half of the people away are scarce he has submitted two measures, and by the time he gets through he finds himself surrounded by about a dozen or two. He has some object in view in these self-imposed exertions beyond what appears on the surface. His first tour was in 1847; he then dwelt largely upon the Toronto University. In 1860 he urged free Common and Grammar Schools and the compulsory scheme chiefly. In 1866, in addition to the free and compulsory system he advocated one board of School Trustees for each township. At the present meeting, the Local Superintendents, the Township Boards, Free Common Schools and Compulsory Education. The Grammar Schools he advocated, were to have fees, and he would listen to no suggestion for any improvement. There was one officer mentioned in the proposed new bill, which we should know more about; I refer to the Minister of Instruction. Has the Doctor an eye to the situation? Is he desirous of entering the political arena? I heard a short time ago that there was a proposal or an application for a pension to the Doctor. For my part I am sorry he has not let well enough alone, and retired with the honors he has already earned in establishing and perfecting our present system of Common School Education.

As for the Grammar Schools, it is a pity he ever touched them, they have not, as a general thing, improved under his fostering care. Let him retire by all means on a pension, and stay at home, in place of mooning people by asking their opinions, which he does not want. One zealous individual at our convention, thought as we had a free press and a free people, so we should have free schools. The announcement was warmly received whether ironically or otherwise deponent sayeth not. Altogether I may safely say that it is the last School Convention that will be held by the present Chief Superintendent in our good town, a circumstance which will cause no regret.

Yours, truly,

OIVIS.

Peterborough, March 1869.

Lakefield School Again.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I find by last week's Review that public attention is again drawn to our school affairs and inasmuch, as this last communication together with the same party's former production, seems so strongly both of "Calomel and Treacle," that our "intelligent," as well as our "more intelligent" ratepayers are anxious to have the public a little further enlightened; and having taken more pains, I think, than any of the preceding correspondents to obtain correct information, I am in a position to make the following statements:—

The correspondent who stated that 60 pupils had attended the school after Mr. Smyth's reappointment, was quite correct, for the Register contains the names of 66 or 67 children who had attended during the fortnight Mr. Smyth taught after reappointment. As to the bunkum about establishing a private school, all previous attempts to do so failed, and so would it have been with any other attempt by the same parties.

On enquiry, I learned that three gentlemen had been to Peterboro to confer with the Local Superintendent. Their first effort was a trial to get our section divided; their second, to get the Superintendent to interfere to remove Mr. Smyth; their third effort was an entreaty for friendly interposition, so that, if possible, Mr. Smyth might be retained. The first two propositions we know were objected to, but the third one was entertained on condition that the dissatisfied parties would pay Mr. Smyth reasonable expenses and losses, if he accepted a situation that had been offered to him. The malcontents agreed to this, expressing their readiness to pay $60, as compensation. Up to this time Mr. Smyth knew nothing of these arrangements. The Local Superintendent, at their request, came that very evening to Lakefield, and saw Mr. Smyth, and made known their offer of $60, and, we understand, he (Mr. Smyth) consented to accept compensation, but remarked that $40 or $100 would be nearer the mark than $60. Final arrangements, I think, were then made.

With reference to the letter "which can prove" that Mr. Smyth made offers to them, I may say that no such letter exists. Mr. Smyth never had anything to do with them in the matter. I am in a position to state that if any letter exists, it is to the Superintendent, and any letter to the "malcontents" must be from the Superintendent. After the Local Superintendent had kindly interposed and arranged matters, and gone home, Mr. Smyth learned that the money had not been paid, and knowing the slippery character of "Calomel, Treacle & Co.," he wrote to the Superintendent urging the necessity of having the deposit made before the day of resignation, and this was done with a view to protect the Local Superintendent from further trouble in the matter. In consequence, there may be a letter from him insisting on the deposit being made. Perhaps it will be some consolation to those "malcontents" to learn that even at the time of writing that letter to the Superintendent, Mr. Smyth had made positive arrangements to go away, money or no money. Losing the election and losing their money makes them festive, no doubt.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I advise Calomel, Treacle & Co., to be more discreet. Already, it has been proved, and acknowledged by them, that they have made one false statement in regard to the "entry" in the Trustees' books. They should not rush headlong into falsehood; aperients may cleanse a foul stomach, but they fail to purify a corrupt heart. Somewhere I read of people who were "hating and hating one another." Now, if those who desire to keep up malice will sit down and study these words and the context it will do them good, and I may tell them that somewhere else they will find it stated, "blessed are the peace makers."

I am, Sir,
Yours, &c.,
KATCHEWANUCK.

Lakefield, March 8th, 1869.

P. S.—Not enjoying the same advantages of Calomel, Treacle & Co., in having a "Dominie" to go to for instruction, I beg you, Mr. Editor, to excuse my errors. K.

To the Editor of the Peterboro' Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—As I proceeded up the Burleigh Road, I visited the two schools now in operation, and there is quite a number of scholars, considering the deep snow, and the country being so thinly populated. The people in general are well pleased with the teachers, who are intelligent, religious young women, and appear very competent for their work.

The lumber shanties are breaking up now, I believe on account of the deep snow. I think the snow is no deeper back here than it is in the front townships. It is not so much drifted here as it is with you.

I hear it said that the people are killing deer in as great numbers back on the Burleigh Road, the snow being so deep that they are not able to keep out of the way of dogs and guns. There ought to be more respect to the game law than there is. A magistrate and a constable, if we had them, would, perhaps, prevent this violation of law. The people are very quiet, still law preservers are necessary in all new countries.

BURLEIGH ROAD MARKETS.—Hay $15 to $18 per ton; Oats 65 to 70 cents per bushel; Peas $1 per bushel; Potatoes 50 to 60 cents per bushel; Flour $6 per barrel; Butter 25 cents per lb.; Eggs 17 cts per dozen.—COM.

THE CZARS' HEALTH.—A St. Petersburg correspondent says:—"The Czar's health is still doubtful, and but little improved, apparently, by his travels last summer. Those who look at him now may well be startled to note what a change the lapse of about three years wrought in that hard-one face. It is the face of a man who feels his crown too heavy for him, who can never forget that he has twice been the mark of an assassin's pistol, and that even now, in some obscure garret in the purlieus of Ismailovski Polk, a weapon may be making ready against his life. On that Imperial forehead, now henceforth, rests the shadow of the vengeful Karadoz-ff 'who being dead yet speaketh.'

A man in Guelph, the other day, picked up a pen-knife that had been used to vaccinate a calf, and began to tickle his nasal organ with it. A portion of the vaccine matter having adhered to the knife, the unlucky individual was unfortunately inoculated in the snout. The result was, his proboscis and face were swollen to an enormous size, and he was greatly irritated. It is to be hoped, although inoculated in the wrong quarter, he may escape the small-pox.

THE LUMBER TRADE.—We cannot deny that we are suffering severely in our lumber regions for want of a market for course lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have not made any purchase in the Province the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe we can't ship it to England, but serious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, burns, bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign market for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

Dr. Colby's Pills are compounded on Scientific principles.

THE AMENDED BILL.

The following is a copy of the Common School Bill as altered at the County School conventions by Dr. Ryerson. (The additions are in Italics):

AN ACT TO AMEND THE COMMON SCHOOL ACTS OF (UPPER CANADA), ONTARIO.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, enacts

1. The office of local superintendent of schools in townships, cities, towns and villages is hereby abolished.

2. In each county, or union of counties, there shall be one superintendent of schools, to be called county superintendent, except where there are more than one hundred common schools in a county or union of counties, in which case, it shall be lawful to appoint a second county superintendent.

2 Each city shall be a county, for the purposes of this Act, and the superintendent shall be called the city superintendent, and shall possess all the powers of a county superintendent, except such as relate to investigating and deciding on school trustee election complaints, which now by law devolve on the county Judge.

4. The qualifications of county and city superintendents shall from time to time be prescribed by the council of public instruction, which shall determine the time and manner of examination of candidates, for certificates of qualification, and no one not holding such certificate of qualification, shall be eligible to be appointed a superintendent.

5. Each county council and each board of public school trustees shall nominate from among those holding the necessary certificate of qualification, one person to be superintendent of common schools in such city or county or town, and in counties where there are or shall be more than one hundred common schools, the county council may nominate two persons holding such certificates to be superintendents and prescribe the territorial limit of each, and the Lieutenant-Governor in council, shall appoint the persons so nominated, to hold office during pleasure. Provided, nevertheless, that any county, city, or town superintendent shall be subject to dismissal for misconduct or inefficiency on the complaint of the council or board nominating him.

6. Each superintendent so appointed, shall have the oversight of all common schools in the towns, villages and townships within the county or union of counties for which he shall be appointed, and shall have all the powers in each municipality within his jurisdiction, and be subject to all the obligations now conferred or imposed by law upon "local superintendents," and which are conferred or imposed by this act, according to such instructions as may be given to him, from time to time by the minister of public instruction.

7. The salary of a county superintendent shall not be less than at the rate of six hundred dollars per annum, and not more than at the rate of twelve hundred dollars per annum, and shall be paid quarterly, shall be defrayed and borne equally out of the consolidated revenue of the province, and by the County Councils. Provided always that the variation of a county superintendent's salary between six hundred and twelve hundred dollars per annum shall be determined by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council according to the work to be done.

8. The county superintendent shall have authority to decide upon the adequacy and accommodations in conformity with regulations which shall be prepared according to law; and should any school corporation not provide satisfactory accommodations within twelve months after they have been notified by the county or city superintendent, of the inadequacy or unsuitableness of the school accommodation provided, such school corporation shall not be entitled to share in the Legislative school Grant. Provided always that in every such case there shall be the right of appeal from the decision of the superintendent to the Minister of Public Instruction.

9. Each county and city council shall appoint a county or city board of examiners, for the examination and licensing of teachers, consisting of the county superintendent or superintendents, and two other competent persons whose qualifications shall, from time to time, be prescribed by the Council of Public Instruction.

10. The minimum salary of any legally qualified male teacher shall be at the rate of three hundred dollars per annum, and the minimum salary of any legally qualified female teacher shall be at the rate of two hundred dollars per annum.

11. The municipal council of any township shall have authority to establish a township board of common school trustees, as now provided by law, at the request of the majority of the school sections of such township, expressed at the annual school meeting, or a special school meeting of such sections.

12. No by-law or resolution of a township council to alter the boundaries of a school section, shall take effect before the expiration of one year from the 25th of December next, after the passing of such by-law or resolution, unless at the request of the majority of the rate-payers of such section; and in the event of a change in the limits of a school section, any rate-payer in the section affected, shall have the right to appeal to the county superintendent, whose duty it shall be to decide whether or not such change shall be made, so far as it relates to such complaining parties.

13. On the formation or alteration of a union school section or division, under the authority of the fifth section of the school law amendment act of 1860, it shall be the duty of the county superintendent, concerned forthwith, to transmit a copy of the resolution, by which the formation or alteration was made, to the clerk of the municipality affected by such resolution.

14. Should such clerk neglect or refuse to prepare and furnish the map of the school divisions of his municipality, as required by the forty-ninth section of the consolidated school act, he shall render himself liable to a penalty, not exceeding ten dollars, to be recovered before a magistrate for the school purposes of this municipality, at the instance of any ratepayer thereof.

15. All the common school shall be free schools; and the trustees of school sections, or township councils, and the municipal councils of cities, towns and villages, shall, in the manner now provided by law, levy and collect a rate upon all the taxable property of the school division or municipality, to defray the expenses of such schools, as determined by the trustees thereof.

16. Every child from the age of seven to twelve years, inclusive, shall have the right to attend some school for six months in each year; and any parent or guardian who does not provide that each child under his care shall attend some school, as thus of right declared, shall be subject to the penalties hereinafter provided by this act; provided always, that the absolute right of selecting either a public or private school, for the attendance of any child, shall be with the parent or guardian of such child.

17. It shall be competent for the police magistrate of any city or town, and for any magistrate in any village, or township, or where there is no police magistrate, to investigate and decide upon any complaint, made by any person against any parent or guardian for the violation of the foregoing sixteenth section of this act, and to impose a fine, not exceeding dollars, and imprisonment until paid for the first willful offence and double that penalty for each subsequent offence, which fine and penalty shall be enforced as provided in the one hundred and fortieth section of the consolidated school act; provided always, that it shall be the duty of such magistrate to ascertain, as far as may be, the circumstances of any party complained of, and whether such alleged violation has been willful, or has been caused by extreme poverty, or too great a distance from any school, or the child is being otherwise educated, and in either of the latter cases, the magistrate shall not award punishment, but shall report the circumstances to the trustees of the division in which the offence has occurred.

18. The trustees of any school section or municipality shall have the same authority to provide a residence for a school teacher, that they now have by law to provide school accommodations.

19. The report of the school trustees required by law to be laid before the annual school meeting, shall include a summary of their proceedings and state of the school during the year, together with a detailed statement of receipts and expenditure, signed by either or both of the school auditors of the section, and in case of difference of opinion between the auditors on any matter in the accounts, it shall be referred to and decided by the county superintendent.

20. Should the secretary of a trustee corporation neglect or refuse at any time to give notice of a school trustee meeting, it shall be lawful for any trustee to do so, by giving notice of such meeting to his colleagues.

21 All moneys collected in any school section by the trustee corporation, shall be paid into the hands of the secretary-treasurer thereof; and should the trustee's wrongful neglect to take proper security from such secretary-

IN MEMORIAM.

C. A. J.

Died February 20th, 1869.

Oh God! with grief our hearts we turn,
Blame this mystery of Death,
Lest on the wings of woe be borne
The shoals of Faith!

Why will young Life, despite our groans,
Forsake so soon the body's trust,
While hoary Sin's unholiest bonds
Are worn to dust?

We mourn with bitter heart-wrung tears,
We mourn with solemn funeral chimes,
For one cut of in Summer's years
By winter's rime.

We mourn the stately woman's grace,
The smile that said to all "rejoice,"
We mourn the fresh young guileless face,
And pleading voice.

We cannot, where she distant lies,
Bedew her grave with tearful showers;
But, in our sanctured memories
We'll plant sweet flowers.

The rose shall live in spotless white;
For o'er the pensive, love-chain'd sense
Her spirit shed its fragrant light
And influence.

The lily; too, shall flourish there;
For she was sweet, and pure, and chaste;
But Death bore off the blossom rare
In cruel haste

And, in remembrance of her lot,
Within this garden of the breast
Shall bloom the sad Forget-me-not,
To mark her rest.

Too good to live—too fair to die!
Oh mercy! Heavenly Father! speak,
And calm our bleeding agony.
For we are weak.

The ways are hidden—we are blind—
We see not through the pitchy night,
The' those arch-fiends, those fiat bind;
Oh! grant us light.

The harvest full perfection sees,
How it is gathered in the sheaf;
The forest tells the Autumn breeze,
How falls the leaf.

But she, beloved for whom we weep,
Inspiring(ly) this woman's power,
Was born, and reared, and hushed to sleep
Within an hour.

Yet may we smile, for no alarms
Can vex the clay bone with the clod;
We leave her spirit in these arms
Oh Gracious God!

—Hamilton Spectator.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.

QUEBEC, March 3.—An officer of the 53rd Regiment was shot while skating here to-night. Just at dusk, when a number of our lady and gentlemen citizens were enjoying themselves skating on the fashionable Skating Rink on Lewis street, a most horrible tragedy was committed in their presence—that of the shooting of one of Her Majesty's officers of the 53rd Regiment, named Whittaker, by the son of a very respectable and highly esteemed citizen, named H. J Challoner. Whittaker in company with Dr. Hedley, of the same regiment, left the dressing-room with their skates on to skate on the Rink. The distance is about three yards. As soon as Whitt ker, who was first, reached the edge of the Rink, he was met by Challoner, a young man of 17 years, who drew a revolver from his pocket, and in a cool, determined manner shot Whittaker twice in the head. The first ball went clean past the bridge of his nose, but the second entered his skull, causing Whittaker to give way under his feet and fall down. All was the work of an instant. The ladies and gentlemen screamed amidst the horrible scene. Whittaker was taken into the adjoining room, as Dr. Marsden was called in, who pronounced the wound mortal. No hope is entertained of his recovery. Judge Doucet has tried to take his declaration but he is too unconscious. Challoner has given himself up to the authorities. Whittaker is accused of having seduced the daughter of a highly respectable citizen, which has, we believe, been the cause of the attack. He is also accused of having brought trouble, affliction, and sorrow in the door of another respectable family in London, Ontario. By the same motive the afflicted father, in this case, came to Quebec but a few weeks ago to release his from a den of infamy. Whittaker was to have been arrested by the police authorities to-day for his scandalous conduct, but, through some delay, the warrant was left over, by order of the Court

FROZEN TO DEATH.—The Quebec Chronicle of Tuesday last has the following item in its local news:—"We regret to have to record the death by freezing of a man named Michel Fuet, of this city. The particulars of this sad occurrence are these:—On Sunday morning last Fuet and another man named James Laccude left their homes in the St Louis suburbs, to examine some traps set by them the previous day. They started on snow-shoes, and proceeded along Coteau St Geneviere and Rue Bijou to a point below St Foy church. On their return Lacoude says his companion became exhausted from Fatigue and cold, and lay down in the snow. Lacoude managed to get on a little further, but at length he had to succumb to the fatigue and cold. Fortunately, however, he was rescued by Mr. Delaney in time to save his life, though it was with great difficulty that he was restored from his insensible condition. Fuet was found yesterday morning, lying where his companion left him, and of course quite dead."

PURCHASE OF THE MOUNT OF OLIVES.—The Mount of Olives, which thousands of Crusaders spilt their blood in vain to conquer, has been rescued from the Moslem by the Princess De la Tour D'Auvergne, a lady of one of the four principal families in France, whose piety has induced her to undertake in the Holy Land, for the good of the church, a series of architectural works. The Princess is erecting at Jerusalem a Campo Santo, or cemetery, to be called the "Pater Noster," all around the walls of which will be inscribed in letters fifteen centimetres, long, our Lord's Prayer on plates of brass, and in all known languages. The Princess has also given a sum of money to maintain a priest for the special service of the sanctuary, which will be completed in May next, and taken possession of by the French consul, in the name of France. The casual reader will observe that there are other things in France besides opera bouffe and the "Can can."

The "tongue" of Siberia and Northern Asia supplies the means of intoxication to 40,000,000 people. Opium in Southern Asia enables 400,000,000 people to get drunk. Persia, India, Turkey, and Africa, with 300,000,000 people, use hasheesh.—Cocoa is popular in South America; betel pepper among the Pacific and Indian Oceans. The circassians of Europe and America make beasts of themselves by the use of whisky, brandy, and other liquors.

Where the tax on whiskey in the United State was $2 00 per gallon, it was smuggled from Canada to the States; but now when the whiskey tax in the States is reduced to 37 cents Canadian currency, and our duty is 63 cents, and exercise 30 cents per gallon, the scales are turned, and the smuggling is in the opposite direction.

KNOX COLLEGE.—The students of the Literary Department Knox' College entertained their professors, the Rev. Geo. P. Young at a supper, on Friday evening, last in the boarding establishment in connection with that institution. Besides the Missionary students, there were present the Rev. W. Reid and the students of the Theological classes. Up the cloth being removed after supper, and the usual loyal sentiments expressed, the health of the guest of the evening was proposed by the Chairman, who referred to the gratitude which all the students feel for his zeal for their advancement and the spirit and tone which his presence here inspired within the walls of the College, and hoped that his labours would be continued with their Alma Mater.—The learned professor on rising to respond, acknowledged himself deeply affected by the feeling so strongly manifested by the young men toward him, and impressed upon them the importance of a thorough and special preparation for that high office to which they are looking forward, and the necessity for earnestness and deligence in the prosecution of their studies. Again and again throughout the evening the affectionate esteem and admiration for their new professor was manifested in a most unmistakeable manner by the whole body of the students.—Globe.

BAKER vs BROWN.—A decision has been given in this case in the Superior Court here, which is of considerable interest to the commercial community. This was an action brought to recover payment of a note made by defendant and held by plaintiff.—For the defence it was pleaded that the note not having been properly stamped when it came into plaintiff's hands, defendant was not liable. It was shown that before the note fell due it was properly stamped, plaintiff having a few days after it came into his possession affixed upon it the proper stamps together with the penalty. It was, however, held by the Court that the stamps should have been affixed when the note came into plaintiff's possession, and because such had not been done the note was declared invalid, and the judgment given for defendant.—Globe.

The Methodist, speaking of the growth of Methodism in this country, says: "It has been said that American Methodism dedicates a new church every day of the year, and the assertion has seemed to be more beautiful than accurate. Yet the statistics of our own Church for 1868 show that it is within the truth, for our increase during that year, in the number of church edifices, reaches to five hundred and seventy. This makes something more than three new churches for every two days of the year."

And old farmer named Cote, aged 83 years, died a few days ago at L'Ange Gardien, near Quebec. He leaves a widow aged 81, with whom he lived 60 years, also 11 children, 113 grand children (which make 10 a piece and 3 to spare for the 11) and 99 great grand children. Two of his own children and 59 of his grand children had preceded him to the grave. His children, grand children, and great grand children, living and dead, number 284!

The Nor'-Wester says:—We would draw the attention of our Canadian exchanges and subscribers to the fact that good carpenters and joiners are in great demand in this settlement, and if eight or ten would emigrate hither in the spring they will be sure of profitable employment. Come along, ye Canadian mechanics and help us to develope this Land of Promise.

A prominent English paper says the military force in the Dominion, will, after the reduction, consists of six infantry regiments, at their full strength, and a strong force of Artillery. This force will be stronger than what we had prior to the Trent affair when a number of regiments were sent here in anticipation of war.

Messrs. Gladstone and Grenfell expended £11,5000 in contesting the election to Parliament for Southwest Lancashire, and neither of them were successful. These expenses were regular and necessary, according to the method of electioneering adopted in England.

The Canadian News says: We are informed that Sir George Cartier and Hon. Wm. McDougall are arranging for their early return to Canada, it being expected that the Dominion Parliament will shortly be summoned for the despatch of business.

OTTAWA, March 8th.—Advices from Newfoundland state that the government resolutions in favor of Union passed the Legislative Assembly on Saturday last by 20 to 8. Delegates are expected here by the end of the month to arrange terms of Union.

LORD MONCK has gained another mark of royal favor by his admirable administration of affairs in Canada. In consideration of his distinguished services, the QUEEN has been pleased to confer upon him the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Of the thirty-eight reigning sovereigns the Pope is the oldest, aged seventy-five years, and Henry XXII. of Reuss, is the youngest, being only twenty-two.

The American Presbyterian Church of Montreal has given a call to Henry Ward Beecher.

Mr. Rykert is holding meetings among his constituents to ascertain their opinions upon the new School Bill.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy; the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished in Anatomy what is at last accomplished in Hygeine by the Great Shoshonees Remedy, which has so often checked the inroad of these lung diseases of the throat which imprudence and exposure have united to make so common.

BIRTHS

At Peterborough, on the 25th ult., Mrs. Alex. Connor, of a son.

At Peterborough, on [illegible] inst., the wife of Mr. Wm. Cowie, of a son.

DIED.

At Peterborough, on the first inst., Sarah Adelaide, youngest daughter of the late John Hatton, Esq., aged 17 years and 9 months.

At Peterboro, on the first instant, Matilda relict of the late Dr. Connin, R. N., in the 82nd year of her age.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

PETERBOROUGH, March 11, 1869.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	$5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	00	@	0 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	80	@	0 85
Peas "	0	00	@	0 00
Barley "	1	00	@	1 20
Oats "	0	55	@	0 60
Potatoes "	0	45	@	0 50
Hay ₱ ton	12	00	@	13 00
Hides ₱ cwt	6	00	@	6 50
Beef ₱ cwt	6	00	@	7 50
Sheepskins	1	00	@	1 00
Wool ₱ lb	0	20	@	0 21
Pork ₱ cwt	7	50	@	10 50
Eggs, per dozen	0	15	@	0 20
Butter,	0	18	@	0 20
Cordwood	2	50	@	0 00
Fowl, per pair	0	20	@	0 30
Geese	0	40	@	0 50
Turkeys	0	40	@	1 00

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations and speak in the highest terms of its Signess and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alterative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and in fact superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, br ken, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh. in Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptatoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early grave. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, trembling coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and self-administered to the child drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N B—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 32

DARLEY'S
Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the disorded vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. HURD, Successor to HURD & Co.,
Malden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETORS FOR THE UNITED STATES.
NORTHROP & LYMAN,
NEWCASTLE, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canadas
PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by Ormond & Walsh, J. W. Gilmour, W. Kempt, and Wm. Coulter. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and the formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,
37 Sole Agents for Canada

TO THE WORKING CLASS. I am now prepared to furnish constant employment to all classes at their homes, for their spare moments. Business new, light and profitable. Fifty cents to $5 per evening is easily earned, and the boys and girls earn nearly as much as men. Great inducements are offered. All who see this notice please send me their address and test the business for themselves.—If not well satisfied I will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing to me. Full particulars sent free. Sample sent by mail for ten cents in stamps. Address

E. C. ALLEN, Augusta, Me

5-4in

Over a Million Dollars Saved!

Gentleman:—"I had a negro man we $1,200 who took cold from a bad sore leg, and was useless for over a year. I tried everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment—It soon effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.
Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1868.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN PAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

OFFICE:—216 Fulton Street New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 48 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1yr

New Advertisements.

FOR SALE,

GOOD CLEAN PEAS, OATS AND BARLEY.

Apply to WM. McBAIN.
at Phelan's Hotel.

Peterboro', March 4, 1869. 9

MUSIC HALL,

PETERBOROUGH.

Fashionable Entertainment.

For Three Nights Only.

ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION
OF THE TOWNSEND FAMILY!
And Crowded Houses in England, Canada and the United States.

THE Eminent Tragedian, JOHN TOWNSEND, in his great character of SHYLOCK
The Young and Beautiful Tragedienne, Miss FLORENCE TOWNSEND, in her celebrated character of PORTIA.
The Popular Young Actor, Mr. HARRY TOWNSEND, as BASSANIO.
☞ First Appearance of MRS. HARRY TOWNSEND.
The Talented Versatile Actor, Mr. BURNET TOWNSEND, as ANTONIO.
The Pleasing Young Actress, MISS CONSTANCE TOWNSEND, as NERESSA.
Supported by Mr A. J RIEL, Mr. GEORGE TOWNSEND and the whole Company.

On Monday Evening, March 15,

Will be presented Shakspeare's Celebrated Play, in 3 acts, of

THE MERCHANT OF VENICE!

Terminating with the Great Trial Scene.

Shylock, - By John Townsend.
Portia, - By Miss Florence Townsend

Supported by the whole Company.

After which a favorite Song by Mrs. HARRY TOWNSEND.

To conclude with the Roaring Farce of

THE THREE PAIR OF LOVERS,

OR THE RENDEZVOUS.

Sophia, - - - Miss Florence Townsend
Lucretia, - - - Mrs. Harry Townsend
Rose, - - - Miss Constance Townsend

Supported by the whole Company.

☞ Will remain Three Nights. An entire change of Programme each evening.

Doors open at 7.15, Commence at 8. Carriages at 11.

Admission 25 cts.; Reserved Seats 50 cts.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

Peterboro, March 10, 18-9.

Auction Sale
OF LANDS!

Belonging to the Estate of the late SAMUEL STRICKLAND, Esq., with other lands.

Will be offered for sale on

Wednesday, March 31, 1869,

AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK, A. M.,

AT CAISSE'S HOTEL, PETERBORO,

By Mr. CHARLES STAPLETON, Auctioneer, the following lots:

TOWNSHIP OF BURLEIGH.

W.P. Lot 4 in the 5th con.			20	Acres
W.P. " 5 "	5th	"	100	Acres
" 6 "	5th	"	240	Acres
E. half " 9 "	5th	"	100	Acres
" 8 "	7th	"	200	Acres
" 7 "	7th	"	200	Acres
" 3 "	3rd	"	200	Acres
" 4 "	3rd	"	200	Acres
" 6 "	4th	"	200	Acres
" 5 "	4th	"	140	Acres
" 2 "	7th	"	175	Acres
" 3 "	7th	"	200	Acres
" 4 "	7th	"	200	Acres
" 3 "	11th	"	150	Acres

Timber Reserved 1st April, 1870.

Timber Reserved 1st April, 1870.

TOWNSHIP OF DOURO.

W. half Lot No. 23 in the 4th Concession, 100 Acres.
N. P. " 23 " 5th " 76 Acres.
Broken " 24 " 5th " 15 Acres.

TOWNSHIP OF SMITH.

N.W. quarter Lot No. 23 in 14th Concession, 50 Acres.

VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD.

Lots No. 3, 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, as shown on the plan of subdivision of the N. part of Lot No. 23, in 7th concession Smith.

The Lands in Burleigh lie in the neighborhood of Julian's Landing, where it is proposed to erect a wharf, and to which point it is expected that steamboat communication will be had from Lakefield on the completion of the Lock at Young's Point. These Lands are wooded with hardwood, and form a block of the best farming land in the township.

The Lots in Lakefield are advantageously situated, and are near the Canada Presbyterian Church.

Further particulars and conditions of sale may be had on application to Robert A. Strickland, Esq., Lakefield; H. T. Strickland, Esq., Peterborough, and Messrs. Dennistoun, Fairbairn & Cassels, Vendor's Solicitors.

Peterboro, March 9, 1869. 10-3in

THE CANADIAN
Land and Emigration Company

Offers for sale on Conditions of Settlement,

GOOD FARM LANDS

In the County of Peterboro, Ontario,

In the well settled Township of Dysart, where there are Grist and Saw Mills, Stores, &c., at

ONE-AND-A-HALF DOLLARS AN ACRE

In the adjoining Townships of Guilford, Dudley Harburn, Harcourt and Bruton, connected with Dysart and the Village of Haliburton by the Peterson Road, at ONE DOLLAR an Acre.

For further particulars apply to

CHAS. JAS. BLOMFIELD,
Manager C. L. and E. Co., Peterboro.

ALEX. HIVEN, P.L.S.,
Agent C. L. & E. Co., Haliburton, Ont

March 10, 1869. 10

ABSTRACT of RECEIPTS and EXPENDITURES
OF THE CORPORATION OF
Township of Otonabee for 1868.

RECEIPTS.		EXPENDITURES.
Balance from 1867 account	$617 70	For School purposes	$3569 09
From Collector of 1867	549 66	Township Officers and Municipal Expenses	417 85
From Fines	30 50	County Rates	4779 82
Percentage on County rates	119 19	Road Purposes	1306 91
Non-resident Taxes	697 11	Taxes remitted	26 09
Licenses	105 00	Sheep killed by dogs	229 75
For S. Johnston, Statute Labour	5 25	Charities	173 25
Clergy Reserve Money	393 50	Balance to 1869 account	5628 29
Legislative School Grant	446 98
Road sold and old Plank from Bridge	11 00
From Collector of 1868	7661 51
	$10139 75		$10139 75

JAMES ANDERSON, } Auditors.
JAMES DRUMMOND, }

Otonabee, 4th March, 1869. 10 lin

Abstract Statement of Accounts
BETWEEN THE
MUNICIPALITY OF DUMMER
AND
JOHN ROSE, Esq., Treasurer,
FOR THE YEAR 1868.

Dr.		Cr.
To balance from 1867	$2040 68	By paid on Roads and Bridges	$1607 15
" Non-resident taxes	1216 20	" Salaries and Allowances	395 67
" 3½ per cent on County Rates	46 58	" School Trustees' orders	1169 40
" W. Snelgrove's License for 2 mos.	3 33	" Miscellaneous expenses	23 25
" W. Snelgrove's License for 1868	20 00	" For sheep killed by dogs	48 50
" W. White's poundage fee	1 50	" Taxes abated	16 52
" Bal. on Collectors Roll 67, $1216 38		" For Books and Printing	69 50
Less equivalent	200 00 916 38	" For Charity	36 00
" Clergy Reserve Money	164 47	" Treasurer's Postage and Stationery account	1 88
" John Watson's Shop License	40 00	" County Rates for 1867	1903 25
" On Collector's Roll for 1868	2537 00	On County Rates for 1868	1548 13
		By balance on hand 31st Dec. 1868	317 04
	$7022 12		$7022 12

We, the Auditors of the Municipality of Dummer, certify that we have examined the account of the Township Treasurer, and checked it by his vouchers, and have found it all correct.

(Signed) JAMES MACKIE, } Auditors.
WM. SNELGROVE, }

Treasurer's Office, February 2nd, 1869. 9

ABSTRACT
From the Yearly Statement of Receipts and Expenditure
OF THE PETERBOROUGH
GRAMMAR AND UNION SCHOOL,
FOR THE YEAR 1868.

RECEIPTS.			EXPENDITURE.
Balance, cash on hands from 1867		$ 544 09	Salaries—Grammar School	$1444 38
Grants—Grammar School	$917 00		do Common School	2409 17
do Common School	294 00	1211 00	do Other	300 00	$4153 55
Assessment		3024 00	General Expenses		227 85
School Fees		1030 63	Firewood		275 90
Balance on promissory notes discounted		100 00	Discounts		80 33
			Furniture		29 84
			Repairs		78 00
			Insurance		60 00
			Rents		40 00
			Balance cash on hands		964 85
		$5910 22			$5910 22

The above abstract is correct.

J. EDWARDS, } Auditors.
EDG. PEARSE, }

Peterborough, February 20th, 1869.

Great Bargains
IN
FURNITURE,
At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,
SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2 75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF
CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS
BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868.. 41

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks. Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and Stocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Board of Instruction of the Peterboro' Western Circuit, for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

In the Town of Peterborough, on

Thursday, June 3rd, 1869.

Commencing at 10 a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1868. 2

NOTICE!

THE next meeting of the Board of Instruction for the Eastern circuit of the County of Peterboro, for the examination of Teachers will be held in the School House at Norwood,

On Thursday, May 29, 1869,

At 10 o'clock, a. m.

N B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produce satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

By order
W. E. ROXBURGH.
Secretary

Norwood, Jan'y 30th, 1869. 5-td

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Omemee and Peterboro.

The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterboro, January 13, 1869 3

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm. Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

NOTICE!

ALL persons having any claims against the Municipality of Burleigh, Anstruther, &c., are hereby requested to furnish a statement of such claim, and the nature thereof, forthwith, to the Reeve.

Address, Chandos Post Office.

S. W. CLEGG,
Reeve of Burleigh, &c.

January 27, 1869. 4

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 18, 1868. 12-tf

AYER'S Sarsaparilla
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:

Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

OAKLAND, Ind., 5th June, 1868.

J. C. AYER & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a scrofulous taint in I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it broke out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turned inward and distressed me in the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered me all over with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was induced to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I sent to Clarksville and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and used almost three bottles. Sore and humor skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age, and remain ever gratefully, Yours,

ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert M. Preble writes from Salem, N. Y., 12th Sept., 1866, that he has cured an inveterate case of dropsy, which threatened to terminate fatally, by the persevering use of our Sarsaparilla, and also a dangerous Malignant Sore spoken of by three doctors as the worst case they ever saw, by the common Sarsaparilla in a comparatively few weeks.

Bronchocele, Goitre or Swelled Neck.

Zebulon Sloan of Prospect, Texas, writes: "Three bottles of your Sarsaparilla cured me from a Goitre—a bad sore swelling on the neck, which I had suffered from over two years."

Leucorrhœa or Whites, Ovarian Tumor, Uterine Ulceration, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. B. S. Channing, of New York City, writes: "I most cheerfully comply with the request of your agent in saying I have found your Sarsaparilla a most excellent alterative in the numerous complaints for which we employ such a remedy, but especially in Female Diseases of the Scrofulous diathesis. I have cured many inveterate cases of Leucorrhœa by it, and some where the complaint was caused by ulceration of the uterus. The ulceration itself was soon cured. Nothing within my knowledge equals it for these female derangements."

Edward S. Marrow, of Newbury, Ala., writes, "A dangerous ovarian tumor on one of the females in my family which had defied all the remedies we could employ, has at length been completely cured by your Extract of Sarsaparilla. Our physician thought nothing but extirpation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your Sarsaparilla as the last resort before cutting, and it proved effectual. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the disease remains."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease.

NEW ORLEANS, 25th August, 1868.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir, I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of Tetter and Salt Rheum. One of my patients had Syphilitic ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. But it yielded to my administration of your sarsaparilla; the ulcers healed, and he is well again, not of course without some disfiguration to his face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she suffered excruciating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely by your sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this Preparation from your laboratory must be a great remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable results with it have not surprised me.

Fraternally yours, O. V. LARIMER, M. D.

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint.

INSPECTORSHIP, Preston Co., Va., 6th July, 1868.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir, I have been afflicted with a painful chronic Rheumatism for a long time, which baffled the skill of physicians, and struck to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarsaparilla. One bottle cured me in two weeks, and restored my general health so much that I am far better than before I was attacked. I think it a wonderful medicine. J. BEARD.

John V. Getchell, of St. Louis, writes: "I have been afflicted for years with an affection of the Liver, which destroyed my health. I tried every thing, and every thing failed to relieve me; and I have been a broken-down man for some years from no other cause than derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev. Mr. Fry, advised me to try your Sarsaparilla, because he said he knew you, and any thing you made was worth trying. By the blessing of God it has cured me, and has enabled my brother to make a new man of me. I feel young again. The best that can be said of you is not half good enough."

Schirrus, Cancer Tumors, Enlargement, Ulceration, Caries and Exfoliation of the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from the use of this remedy, but our space here will not admit of them. Some of these may be found in our American Almanac, which the agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis to all who call for them.

Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia

Many remarkable cures of these affections have been made by the alterative power of this medicine. It stimulates the vital functions into vigorous action, and thus overcomes disorders which would be supposed beyond its reach. Such a remedy has long been required by the physicians of the people, and we are confident that this will do for them all that medicine can do.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incip

Poetry.

BACHELOR DREAMS.

I'm a bachelor—blooming alone,
Like the roses of summer;
Each passion and feeling has flown
That was so lovely an constant a comer.
Shall single at forty (bem I—
I confess rather over than under);
Soft pining to death on my stem—
Shall I ever get married, I wonder?

I was madly in love at fifteen,
And as wiley as ever when twenty;
While yet I was gushing and green
I could scribble my sonnets in plenty
Can I now pen a lyric in rhyme,
Pretty, lovid and free from a blunder
The goose, the poetical time—
Shall I ever get married, I wonder?

Long ago, I was learned in love,
(How I sigh at the vain recollection
Ah! many a ringlet or glove
Has awarded a week of affection.
Those dear ones are married or dead,
And their hearts and my own eat asunder;
My day for devotion has fled—
Shall I never be married, I wonder?

I am bald, and a martyr to gout,
And a host of the ills flesh is heir to;
To "pop" would be pleasant, no doubt,
But I feel that I scarcely shall dare to.
The girls would reply with a sneer,
Or a frown as terrific as thunder;
My chance is a poor one, I fear—
Shall I never be married, I wonder?

Shall I venture or meekly remain
An old bachelor, brooding and lonely?
Youth left but a heart and brin,
With a part of their furni ure only.
No hope of retriving the thief—
Not a chance of regaining the plunder;
I should like, though, to share what is left,
Shall I ever get married, I wonder?

Varieties.

RULES FOR SELF-GOVERNMENT.

BY A PRUDENT OLD GENTLEMAN

Ask no woman her age.
Never joke with a policeman.
Don't play at chess with a widow.
Never contradict a man who stutters.
Be civil to all rich uncles and aunts.
Your oldest hat, of course, for an evening party.
Always sit next the carver, if you can, at dinner.
Pull down the blind before you put on your wig.
Take no notes or gold with you to a fancy bazaar, nothing but silver.
Keep your own secrets. Tell no human being you dye your whiskers.
Never offend a butler. The wretch has too many chances of retaliation.
Never answer a crossing-sweeper. Pay him, or pass quickly and silently on. One word, and you are lost.
Wind up your conduct, like your watch, once every day, examining minutely whether you are "fast" or "slow."
Make friends with the steward on board a steamer; there's no knowing how soon you may be placed in his power.
In every strange house it as well to inquire where the brandy is kept; only think if you were taken ill in the middle of the night?
Write not one letter more than you can help. The man who keeps up a large correspondence is a martyr tied, not to the stake, but to the post.

CONNUBIAL CONUNDRUMS.

What does a drunken husband's thirst end in?—Why in bier!

What does a husband's promise about giving up tobacco end in?—Why in smoke?

If your wife "kills you with laughing," what crime does she cause to be perpetrated?—Why, man's-laughter!

If you refuse your wife any boxes for the opera, in what condition do you find boxes and wife?—Why, in tiers.

It is not a uncommon complaint against a newspaper that it "hasn't life enough." But a brother editor reports this odd objection made to his paper by a gossip-loving old lady: "I like your paper very much: I have only one objection to it—it hasn't deaths enough."

A youth who was being reprimanded for playing marbles on Sunday was asked, "Do you know where those little boys go who play marbles on Sunday?" He had not been sufficiently taught in regard to a future state, and replied, quite innocently: "Oh yes, some on 'em go to the common, and some on 'em goes down to the river."

An honest farmer was invited to attend a party at the village squire's one evening, where there was music, both vocal and instrumental. On the following morning he met one of the guests, who said, "Well, farmer, how did you enjoy yourself? Were not the quartettes excellent last night?" "Why, really, sir, I can't say," said he, "for I didn't taste 'em; but the pork chops were the finest I ever ate."

"What's that?" asked Mrs. Partington, looking up at the column of the Place Vendome' during her late visit to Paris. "The pillar of Napoleon," she was answered. "Well, I never did!" she exclaimed; "and that's his pillow—he was a great man ty use that! But i 's more like a bolster. And its made of iron, I do believe. Ah! Isaac, see what it is to be great. How hard his head must have rested on his ironical pillow!"

"Mamma," exclaimed a beautiful girl, who suffered affectation to obscure the little intellect she possessed, "what is that long green thing lying on the dish before you?" "A cucumber, my beloved Georgiana," replied her mamma, with a bland smile of approbation on her daughter's curiosity. "A cucumber! Gracious goodness, my dear mamma, how extraordinary! I always imagined, until this moment, that they grew in slices!"

A Yankee pedlar in his cart, overtaking another of his class, was addressed, "Hallo! what do you carry?" "Drugs and medicines," was the reply. "Go ahead was the rejoinder, "I carry grave-stones."

A Frenchman, wishing to speak of the cream of the English poets, forgot the word in his enthusiasm and said, "The butter of poets." An Englishman remarked that he had fairly churned up the English language.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER.—When a man has feathered his nest you will generally find that he also plumes himself upon it. How true is it, therefore, that "riches takes unto themselves wings!"

What is the difference between a civilized diner and a person who subsists at the North Pole? One has his bill of fare, and the other has he fill of bear.

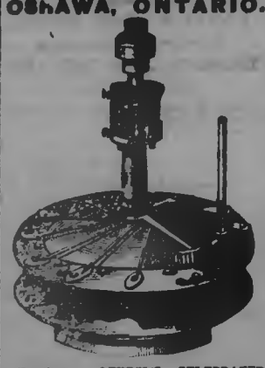
A member of the Peace Society is said to have objected to live on the earth because it's a revolver.

A lock of hair from a young woman's head is often a key to a young man's heart.

"A coffin," said an Irishman, "is the house a man lives in when he is dead.

If you want to be suited, go to a tailor; if you desire to be non-suited, go to law.

JOSEPH HALL
MACHINE WORKS!
ESTABLISHED 1861.
JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.
PROPRIETORS,
OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patters, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us therefor. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞ We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woollen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.
Oshawa, Ont.
Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-13in

THE ÆTNA
LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq, Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Safe Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.
Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't.
P. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phenix Insurance Company,
BROOKLYN, N. Y.
OFFICES:
No. 1 COURT STREET, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 BROADWAY, New York.
CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,
With a large and constantly increasing surplus.
Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.
Port Hope, Apri' 22, 1868. 17

Galway Mining Company.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Dividend at the rate of Thirty per cent per annum, for the half year ending 13th January, 1869, has been declared on the capital paid in at that date, and that the same is payable at the Office of the Company, at Peterborough, on and after Monday, the Fifteenth day of February, 1869.

By order of the Directors.
JOHN BURNHAM,
Secretary & Treasurer.
Peterborough February 1, 1869. 6-3in

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale that Valuable Farm, the South half of Lot No. 24 in the 12th concession of Smith.

There are 96 acres of good tillable land, nine acres of which are in woods. There is a good Log House on the property; also, Stables and Barn, and an Orchard beginning to bear.—There is also a good Well near the dwelling. It is situated 4½ miles from the Village of Lakefield. There is a Blacksmith Shop, a Store and a Post Office on the Lot.

For further particulars apply to
THOS. HOULIHAN,
Selwyn P. O., On the premises.
Smith, January 27, 1869. 4

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of eight A cres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to U. A. WELLER.
Peterboro, August 20. 1868. 32-tf

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.
Peterboro', February 26, 1868. 9

READY-MADE CLOTHING

OFFERING

VERY CHEAP

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats,
Winter Sack Coats,
Winter Shooting Coats,
Winter Pants and Winter Vests.

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

☞ BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,
Peterboro, January, 1869. 3

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.
OF THE
BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!
and where customers may rely on getting
GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES
GO TO THE
ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take
BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,
From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a
GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,
Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases
Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.
Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

J. H. AMES,
MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN
BOOTS AND SHOES!
George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lansin's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of
Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,
For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.
All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.
Peterboro, September 9, 1868. J. H. AMES. 37

REMOVAL
To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN
MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.
Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

W. G. THOMSON & Co's
Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms
ARE NOW OPEN
WITH ALL THE LATEST NOVELTIES IN
Fall and Winter Goods.
☞ INSPECTION INVITED.
Peterboro, Sept. 30, 1868. 40

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, the Township of Douro, Concession 9, Lot 24, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never failing well of spring water; two good running streams; and two good frame barns, 80 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway Intersection, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and merchants; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.
December 2, 1868. 50

VALUABLE PROPERTY
FOR SALE,
IN THE VILLAGE OF ASHBURNHAM.

THE subscriber offers for sale the valuable property on which he at present resides, being Lot No. 4, North of Elizabeth street, consisting of half an acre of land, on which are two Dwelling Houses, Stables and Sheds attached. There is a good well of water, and the Lot is pleasantly situated on the main street. It will be sold in whole or in parts to suit purchasers. Title Perfect.

Apply to the owner on the premises.
P. SARGENT.
Or at this office.
Ashburnham, Jan. 13, 1869. 3-tf

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Apply to
FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.
Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

Houses and Lots for Sale!

THAT Commodious Stone Dwelling House and Lot on Brock street, not far from the Commercial House, Peterboro.

Also, the Lot on Mark street, Ashburnham, at present occupied by the owner, will be sold on moderate terms. For particulars apply to

MARIA FOSTER,
Ashburnham.
January, 19th, 1869. 3

MILLER'S
Infallible Tick Destroyer
FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS. Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 75c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co.,
Proprietors.
167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.
Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prize, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.
North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

Money! Money!

MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.

Apply to J. A. HALL,
At the Court House
Peterboro', May 8th. 1861 19

BARLEY, OATS,
PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE
For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.
Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

THE undersigned wishes to caution the public against purchasing medicines from E. Morris, a brother of Dr. E. Morris The said E. Morris having imposed on the public in several instances, this is to inform them that my medicines have the name of Dr E. Morris on them. All others are spurious.

E. MORRIS.
Peterborough, September 2, 1868. 36

A HANDSOME
Christmas Gift.

AS Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your———, or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's., $15 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $25. Ditto with stand $33. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $45 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $55.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public.

His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the
NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;
Fancy Goods, suitable for
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,
In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;
PAPER AND ENVELOPES
Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;
Account and Blank Books;
ROOM PAPER
Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;
ALBUMS
In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.
The principal
DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS
And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro. December 16, 1868. 51

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!
EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Picnic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting.

Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

DOMINION HOUSE,
PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,
VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,
Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in
JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.
Peterboro, January, 1869. 53

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of
PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,
Paints, Oils,
DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,
Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.
PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS
Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscribe, being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.
Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 2-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. McFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES
TOGETHER WITH
Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,
SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,
Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of
LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.
KINCAID & Co.
Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

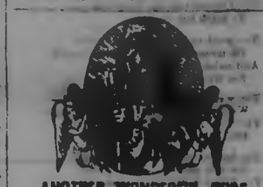
Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

ORMOND & WALSH,
Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very liberal patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is complete with Drugs and Chemicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would passionately impress upon their Friends and the Public generally the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent but also responsible for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labelled.

The undersigned being fully impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug House, beg to assure their customers that Physicians prescriptions and Family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for faithfulness and correctness as to their requirements. Their Stock consists of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a responsible Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Coal Oil, Coal Lamps, &c, &c.

CHARLES ORMOND, | WILLIAM WALSH.
Peterboro', Jan. 15, 1869. 3-12in



ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE
OF
CONSUMPTION!
IN CANADA.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a pain in my breast about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great weakness I was almost deprived of sleep; by these diseases as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different remedies, but all without any good effect. Neither Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy. I procured three bottles at once, with the Pills; no sooner as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing to use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there hath been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and now am, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman Peter C. V. Miller, Esq. for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

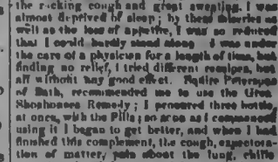
Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.

SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy for all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. H. GIBSON, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
C. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Frome.
J. C. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN ERSHINE, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENES, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MEIGS, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BREADON, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Coaticook.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
P. D. MUSSY, M. D., Boston
W. MARSDEN M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
F. D. WORTHINGTON, M. D., Sherbrooke.
Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.



IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c, &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily testify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely grey, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H. Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents
ORMOND & WALSH, sole agents for Peterborough.

The Peterborough Examiner

A WEEKLY

POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

IS PUBLISHED

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING.

Terms $1.50 per annum in Advance.

EVERY DESCRIPTION OF BOOK AND JOB PRINTING executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

☞Particular attention given to Ornamental Printing in Colors, Attractive Posters, &c.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,

SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,

COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,

CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 16

C. A. WELLER,

COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 39

WELLER & HATTON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,

BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancy &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 39

SCOTT & GREEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public &c. Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.

WILLIAM HENDRIE SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Clinton's, George street, Peterborough.

Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 7

DENNISTOUN, FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,

BARRISTERS, &c.,

Hunter Street, Peterborough.

DR. DEAN,

48 Keene

J. O'SULLIVAN, M.D., L.R.C.P.S., K

Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR. Coroner for County of Peterborough. Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 21-tf

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.

GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and LICENTIATE Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada. Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer. December 16, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M. D.,

Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur. Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham. Ashburnham, October 23, 1867. 43

J. W. GILMOUR.

DRUGGIST, Chemist and Seedsman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 16

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,

DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Choice Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 16

ALEX. McNEIL,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and townships of Cavan and South Monaghan. Office and Store, opposite the Post Office, Water Street, Peterboro'. Nov. 27, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,

INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits. Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 30

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES. W. A. Scott's Office, —Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.

E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

JAMES STEVENSON,

DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 18

ROBERT PATTERSON,

DEALERS in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand. ☞Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,

SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,

PAINTER, Paper Hanger, &c. &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE MITCHELL,

DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 15

EDMUND S. VINDIN,

COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season. Simcoe Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C. W. Peterboro', October 19, 1868. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO,

GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits. A. SMITH, Agent. 19

Royal Canadian Bank

FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts. Wm. OGILVY, Agent. Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

Peterborough Examiner.

$1.50 PER ANNUM, IF PAID IN ADVANCE.] "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." [$2.00 PER ANNUM, IF NOT PAID IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1869. No. 11.

ONTARIO BANK,

PETERBOROUGH.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

From this date until further notice, the rate of intent in the above department will be

FIVE PER CENT.

PER ANNUM.

D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.

Peterboro', April 1st, 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.

ALL payments to be made on account of the ONTARIO GOVERNMENT! MAY BE MADE TO THE Royal Canadian Bank And Its Agencies.

E. B. WOOD, Treasurer of Ontario.

Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,

TOBACCONIST,

George Street, Peterborough, Ont.

March 12, 1868. 11-1y

GEORGE ALLEN,

GUN & WHITE-SMITH,

Hunter Street, Peterborough,

BEGS to inform the public that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Guns, Stocking, &c., Pistols and White-smithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired. ☞Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.

Peterboro, October 25, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,

DENTIST.

Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.

D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodians of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodian, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand. Peterboro', February 5, 1870. 6

DENTISTRY!

Teeth Extracted Without Pain

D. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITH OUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy. Peterboro, November 28 1866. 48

REMOVAL.

DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hallit, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro. Peterboro, July 6, 1868 26

GEORGE BROWNLEE,

Issuer of Marriage Licences.

OFFICE at James Best's Dry Goods Store, George Street. 2

MONEY!

THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.

D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor.

Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 38

Money! Money!

MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.

Apply to J. A. HALL, At the Court House

Peterboro', May 8th, 1861 19

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

IF your children are suffering with worms, use Dr. E. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. E. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.

Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BERKSHIRE BOAR.

THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's Show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.

H. COLLINS.

North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

R. S. HOWELL,

FORWARDER,

Commission Merchant,

AND

GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT,

Dealer in Lumber, &c.,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,

No. 20 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.

JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.

This Hotel is pleasantly located and convenient to the Railway Stations. Steamboat Landings and Wholesale Stores of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞Fare $1.50 per Day 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,

WALTON STREET,

PORT HOPE, ONT.

T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.

Port Hope, Oct. 19, 1868. 42

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE

LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,

AND

Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

ON and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Lindsay, Depart	9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	11 35 a. m.
Port Hope, Arrive	1 20 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart	3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	4.35 "
Lindsay, Arrive	6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Lindsay, Depart	12 35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	2.35 "
Port Hope, Arrive	4 50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart	6.45 p. m.
Millbrook	7 20 "
Lindsay, Arrive	9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.

Peterborough, Depart	3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	4.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive	5.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.

Port Hope, Depart	10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive	11 35 "
Peterborough, Arrive	12 35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.

Peterborough, Depart	5.30 a. m.
Millbrook	6 20 "
Port Hope, Arrive	8.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.

Port Hope, Depart	1.15 p. m.
Millbrook	2 35 "
Peterborough, Arrive	3.70 "

A. T. WILLIAMS, Superintendent.

May 30, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

TRAINS LEAVE

PORT HOPE STATION

AS FOLLOWS:

GOING EAST.

Express (day)	9.30 a.m.
Mixed	7.00 p.m.
Express (night)	9.20 p.m.

GOING WEST.

Express (night)	10.36 p.m.
Mixed	2.00 p.m.
Express (day)	10.30 a.m.

Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY OF CANADA.

TORONTO LINE.

TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.

Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 8.50 p.m. and 6.55 p.m. Express at 12 55 p.m.

HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.

Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.50 a.m and 7.45 p.m. Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME IN THE

Norwood and Peterboro' STAGE.

ROYAL MAIL LINE!

LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a. m.

LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p. m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.

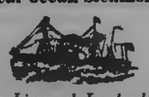
Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.

Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates

J. A. JOHNSON, Proprietor

Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.

Rates of Passage from Peterboro':

CABIN, - - $74 to $86. STEERAGE - $30.

Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.

For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to

GEORGE A. COX, Agent. Canadian Express Co'y.

Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45.

THE CANADIAN

Land and Emigration Company

Offers for sale on Conditions of Settlement,

GOOD FARM LANDS

In the County of Peterboro, Ontario,

In the well settled Township of Dysart, where there are Grist and Saw Mills, Stores, &c., at

ONE-AND-A-HALF DOLLARS AN ACRE.

In the adjoining Townships of Guilford, Dudley Harburn, Harcourt and Bruton, surveyed with Dysart and the Village of Haliburton by the Peterson Road, at ONE DOLLAR an Acre.

For further particulars apply to

CHAS. JAS. BLOMFIELD, Manager C. L. and E. Co., Peterboro.

ALEX. NIVEN, P.L.S., Agent C. L. & E. Co., Haliburton, Ont.

March 10, 1869. 10

Poetry.

THE DRUNKARD'S WIFE.

BY MR. CHAPIN, OF PHILADELPHIA.

Dark is the night! how dark! no light, no fire!
Cold on the hearth the last faint sparks expire.
Shivering she watches by the cradle side
For him who pledged her love—last year a bride!

"Hark! 'tis his footstep! No, 'tis past, 'tis gone!
Tick, tick! how wearily the time crawls on!
Why should he leave me thus? He once was kind
And I believed 'twould last—how fond, how blind!

"Rest there, my babe, rest on; 'Tis hunger's cry!
Sleep, for there is no food—the fount is dry!
Famine and cold their wearying work have done;
My heart must break, and then"—The clock strikes one.

"Hush! 'tis the foaming cup! he's there, he's there;
For this, for this he leaves me to despair?
Leaves love, leaves truth, his wife, his child for what?
The wanton's smile, the villain, and the sot!

"Yet I'll not curse him! No, 'tis all in vain!
'Tis long to wait, but sure he'll come again;
And I could starve and bless him, but for you,
My child—his child, O fiend!" The clock strikes two.

"Hark! how the sign-board creaks! The blast howls by!
Moan, moan! a dirge swells through the cloudy sky!
Ha! 'tis his knock! he comes, he comes once more!
'Tis but the lattice flaps, thy hope is o'er!

"Can he desert me thus? He knows I stay
Night after night in loneliness to pray
For his return—and yet he sees no tear!
No, no, it can not be; he will be here!

"Nestle more closely, dear one, to my heart!
Thou'rt cold, thou'rt freezing, but we will not part!
Husband! Ida! Father! It is not he!
O God! protect my child!" The clock strikes three.

They're gone, they're gone, the glimmering spark hath fled!
The wife and child are numbered with the dead!
On the cold hearth, outstretched in solemn rest,
The babe lay frozen on its mother's breast!
The drunkard came at last, but all was o'er,
Dead silence reigned around. The clock struck four

Selections.

The Power of Kindness.

Joshua Newland was awakened one night by a strange noise in the room occupied by him as a sleeping apartment. He aroused himself sat up in bed, and discovered a man in the act of ransacking the drawers of a bureau for plunder.

'Friend,' said Joshua, 'this is an unseasonable intrusion, and I would be justified in having you punished for it; but first I wish to talk with you a little. Come and sit by me while I ask you a few questions.'

The man was frightened, but his amazement at such treatment from the gentleman he was attempting to rob was beyond expression. His first impulse pointed to flight, but the benevolent countenance of Joshua reassured him, and he drew near the bedside and seated himself.

'I wish to ask you,' began the worthy gentleman, 'why you engage in a pursuit so hazardous as this, when the rewards of honest labor are so remunerative and so well assured?'

'Because,' replied the man, 'I can find no honest employment.'

'Tut, tut, sir: speak the truth, or not a all There is plenty of work for those who wish to labor, and every man that is blessed with health can readily earn an honest living for himself and family. Have you no trade?'

'I served my time with a gunsmith, sir, but have not worked as a journeyman for several years, except—'

'Go on,' said Joshua, 'except what?'

'You will think none the better of me for the explanation.'

'Perhaps not; but certainly none the worse. You owe me a little confidence for the breath of decency in which I have this night detected you, and you must tell me the truth. Tell me all, and then, if I can do you a favor I will.'

The words were spoken in kindness, and the burglar responded by nerving himself for what he viewed as important revelation.

'Well, I was going to say—except in the penitentiary.'

'So you have been there already?'

'Yes.'

'For burglary?'

'No, sir.'

'Tell me all about it man. What crime did you commit that consigned you to a prison?'

'None whatever, sir.'

'That is not the truth. It is simply impossible that you were incarcerated if you had not offended against the law.'

'I swore that I spake the truth. I was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for a Crime I did not commit, and that I did not know had been committed by any one till I was arrested for it. I was a decent man then; that I am no longer such, I do not view as my own fault.'

'Did an unjust charge and punishment necessarily make a bad man of you?'

'I will tell you the facts in my case, and then you will judge more understandingly. I had finished my apprenticeship according to agreement, and was making arrangements to go into business on my own account. My means were limited, but I had managed to save a few hundred dollars, and the girl I was engaged to marry had the same amount. We calculated very closely and found that economical management would enable us to commence business and housekeeping in humble style, without going into debt. I engaged a small shop bought some tools and had matters well arranged for business, when we decided to marry. We indulged in a little trip to Louisville, where we stopped only three days, and returned very happy; for we had no apprehensions of evil, and certainly did not imagine what was in store for us on our arrival in Cincinnati. We had scarcely reached home when I was arrested for grand larceny. The stolen goods were found in my shop, but how they came there I know not; and I declare before God that it is a mystery to me yet.

'The evidence was all circumstantial but it was twisted and distorted into what appeared a perfect chain, and I was convicted before I thoroughly realized.—The last dollar of our savings had been exhausted in efforts for my defence, and my wife was forced to labor for her support. Her former friends deserted her because she was the wife of a convict, and she was often in distress for the necessaries of life; but the climax of her miseries came when she found herself the mother of a baby boy. Lack of nourishment and nursing did the fatal work, and only a few days after her confinement she was borne to a humble grave, with the little darling cold upon that breast that should have given it life and strength.

The man bowed his head upon his hands and the tears trickled rapidly through his fingers, while his strong frame was convulsed by heavy sobbings. Newland's eyes were not dry, and several moments passed without a word from either. The would-be burglar at length resumed.

'I served out my full time, and it is but just to say that I experienced better treatment in the penitentiary than I have outside its walls since I left that institution. A few days after I got my discharge I resolved I would not return to Cincinnati, but go away into the world where my disgrace was unknown, and work at my trade like an honest man. I journeyed as far as Pittsburg and obtained a situation at the first shop at which I applied. I had worked but little more than a week however, when a man named named Hurdin, who was a journeyman in the shop where I learned my trade, came along and applied to the boss for a job. He appeared very much dissipated, and seemed just then recovering from a spree, so his application was refused. But he had seen me in the shop, and, probably to console himself for his ill luck deamoured me as a prism bird, at the same time greatly exaggerating the offence which I had been declared to be guilty of.

'I was immediately discharged, and the boss said to me that he would be doing but the right thing to withhold my wages as a penalty for imposing on him as an honest man. He called me a rascally thief, and hinted that the sooner I left the city the better it would be for my own safety.—This was discouraging enough, and I scarcely knew which way to travel but after serious thought it occurred to me that my best plan after all would be to go back to Cincinnati, and by strict and honorable course of life, live down the false charges against my character.

'I arrived here about four months ago, and at once sought employment at my trade but was driven from every shop in the city. I then attempted to engage in some other pursuit, and even sought employment as a common laborer, but various accidental encounters with former acquaintances continued to disclose the fact that I was a discharged convict, and I have been denied even the most menial employment. How I have subsisted is a mystery to myself but it is a fact that I have not partaken of one good wholesome meal since my return to Cincinnati. An old negress who was my washerwoman during my apprenticeship, gave me something like a dinner two days ago, and since then I have not tasted food. Breaking into this house is really my first attempt at crime, as God shall judge me; and starvation alone goaded me to this. I rejoice that I am here, and that I did not accomplish my original purpose, for now I feel that I can die down and die in happiness (having told my tale to willing ears and a believing heart) in the sweet conscious-ness that, whatever may be the verdict of the world, I am innocent of positive crime.'

'God bless you!' responded Joshua.

'But now,' he continued, 'you shall fast no longer. It is near morning so I may as well dress, and we'll take up some plans for the future over an early breakfast.—You have had a poor show for your time of life, my friend, and I am sure there is a better fortune in store for you.'

Poor John McMasters was overcome at this exhibition of generosity, for it disclosed a phase of the human heart he had never before witnessed, and he wept tears of joy! but Joshua went vigorously to work to feed and clothe this new subject of his bounty, for he was convinced of the man's truth, and saw a promising germ of good in him.

These events happened in the second year of the war of the rebellion, and, before breakfast was over, McMaster's patron suggested to him the finest opportunity to regain the reputation so unjustly filched from him, could he found in the service of his country. He declared himself anxious to enlist, and in three or four days subsequent to his attempted burglary he was enrolled as a private in an Ohio regiment.

The rest of this sketch is in its sequel, and it is more than usually interesting for the lessons it teaches. The man who was falsely accused, unjustly convicted, and subjected to the punishment that threatened to stamp him with everlasting disgrace, proved to be brave and trustworthy when trust was reposed in him; and within twenty months from the date of his enlistment, rose through the different grades in rapid succession to rank Captain of a company. At the close of the war he returned, with scores of honorable scars and manes on arm, to attest to his service in the cause of the Union; but he had established a claim superior to that the highest patent of nobility can bestow, and is in respected accordingly. He is to-day a revenue officer in one of the most flourishing cities of a sister State.

Had Joshua Newland raised an alarm on the night of the attempted burglary, and handed John McMasters over to the officers of the law, he would have added one more to the burden of vagabonds that infest our land; but, by a contrary course, he secured a valuable recruit to the ranks of good citizenship for which act he shall receive exceeding great reward.—Cincinnati Evening Chronicle.

Reminiscences of a Rag-bag.

DEAR FREDDIE—I am only a rag-bag; I think I must always have been one, for I have no recollection of any other state of existence. I think, also, I must always have been large, for I never remember to have grown any.

My lot has not been an unhappy one. I hang on a stout wooden peg, in the garret of a very large, old-fashioned, pleasant country house. From one of the windows of my retreat I can see the river rolling in the distance, and the trees waving in the wind. There are children in the house, both boys and girls.

I am always glad, when I wake in the morning and hear the the rain pattering upon the tiles of the roof, for the children spend most of the rainy days with me; and while others complain of being tiresome and fussing the blues, we have a right merry time. I not only have the company of the little girls, but of their dolls also. The boys bring their hunming and spanning-tops; the celebrated Chinese juggler, who is continually turning somersaults, and who will not stand in our parlor—to his and strength.

My lot has not been an unhappy one. I hang on a stout wooden peg, in the garret of a very large, old-fashioned, pleasant country house. From one of the windows of my retreat I can see the river rolling in the distance, and the trees waving in the wind. There are children in the house, both boys and girls.

I am always glad, when I wake in the morning and hear the the rain pattering upon the tiles of the roof, for the children spend most of the rainy days with me; and while others complain of being tiresome and fussing the blues, we have a right merry time. I not only have the company of the little girls, but of their dolls also. The boys bring their humming and spanning-tops; the celebrated Chinese juggler, who is continually turning somersaults, and who will not stand in our parlor—to his head and hands; a great purple duck, which they hang on a peg opposite me, who dances until he actually dances his feet up around his neck—who bobs his head at me and makes such diabolical faces and grimaces, that I am also afraid of him. Then I have many a pretty story read by one of the older children to the younger, out of some pretty covered book. Why, bless you, I have as much good of the toys as if they belonged to me.

'Tis true I, being soft and portly, get many a hard thump; but, then, it is all done in play. On the whole, I am a great favorite with the children; for many pretty pieces of chintz and fine muslin I furnish for dollies' dresses and petticoats, scraps of gay silk for hats and mantillas, and I always have a bright ribbon for the boys when they want a book-mark, or a flag for their boat.

I love all the children, but my special favorite was the little sturdy four years old Willie. When they played hide-and-go-seek, and the others hid in boxes, barrels and hampers, and out-of-the-way corners, little Willie came and hid behind me, clasping me tight in his little chubby arms, and leaning his bright, curly head and rosy face against my rough side, seeming to think, if he could not see anybody, nobody could see him.

One day, contrary to their usual custom, the children came on a clear day to visit me. I gathered from the conversation that little Willie was very ill; they had been sent there, so that the house might be kept still. Isabella the eldest girl, said she was standing in the hall when the doctor came out of the room; she heard him tell papa that it was the brain fever that Willie had.

"Oh!" added Isabella, wringing her hands and bursting into tears, "what shall we do if Willie should die?"

The children all cried for sympathy; and I, too, could have shed tears, only the fear of being detected, and sent to Wood's Museum as a remarkable bag, deterred me.

At last little Bobbie, choaking a great sob, said, that "God was good; and if they prayed to him to please let Willie live and make him well again, she believed he would do it."

The children all sank on their knees, and I think that the prayers that ascended from the old attic were very sincere ones.

The next day a loud, wild cry echoed through the silent house, penetrating even my retreat. Little Willie was dead. A few mornings after, when the sun was shining beautifully and the little birds were singing from every limb and spray, I knew by the grating sound of so many carriage-wheels over the gravel, that they were burying my darling out of their sight.

But I have my gala days as well as my sad ones; sometimes Jennie, the laundry maid, seizes me, empties me of my contents plunges me into her tub, and gives me a warm bath. I am then hung out on the line to sport with the wind, and of it is boisterous in its play at such times, my friends, the clothes-pins, always clasp me the tighter.

Now, though I hang on the same line with fine linens and muslins, soft cambrics and dainty dimity, none of them take any notice of me. The only acquaintance I have are the kitchen-towels, and I think we must be related, as there is a strong family likeness between us.

Now to me, as to the coarse towels, is granted a privilege not given to finer things, for we are often left out all night to frolic with the wind, with the bright moon shining on us; the soft cool dew falling, and sprinkling our rough sides with its diamond drops.

The next day we are taken and put in a basket; I am then spread out on a table, and a hot iron passed repeatedly over me. This process is extremely disagreeable, but then it does not last long; in fact, to the hot iron I attribute a total absence of wrinkles. I not having one, notwithstanding my advanced age.

I am now restored to my old place in the attic, thin as a rag and in a decided state of collapse, but this uncomfortable state does not last long; I soon regain my usual plump proportions.

Isabella and Carrie are very handsome young ladies, and I seldom see them now except they come in the attic to go in a trunk, or to rummage over a ponderous chest of drawers, which once belonged to their grandmother, who was a very dressy dame in her day, and which is still filled with remnants of her finery.

One day there was quite a commotion among the children. Little Mary, who had been kept at home by a slight cold, was chief spokeswoman. Isabella was going to be married; she had seen such beautiful bridal cakes sent home—so many and such big ones. She had heard mother tell Aunt Mary, who had arrived from the city on a visit, what a good match Isabella was going to make; what a splendid house and fine carriage and horses would be hers.

The children now all united in praising their future brother-in-law. He was a handsome, rich, and generous. How he loaded them with toys, bon bons, and picture-books.

A few days after this conversation, Isabella's marriage took place. I think it was a very happy one. I judge so by the bright roses on her cheeks, and the sound of her merry laugh, when she visited the old country home.

The quiet years have glided by, and I am the rag-bag still, though the children's children come now to play in the attic, and thump me with their tiny fists.

LA CROSSE—A NEW GAME.

There is a new game for boys, full of vigor, fun and jollity. It is more boisterous than cricket, less dangerous than base-ball, and as healthy as either. It requires as much nerve and dash as football, but it demands more suppleness in the wrist and a quicker eye than that old English game.

It is called "La Crosse" by the French Canadians, and "Baggataway" by the Canadian Indians. It has become very popular in England, and will soon be as popular here, more especially as many American boys have had an opportunity of seeing the skill, dash, and energy the Iroquois Indians throw into the game, and long to try their hands and legs in it themselves.

Merely premising that the game La Crosse is taken from the instrument with which the game is played, and which somewhat resembles a bishop's crook or crosier in outline, and hence the name given to it by the French settlers in Canada, we give an outline of the manner in which the game is played, the rules which regulate it, and a few hints to enable our boys to enjoy the excitement of the new game.

La Crosse is played by "sides," similar to football; each side is under the command of a captain, and distinguished by separate colors. The Indians have red and blue caps and knickerbockers to distinguish them, but our players are hardly likely to sport these fancy-colored continuations; and, therefore, a colored belt for the waist, or gauntlet of the arm, will probably supersede here the colored knickerbockers.—Something beyond the cap must distinguish the competitors, as caps are apt to be knocked off in the scuffle during the contest.

The size of of the ground, the distance of the goals, and the number of competitors on either side are not determined by any fixed rules, but depend a good deal on each other. Thus, if there are only six or eight players on a side, fifty yards would be ample distance between the goals, especially when the players are not particularly skilful.

A large number of players require more room and, as at hockey, it would not be judicious to have the goals so close. We have seen it played with the goals from one hundred to two hundred yards apart.

The ground should be tolerably level, and the goals defined by two flags at each end, placed seven feet apart. Of course the color of the flag corresponds with the color of the respective sides whose goals it may happen to be. The object of the game is for one set of players to drive the ball through the goal of the opposing side, by means of the crosse—the ball must not be touched by either hand or foot, except under peculiar conditions; and hence those who have skill and agility combined generally win.

The ball itself is made of i dia-rubber, and should not be less than eight nor exceed nine inches in circumference. The crosse itself is formed something like a racket but in appearance, but is much longer, and is constructed in a peculiar manner. The Indian crosse is formed of a hickory stick one end of which is bent into the shape of a crook, and the intervening space filled up with a network of catgut or whipcord.—The handle is about four feet long, and the network extends about half way down the handle, and is sufficient by stuck to hold the ball when resting on it; but under no circumstances is it permitted to hang loose like a bag.

Those boys desirous of making their own bats may easily obtain hickory or ash sticks. The whipcord meshes should not exceed two inches square and they should be knotted at the crossings, so as to prevent the possibility of the ball falling through. The peculiar form of the crosse enables the player, by a dexterous turn or twist of the wrist, to lift the ball from the ground, or the crosse of his opponent, and to carry or throw it to any part of the field he wishes. No other implement used in ball games allows of this being done with the ease or rapidity of La Crosse.

The disposition of the players is somewhat that of cricket, indeed the English cricketing terms are used for the outlying watcher. Goal-keeping is an essential point in the game, and next to the captain or chief, the goal-keeper has the most important duties to perform. He must know exactly what to do, and to do it at the proper time. He is assisted by those who have fixed places like himself. Next to him is "Point," then "Cover-point" and "Centre," and "Home" is nearest the opponents' goal, while the rest of the players constitute the fielders or players. When the goals are near each other, the "Cover point becomes "Centre," and "Centre" "Home."

The commencement of the game is decided by lot, generally a "toss-up," and the captain of the winning side strikes off the ball towards his opponents' goal. The struggle then commences in earnest. Each party has two objects in view, the primary one being to drive the ball through their opponents' goal, and secondarily, to prevent the ball being driven through their own. The fielders, assisted by "Home," occupy themselves with the first object, which is aggressive, the "Points" and "Goal-keeper" maintaining the defensive.

The game is most exciting, and to the spectator resembles a game of football with hockey sticks; indeed, the game combines the leading features of both games. It is not a game for laggards, for it requires both fleetness of foot and quickness of eye. The rules of the game provide that—

The ball must not be caught, thrown, or pitched by the hand; but it may be lifted from a hole, or from any other spot which is inaccessible to the crosse, and to block it, or put it, to protect the face or body, or to keep it out of goal. Under no other circumstances must the ball be touched, except with the crosse.

The players may strike the ball from their opponents' crosse with their own; they may either carry the ball on the crosse, and fling it, or strike it, if they please.

The players must not hold each other or trip them up, crosse, trip them up, or strike them. The crosse may be held in either or both hands.

If the ball be thrown or struck through the goal by a bystander who does not belong to either side, it does not count either for or against the game, but if the ball be accidently struck through the goal by one of the defenders, the attacking party can claim the game.

No game is won unless the ball passes between the flag-posts, or over the open space between them.

Matches, unless otherwise agreed upon, are won by three games out of five.

Perhaps no game is so full of excitement as La Crosse. As the struggle becomes intensified near the goal, and just as red makes sure of winning, a cunning blue dexterously pucks up the ball from his opponents' crosse, and carries it on the network of his crosse, or throws it to the other end of the field, and changes the fortune of the day. So suddenly is this done, that the spectators are so amused by the attacking party are annoyed at the change.

Again one player is running, helter-skelter, with the ball on his crosse, pursued by an opponent, when he suddenly drops the ball on the ground and ere his pursuer can ascertain its whereabouts he whips it up again, and continues the game.

The crosse throughing and somewhat heavy does not unfit these sharp stem wounds similar to those inflicted by cricket-balls which are not uncommon at football.

The game is highly popular in the New Dominion with all classes, and it seems particularly adapted for an out-door game for our boys. Whether it will be ever naturalized amongst us, and become a formidable rival to cricket, football, or even hockey, it is difficult to say. But we believe the directions we have given, and the rules laid down, will enable the boys to play it, even if they have not the Indians. There is no little danger attending the game, that we should not wonder it is being warmly welcomed at our large schools. Hearth and Home.

On Preaching Other Men's Sermons.

BY REV. J. P. THOMPSON, D. D.

THE American pulpit is pledged against plagiarism as the unpardonable sin. A preacher detected in one of borrowed sermons is sure ruin to the professions, and less little mercy to hope for from the press and the public. Even an unconscious borrowing—as when, after reading a strong and eloquent writer, one unthinkingly appropriates and reproduces his thoughts, his method, his tropes, and illustrations, and not servilely copying his language—is deemed discreditable in a man of sufficient calibre and education to have thoughts and expressions of his own. "Have you read prescence's Jesus Christ?" asked one minister of another, who had just preached a sermon upon the character of Jesus. "No," replied the preacher, with a tone and emphasis that suggested a feeling of injured innocence. "Why do you ask?" "Oh!" rejoined the first quickly, "I saw no trace of him in your sermon; it was not that at all—I only desired your opinion of the book." So sensitive are clergymen of honor and culture in the Protestant communion of using the words or thoughts of others, without proper acknowledgement. Even the unpublished manuscript sermons adapted to congregations of various grades, so often advertised in England, and used by English clergymen with no suspicion of impropriety or fear of disgrace, would find no market in this country.

All this is most creditable to the American clergy. It indicates a high average grade of education and a nice standard of honor—a perception of the becoming which one has a right to look for in a public teacher of truth.

The Rev. John Angell James, of Birmingham, England, once left his pulpit in charge of a young minister, who greatly astonished his congregation by preaching a sermon that they had heard from their pastor a little while before. Complaint being made to Mr. James, on his return, of the audacity of his young substitute, he said it was clear that one of them had repeated the other; but he himself was the off sider, for having heard this precher with much delight upon a certain public occasion, and being moved in his preparation for the following Sabbath, he had reproduced from memory the discourse which his young friend had now retouched upon him in his own pulpit! Such an incident in an American pulpit would have almost proved a case of "one double and how he undid me," yet it detracted nothing from the standing of Mr. James. The young man received credit for his observations, and Mr. James for his magnanimity, while the affair passed in an excellent joke. We are proud of a tone and standard among American preachers that render the practice of borrowing sermons unprofessional and discreditable.

But while adhering to this standard of clerical and literary honor may it not still be possible and proper for clergymen to use occasionally the sermons of others, for their own relief, and to the advantage of their own congregation? If this is done with an open acknowledgement, all offence against honor is removed; and if done with judgment and timely adaptation, might not the reading of a few well-chosen sermons give a pleasing and useful variety to the preachers, especially in parishes where opportunities of hearing strangers are infrequent?

Not long since one of the most popular clergymen of Boston announced to his congregation that he would read to them, in course, Lecklen's Bampton Lectures on the Divinity of Christ. This clergyman was himself capable of presenting the subject of the lectures eloquently, but he chose to use material prepared with great learning and care, and with special reference to the latest phases of criticism, instead of calling from his retreats to enrich and adorn his own discussion of the theme. He may, have felt—as every one feels who has the care of a large parish—the impossibility of devoting time and care enough to a special series of his own without slighting other portions of his work

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

ANOTHER CIRCULAR.

The following circular has been addressed by the Attorney-General to the clerk of the Peace in each county of the province:—

TORONTO, March 2, 1869.

The attention of the government has been called to the great expense attendant upon the service of criminal subpœnas throughout the province, in consequence of Justices of the Peace upholding the provisions of sections 37, 38, 39 and 40 of cap. 102, Consolidated Statutes of Canada.

After the sittings of the coming Assizes, no charges for the service of criminal subpœnas will be allowed, except under special circumstances, to be stated in the account thereto, duly certified, showing the absolute necessity for the same.

The Justices of the Peace in your County must in future comply strictly with the provisions of the sections above named; and you are directed to report to this Department from time to time, the names of all such Justices who omit or neglect to conform to the terms of the Statute in that behalf.

All subpœnas issued by County Attorneys must be delivered to the Sheriff for service; the mileage and fees for which will be taxed to him alone

You will read this circular at the next and subsequent sittings of the Court of General Sessions, for the information of all parties concerned; and, in the meantime, notify the County Attorney, and all County officials, of the contents thereof.

I am, sir,
Your obd't ser't,
J. S. MACDONALD.

To ——, Esq., Clerk of the Peace.

George Brabazon alias Geddis, aged 35, residing at Mount Pleasant, Liverpool, was found dead in bed, having poisoned himself. At the inquest the following remarkable letter, found in his room, and addressed to the American Consul, was produced:—"SIR: My name is George Geddis and I have a brother at 93 Pearl Street, Boston, Mass., U. S. A. who you will please write to by steamer and have me sent the same day. Saturday. Have my pet in a sealed coffin, and that in a handsome rosewood one. They are not to be opened at Boston. You will see the enclosed receipt is for $1,900 in 5-20 bonds, on which two years interest has accrued. All the coupons are there with the bonds, and my brother can get the whole, as the receipt is made payable to him for me. You can keep the receipt till he sends you the amount of the expenses you will have. Tell him the remainder of the bonds I want divided equally between my sister Susan's children. My Bible is for Martha Bowditch; my accordeon for Anna Lascelles; my trunk and contents for Galen Bowditch, Jr. My brother's name is Albert Childs. I owe Miss Fletcher ten pockets at up to last Friday, the 5th, £2 15s. which you will not pay her, as she has imposed upon me ever since I have been here. Sell my hat and give credit for it. There is nothing of value in the bureau; the locked drawers are bees. You will ensure my trunk at once, and send it to my brother. The key is in my vest pocket, which you will send by a separate conveyance. Please carry out my requests expressly, and oblige, yours truly, George Childs.

P. S.—Have me put in my coffin just as you find me, and don't have me opened on any account. You will make no more of this public than you are obliged to.

A curious story is told by an Illinois paper. The gist of it is this:—A Mr Gall started for Colorado fifteen years ago. The party were attacked by Indians, and several of them killed, among them as was supposed, Mr. Gall. He was, however, taken captive unharmed, tortured, and finally adopted Indian habits, and until General Custer's attack on Black Kettle's camp never saw a white man. Now he returns to find his wife re-married and with seven children. It appears that Mr. Gall's Indian captors carried him into South Western Colorado where he found the ruins of a large city, probably built by the Aztecs, and many relics of modern civilization, which, he was told, came from "huge caves two or three hundred miles away in the sides of the mountains. Accordingly he visited these caves and found them filled with guns, silk stuffs, pots of gold, pistols, silver coins, and such articles for which, as is well known, the Indians entertain a profound contempt. Strange as it may seem, this was the bank of deposit of the well-known Captain Kyle, as is proved by an antique ring bearing his name, now in Mr Gall's possession, and by documents which the same authority discovered and appropriated

How Things are Managed.—Some three or four years ago a gentleman from Norway came out to select a district for the settlement of a large number of his fellow-countrymen who desired to emigrate. He went back to the new country with Odilia; was delighted with it, as reminding him so much, in certain respects, of his own land; and, with his mind made up, went down to Quebec, where our red tape gentlemen were then vegetating, to complete arrangements. He met with nothing there but saucy indifference and contempt. Disgusted with such treatment, he went off to Washington, where he was speedily supplied with a Commissioner to guide him over the unsettled districts of Wisconsin. With what effect this was done may be judged from the fact that, the year after, he passed up our lakes with 1,100 settlers for the West; and these have been followed by others every year since, and, no doubt, will be this year also. Comment is needless. These men would have made the very best settlers for the region fixed on; and a little courtesy and common sense on the part of those who are salaried, on the absurd presumption that they have both, might have secured these all for Canada.—Globe.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy; the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished in Anatomy what is at last accomplished in Hygeine by the Great Anchorage Remedy, which has so often checked the inroad of these lung diseases of the throat which imprudence and exposure have united to make so common.

Dishonest Porters:—Two men employed as porters in the City of Hamilton have been arrested on the charge of robbing their employers. Both the men are said to have deceived their masters by their religious professions; very pious, so much so that the employer was ashamed to speak to them about the matter. One of them managed so well that while professing to live a christian life, the Spectator says he was living a life beastly and degraded; had no less than four wives, one in the old country and three in Canada, and pretending to be religious. Is it not too bad that the cause of religion should be brought into derision by such examples. They cheated their employers of at least $800 worth of goods. The secret was they frequented houses of ill-fame and low groggeries.

THESPIANS!
THESPIANS!
THESPIANS!

TO LUMBERMEN.

We will deliver any size of MANILLA ROPE here or in Lindsay, at 14¢ cents, freight paid.

GEO. STETHEM & Co.

Peterborough, February 10, 1869.

We have received, from Massachusetts, a lot of TAFTS LACE LEATHER, suitable for Cotton Mills, Woolen Mills, and for the heavier belting of Saw Mills. It is the best Lace Leather ever shown in Peterborough.

G. STETHEM & Co

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

Peterboro, February 18, 1869.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Court of Revision—W. Darling
Teacher Wanted—No 4 Snowden.
New Spring Hats—Green & Rooke.
List of Convictions—C. A. Weller.
Sacred Concert—To-night.
Thespians—Music Hall.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1869.

Wednesday to be a Free Market.—Farmers and others would do well to remember that the Market is free on Wednesday; no tolls can be charged on that day. It therefore remains with them whether they will avail themselves of the immunity and establish a market on that day. It only requires to be commenced to ensure success. If the farmer will bring in his produce, intending purchasers will soon find their way to the Market Square; and it will be to the interest of both seller and buyer to have two days in the week on which the one can dispose of his goods and the other be able to procure what he may require.

The Town Council, at any rate, have done their part in doing away with toll on Wednesday as an inducement, and we hope that ere long not a few will be found taking advantage of the day.

Curing by Laying On of Hands.—Our readers will no doubt remember our referring to certain Drs. who came to town professing to effect all kinds of strange cures by the laying on of hands. We doubted their power to do so except in cases that rubbing might be beneficial which is more or less the case in some kinds of Rheumatism.—They, however, appeared very anxious to have an opportunity of manifesting their power to heal all manner of diseases, and not a few were willing to have their power put to the test. We have not yet learned of their having really performed one cure.—They no doubt made money in this way, as there are always individuals willing to risk a few dollars for the blessing of restored health and strength, they however were not able to rejoice in the promised blessing.—There should be intelligence enough in the 19th century to prevent people being gulled by every quack that comes along, or at least to retain their money till the cure is effected.

Profligacy.—On Tuesday afternoon the yard at Cavenagh's Hotel was the scene of a brutal fight, in which two men, named Montgomery and Walsh, had a beastly encounter. Walsh's eye it was said was knocked out and he was otherwise severely punished. We did not see Montgomery, but suppose he did not escape scot free. There was no constable to be seen, Walsh was taken into Mr. Sidney Smith's law office, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. O'Sullivan. The inmates of the Cavenagh house deserve censure for allowing those scenes around their place, but doubly more so for not admitting Walsh into the house to have his wounds dressed, as he was bleeding profusely and appeared badly used up. But it is a great pity that both pugilists were not placed in jail for a month.

The Townsend Family.—Mr. Townsend has been amusing the good people of this town during the past three nights. On Monday evening he produced the "Merchant of Venice," before a crowded house. The different parts of the celebrated play were well sustained by the different members of the family. Mr. Townsend, as Shylock, was repeatedly cheered, and most admirably did he present the character of the Avaricious Jew. Portia was represented by Miss Florence Townsend, and her delivery of the Judgement of the Court was greeted with bursts of applause on account of the clear, unaffected, and eloquently forensic style of delivery.

The singing of Mrs. Harry Townsend would be difficult to equal; all the members of the family were well received.

Concert in aid of two Blind Children.—On Saturday evening Miss Elizabeth Ann Elliott and her brother Frederick, two blind children, will give a concert of vocal and instrumental music; the proceeds to be applied to educating the boy at a school for the blind. The girl will read from her books after the singing. The sympathy of the public on behalf of these afflicted children is solicited.

Literary Club.—This evening the Peterboro Literary Club will meet as usual in their rooms over the Royal Canadian Bank. There will be readings by different members. Each piece will be criticised. Members only admitted.

On Thursday evening next there will be a public debate, and readings.

The Thespians will appear again on Wednesday evening, 24th instant, in the Music Hall. The proceeds are for the benefit of Mr. Rackett and the Orchestra. We have no doubt but that they will get a full house.

The Market Tolls were sold to Mr. McFadden for the year 1869 for $146.

THE QUEBEC TRAGEDY.

Patrick Whelan, the murderer of Thomas Chapeer, is dead. His funeral was performed with military honors. An inquest was held and an open verdict given, which, it is believed, is equivalent to exonerating Chalmers. The sympathy which has been shown for Whelan, it is believed, no jury can be found to find him guilty of murder. Thus ends another sad act in the history of Canada.

A murder has taken place in Peterborough very many ago, but the aggravating circumstances were then, perhaps, stronger, if possible. The jury then brought in a verdict of "not guilty." Many found fault with the jury, but none with the result of their verdict—the acquittal of the prisoner.

It is admitted that the law for the punishment of redressers is not sufficient. That the penalty for ruining the happiness of a family, and for, in too many cases, destroying the soul as well as the comfort of the victim, is too light. Who would be satisfied with a money equivalent for the moral ruin of a member of his family? Not one. And now, since society rashly and unwisely, perhaps, is seeking vengeance now and then, may we not draw the conclusion that as the crime increases the penal will be proportionately resorted to, and this the more because public opinion acquits the man or boy who is found "spirited" enough to revenge the ruin of his daughter or sister. The fact that public opinion is so strong in the case should afford a lesson to our legislators to so amend the laws of the country that sufficient penalty will follow the crime of which Whittaker was guilty, so as to deter men from the crime, or at least cause a wholesome dread of the result.

The idea of damages must be a remnant of the dark ages when passions ran wild and society found no possible means of protection therefrom. Why should this state of things continue? Why should licentiousness get off with the payment of money, or why should money be given to any one in the way of damages for seduction. Penal servitude should be the reward of this crime against the happiness of society. A dread of a few years in the provincial penitentiary would do more to prevent the recurrence thereof than any amount of money consideration.

Some men are mean enough to argue that the 'seduced' is as blameworthy, often, as the seducer, and they would hence draw the conclusion that a moral murderer should get off free of penalty, except a few paltry dollars. To this it may be said that man ought to be the protector of his lady companion, not the murderer; for to send a fair and confiding soul to prostitution is murder of the meanest kind; and the law should establish the principal, that to injure her whose society and friendship are obtained should at least be followed by as severe a penalty as follows deceiving a merchant in obtaining money under false pretences, or as would be inflicted on a clerk for stealing the goods of an employer who trusted him.

It is a matter for regret that a necessity should exist for thus violating law by taking the life of a fellow as Chaloner did, and it is a terrible thought that a man's life is at the mercy of the rash act of some temporary maniac; but this will remain so as long as the law does not afford sufficient protection against the crime that provokes the insanity.

We point to the United States with the finger of contempt, on account of the daily murders that are recorded as taking place, and because of the weakness of the state to afford protection to the lives and liberties of the subjects. But we may reasonably say that if such a heinous crime as Whittaker's can go unpunished by law in Canada, there will be found men as rash as Chaloner to take vengeance into their own hands, and punish the offender by the pistol. And much as we detest shooting men, we just as much detest destroying young and confiding women. To send a woman to a life of sin and to eternal ruin, is as great a crime as to shoot a wife inferior. Of course there are those who admire the libertine but would spurn the society of Chaloner, perhaps. They are enemies to society, to themselves; to their families, to peace and happiness in the world, and to-night, and we do trust that the rash and unlawful act of Chaloner will arouse our legislators to provide a proportionate punishment for crime, and that there will be a sufficient penalty attached to Whittaker's crime, as to satisfy the demands of society.

We understand that the 53rd are under orders to leave for Barbadoes as punishment for their conduct in Canada. We have no doubt but that many honorable moral men would be found in the regiment, and these now will have to suffer for the sins of superiors whose crimes they might deplore, but could not abate or prevent.

Daily Mail to Bobcaygeon and thence to the Back Country.

It is well known that for years the people of Peterboro have had to bear the anomaly of our mail to the back country going round by Lindsay, a distance of not less than sixty miles, while Peterboro is only about twenty miles from Bobcaygeon. It required no less than four days to communicate with merchants in Bobcaygeon via Lindsay, which can be done in one day via Peterboro; and then there is forty miles extra travel to Lindsay, from which it had to be sent by stage to Bobcaygeon, a distance as great as from Peterboro direct, the distance being 21 and 22 miles respectively. At present Mr. L. McGregor drives a daily stage to Bobcaygeon from this town, to the great convenience of the travelling public. From Port Hope to Bobcaygeon via Peterboro, the fare is: on the train $1.00, and thence by stage $1.00, or $2.00 in all, while the traveller can leave Port Hope in the morning at 10 o'clock or so and be in Bobcaygeon at 5 o'clock or 5.30. By Lindsay it will require one day more time and an increased fare. The gain of one day is often of very great importance. By the present arrangement, Mr. McGregor can carry as many letters as he pleases, and the result is that he carries about as many letters as goes by the regular mails. Hence, the government is robbed of its carrying and consequent revenue.

We trust, therefore, that the merchants of Peterboro will encourage Mr. McGregor in the work, and that he will be successful. We understand that the post office authorities have promised to change the route. The people of Lindsay are weeping over it.—Surely they cannot be so unjust as to seek to continue a system that is so injurious to the back country and so unjust to us.

The people of Peterboro should not be inert in this matter. Postal communication with Bobcaygeon and the back country is of as much importance to us as it can be to Lindsay, and now is the time to secure it.—With it, no doubt will come increase of trade—what is being done to secure both direct communication and increased trade?

BANQUET TO MR. BLAKE.

Mr. Blake was entertained at a banquet at Bowmanville on Friday evening, when numerous speeches were made by Mr. Blake explaining the course he had taken in Parliament.

The Telegraph complains that it was a dry affair, there was no toddy on the occasion. The people of Bowmanville and of the Riding generally being reformers in the true sense of the word.

[illegible] took place in Peterboro [illegible] years ago, but the aggravating circumstances were then, perhaps, stronger, if possible. The jury then brought in a verdict of "not guilty." Many found fault with the jury, but none with the result of their verdict—the acquittal of the prisoner.

that Mr. Blake's speeches were after dinner speeches, and might be disbelieved. Many of the Tory brethren must be wrong, for a man cannot be drunk, according to the Toronto Leader, and sober, according to the Tory people, at the same time. The fact is that Mr. Blake's speech was a complete demolition of the principles of the Confederation, and of the J. Smithfield government.

Mr. Blake demonstrated the necessity for a healthy opposition, and proved, that to opposition was due whatever of wise legislation we have got during the past legislature. He said:

"Now, so then, Mr. Chairman, I say that the no party cry was got up simply in order to carry the elections. It was not a cry which could stand careful consideration for any long time. It served its purpose; and a bad purpose it was. What is the legitimate result of such a doctrine? Simply this, that if successful everywhere, you would have found the House merely a mob of supporters of the Government. Every one would be afraid to get out of the traces—afraid to raise his voice against any measure, lest he might be accused of seeking to embarrass the Government. Men going into opposition to the Government would be told they were acting contrary to their pledges. But sir, a few of us, myself included, went into both Legislatures saying to the Government—If we are strong enough we would vote you out to-morrow. We are opposed to you. We believe the foundation on which you are building is rotten—that the Confederation into which you have entered is immoral,—that you have endeavoured to delude the people of the security of a regular organized opposition—that your arguments are such, as if carried out, would give you unconstitutional power. (Cheers.) We declare it to be necessary for the good of the country that, whatever Government is in power, should have an efficient and well organized Opposition to watch it. Such an Opposition is necessary to counteract, among other tendencies of those in power their tendency to lead everything in the endeavour to keep office as long as possible. Very soon after a Government is formed, you too frequently find it coming to the conclusion that its first and object is to keep in power; and, having resolved on this, generally goes further and adopts the maxim that for the attainment of that end any means are justifiable. Hence, unless an Opposition is on the watch, you would find Administrations soon steal away those liberties, without which self government is a delusion and a snare. What, let me ask, has a Government to be afraid of in an Opposition? Why should the party in power come to you and say,—It is wrong to oppose us? They have the patronage and influence of the country, and a great portion of the press, at their back. Why then are they so fearful if they are doing right? Why are they so much in dread of a few men without power, patronage or influence, or almost any thing but strength of argument? (Loud Cheers.) We have nothing but an intelligent people to fall back on. If our course is wrong they will condemn it. Are therefore we in, I say, that these men going round the country to destroy the curses of party—that system under, which as organized, strong Opposition is reared—do so because they want an unconstitutional amount of power; they do so because they desire to deprive you of the safeguards you possess for the proper working of the Constitution. (Loud Cheers.) And, I ask you, have not the events transpiring since last election proved an Opposition to be necessary? It was a great misfortune for the country that the no-party cry prevailed to the extent it did; for it resulted in the Opposition in the Parliament of Canada being too weak for the proper discharge of its functions. We were able indeed to argue—to show the folly and wickedness of the Government course.—but we did not command sufficient strength to change the mis-government."

He also showed the course of the Government in the Intercolonial route—a route denounced by Wm. McDougall while in the opposition, but now acquiesced in, for the love of office and power. In the matter of the fortifications, Mr. B. remarked that large sums had been spent in England in fortifications, but these are left half finished, being found useless; and arguing from the state of the American people and from their dread of another rebellion, there is not likely to be any need for fortifying Canada. His remarks on the Crown Land policy deserve a careful perusal:

Then, he said, there is the other branch the Crown lands, those which have been sold, and for which the Government are demanding payment. They said they did not want to enforce their peremptory order—that their bark was worse than their bite—and that they only wanted to frighten the settlers into payment, if possible. But the notices were kept up in sections where the people owed largely to the Crown. In my County, Bruce, some $720,000 were owed in this way, and undoubtedly the effect of the Government notices were great and needlessly to alarm the unfortunate men who owed this money and were unable to pay. The Loan Offices and Lending Societies of this Province have been crowded with the applications of persons desiring to raise money on their farms; and for the past three or four months the majority of such applications have been from the owners of these unpatented lands. These men have to borrow large sums to pay the principal and interest of their debt and pay 14 or 15 per cent for this accommodation. The money thus raised is paid over to the Crown and they get 6 per cent interest on it. Now, sir, I say that it is an infamous shame that men should thus be taxed and harrassed unnecessarily. The effect of such measures has been to drive many out of these counties—and many others have so heavily mortgaged their farms that I am afraid they have lost them altogether. (Hear Hear.) Many of these men will go to the Western States; and, sir, we will be the sufferers. For every man who leaves the country an additional burden is placed on your shoulders as well as on mine; and therefore, in the material as well as moral view, it is necessary that these men should be encouraged. (Cheers.) Had the Government issued notices asking all who were able to pay at a certain date, and allowed such as were not able to pay all up, to pay a portion, and the balance in annual instalments it would have been far better for the unfortunate men and for the Government too.—(Cheers.) I felt deeply in this matter, Mr. Chairman. I found my County rapidly becoming a mortgaged County; and I wrote a letter to the Commissioner of Crown Lands, explaining how these notices were operating, and asking what action the Government would take on the subject. (Mr. Blake here read the letter.) The Commissioner of Crown Lands, I find, is able to go on grain buying expeditions occasionally. (Loud laughter.) He can find time to interfere with elections at their meetings. (Laughter.) But I grieve to say that he never had time to acknowledge my letter, and I have been unable to tell the people waiting for that answer, what they should do. (Hear Hear.) It would have been but courteous to reply and if he could not answer my query, to have said so. But he never answered the letter, either because he did not choose to attend to his business, or was determined to screw as much money as possible out of these poor people. (Hear Hear.) And, Mr Chairman, I assure you there is no room for delay in the province. The other day I went into a gentleman's office, found there six mortgages, one of which was from a township in the session I represent, and two from [illegible] township. [illegible] there [illegible] underpaid to pay the Crown. The [illegible] ... who [illegible] ... to think [illegible] ... living out of [illegible] ... enough to make one's heart bleed. [Hear, Hear.]

Mr. Blake intimated his intention of resigning his seat in the Parliament of the Dominion, but the people would not hear of it. Mr. Blake could be ill spared at present, as there can be no doubt of his being by far one of the ablest men in the House. Of Saint Malachi, of Cornwall, Mr. Blake drew a sad picture—here it is:

"When I saw the version of that sermon which appeared in print, I must say I could not help being reminded of another personage who has had a good deal to do with public affairs ever since the Fall—(loud laughter)—of which Milton says—(though I don't know that it comes up to Mr. Macdonald's view.)—

"He above the rest,
In shape and gesture proudly eminent,
Stood like a tower;
His form had not lost
All its original brightness,
Nor appeared less than archangel
(Less than Reformer) ruined,
And the excess of glory obscured,
Darkened so, yet shone
Above them all, the archangel."

(Loud Laughter.) You heard Mr Macdonald's speech at Brooklin, gentlemen, and of his other axe-grinding speeches. Need I tell you that no country can be well governed where the people do not vigilantly watch their own interest? If, sir, I cannot raise my feeble voice beyond the limits of this hall, and speak to all the inhabitants of this country, in which I was born—in which I have the happiness to live—and in which I hope to die—if I could say a few words to them most pregnant to their interests, they would be,—If you want a pure Government—without which you cannot hope to be well governed—set your face against bribery in any shape—frown it down as an insult to the sense of the community. (Loud cheers.) You have lately heard audacious attempts made to bribe and corrupt you. (Hear, hear.) It is bad enough, gentlemen, when evil things are done in the dark—when the slimy track of corruption can only be traced by its mark. (Cheers.) But it is far worse when the Prime Minister comes before a country openly and says, "I have a large surplus to divide—I know where $50,000 could be nicely placed—but I will not say more, for I have been taken to task before for such speaking. (Hear, hear). I say, gentlemen, that if you permit such a state of things, and if the country at large permits it, you render impossible honest Government. [Loud cheers.] The voice of every honest man in the country ought to be raised against such an open attempt to tamper with the liberties of the country and Parliament, as we heard of the other day.—[Cheers.] It will, of course, be impossible for those holding these views, to stem the torrent of corruption unless the people are at their back; and I call on the people to declare unmistakably their views on this point. [Loud cheers.] I call on them to say that public money must not be expended in this way—and to affirm the view that the expenditure must be ascertained before the vote takes place—to provide that as little as may be is left to the discretion of the Government in financial affairs—to say that this should be done with every Government, but particularly with the present Administration which has set an example unprecedented in modern times of roaming about the country and offering to bribe constituencies. [Cheers.] When I read the Attorney General's last speech I could not help saying to myself, I hope that speech will not be reprinted in England. [Hear, hear.] What would they think of our Prime Minister making such a speech? We should be humiliated, and such man would feel as if he received a blow on the face. [Hear, and cheers.] I feel that the country has been humiliated in the person of the Prime Minister. [Hear, hear] If you approve of that course, and allow it to be carried out, it will be impossible and useless for an honest man to remain in Parliament."

TOWN COUNCIL.

Present—His Worship the Mayor, and Messrs English Rutherford, Stevenson, O'Beirne, Edmison and Toole.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The Clerk laid upon the table the return of the conviction in the Police Court as ordered by resolution of 23 February, which upon motion was referred to committee on Finance.

An account of Jas. McFaddin, for services as constable in last March, amounting to $17 50, was referred to Finance Committee.

Mr. O'Beirne, as Chairman of Finance Committee, reported: That the Committee had read over Mr. Carlisle's report, and that they had done so with great satisfaction. The report is short, pithy, comprehensive and straightforward, and contains statistical information as to the expenditure of a large amount of money and material for 1868, as for a branch of our expenditure in connection with which there has hitherto been a great deal of dissatisfaction and uncertainty. The Report shows 225,145 feet of plank and scantling received and 223,145 feet used, leaving 2,000 still on hand. It shows the expenditure on the streets and bridges, exclusive of lumber and cedar logs, was $1,628 46; the lumber cost $3,016, cedar logs $178 68, several grants $250, or a total of $4,073 64. The Committee feel bound to say that the part of Mr. Carlisle's report referring to streets and bridges evinces an amount of carefulness, diligence and zeal in the discharge of his duty, for which they think him deserving of consideration.

Your committee think that the Collector deserves credit for the punctual return of the Collector's Roll, and the care and diligence with which he collected the taxes.

As to the matter of Meyette's charge against the corporation for trouble and expense in connection with the death of Robert Donaldson which matter has been already reported upon but was at last meeting of the Council referred back to your committee. They have again examined into Meyette's claims and do not consider themselves warranted in recommending the Council to pay any more to him than the $5 recommended to be paid by their last report. Signed, Ivan O'Beirne, Chairman; Jas. Stevenson, Wm. Toole and Geo. Edmison.

The report was received and adopted.

Moved by Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Edmison—That the Street Inspector be instructed to cut away any of the bridges where, in his judgement, any property would be flooded or other injury in consequence of the ice coming down, and for which the corporation might be subjected to damages.—Carried.

Mr. Carnegie was heard in reference to granting a sum of money for the proposed survey of a wooden railway to Haliburton.

Mr. Carnegie being heard—it was proposed by Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Toole—That the sum of $100 be granted to the Peterboro and Haliburton Wooden Railway to assist in the survey and that the same be paid to the Treasurer of the Company, and that the resolution of the 20th of January last of this Council relative to the same object be repealed.

A communication from Mr. E. C. Hill, asking leave to alter the stairs in the Music Hall to the outside, and referred to Messrs Rowe and Carlisle, with instruction for these gentlemen to report at next meeting upon the practicability of the proposed alterations.

The Council adjourned.

A gentleman from Sorel, who has resided in the country for nearly a quarter of a century, says that he never saw such a quantity of snow in the country as at present.

Presentation to the Rev. Mr. Blain, Springville.

The members of the Canada Presbyterian Church, Springville, on Wednesday evening, presented their very respected pastor, Mr. Blain, with a horse. The young people of the congregation, at the same time, gave him a new set of harness, and presented to Mrs. Blain a purse containing a sum of money.

The following address was presented by the older members of the Church:—

To the Rev. William Blain, Pastor of the Canada Presbyterian Church, Springville.

Rev'd and Respected Pastor:

The members of your congregation, being desirous of expressing their approval of your course amongst us during these fifteen years you have been our Pastor, have chosen this opportunity of doing so. The Minister of the Gospel, we know, has many trials to encounter in the work to which his Heavenly Master calls him, and these must be hard to bear, when not encouraged by the members of his church. We desire to make known to you our warm approval of your labors among us, and of the earnest devotedness you have manifested for the spiritual advancement of those to whom, in the wisdom of God, you have been sent. In labors oft, you have not ceased to wear yourself out in the work of the Lord and of the Church, and we assure you that we have not been unmindful of these things. The pure word of the living God has been unceasingly set before us by you, and we fondly hope that your labors have not been in vain in the Lord, and that many of advanced years have drunk from the living fountain and rejoiced in the free grace you have so earnestly set forth through Christ Jesus; and we hope that from among the youth of your congregation some are growing up to call you blessed.

We beg, therefore, to express our approval in a tangible manner, and to present you this horse, which the people of your congregation have thought might prove acceptable to you, and which they hope you will receive as a slight token of their esteem for you as a Pastor, as a Christian Minister, and as a kind and courteous gentlemen.—We trust that you will be long spared to administer to us and to our children out of the treasures of the Word of the Living God.

We beg also to remember Mrs. Blain, whom we would have remembered more substantially, but that the young people expressed a desire to do so for us; but we assure you that we will not cease to pray always that the God of all grace may keep her and you and your family from all evil in this life, and that when the ties of Pastor and people are broken, we may all be members of the Church of the first born in Heaven, and that you, sir, will in the great day of the gathering of saints be able to point to many souls that have been saved through your instrumentality.

Then followed this address on behalf of the ladies, &c.:—

Dear Sir.—The ladies and young men of this congregation, over which you have been placed in the Province of the All Wise Ruler of events, desire to offer an expression of their esteem for you and of their estimation of your earnest and devoted labors on their behalf during the years you have been amongst us. We thought Sir, that the present time, when the older members of your congregation were about to make some acknowledgement of their good will towards you, and of their appreciation of your unwearied labors of love to their spiritual advancement and growth in Christian knowledge, would be a very suitable time for us to unite in presenting also a small token of the high esteem in which you are held by the youth of your congregation.

On their behalf, therefore, permit me to present you with this set of Harness, which we hope you will accept as their free will offering, because of the untiring zeal you have manifested for the spiritual welfare of the young people of your Church, that they might grow in grace and in the fear of the Lord.

From your first entering in amongst us, your earnest zeal and devotedness to your heavenly mission, were not unobserved by us. In the pulpit, in the Sabbath School, in your visits, and in your public and private life you have not failed to declare the whole Counsel of God; and we trust that this acknowledgement of your labours will tend to connect us more closely to you, so that we may become one in the great work of the Church and in enjoying the knowledge of Salvation, as revealed in the Gospel, hence our desire is that while we witness your devoted Christian life, we may learn to show forth its power in our walk and conversation.

Permit us also to remember your dearly beloved partner, Mrs. Blain, who has endeared her-self to us by many acts of kindness and ties of friendship, and whom we could not forget unless we proved ungrateful. We, therefore, beg also to present to her this purse and its contents, as a small token of our respect for her as a christian lady and kind friend, and as a co-worker with you by aiding and encouraging you, and by her guiding and christian conduct towards us.

In conclusion, we beg to express the fond hope and prayer that you may be long spared to us as Pastor, and we sincerely pray that your own soul may be watered with the dews of heavenly grace, while you seek to point others to Jesus Christ, the only hope set before us in the Gospel.

Mr. Blain replied—

My Dear Christian Friends,—

I thank you for the honor you have now been pleased to confer upon me, for your expressed approval of my conduct and my ministry among you in the past, and for your good wishes for me in the future.

I feel that your addresses are clothed in language too flattering. I came among you young and unexperienced in the work of the ministry. Many imperfections have attached both to my life and my labors among you. None can be more conscious of this, none more deeply deplore it than I do. In view of both I am often made to feel myself "less than the least of all saints"

Solemn responsibilities, earnest work, trials and anxieties, as well as many sweet encouragements, attach to the christian ministry. And if these it is cheering to the faithful pastor to feel that he has the sympathies and prayers of his flock. For this assurance I am sincerely grateful.

I acknowledge, with gratitude, the tangible proof of your friendship, set forth in the suitable and timely gift which you now present, and which I cheerfully and thankfully accept. This is only one of many kindnesses shown to me since I came among you, in all of which I trust you have done it, not only for my sake, but for the sake of Him who has said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

I thank the ladies and young men of the congregation for their kind address and for their handsome gift, both of which will be prized the more highly as having come from them. I have ever felt a deep interest in the youth of the congregation, and that interest, I can assure the young friends, will not be lessened, but intensified by the kindnesses of this occasion.

Mrs. Blain, whose name you have considerately associated with mine in the handsome and gifts now conferred, requests me to thank you, on her behalf, for your expressions of friendship and so com for her and for your handsome gift.

Now, may the good will of Him that dwelt in the bush be with you all. May the Lord lift up his countenance upon you and give you peace.

WM. BLAIN.

Springville, March 17, 1869.

This is a very suitable way of the members of the Church showing their good will to their Pastor, and it will no doubt tend to encourage him in his good work. We regret that it came too late to get in any more than the addresses and reply.

THESPIANS!
THESPIANS!
THESPIANS!

The following are the cast who composed the personel of Grants Cabinet.

ELIHU B. WASHBURNE.
(Secretary of State.)

Mr. Washburne is a native of Livermore in Androscoggin County, Maine. He was born on Sept 23, 1816, and served his apprenticeship in the office of The Kennebec Journal, after which he became a lawyer. He was sent to the 33rd Congress by the 1st District of Illinois, and joined the Republican party, which he has ever since faithfully supported. He was one of the leading men in his own district, when Grant was a mere nobody, and at the breaking out of the war recommended Grant for a commander in the Volunteers. From this time forward he remained a steady friend and supporter of Grant's until the latter's own exploits freed him from the necessity of friendly influence. Mr. Washburne is a great economist, and has persistently opposed every unnecessary expenditure during the past four years. He is a present suffering from ill health, and it is doubtful who her he will long retain the position to which he has been called.

MAJOR-GEN J. M. SCHOFIELD, U.S.A.
(Secretary of War.)

Was born in 1831, in Chautauqua County, New York State; and, having graduated at West Point, entered the Artillary in 1853. He served in various corps throughout the war with the South, and rose to his present rank through thirteen merits. When the disturbance arose between President Johnson and Mr. Stanton, and, after Gen. Grant had resigned the post of Secretary of War, Gen. Schofield was appointed to the office by President Johnston, and has held it ever since.

ADOLPHE E. BORIE,
(Secretary of the Navy)

Is a leading citizen of Philadelphia. He was born in Philadelphia in 1809, of French parents, graduated at Pennsylvania University, and completed his education in Paris. Returning thence he entered into business in Philadelphia, and amassed a large fortune. He was one of the founders of the great Union League of Philadelphia, and gave largely to the enlistment of soldiers in the defence of the Union. He was a Whig in former days, and is considered a reliable Republican.

JACOB D. COX.
(Secretary of the Interior.)

Was born at Montreal. His father who was a master builder, had the contract for the roofing of Notre Dame Cathedral, and was residing in Montreal when his son was born. Jacob D. Cox graduated at Oberlin College, Ohio, the headquarters of the Ohio Abolitionists. At the outbreak of the war he was appointed Brigadier-General of Ohio volunteers, and through the four years that it continued, he served and acquired great credit for his bravery and ability. He was afterwards Governor of Ohio, but lost a little of his popularity on account of a letter he wrote against negro suffrage, and his efforts to heal up the differences with President Johnson. He is believed to be an honest man which, in fact is to be the character of the whole Cabinet.

J. A. J. CRESWELL,
(Postmaster-General)

Is a Marylander. He was born in 1828 graduated in 1848, and was admitted to the bar in 1850. He was sent to Congress in 1862, and first made himself known there by his speech on the Proclamation of Emancipation. He was elected a Senator for for Maryland after a severe contest, and was one of the delegates that re-nominated Mr. Lincoln. He is one of the great advocates for imperial suffrage, and is a republican of rather an advanced order. He was recommended to Grant by Wade, who declared him to be the only Southerner who could be trusted in the Cabinet.

E. R. HOAR,
(Attorney General)

Is the son of the Hon. Samuel Hoar, of Massachusetts, who was expelled from Charleston in 1844. Ebenezar Rockwood Hoar the present Attorney-General was born at Concord, Mass. in 1816. He graduated at Havard College and, commenced life by teaching. He was then admitted to the bar and was appointed Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts in 1858, which office he since held. He was always a strong anti-slavery man, and is considered to be one of the ablest lawyers in the States. It was of him that old "Hosea" says in the Bigelowe papers.

"An I've been sence a visitin' the Judge,
Whose garden sloped whispers with the river's edge,
Where I've set mornin's lazy as the cream,
Whose only business is to head up streams,
(We call 'em jumpkin's'eed,) or else to chat,
Along 'ith the Judge; who covers with his hat
More wit, an' gumption, an' shrewd Yankee sence
Than there is mosses on an ole stone fence.'

These are the men Grant has chosen to assist him in carrying out the affairs of the nation, and he appears to have selected only men whose previous history has been such as to warrant the belief that the business of each department will be conducted with honesty and ability.

A. T. Stewart resigned his claim to the Secretaryship of the Treasurer.

LICENSES.

The following is a corrected list of parties who have taken out Licenses to sell spirituous liquors for 1869:—

Geo. Mitchell, saloon.
Geo. Snider, tavern.
Thos. Green, tavern.
Wm. Chambers, tavern.
Wm. Croft, tavern.
Ed. Phelan, tavern.
Wm. Coarse, saloon.
D. Fischer tavern.
Wm. McDonald, tavern.
Geo. Ross, tavern.
Geo. Patterson, saloon.
John Sullivan, tavern.
Tim Cavenagh, tavern.
Ed Shaver, tavern.
H. Uin, tavern.
John Read, tavern.
Wm. Tuyner, tavern.
P. A. Hunter, tavern.
Turner & Jewett, tavern.
S. Javes, tavern.
W. H. Heathers, saloon.
Bridget Duignan, tavern.
John Malarey, shop.
John Dunlop, tavern.
Jas. Campbell, shop.
Edward Robson, shop.
Thos. Collins, shop.
John Wilson, tavern.
John Cameron, shop.
Geo. Cross, tavern.
Thos. Beatty, tavern.
Angus McDonald, shop.
McKellar & Cameron, tavern.

Da. Dellebarge.—This gentleman

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—It must be a source of congratulation to all who desire true christianity promoted that the recent attempt to inaugurate a Young Men's Christian Association, in this Town has been attended with such success; an institution which, if properly conducted, is calculated to do so much good and cannot but prove a blessing to the whole neighborhood. It is, therefore, extremely to be regretted that almost at its very commencement, sentiments which may be regarded as heterodox should be inculcated and subjects discussed which are calculated to shake the faith of the wavering in the fundamental principles of our christian religion —I refer to the statement made at a recent meeting of the association to the effect—"That the ancient Philosophers were inspired." Now, although there may be times and circumstances in which that word may be used to convey a different meaning, still the biblical rendering would undoubtedly be understood to be meant by the term when used in a Young Men's Christian Association and at a time when the contrast between heathen philosophy and christianity was the subject of discussion that the statement been made for the purpose of provoking debate by a youth green from college, anxious to display his recently acquired skill in logic, or by one seeking to obtain notoriety for the originality of his opinions, we could very well allow it to pass unchallenged, as being unworthy of the notice of men of maturer judgment; but when a gentleman who from his status and calling is looked up to as an authority in religious matters, boldly makes such an assertion, the case assumes a different aspect and gives the question involved an importance beyond what the mere merits of such an assertion would entitle it to, for unfortunately in this age of political economy, when division of labour is the order of the day, and a man is reduced to the one-fifth of a jack-knife, the one-fifteenth of a pin, or fiftieth part of a needle, we too often delegate too much to the teachers of religion, (their place in our system of political and social economy being to preach) the duty of searching the scripture for us thus economising our time for making money, and one day in seven listen to and accept the result of their labours. The consequence of this order of things is that anything, coming from one whose particular department in the classification of labour is to preach, is accepted as truth, in the same way as the packer of steel pens takes it for granted that all the pens he receives from the grinder are perfectly pointed, but despite all the care that the grinder may take, still some pens leave his hands in an imperfect condition, and it was found necessary by those manufacturers who were jealous of their reputation, to appoint an inspector to carefully examine every pen before it is passed into the hands of the packer and reject all that were imperfect Now, in matters touching the faith common to all christian creeds, I hold it to be the duty of the press to be an inspector, and to scrutinize any doctrine which has the appearance of being unsound, and if it will not bear inspection, to warn the public against its reception. On these grounds, I presume to occupy some space of your columns, and to proceed to inspect the soundness or rottenness of the doctrines advanced.

Admitting that some few of these philosophers inculcated the principles of morality and some truths of natural theology, where do we find traces of divine inspiration? Surely, not in the doctrines of the Pythagorean, with his belief in the transmigration of souls, nor in that of the Sophists, who were ready to or attend indifferently for truth or error for the love of disputation. Surely, if aided by divine inspiration, the Platonists would have found the highest good attainable by man, which their doctrines instructed them to seek, but they knew not where to look for it. Nor does the doctrine of the Stoic, teaching, as it did, that man should be all cted neither by his own affections or the misfortunes of his friend, thus banishing our best affections bearing trace of a divine origin. Is it then in the teachings of the Cynics, with the sneering Diogenes a cedar; or with the Skeptics, who affected to doubt everything, even to their own existence, that we are to seek traces of divine inspiration; or even in the moral philosophy of Socrates, which is admirable in its way, and who, from the manner of his death may be regarded as a martyr, to his system of moral Philosophy, but surely not to revealed religion, can we find any trace of divine inspiration.

What do we find was the result of all this (inspired) philosophy. From XVII chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, we learn that the Athenians not content with their own and the imported gods of the then known world, erected an altar to the "Unknown God" Had the philosophers taught and written under the influence of inspiration, God would have been known to them, and through them to the people. But it appears that the philosophers themselves the epicureans and Stoics, if inspired, knew not Paul or Paul's God, for they say of him, "he seemeth to be a setter forth of strange gods." I do not write this article in a spirit of disputation, or for the purpose of provoking discussion, which can not possibly result in good, but may produce mischief, as the tendency of the times, especially with the youth, is to regard with contempt the traditions of their fathers, and to imagine that in this age of steam and electricity, patents and inventions, it would be a sort of reflection on us if we did not invent some new worship, or at least originate some novel ideas in religion; that it is childish to kneel at the same altars at which they knelt, and hold the same simple faith with them. This being the case, I think that however cleverly they may be obtained, their tendency is pernicious in the extreme. It is, therefore, to be hoped that in the interest of that religion and morality which he so eloquently advocates every Sunday, that the gentleman who is understood to have uttered these sentiments as being part of his faith, will explain his true position. Under ordinary circumstances it might be deemed courteous to preface or close a letter of this kind with some apologetical remarks, but I have no doubt when the reverend gentleman has studied the ancient philosophers to such an extent, that in his extreme admiration he gives to their works a place among the inspired writings, he has also become so imbued with the spirit of their sentiments, that he can join heartily in the sentiment uttered by Socrates in the "Gorgias," viz. :—"I am one who would gladly be refuted if I should say anything not true, and would gladly refute another should he say anything not true, but would no less gladly be refuted than refute, for I deem it a greater advantage inasmuch as it a greater advantage to be freed from the greatest of evils than to free another, and nothing I conceive is so great an evil as a false opinion of matters of moral concernment."

Yours, truly,
A MEMBER OF THE Y. M. C. A.
March 13th, 1869.

It was lately sworn in evidence by Madame Rachel, of "Beautiful for ever celebrity," that she charged Mrs. Borrodaile one thousand guineas for enamelling her person, that this sum was her usual charge for the renovation of the personal charms of her patients The thousand pounds were for Madame Rachael, and the 99 odd pounds, included in the thousand guineas, Madame R. devoted to charitable purposes!

THE BIBLE IN SPAIN.—It seems that the Bible can now be circulated among the common people in Spain, and the British and Foreign Bible Society have despatched to Madrid successive editions of Varlera's version to the extent of one million copies.

DURHAM COUNCIL.

Feb. 17th, 1869

Council met at 10 A. M. Present—D Ross Esq., Reeve, and Messrs. Ferguson, Sproule, Wilson, and Pelyea.

Minutes of last Meeting read and signed.

Clerk instructed to notify Mr. Kilpatrick to attend the meeting of Council to be held on the first of May next, to give assurance that he will complete a road contract taken by him, or he will be proceeded against according to law.

Clerk ordered to order 200 notices of appointment to office from W. C. Chewett & Co.

Ordered that any application for a Tavern or Shop License given to the Clerk be considered as an application to Council.

A By law to appoint our six Township Officers for 1869, and one to provide for the payment of certain sums of m ney were passed

Council adjourned to the 1st of May next, then to meet as a Court of Revision on the Assessment Rolls, and Clerk ordered to advertise said Court in the Peterboro Review and Examiner.—Com

PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY.

The March number of PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY is at hand, and contains some twenty four pages of Choice New Music, giving selections from the most popular writers, and variety enough to suit the most fastidious. We notice, first, a beautiful little ballad, with Chorus, by J. S. Cox, entitled "LUFF ALL ALONE," the words of which run as follows:

"I'm left all alone in my sorrow,
No mother to soothe me to rest."

Then follows a Sacred Song by GEORGE LEACH, entitled "THE LORD WILL PROVIDE."

"Though treacherous assail, and dangers affright;
Though friends may all fail and foes all unite;
Yet one thing secures us, whatever betide:
The Scripture assures us—the Lord will provide."

"CORALINE," by the Nation's Song-Writer, WILL. S. HAYS, comes next next, the chorus of which runs as follows:

"Oh! she was his soul gentle as a child and ever brave,
And the fairies of the meadow is our darling Coraline."

This is followed by a sprightly Comic Song by T. FRENCH BROE, entitled "THE YOUNG WIDOW," and among other things, she says,

"She doesn't want a man who sees out all night,
Or one that drinks brandy, and comes home quite tight."

There are three Instrumental pieces, namely: PRETTY AS A PINK," Barcarole, by MACK; "FLEUR DE THE GATOR," by DRESSER, and the famous "GRECIAN BEND MARCH," by PERTOT.

In addition to the above, Mr. PETERS gives fifteen pages of choice family Reading, and all for the moderate sum of 30 cents, or $3 per year—over $3 worth of New Music appearing in each number. Those of our musical friends who do not subscribe are certainly losing a rich treat, as $40 worth of music cannot be bought every day for such a small sum.

Issued by J. L. PETERS, Music Publisher, P. O. Box 5429, New York.

The roads are so blocked up everywhere by the late storms that travel is now almost impossible. The fall of snow this year has exceeded that of any year in the memory of that sage individual, the oldest inhabitant.

It is generally understood that Mr. EYRE, brother of the member of that name, has secured the appointment of Registar for West Northumberland. It pays to be a martyr now-a-days.

Mr. TROW, the member for South Perth in the Local Legislature, has paid over a portion of his sessional allowance to school purposes. He intends so to dispose of the whole of it

Mr. James Ross has been appointed Clerk at the Executive Council of Ontario, in the place of Mr. J. Shuter Smith who has resigned.

The Irishmen of Guelph and vicinity are making preparations to celebrate the Seventeenth of Ireland in good style, the proceedings to close with a dinner in the evening.

The accumulation of mail matter at Prescott last week was immense. On Monday over 100 bags of papers and letters for Ottawa alone were waiting at the station.

BIRTHS

At Peterborough, on the 17th inst., the wife of C. J. Bloomfield, Esq., of a daughter.

MARRIED.

At Guelph, on the 23rd ult., by the Rev. Mr. Sole, Baptist Minister, Mr. John G. Johnston, eldest son of Joshua Johnston, Esq., Lindsay, to Kate, eldest daughter of J. Wilkinson, Esq., proprietor of the Guelph Advertiser.

DIED.

At Keene, on the 15th instant, Robert C. Humphries, jr., aged 6 years.

METEOROLOGICAL.

Through the kindness of Mr. O'Beirne we have received the following table which we will furnish regularly:—

		Highest.	Lowest.
Wednesday,	March 10	2·6	9·2
Thursday,	" 11	16·6	— 2·6
Friday,	" 12	21	—10·2
Saturday,	" 13	29·8	12·2
Monday,	" 15	22	4·4
Tuesday,	" 16	22·6	— 2·1

Amount of snow fallen during the week, 8·2 inches.

Amount of snow fallen this month, up to date, 9·2 inches.

Amount of snow fallen in February, 41·2 inches.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

PETERBOROUGH, March 18, 1869.

Flour ₱ brl	$4	50	@	$5	00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	00	@	0	00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	80	@	0	85
Peas "	0	00	@	0	00
Barley "	1	00	@	1	20
Oats "	0	55	@	0	60
Potatoes "	0	45	@	0	50
Hay ₱ ton	12	00	@	13	00
Hides ₱ cwt	6	00	@	6	50
Beef ₱ cwt	6	00	@	7	50
Sheepskins	1	00	@	1	25
Wool ₱ lb	0	20	@	0	21
Pork ₱ cwt	7	50	@	10	50
Eggs, per dozen	0	15	@	0	20
Butter,	0	18	@	0	20
Cordwood	2	50	@	3	00
Fowl, per pair	0	20	@	0	30
Geese "	0	40	@	0	50
Turkeys "	0	40	@	1	00

THE RETURN OF CONVICTIONS

Made by Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace,

WITHIN THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH,

from the

DECEMBER SESSIONS, 1868, TO THE MARCH SESSIONS, 1869.

PROSECUTOR.	DEFENDANT.	NATURE OF CHARGE.	DATE OF CONVICTION.	CONVICTING JUSTICE.	AMOUNT OF FINE.	TIME WHEN PAID OR TO BE PAID.	TO WHOM PAID OVER BY SAID JUSTICE.	REMARKS.
Thomas Russell	Ambrose Sullivan	Malicious injury to property	Sept. 24, 1868	James Edwards	$1 00		Complainant
William J. Edwards	John Langevin	Leaving employment	October 5	do	20 00			Committed do	Antoine Langevin	do	do	do	20 00			"
do	Archie Mioue	do	do	do	20 00			"
do	John Corin	do	do	do	20 00			"
William Kidd	Jos. Suttan	Assault	do 28	do	1 00		Town Treasurer
Walter Scott	Baptiste Bergean	Leaving employment	December 15	W. H. Scott	6 00	Forthwith		Committed do	Edward Hawley	do	do	do	6 00	do		"
William Arnot	Stephen Curtis	Drunk	do 21	do	2 00			Not yet paid.
D. Carlile	George A. Cox	Breach of By-law	do 22	do	40 00			"
Thomas G. Hazlitt	John Berraough	Leaving employment	do 28	James Edwards	3 00			Committed.
Samuel Dickson	Samuel Gague	do	do 28	do	3 00			"
do	Dennis Lassor	do	do 28	do	3 00			"
do	Joseph Fortier	do	do 28	do	3 00			"
do	John Sowzo	do	do 28	do	3 00			"
S. Glode and J. Morrison	George A. Stewart	Non-payment of wages	February 2, 1869	do	8 00	21 days	Complainants
Richard Purser	D. G. Henthorn	Assault	do 6	W. H. Scott	50	4 days		Paid
D. G. Henthorn	Richard Purser	Using grossly abusive language	do 7	do	50	4 days	Town Treasurer
John McNab	John H. Ruttley	Breach of Medical Act	do 25	J. Edwards and T. Chambers	30 00	Forthwith	Half to prosecutor and	the other half to be paid
do	J. C. Andrus	do	do 25	do do	30 00	do	do	do to Council.
George Smith	John Jeffers	Selling liquor without license	March 5	do do	20 00	7 days		Paid.
do	William Phillips	do	do	do do	20 00	do		Committed for 30 days.
Alexander Bell	James Bird	Trespass	December 31, 1868	R. Casement	1 00	One week
do	Richmond Knox	do	do	do	1 00	do
Alexander Stewart	Thomas Rorke	Non-payment of wages	February 6, 1869	R. Morrison	18 76	21 days	Prosecutor	Paid.
Peter Boland	David Walsh	Assault and battery	March 10	do	2 00	15 days	County Treasurer	"
Richard Walsh	Peter Boland	Breach of the peace	do 13	do	8 00	do	do	"
do	John Christy	Accessory to a breach of the peace	do 13	do	2 00	do	do	"
do	Michael Walsh	Breach of the peace	do 13	do	8 00	do	do	"
John C. Horison	Patrick Barrigan	Selling liquor without license	February 15	T. Coughlan and Walter Scott	20 00	Forthwith	Half to informer and half	to Treasurer, Asphodel
Henry C. Hall	Stephen Nicholl	Selling liquor on Sunday	December 26, 1868	William Wood	20 00	21 days	Treasurer of Smith	Paid.
J. T. Fitzgerald	J. Pengelly	Non payment of wages	do	J. T. Henthorn	7 00	December 30	To plaintiff
Joseph Meni	Joseph Hickey	do	do	do	5 50	January 13	do
Sarah Coad	Richard Parnall	do	January 2, 1869	do	25 00	do 14	do
Timothy Mulcahy	R. Crowley	Assault	do 26	do	4 00	do 26	Treasurer Otonabee
do	James Barry	do	do 28	do	4 00	do 20	do
John Martin	George Cronn	Non-payment of wages	do 26	do	16 50	Forthwith		Not paid yet.
George Campbell	T. McElmoil	do	March 13	do	27 00	do		"

I hereby certify the above to be a correct list of the Convictions, returned to me, by Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Peterborough, between the eighth day of December, 1868, and the thirteenth day of March, 1869.

Office of the Clerk of the Peace,
Peterborough, March 13th, 1869.

Clerk of the Peace.

NEW SPRING HATS!

We are now receiving the New Spring Styles in Gents' English and American

HARD and SOFT FELT and FUR FELT HATS.

The JOCKEY CLUB, in Black and Drab;
The TYROLESE; The NOT FOR JOSEPH;
The BURLINGTON; The ALPINE, &c.

Also, a nice assortment of GENTS' BLACK SILK HATS, fashionable styles.

GREEN & ROCHE.

Peterborough, March 12, 1869. 11-3in

DO NOT FORGET THE Sacred Concert

OF

100 VOICES OR MORE,

TO-NIGHT,

IN

The Music Hall.

Church-going people go and have a feast.—In the same room where Townsend has spread fiction, we give you Songs of Eternal reality and truth.

TEACHER WANTED!

WANTED A TEACHER, holding a Second or Third Class Certificate for School Section No. 4, in the Township of Snowdon.

Address to
WM. GIDLEY, } Trustees.
or JAS. PEACOCK, }
Kinmount P. O.

Snowdon, March 8, 1869. 11

Court of Revision Notice.

THE first meeting of the Court of Revision for the Township of DUMMER, on the Assessment Roll of 1869, will be held at the Town Hall, commencing at 10 o'clock, A. M.

On Saturday, the 1st of May, 1869.

All parties interested please take notice.

W. DARLING,
Township Clerk.

Dummer, March 16, 1869. 11

FOR SALE,

GOOD CLEAN PEAS, OATS AND BARLEY.

Apply to WM. McBAIN.
at Phelan's Hotel.

Peterboro', March 4, 1869. 9

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Pyaibiie as Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, tic-tache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is fast superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, br ises, sprains, chilblains, chapped nerbous, bilious colic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN.
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kemp, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh, in Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., O. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

Auction Sale

OF

LANDS!

Belonging to the Estate of the late SAMUEL STRICKLAND, Esq., with other lands.

Will be offered for sale on

Wednesday, March 31, 1869,

AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK, A. M.,

AT CAISSE'S HOTEL, PETERBORO,

By Mr. CHARLES STAPLETON, Auctioneer, the following lots:

TOWNSHIP OF BURLEIGH.

W. P.	Lot 4	in the 8th con.	80	Acres
W. P.	" 5	" 8th "	180	Acres
"	" 6	" 8th "	200	Acres
E. half	" 6	" 5th "	100	Acres	Timber Reserved
"	" 6	" 7th "	200	Acres	1st April, 1870.
"	" 7	" 7th "	200	Acres
"	" 8	" 2nd "	200	Acres
"	" 3	" 3rd "	160	Acres
"	" 4	" 3rd "	200	Acres	Timber Reserved
"	" 4	" 4th "	200	Acres	1st April, 1870.
"	" 5	" 4th "	160	Acres
"	" 5	" 7th "	172	Acres
"	" 6	" 7th "	200	Acres
"	" 6	" 7th "	200	Acres
"	" 5	" 11th "	160	Acres

TOWNSHIP OF DOURO.

W. half	Lot No. 23	in the 4th Concession,	100	Acres.
N. P.	" 23	" 5th "	75	Acres.
Broken	" 24	" 5th "	15	Acres.

TOWNSHIP OF SMITH.

N.W. quarter Lot No. 23 in 14th Concession. 60 Acres.

VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD.

Lots No. 2, 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, as shown on the plan of sub-division of the N. part of Lot No. 28, in 7th concession South.

The Lands in Burleigh lie in the neighborhood of Julian's Landing, where it is proposed to erect a wharf, and to which point it is expected that steamboat communication will be had from Lakefield on the completion of the Lock at Young's Point These Lands are wooded with hardwood, and form a block of the best farming land in the township.

The Lots in Lakefield are advantageously situated, and are near the Canada Presbyterian Church.

Further particulars and conditions of sale may be had on application to Robert A. Strickland, Esq., Lakefield; H. T Strickland, Esq., Peterborough, and Messrs. Dennistoun, Fairbairn & Cassels, Vendor's Solicitors.

Peterboro, March 9, 1869. 10-3in

NOTICE!

ALL persons having any claims against the Municipality of Burleigh, Anstruther, &c., are hereby requested to furnish a statement of such claim, and the nature thereof, forthwith, to the Reeve.

Address, Chandos Post Office.

S. W. CLEGG,
Reeve of Burleigh, &c.

January 27, 1869. 4

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 25, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 16, 1868. 12-tf

Money to Loan.

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, in sums to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H MOORE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

Great Bargains

IN

FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2 75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 8, 1868. 41

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks. Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro, December 16, 1868. 51

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets and Stocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 18-tf

A CARD.

J. W GILMOUR has much pleasure in hereby returning thanks to his Friends and the Public generally, in Peterborough and its vicinity, for the liberal patronage with which they have favored him. He takes this means to inform the same that he has made arrangements to a Partnership with Dr. W. H TAYLOR, of Montreal—a gentleman thoroughly trained to the business of Chemist and Druggist, in old and well known Establishments in that City, and who has also been in the Practice of his Medical Profession there for more than ten years—but has been obliged to relinquish its onerous duties on account of failing health. Dr. Taylor has already entered on his duties here, and will devote his time more especially to the preparation of Physicians' Prescriptions and family Recipes, and otherwise will co-operate with me in the general management of the business. The Public may rely upon having not only a careful but a skillful attention to their requirements in this department. Nothing but Pure and Genuine Drugs will be selected, and a full assortment of the Official Preparations of the British and United States Pharmacopœia will constantly be kept on hand. With these additions to his other facilities for successfully carrying on business, the Subscriber respectfully solicits a continuance of the Liberal Patronage hitherto bestowed upon him.

J. W GILMOUR,
Corner of George and Hunter Streets.

Peterboro, Jan. 27, 1869. 4-tf

FARM FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale Lot 6 in A, the 10th con. and South half of Lot 7 in 10th con. of Verulam, 250 acres in all, 125 acres cleared, well watered; a good young orchard, with over 200 trees commencing to bear; a good dwelling house, frame barn and sheds and good well. For further particulars apply to

D. HUNTER,
on the premises.
W. H. SCOTT,
Peterboro.
or S. GRAHAM,
Bobcaygeon.

Verulam, March 2, 1869. 9

FOR SALE!

At ALLANDALE MILLS,

Twenty Tons of Mill Feed,

Deliverable at the Mills or in Peterboro.

THOS. SHORT, Agent.

Allandale Mills, Feb. 24, 1869. 8-tf

NOTE LOST.

ANY person having found a Promissory Note, made by Robert Phillips, of Douro, in favor of John Graham, of Hastings, for the sum of $27, with interest, will confer a favor by sending it to

HUGH DRAIN,
South Dummer P. O.
or JOHN GRAHAM,
Hastings P. O.

March 3, 1869. 9-3in*

NOTICE!

WE hereby respectfully request all parties indebted to us, to call and settle their accounts without delay, as money is much wanted and must be had

I. ROBINSON & Co

Peterboro, Feb. 24, 1869. 8-4in

PORK!

50 BLS. MESS and 150 BLS. PRIME MESS, for sale at

WALTER BEAL'S,
(J. Carnegie's) old stand, opposite Nicholls & Hall's.

Peterboro, January 27, 1869. 4-3in

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—The North half of No. 4, in the 4th Concession of Ennismore.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro', Feb'y 18, 1868.

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the Blood we boldly ask that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Peter U. V. Miller, of Kneastown, Ontario, of Consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Cobourg, Ontario, of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hoey, of Napanee, Ontario, of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

☞ Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and satisfy yourselves.

Price of Remedy in large pints $1.00.

☞ For sale by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine Agents for Peterborough—Messrs. Kemp, Gilmour, Coulter, Ormond & Walsh, Ontario Drug Store and Dr Bell

NOTICE.

THE next meeting of the Normal School Board of Instruction of the Peterboro' Western Circuit, for the examination of Teachers, will be held in the

UNION SCHOOL HOUSE,

In the Town of Peterborough, on

Thursday, June 3rd, 1869.

Commencing at 10 a. m.

N. B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produces satisfactory testimonials of moral character.

By order,
J. EDWARDS,
Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 23, 1868. 2

NOTICE!

THE next meeting of the Board of Instruction for the Eastern circuit of the County of Peterboro, for the examination of Teachers will be held in the School House at Norwood,

On Thursday, May 29, 1869,

At 10 o'clock, a. m.

N.B.—No Teacher is eligible to be examined unless he produces satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

By order
W. E. ROXBURGH,
Secretary.

Norwood, Jan'y 20th, 1869. 8-td

FOR SALE.

100,000 Brick.

STEPHEN WOOD.

Otonabee, January 14, 1869. 2tf

For Sale or To Let.

MRS. BAYLEY'S COTTAGE, in Ashburnham.

Apply to
T. M. FAIRBAIRN.

Nov. 26, 1868. 42

REVOLVER LOST!

ON THE THIRD DAY OF DECEMBER, between Otonabee and Peterboro.

The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Peterb ro, January 13, 1869 2

New Advertisements.

THESPIANS!

MUSIC HALL,

Wednesday Even'g, March 24,

BENEFIT OF

A. H. RACKETT

And Orchestra.

Two act Comedy of

SEVEN CLERKS;

OR

The Three Thieves and the Benefactor.

And the Farce of

Lend Me Five Shillings!

Reserved seats 50 cents; Pit 25 cents. Tickets to be had at the Bookstores.

Poetry.

IT IS NOT YOUR BUSINESS WHY.

Would you like to know the secret
Of your neighbor's home and life?
How he lives, and how he dresses,
And just how he treats his wife?
How he spends his times of leisure,
Whether sorrowful or gay;
And where he goes for pleasure,
To the concert or the play?
If you wish it, I will tell you,
Let me whisper to you sly?
If your neighbor is but rich,
It is not your business why.

Would you like to know the value
Of Mr. Brown's estate?
And if he really does intend
With Widow Smith to mate?
And whether it is true at Jones,
As is whispered round,
That he is once-not-once-or-twice,
Due this night, was only fo nd?
If you wish it, I will tell you,
It's between us,—you and I,—
If neighbors are not always right,
It's not your reason why.

And lest there may be many more
Who so secrets would learn too,
I'll tell you how you sure will get
A clear and happy view,
First take from out your eyes so blind
The beam which fills its quite,
And all round you soon will view
In new and different light,
Then, should you see a little mote
Within your neighbors eye,
I'm sure you'll think with me,
It's not your business why.

Varieties.

A cat was recently killed in the press of a Philadelphia paper, and the staff of that journal got up a sweepstakes for the man who could make the worst joke on the subject. The following atrocities were immediately committed:—

An unfortunate cat committed pussicide in our press, yesterday, reducing one of our forms to an extensive pi. As a natural result of introducing cat into our pi, the soul of the machine was stopped. Samuel Weller will please take notice.

A press-man his was lost, yesterday, by an individual leaping into our fast Hoe, Requiescat in pesces.

The influence of the press was brought to bear, yesterday, in favour of preventing further cruelty to at least one animal.

There was a just retribution in the mutilation of the feline creature who walked into our press yesterday. She used to mew till late herself.

When that cat was cut in half yesterday, the pressman simply remarked "what pussperverance!"

Our cat certainly had nine lives, or she wouldn't have gone through so many "kems" in dying.

We had an original tail in part of our edition yesterday, in several parts.

The Bulletin was distributed yesterday fur and 'ear.

One of our editions yesterday was a purrdition for one poor unfortunate.

Knowledge of American geography is limited in France. A new work on the subject, used in many French schools, speaks of Toronto as one of the eastern cities of the United States, of Portland as the capital of New England, says the Germans constitute a large part of the population of the Territory of Missouri, and declares that the Territory of the Rocky Mountains was conquered by the American troops under Gen. Fremont.

An observing individual, in a very healthy village, seeing the sexton at work in a hole in the ground, inquired what he was about. 'Digging a grave, sir.' 'Digging a grave! Why I thought people didn't die often here, do they?' 'Oh, no, sir; they never die less once.'

The following was posted on the door of the Ludlow Church, in Hertfordshire, some time back:—"This is to give notice that no person is to be buried in the churchyard, but those living in the parish. Those who wish to be buried are desired to apply to me Ephriam Gratt, parish clerk."

"Why did you leave your last place?" inquired a young housekeeper about to engage a new servant. 'Why, you see, ma'am,' replied the applicant, 'I was too good looking, and when I opened the door folks took me for the masses.'

A close-fisted fellow out west died, and on his tomb stone was inscribed, "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." A neighbour passing by saw it, and obliterated that he reckoned the Lord didn't owe that chap a red cent.

At a wedding breakfast which took place not many miles from Peterborough, a gentleman, in making a speech, wished the bride many happy returns of the occasion. Every one laughed except the bridegroom, who couldn't see where the laugh came in.

Not having heard from the debating societies in relation to the conundrum, 'Why do hens always lay eggs in the day time?' a contemporary answers, 'Because at night they are 'roosters.'

A Journalist tried to be funny thus: 'A dissipated wag says he is never up with the lark unless he is on one.' The printer set it, 'unless he is an owl,' which makes the joke imperceptibly fine.

'What you got a snub nose for?' said a white boy to a little darkey. 'Dunno,' was the reply. 'but I 'spect its so's not to poke itself into other people's business.'

Sidney Smith recommended as the best system of wooden pavement for London that the Aldermen should lay their heads together.'

A dashing individual boiled his hams in sherry wine, whereat an honest Hibernian exclaimed, 'Bedad I wish I was a pig myself.'

'Get your life insured for $10,000,' said a zealous insurance agent, 'and then if you die to-morrow the widow's heart will ring for joy.'

Some wretch of an editor says, that another twist to the present mode of doing up the ladies hair, would take them off their feet.

Why is a grape vine like a soldier?—Because it is 'liesed, and trained, and has tendrils (ten drills,) and shoots.

Why is a hen immortal? We are almost afraid to answer; but it is, Because 'her son never sets.'

An experienced old gentleman says that what is needed for the enjoyment of love or sausages, is confidence.

The barber who dressed the head of a barrel, has been engaged to 'fix up the backs of a camel.

Ther are fools who insist on being perfectly mi-erable because they cannot be perfectly happy.

Little girls believe in the man in the moon; big girls, in the man in the honeymoon.

Where ought the milk of human kindness to be ever found?—Within the pale of the church.

A False Alarm.—When you fear your new teeth are coming out but they don't.

Why is a dentist like a farmer?—Because he pulls out stumps and fills ashers.

What colour to grow when covered with snow?—Invisible green.

A Western editor calls about music 'the cry of children in tail.'

The End of the Social Glass.

A person who has suffered severely from his passion for liquor, thus feelingly describes the progress and painful effects of that destructive vice:—"I was once a respectable man. I can well remember the first step which led me to what I am now. I was dragged into a tavern, and there first, when I was at the tender age of fifteen, with intellectual promise as fair as ever made a parent's heart bound with joy my friend who was the most devoted enemy I ever had, though "best friend" now, handed me the cup. I remember the light and joyous sensation which bounded through my brain. I felt a delicious delirium. was pleased with everybody around me, and felt brave enough to march to the cannon's mouth. All the, however, passed off with the first sleep, and would never have been thought of again, but for the dreadful fact that then and there I got a taste of that Circean cup, which has all but poisoned me to death, and will soon finish me. That was the first in a series of steps downward. I went home every night with high ideas, and when in the morning I rose, it now became necessary, after a kind of washing, giddy dose through the forenoon, to go to the sideboard. This alarmed my mother and sisters. They thought it strange and remonstrated, but I despised the idea of being a tippler, and was angry because they expressed their fears, after they had seen me do it a few times, that I would form the habit of drinking. Had I been just to those fears then, I should not be what I am now. Let the young man, who is just acquiring the taste, not disregard these gentle admonitions; they are the suggestions of guardian angels, which, if obeyed, will open to him the path of peace, health, contentment and honor. If disobeyed, he is destined to trouble, discontent, disgrace, sickness and death. I could go now and call for my glass treat and be treated. It was gentlemanly to be able to master a glass of brandy, gin, or whatever the fashionable drink was.

When at length I began to be somewhat alarmed at this surprising progress in dissipation, I resolved to abstain for a limited period. Then my ambition would kindle up, for I wished ardently to be a great man. I studied earnestly for a time the science of law and politics, but when the allotted period expired, forward I would rush again into the crossed like a current that, having been dammed up, breaks over the frail barriers with fresh impetuosity. I got married—for woman, unfortunate woman, will not hear of fault in him she loves. He will soon reform. He loves me too well to make unhappy. He knows I shall not like it. He promised to abstain." Ah deceived woman! Love may be stronger than death, but the power of the cup is stronger than both. What! a drinking man, a man that can drink five glasses of brandy a day with pleasure, is not far from that point, when he will sacrifice health, wife, pride, patriotism, reputation, love, life, everything for that damnable thirst—I loved my wife as much as a man could, but when the habit of drinking was thoroughly formed (which was before I was aware) I sacrificed everything. I have often returned home and found my wife weeping in silence—a silence that at first used to gore my soul, but liquor soon hardened anything that looked like tenderness. She has told me the children wanted clothes, but, "Curse the children," said I; "I want my drink, and I'll have it." One night I stayed until two o'clock at the tavern, playing cards and who should come in at that dread hour of the night but my wife with her infant in her arms! My blood ran cold and curled at my heart; "Is this woman my wife?" I exclaimed. Never before did I realize the full power of female virtue. My profane companions and myself were perfectly shocked. I cursed her, and told her, with severe threats, to go home. "No that I will not," said she, raising in the dignity of injured innocence though with a trepidation that shook her whole frame like an aspen, and holding her trembling infant on to me; "This is your child, and I will not tir one step from this spot till you take it and go home with me."—She then turned to my companions, and upbraided them as the destroyers in a strain of invective that made them cower like so many discovered and dis-rowed assassins before the messenger of retributive justice. We separated, ashamed of each other and our deeds of darkness, and almost scared by this strange apparition. I obeyed, miserable, for nothing makes a man more meanspirited than the habit of drinking. We went home and retired to rest, but waking up in the night with a horrible thirst, I tottered to the bottle and drank; went to sleep again; slept till ten o'clock and when I arose, felt dizzy and bewildered. wretched and hopeless. And so my days are passing. Give up the practice I will not. I cannot live without it. I have no character to lose; no mind to study; no business to employ me; no ambition to inspire; no love excepting for brandy, gin, whiskey, rum—anything which will supply my raging thirst."

RATES OF TRAVEL.—In a single second, a snail travel one five-thousandth of a foot; a fly, five feet; a pedestrain, at ordinary gait, five and three-tenths feet; a camel, six feet; an ordinary brook, ten feet; a running stream, twelve feet; a trotting horse, twelve feet; a while, twelve and three tenths feet; a fast sailing sloop fourteen feet; a reindeer, with sledge, twenty-five feet; a steam engine, twenty-nine feet; a skater, thirty-six feet; an English race horse, forty-one feet; a tempest, fifty feet; a swiftly thrown stone, fifty feet; a grey-hound, seventy-four; an eagle, ninety-five feet; a carrier-pigeon four hundred and eleven feet; ordinary sound, one thousand and twelve feet; a musket ball, one thousand, five hundred and ninety nine feet; a twenty-five pound cannon ball, two thousand two hundred and ninety nine feet; a point of the earth on its equator, two thousand four hundred and fifty-one feet; the centre of the earth around the sun, four miles; a ray of sunlight, forty-one thousand feet.

GOOSE WHEAT.—Some years since a wild goose was shot in Washington Territory, and a few grains of wheat were taken from his crop. Being very large and full, they were sown red and planted. The yield was found to be so great as to lead to its propagation, until this variety, which is known in the Territory as "Goose Wheat," has become a standard in that section of the country. Samples of this wheat were recently sent to the Agricultural Department at Washington. Upon examining the samples at the museum, of which there are some 2 000 varieties, the same wheat was found, being one of the samples sent from the Paris Exposition, and grown in Cannes, in Spain.

Josh Billings says: "When a young man ain't good for anything else I like to see him carry a gold headed cane, if he can't carry a cane, let him part his hair in the middle."

READY-MADE CLOTHING

OFFERING

VERY CHEAP

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats,
Winter Sack Coats,
Winter Shooting Coats,
Winter Pants and Winter Vests.

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

☞ BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterboro, January, 1869. 3

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES

GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,

From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

THE ÆTNA
LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N Gibbs, Esq., M.P., Oshawa.
A McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
M. H. Irish, Esq., Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lovell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Sash Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

Galway Mining Company.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Dividend at the rate of Thirty per cent per annum, for the half year ending 18th January, 1869, has been declared on the capital paid in at that date, and that the same is payable at the Office of the Company, at Peterborough, on and after Monday, the fifth day of February, 1869.

By order of the Directors

JOHN BURNHAM,
Secretary & Treasurer.

Peterborough February 1, 1869. 6-3in

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of Land attached, lately occupied by R. H. Boucher, Esq.,

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the property of Mr. Ullathorne, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to O. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 20, 1868. 32-tf

FOR SALE.

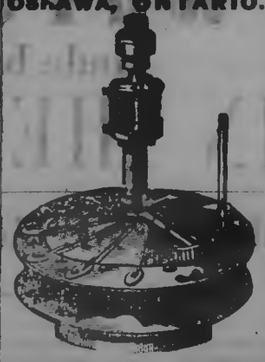
LOTS 4 and 5 in the 9th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

JOSEPH HALL
MACHINE WORKS!
ESTABLISHED 1851.
JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.
PROPRIETORS,
OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Dec. 23th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patters, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us thereon. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheel runs. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞ We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-cutting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife Grinders, Wooden Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.
Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-12in

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, A Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 18, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never failing well of spring water; two good running streams; and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 8, 1868. 5

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Apply to FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 6, 1868. 50

Houses and Lots for Sale!

THAT Commodious Stone Dwelling House and Lot on Brock street, not far from the Commercial House, Peterboro.

Also, the Lot on Mark street, Ashburnham, at present occupied by the owner, will be sold on moderate terms. For particulars apply to

MARIA FOSTER,
Ashburnham.

January, 19th, 1869. 3

MILLER'S
Infallible Tick Destroyer
FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS. Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 75c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co.,
Proprietors.

187 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 14, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BARLEY, OATS,
PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1869. 9

Phœnix Insurance Company.
BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 Court Street, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 Broadway, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurance against loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale that Valuable Farm, the South half of Lot No. 24 in the 12th concession of Smith.

There are 80 acres of good pitchable land, nine acres of which are in woods. There is a good Log House on the property; also, Stables and Barn, and an Orchard beginning to bear.—There is also a good Well near the dwelling. It is situated 4½ miles from the Village of Lakefield. There is a Blacksmith Shop, a Store and a Post Office on the Lot.

For further particulars apply to

THOS. HOULIHAN,

Selwyn P. O., On the premises.

Smith, January 27, 1869. 4

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 26, 1869. 9

J. H. AMES,
MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN
BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lamble's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 9, 1868. 37

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN
MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 15, 1868. 29

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!
EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting.

Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

DOMINION HOUSE,
PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, January, 1869. 53

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,
Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscribe, being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 2-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. MCFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,
SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,
Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes,
Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

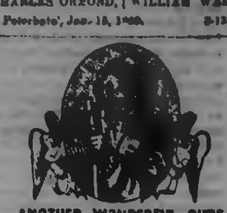
ORMOND & WALSH,
Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very liberal patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is complete with Drugs and Chemicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would parties only improve upon their Friends and the Public generally, the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent but also responsible for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labeled.

The undersigned being fully impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug Store, beg to assure their customers that Physicians prescriptions and Family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for faithfulness and correctness as to their requirements. Their Stock consists of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a respectable Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Coal Oil, Coal Lamps, &c, &c.

CHARLES ORMOND, | WILLIAM WALSH.

Peterboro', Jan. 18, 1869. 3-12in



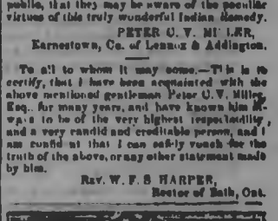
ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE
OF
CONSUMPTION!
IN CANADA.

MESSRS YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Rhodonecro Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweatings, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different receipes, but all without any good effect. Squire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Rhodonecro Remedy; I procured three bottle, at once, with the Pills; so soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this compliment, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c, left me; and by continuing to use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. V. MILLER,
Earnestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman Peter C.V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confid nt that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.



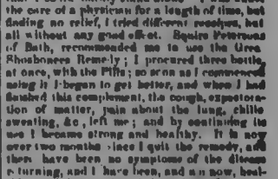
SUGAR-COATED.

ARE a safe and reliable remedy in all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels. They are no Quack Medicine, puffed up by high sounding testimonials from imaginary people but are the result of forty years experience of a first class physician, and their extraordinary success is due to the fact that they answer exactly their name. The formula from which they are prepared, is based on sound, scientific principles, and has received the unqualified approbation of the medical profession. They do not profess to be a cure all, but for all diseases arising from any derangement of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they furnish an effectual remedy. We have in our possession, over one hundred testimonials from physicians who have used them in their practice and highly approve of them, among which are the following:

J. N. GIBBS, M. D., Dunham, C. E.
C. E. COTTON, M. D., Cowansville.
CHARLES BROWN, M. D., Cowansville.
S. S. FOSTER, M. D., Frome.
J. O. BUTLER, M. D., Waterloo.
JOHN BISHOP, M. D., Waterloo.
NORMAND CLEVELAND, M. D., Barnston.
N. JENKS, M. D., Barnston.
C. W. COWLES, M. D., Stanstead.
JOHN MIGNAULT, M. D., Stanstead.
JOSEPH BREAULT, M. D., Surgeon R. N.
BENJAMIN DAMON, M. D., Caulcook.
LEMUEL RICHMOND, M. D., Derby Line.
WINSLOW LEWIS, M. D., Boston.
W. D. MUSSEY, M. D., Boston
W. MARSDEN, M. D., Quebec.
F. J. AUSTIN, M. D., Sherbrooke.
F. D. WORTHINGTON, L. D., Sherbrooke.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents.

Ormond & Walsh, sole agents for Peterborough.



IS A SPECIFIC for Rheumatism or Lameness of any kind, Swelling of the Joints, Sore Throat, Cold in the Head and Diptheria, Burns or Frost Bites, Scratches on Horses, &c, &c.

JACOB'S RHEUMATIC LIQUID

Is an internal as well as an external remedy, and is the only one that always gives entire satisfaction, and all who once use it will never consent to change it for any other.

We have not space to enumerate the virtues accorded to it by thousands who have used it, and voluntarily certify to its merits. Buy a bottle and satisfy yourself that it is the best remedy ever offered.

Henry Simpson & Co., Montreal Wholesale Agents.

Ormond & Walsh, sole agents for Peterborough.

THE BEST Tonic Hair Dressing ever discovered. It effectually cleanses the scalp, prevents the Hair from falling or turning prematurely gray, and when the follicles and glands are not destroyed, will produce a new and luxuriant growth of hair where it has already disappeared.

It is the cheapest, as well as the best, being only 25 cents for a large bottle. Buy it, try it, you'll like it and recommend it to your friends.

H Simpson & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents

Ormond & Walsh, sole agents for Peterborough.

Peterborough Examiner.

$1.50 PER ANNUM, IF PAID IN ADVANCE] "Prove all things—Hold fast that which is good." [$2.00 PER ANNUM, IF NOT PAID IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XIV. PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1869. No. 12.

The Peterborough Examiner
A WEEKLY
POLITICAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND FAMILY NEWSPAPER, IS PUBLISHED
EVERY THURSDAY MORNING.

Terms $1.50 per annum in Advance.

EVERY DESCRIPTION OF BOOK AND JOB PRINTING executed at this office, in a superior style, and at low rates.

☞ Particular attention given to Ornamental Printing in Colors, Attractive Posters, &c.

All orders for Job Printing forwarded to this office will be punctually and strictly attended to.

Business Directory.

JAMES HALL,
SHERIFF, Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

W. SHERIDAN,
COUNTY Treasurer and Clerk. Office in the Court House, Peterborough.

C. A. WELLER,
CLERK of the Peace. Office on Simcoe st., Peterboro'. 18

C. A. WELLER,
COUNTY ATTORNEY, Office on Simcoe st. 20

WELLER & HATTON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys, Solicitors, &c.—Office—Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
C. A. WELLER. (47) D. G. HATTON.

MR. JOHN BURNHAM,
BARRISTER, Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer &c. Office—over the Royal Canadian Bank, George street, Peterborough, C. W. 20

SCOTT & GREEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Notaries Public Office, opposite Nicholls & Hall's, Simcoe Street, Peterborough.
WILLIAM GREENE SCOTT. | JOHN GREEN.

GEORGE EDMISON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, &c., &c. Office over Mr. John Fletcher's Boot and Shoe store, directly opposite Mr. Clarke's, George street, Peterborough.
Peterboro', Feb. 17th, 1864. 9

DENNISTOUN, FAMBAIRN & CASSELS,
BARRISTERS, &c.,
Hunter Street, Peterborough.

DR. DEAN,
40 MOORE

J. O'SULLIVAN, M.D., L.R.C.P.S., I.
Late Resident Medical Officer of the Kingston General Hospital.
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHEUR.
Coroner for County of Peterborough.
Office and residence—opposite Shaver's Hotel, Hunter Street, Peterboro'. 21-tf

J. BINGHAM, M.D., L.R.C.P.S.
GRADUATE of the University of Queen's College, Kingston, and
LICENTIATE
Of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Canada.
Office and residence at Warsaw, Dummer.
December 16, 1868. 51

GEORGE BURNHAM, M.D.,
Graduate of Bellevue Hospital Medical College, N. Y., University of Victoria College, Canada, and Licentiate of Nova Scotia, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur.
Office and residence—Lake street, Ashburnham.
Ashburnham, October 29, 1867. 43

J. W. GILMOUR,
DRUGGIST, Chemist and Gentleman, dealer in Genuine Drugs and Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Spices, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Smelling and Toilet Bottles, Fancy Soaps, Culinary Essences, &c. George Street, Peterboro. 19

W. COULTER, PETERBOROUGH,
DEALER in Genuine Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Perfumery, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Hair, Nail and Tooth Brushes, Spices Culinary Essences, Fancy Soaps, &c., &c. 19

ALEX. McNEIL,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER for the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria, and Township of Cavan and South Monaghan.
Office ARE Street, opposite the Post Office, Water street, Peterboro',
Nov. 21, 1861. 48

GEORGE READ,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Clerk Division Court, Township Clerk, &c., Keene, Otonabee 20

JAMES McLEAN,
INSURANCE AGENT, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, and Commissioner for taking Affidavits.
Cavan, Mount Pleasant, C. W. 20

GEORGE BROWNLEE,
ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICENSES, W. A. Scott's Office,—Sherbrook Street, Peterborough.

CABINET-MAKING.
E. POOLE, Cabinet maker, Upholsterer and Undertaker George Street, Peterboro.

JAMES STEVENSON,
DEALER in Stoves, Tin-Ware, &c., &c., George Street, Peterborough. 19

ROBERT PATTERSON,
DEALER in Boots and Shoes. Spanish Sole Leather constantly on hand.
☞ Nicholls & Hall's old stand, Simcoe street, Peterborough.

ROBERT WALTON,
SADDLERY. Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, &c., George Street, Peterboro'. 18

WM. N. KENNEDY,
PAINTER, Paper-Hanger, &c., &c., Hunter Street, Peterborough. 15

GEORGE MITCHELL,
DEALER in Groceries and Provisions, &c. Cash paid for all kinds of country produce. George Street, Peterborough. 18

EDMUND S. VINDIN,
COMMISSION, Shipping, Forwarding and General Agent, Lumber Merchant, &c.—Office, Corner of Walton and Ontario Streets, Port Hope.

GOODWIN & SON,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in PASTRY AND CONFECTIONERY.—Fruit of every description in season.
Dixon's Block, opposite Victoria Hall, George street, Peterboro', C.W.
Peterboro', October 10, 1866. 41-1y.

BANK OF TORONTO.
GEORGE Street, Peterboro', interest allowed on deposits.
A SMITH, Agent. 20

Royal Canadian Bank
FOUR PER CENT allowed on Deposits, and three Per Cent on Current Accounts.
Wm. OGILVY, Agent.
Peterboro', May 16, 1866. 20

ONTARIO BANK,
PETERBOROUGH.
SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.
From this date until further notice, the rate of interest in the above department will be
FIVE PER CENT.
PER ANNUM.
D. S. EASTWOOD, Manager.
Peterboro', April 1st, 1868. 14-tf

NOTICE.
ALL payments to be made on account of the
ONTARIO GOVERNMENT
MAY BE MADE TO THE
Royal Canadian Bank
And Its Agencies.
E. B. WOOD, Treasurer of Ontario.
Dated at Toronto, 30th Oct. 1867. 45-tf

T. J. WINSHIP,
TOBACCONIST,
George Street, Peterborough, Ont.
March 12, 1868. 11-1y

GEORGE ALLEN,
GUN & WHITE-SMITH,
Hunter Street, Peterborough,
BEGS to inform the public that all kinds of repairing is done on the shortest notice, such as Gun, Stocking, &c., Pistols and White-smithing. Sewing Machines also neatly repaired.
☞ Shop and residence adjoining the Union Hotel.
Peterboro, October 25, 1865. 43

D. PENTLAND,
DENTIST,
Office, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, Peterborough.
D. P. keeps on hand a good stock of PIANOS, various makers; Victoria Organs; Melodeons of all styles; Concertinas, &c. Instruction Books for Piano, Melodeon, &c. A large stock of Sheet Music always on hand.
Peterboro', February 5, 1868. 6

DENTISTRY!
Teeth Extracted Without Pain
DR. PENTLAND, Dentist, begs respectfully to inform the public that he is now prepared to EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN, by the aid of Nitrous Oxide Gas, a very pleasant and perfectly safe remedy.
Peterboro, November 28 1866. 48

REMOVAL.
DR. KINCAID has removed his office and residence to the house lately occupied by T. G. Hazlitt, Esq., on the corner of George and Murray streets, Peterboro.
Peterboro, July 8, 1868. 26

GEORGE BROWNLEE,
Issuer of Marriage Licences.
OFFICE at James Bell's Dry Goods Store, George Street. 3

MONEY!
THE subscriber is prepared to lend money in sums of $200 and upwards, for periods to suit applicants, with the privilege of paying off principal at any time, or by instalments to suit borrowers.
D. W. DUMBLE, Solicitor.
Peterboro, Sept. 16, 1868. 36

Money! Money!
MONEY TO LEND, at eight per cent, in sums to suit borrowers.
Apply to J. A. HALL,
At the Court House
Peterboro', May 8th, 1861 19

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!
IF your children are suffering with worms, give Dr. F. MORRIS'S VEGETABLE WORM LOZENGES, the best and safest medicine ever offered to the public. They are pleasant to the taste and will be taken readily by the youngest child. Good for either children or adults, and are recommended by thousands who have used them. Ask for Dr. F. Morris's Worm Lozenges, and take no others. Sold everywhere at 25 cents per box.
Peterboro, Sept. 2, 1868. 36

BERKSHIRE BOAR.
THE Subscriber having purchased the young Boar, BERKSHIRE, that took first prizes, both at the West Durham Agricultural Society's Show at Millbrook, 1868, and also at the Hope Agricultural Society's show of same year, will keep him for service of Sows during the ensuing season. Terms $1.00, at time of service.
H. COLLINS.
North Monaghan, Nov. 4, 1868. 45

R. S. HOWELL,
FORWARDER,
Commission Merchant,
AND
GENERAL SHIPPING AGENT.
Dealer in Lumber, &c.,
PORT HOPE, ONT.

ROCHESTER HOUSE,
No. 69 Front Street, Toronto, Ont.
JOHN CARROLL, PROPRIETOR.
This Hotel is pleasantly situated and convenient to the Railway Stations, Steamboat Landings, and Wholesale Houses of the City, and is largely patronized by business men generally. ☞ Fare $1.25 per Day 44

ST. LAWRENCE HALL,
WALTON STREET,
PORT HOPE, ONT.
T. W. HASTINGS, Proprietor.
Port Hope, Oct. 14, 1868. 42

Traveling Directory.

PORT HOPE
LINDSAY AND BEAVERTON,
AND
Port Hope and Peterboro Railway

On and after WEDNESDAY, THIRTEENTH day of MAY, 1868, Trains will run as follows:—

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Lindsay, Depart ..... 9.35 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11.36 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 1.10 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 3.00 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 4.35 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 6.30 "

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.
Lindsay, Depart ..... 12.35 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 2.25 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 4.20 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 5.45 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 7.20 "
Lindsay, Arrive ..... 9.10 "

PETERBOROUGH SECTION.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MAIL.
Peterborough, Depart ..... 3.30 p. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 4.20 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 5.50 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MAIL.
Port Hope, Depart ..... 10.10 a. m.
Millbrook, Arrive ..... 11.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 12.35 p. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.—MIXED.
Peterborough, Depart ..... 8.30 a. m.
Millbrook ..... 6.30 "
Port Hope, Arrive ..... 9.05 "

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.—MIXED.
Peterborough, Depart ..... 1 p. m.
Millbrook ..... 2.35 "
Peterborough, Arrive ..... 3.20 "

A. T. WILLIAMS, Superintendent.
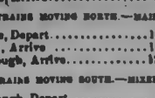
May 20, 1868. 23

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
TRAINS LEAVE
PORT HOPE STATION
AS FOLLOWS:
GOING EAST.
Express (day) ..... 9.36 a. m.
Mixed ..... 7.00 p. m.
Express (night) ..... 9.20 p. m.
GOING WEST.
Express (night) ..... 10.30 p. m.
Mixed ..... 2.00 p. m.
Express (day) ..... 10.30 a. m.
Trains leave on Railroad time, which is about twenty-three minutes ahead of Port Hope time
Warranted correct by the Company's time Table.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
OF CANADA.
TORONTO LINE.
TORONTO, &c., TO HAMILTON.
Accommodation trains leave Yonge street Station at 7.00 a.m., 9.50 p.m. and 6.50 p.m.
Express at 12 50 p.m.
HAMILTON, &c., TO TORONTO.
Accommodation trains leave Hamilton at 7.10 a.m., 9.30 a.m. and 7.25 p.m.
Express at 3.45 p.m.

ALTERATION OF TIME
IN THE
Norwood and Peterboro'
STAGE.
ROYAL MAIL LINE!
LEAVES NORWOOD, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 7 o'clock a m.
LEAVES PETERBORO, same days, at 2.30 o'clock, p.m. calling each way at Indian River and South Dummer Post Offices.
Office in Peterboro' at Commercial House, at Norwood, Johnson's Hotel.
Parcels Carried at Moderate Rates
J. A. JOHNSON, Proprietor
Norwood, 1st September, 1868. 36

Montreal Ocean Steamship Co.



Steam to Liverpool, Londonderry and Glasgow.
Rates of Passage from Peterboro':
CABIN, - - $76 to $80. STEERAGE - $30.
Return Tickets for 6 months at reduced fares.
For Through Passage Tickets, Staterooms, and every information, apply to
GEORGE A. COX, Agent.
Canadian Express Co'y.
Peterboro', Nov. 7th, 1866. 45.

THE CANADIAN
Land and Emigration Company
Offers for sale on Conditions of Settlement,
GOOD FARM LANDS
In the County of Peterboro, Ontario,
In the well settled Township of Dysart, where there are Grist and Saw Mills, Stores, &c., at
ONE-AND-A-HALF DOLLARS AN ACRE.
In the adjoining Townships of Guilford, Dudley Harburn, Harcourt and Bruton, connected with Dysart and the Village of Haliburton by the Peterson Road, at ONE DOLLAR an Acre.
For further particulars apply to
CHAS. JAS. BLOMFIELD,
Manager C. L. and E. Co., Peterboro.
ALEX. RIVES, P.L.S.,
Agent C. L. & E. Co., Haliburton, Ont.
March 10, 1869. 10

Poetry.

YOUR MISSION.

If you cannot on the ocean
Sail among the swiftest fleet;
Rocking on the highest billows,
Laughing at the storms you meet,
You can stand among the sailors,
Anchored yet within the bay,
You can lend a hand to help them,
As they launch their boats away.

If you are too weak to journey,
Up the mountains steep and high,
You can stand within the valley,
While the multitudes go by,
You can chant in happy measure,
As they slowly pass along,
Though they may forget the singer,
They will not forget the song.

If you have not gold and silver,
Ready cash to command,
If you cannot toward the needy
Reach an ever open hand:
You can visit the afflicted,
O'er the erring you can weep,
You can be a true disciple,
Sitting at the Saviour's feet.

If you cannot in the conflict
Prove yourself a soldier true,
If where fire and smoke are thickest,
There's no work for you to do;
When the battle field is silent,
You can go with silent tread,
You can bear away the wounded,
You can cover up the dead.

Do not then stand idly waiting,
For some greater work to do;
Future is a lazy goddess,
She will never come to you;
Go and toil in any vineyard,
Do not fear to do or dare,
If you want a field of labor,
You can find it ANYWHERE.

Selections.

THE KEY OF THE CONVENT.

A SEQUEL IN THE LOVE-TEST.

In the beautiful bay of Havana is anchored a craft, of, apparently, about two hundred tons. Her clean clipper build, with the neat trim of her spars and rigging, bespeak the gentleman's yacht. Her sails though, show that when set they would be laced to both gaff and boom. This with certain other peculiarities of rig, proclaim her to be no American. English, they would be attached only to the gaff. And still other idiosyncrasies, suggest that she is a New Yorker. She is.

Her white polished decks, the brightly burnished binnacle, and trimly coiled cables tell her owner to be a man of taste. This would be more than confirmed, on entering her cabin; where wealth and elegance seem to have struggled as to which should have the credit of its ornamentation.

A stranger entering it at the hour on which commences our tale (perhaps rather should we say, is continued) would not stand long gazing on its luxurious appointments. In a moment would his eye be arrested, and become fixed, upon two individuals who are its only occupants.

One of these is reclining upon a sofa-couch; not in indolent ease, but with an expression upon his face, that betokens pain. There is no ban, nor other sign of ill health. On the contrary, he there presents—a youth of noble aspect—both in face and figure, shows all the strength and vigor of virility. If struck down for a moment, the blow is evidently not physical, but mental.

The other occupant of the cabin—his senior by some seven or eight years—is seated close to the sofa-couch; and with speech directed to the sufferer, is endeavoring to comfort him. Why, and against what misfortune, may be gathered from the dialogue already begun, and now going on between them:

'Hopeless! O God, hopeless!' groaned he upon the sofa. 'Tis kind of you Jerome. I thank you, but I know you only mean it to console me in this the bitterest hour of my life. Hopeless—Hopeless!'

'I do mean it, for that very purpose.—But not as you imagine, Henry Clinton.—For my part, I see nothing hopeless about it. There's always hope where there's life, and both of you yet live.'

'No—so I am to-dead—to the world as to me. I owe not now, how soon I go to my grave. For the sin I have committed, I fear not punishment hereafter. It cannot be greater than I suffer here.'

'Come, come, Clinton! be a man. You are a native of New York city, with its best and oldest blood in your veins, and you know we are not the sort to succumb to cowardly despair. If Ysabel Vallejo has buried herself in the cloisters of a convent, you know the reason why. The very knowledge should give you hope. It ought to fill you with joy, instead of grieving.'

'Joy!'

'Yes, joy. I repeat it. 'Tis not every man for whom fickle women would make such sacrifice!'

'Van Vliet!' cried Clinton, half raising himself from the sofa. 'As you value my friendship, don't again speak of women in that strain. The curse now resting on me has come from such suspicion, and should tell you how untrue it is.'

'Pardon me, Henry. I didn't mean it unfriendly—only in a general sense. You must acknowledge, yourself, there are not many women so constant as Ysabel Vallejo; perhaps not many who loved as she.'

'There are few, either men or women, who can resist flattery, if it come clothed in the semblance of truth; and as Henry Clinton's cheek returned to the support of the cushion, there was a blush upon it, that told of a relief to the bitterness of his spirit.

Still further to relieve him his counsellor continued:

'For my part, I don't see why you should be in such despair. If Ysabel has taken the black veil, it doesn't follow that she should forever wear it. I'm not much acquainted with convent customs; but there may be ways of obtaining a divorce from the marriage, as they call it, of to-day.'

'Jerome, you shock me!' cried Clinton this time rising to his feet, 'you shock and pain me. You know that I've been brought up in a strict observance of religion; and though not that of Rome, there are thoughts which extend to all creeds.'

'You mistake me, Clinton. I had no intention in what I said either to shock, or pain you. And though I may have clothed my thoughts in rather queer language—I admit having done so—it was because I wish to talk common-sense. Listen till I explain myself.'

The owner of the yacht sank back upon his couch, without saying a word, and in a way that signified his willingness for the explanation.

'Of course,' continued his friend, 'as I've told you, I know very little about nuns or convents, even less than yourself, and still less about those in Roman Catholic countries. If Ysabel Vallejo were immured in a New-York convent—St. Vincent's or the Sacred Heart, for instance—and under like circumstances, there would be no great difficulty in getting her out, I should think—that is now. In times to come it may not be so easy, if we Americans do not take strong steps against this new Jesuitism that, next from Rome, and secretly supported by all the crowned heads of Europe, threatens to sap the pillars of our Republic. Excuse me, Henry, if I digress; you are not in a mood to talk politics; but ridiculous as you may think me, I am an American, and I hope a loyal one, cannot help giving expression to a thought suggested by present circumstances. To you there is a more important question: Can Ysabel Vallejo be got clear of the convent of Santa Catalina?'

'Hopeless—hopeless!' again groaned Clinton. 'I have visited the convents of Europe, and especially Spain, whose laws are the same as here in Havana. A nun who has taken the black veil is forever lost to her friends, as to the world. Royalty itself could not command her to be set free. Only the Pope can absolve her from the sacrament of dedication.'

'And suppose the Pope can?'

'I understand you, Jerome. But what influence could I have—a Protestant—in his eyes a heretic?'

'You have money—millions?'

'I have. And would give the last dollar of them—ah! scrape the streets of New York in front of my own fine house, if I could only go home at night to an humble tenement, and find Ysabel with open arms waiting to receive me! Don't talk of money Van Vliet. It makes me feel how poor a power it is, when weighed against injustice—against the wickedness I have done. Oh! that I had listened to your wiser counsel, when you warned me of a danger. True it was worse than this, but this has been enough for my ruin.'

'Then listen to it now, and there need be no ruin. I believe, that getting Ysabel Vallejo out of this country is simply a question of expense. You say you are willing to disburse freely?'

'To the extent of ten millions of dollars. That is about the value of my property.'

'The twentieth part will suffice—perhaps less. It is a case that need not be carried all the way to Rome. The hierarchs of Havana, breathing the free atmosphere of our western world, are not so closely allied to the Vatican. Half a million will make them independent, in the disposal of souls, as well as bodies. Authority are to spend this sum, and I think I can promise, that you shall once more embrace Ysabel Vallejo.'

'As my wife?'

'As your wife; aye, and wedded by the same priests you saw this day dedicating her to her Saviour.'

'Jerome! is the thing possible? Or are you deceiving me? Pardon me for doubting you. But you see that under this terrible suffering I am not myself. Even supposing that money could gain over the superiors of the convent, what of Ysabel herself? You do not know her as I. In what I supposed my plenitude of power, I have trifled with thoughts more powerful than my own—affections far truer. I have trampled upon the delicate chain that bound our two hearts together. O God! I may have severed its links, never again to be united.'

'Romantic Mr. Clinton! Nor you nor any other man, can sever the links of that chain. Nor can any power upon earth destroy it. If I'm to judge by my experience, the more you tread upon, the stronger it becomes. The very feet of Ysabel Vallejo having forsaken the world, and its pleasures—such pleasures—such pleasures, too—solely because she could not enjoy them with you; should not this satisfy you? Come, Clinton! it's no use talking high sentiment any longer. Let us descend to the common-sense of every-day life. You want your sweet-heart out of the conventual clutch. No doubt it would be easy enough, if she were only a poor girl; with no expectations. But these cunning disciples of Loyola look to Madame Vallejo, who, although an American, appears to have become one of their most devoted adherents. Last time I saw her she talked gravely on the subject, trying to convert me—me! They are looking to her last will and testament, by which they hope to wheedle her out of her great wealth; for this is the grand secret of their growth and strength. It is the only thing to fear. But half a million dollars, adroitly spent, may thwart their design, from being plundered.'

'Dear, dear friend! You speak words of comfort.'

'And I shall do a deed to comfort you, Henry. I have already done one that has given you much misery. True it was against my own will, and counsel too. No use talking of it now. I must try to repair the loss, by showing like energy in contributing to your happiness. In this I think I shall succeed; but, as I've told you, Clinton, it is a question of expense.'

'Expense! Jerome, don't talk of that. Take this check-book on the Bank of Havana. It gives me credit for a million of dollars. I endorse you as drawer. If this be not enough, I can contrive to double the amount—aye, treble it, to exchange one word with Ysabel Vallejo!'

As Clinton spoke, he plucked a pen from its ink-stand, and wrote on the check-book the transference of his authority to the same. 'JEROME VAN VLIET.'

* * * * * * *

A yacht's gig, rowed by two clean-looking tars, is cleaving its way across the harbor of Havana, atop shore-wards. A gentleman, in plain civilian dress, is seated in the stern, tiller-ropes in hand, and guiding the craft towards a particular landing-place.

Once ashore, he is left by the sailors; who, as if under an order previously given, pull back to the yacht.

The gentleman stands looking inquiringly around him. Not for long. A shore-man, wishing the dress of a street guide, or 'valet de place,' approaches, and the greeting exchanged tells that he is the individual for whom the gentleman's eyes have wandered inquiringly through the crowd of sailors, hack-drivers, and porters swarming upon the wharf. It is the same who, on that morning, had been engaged to conduct Henry Clinton and Jerome Van Vliet to the house of the Senora Vallejo.

They did not search it. They never went beyond the convent, into the vestibule of which the guide had invited them; and out of which he saw one of them stagger, apparently intoxicated.

In astonishment, he had inquired the cause, receiving only a hasty evasive answer from the elder of the two. The younger had been struck by a sudden illness, arising from an affection of the heart—palpitation! This was now his companion explained it. The explanation did not quite satisfy Cristoforo Colano—such was the gentleman's name—but a double fee, promptly paid, hindered him from intruding his curiosity on the strangers.

It became revived again, as Jerome Van Vliet, once more landing, made a request for his services.

'Un medico?' said he, thinking that a doctor must certainly be the thing now sought for.

'No,' answered the stranger. 'Nothing of the kind. I want you to complete your commission of the morning, and take me to the house of the Senora Vallejo.'

'Nos vamos, caballero!'

The gig shoots along the straight, as before; the stranger buried in deep meditation, the coxswain tortured by curiosity, but, true to the instincts of his craft, cleverly concealing it.

Their route, as before, led past the convent, in which Ysabel Vallejo had been that morning immured.

The sight of it gave Cristoforo Colano a chance to introduce the subject whose mystery had been all day tormenting him.

'Pues senor?' he said, 'I cannot help pitying that poor young nina. She looked so sad. I'm good re ard to the nuns, and wheedle them out of their daughters; but only the rich ones. They don't care for muchachas pobres; for that wouldn't bring much meal to their mill.—Caspita! I wouldn't wonder if it was all the senora's doing.'

'What?' said Van Vliet, who up to the time had paid little heed to what the coxcomb was saying. 'Do you think the young lady's mother put any pressure upon her to take this step?'

'Well, cavaliers, I couldn't say that for certain. You are no doubt a friend of the family, and know better than I. I only speak from report. Every one knows that the Senora Vallejo is terribly apadrecado.'

'Under the influence of the priests, you mean?'

'Por Dios! so people say, senor. As for the nina herself there were accounts of the little young one who'd have given half their lives for a smile of her sweet lips.—But she only cared for her sweetheart who perished at sea, and that's why she's consented to be locked up in the gloomy convent. So people say, though it mightn't be, for all that, senor. There's more than one pretty muchacha in there who'd be glad to get out again; for I've heard as much from the gate-keeper of the convent, who is my grand-uncle. Carramba! if it were sweet Margarita or sister of mine, and I thought she didn't like it; I'd have her out if it brought me to the garota.'

'Have her out!' repeated Van Vliet, looking askance at the coxcomb, and with an air that bespoke keen interest in what the man had said; 'You are jesting, my man!'

'No, senor; I'm in earnest. Who wouldn't be, to think of a beautiful young girl and innocent as a dove shut up all her life in a dull cage like that. Carrai!—I he thought's enough to take merriment out of a mountebank.'

'But you talk of taking a nun out of a convent! don't that is a jest? Why the governor-general wouldn't do it.'

'Mas bueno, senor; but for all that, I know a man, almost commissario who could. As to the Senora Vallejo, her being shut up is no affair of mine. But here we are, where I promised to bring you. That is her mother's house.'

They had stopped in front of a handsome mansion, standing a little retired from the street, and shaded with topical shrubbery—through which could be seen a grand doorway, with the door close shut.

'The casa Vallejo,' said the guide, pointing to it. 'Do you choose we here, senor? Or shall I wait till you come out? You may wish to see other sights of our beautiful city?'

'Wait?' said the stranger, as he turned into the shrilled walk that led towards the ponderous portal.

* * * * * * *

A house of Spano-Moresco architecture with its enclosed court-yard (patio) shut in by a long gallery and gate from all outward intrusion, with the light of a Southern sky falling from above, and playing with a fountain jet whose spray is flung over the leaves of the lime, and other tropical evergreens.

In the open grounds, running half around this cool court, a lady is seated. She is but little beyond mid age, though looking older from the sombre shade of her dress, and the traces of some recent bereavement strongly stamped upon her countenance.—It is the Senora Vallejo, who has that day in the convent of Santa Catalina, beheld her only daughter dedicated to Christ—evermore to be apart from herself.

It would be strange if she were not and; and she is.

Standing in the gallery beside her, is one who seems to be administering comfort; a man dressed in full accordatal robes, of the costume of the secular clergy—in short, a Roman Catholic priest.—Holding in his hand a long shovel-shaped hat, he is bending in front of her with an air half-humble, half-enthusiastic.

'You have given her to God,' he said. 'And what greater privilege could there be in this world. In the next, senora, you will have your reward, and share it with your daughter. Do not grieve then, or repent of what you have done. That would be sinful.'

'I do not repent, father; but how can I restrain myself from sorrow, when I think of my dear Ysabel, gone from me forever?'

'Gone from you forever! No! not forever. Only for a brief space of time, to be afterwards your companion throughout all eternity.'

Simultaneous with the word 'eternity' came a bound of the street door; which caused both senora and priest to start—the former looking somewhat chagrined at being thus disturbed. In that hour, when the mother's heart was weakened with grief, he was designing to strengthen the fetters of that spiritual lover, by which she might afterwards be easily managed.

'A gentleman—a stranger!' announced the portero outdoors.

'Your business cannot now him,' said the priest, turning arrogantly towards the servant.

'He says he is an old friend of the senora—from Los Estados Unidos.'

'Ah! Perhaps from New York!' exclaimed the lady, rising to her feet; and in the memory of her free native land, showing a determination to act independently of the will of the ecclesiastic.

'Es senora,' rejoined the domestic.—'Nuevo-York, he said.'

'I must see him, father; I have friends there who are still dear to me. Show him in, Jose!'

The padre, with a displeased expression upon his sombrous countenance, retired to an inner room; while the senora remained on the veranda, waiting the announced visitor.

She was already pale; but became paler on perceiving who it was—starting as if a spectral had suddenly appeared before her.

'You, Mr. Van Vliet? It is so long since I have seen you! It is as if you came from the other world!'

'I have come, senora; from one who might better answer your description.'

'From whom, Mr. Van Vliet? What does he say?'

'Only, Madame Vallejo; that he who was to have been your son-in-law—Henry Clinton—is still in this world—he still lives!'

The lady, who had risen from her chair to receive her visitor, stood gazing upon him with a look of wild wonderment.

'Is he true?' she cried, grasping out the words. 'Jerome Van Vliet, are you mocking me?'

'No mockery, madame. The story of Henry Clinton's death proves to have been a mistake—a mere canard, such as often makes its way into the newspapers—French as well as American. I know that my friend is still alive. I have seen him within the hour.'

'He is here then?'

'He is.'

'Oh! my daughter—my poor Ysabel!'

'What of her? I hope no misfortune has happened. She still lives?'

'No, no! she is dead! She has become the inmate of a convent. She has this day been dedicated!'

'Senora! it is sinful of you to speak thus,' interposed the priest, gliding out from the shadowy chamber where he had concealed himself to listen. 'Our Holy Church is contaminated by such talk. If by the discharge of my duty I cannot stay here and listen to it.'

'Does any one hinder you from withdrawing?' inquired Van Vliet, returning the ogard with which the ecclesiastic regarded him.

'O, Mr. Van Vliet!' cried the senora, seeming all at once to remember both these—'Do not speak thus to the weary cares of St. Ignacio. He is my confessor.'

'Caballero!' said the priest, in a tone of insolent authority, 'you appear to be entrusting upon this gentle lady. And as it is a question of our Holy faith, I must insist on your withdrawing.'

Van Vliet looked astounded; then to words Madame Vallejo, once his acquaintance, though never upon terms of intimacy. Was he to go, or stay? He could see no sign to direct him.

As if under some fear, or fascination, the features of the lady remained profoundly immobile. But this was enough to determine him; and leaving himself out of her presence, he disappeared down the shadowy gangway; leaving the weak woman in the hands of her spiritual adviser.

On the street he rejoined Cristoforo Colano; and before parting with the guide he gave him good reasons for meeting him again.

* * * * * * *

Reader, has it ever been your opportunity to peep into the cloister cell of a convent? I fancy not. It is a privilege accorded to but few men—even those wearing the sacerdotal robe on their shoulders.

And yet has it been mine—scores of times—for reasons it is not necessary to tell you of. But I may theorize to you one of those quaint little chambers, shut in between massive walls; not ever whitewashed with paper, but plainly plastered, scarce eight feet square, with a little white cross suspended over on the corner, on which sleeps serenity itself—here and there a niche containing the statue of saint, or crucified Saviour—a single chair; a miniature table, on which lies the bit of embroidered embroidery, intended for the decoration of some romantic sentiment; all lit up by a little window, admitting only a subdued light, and more resembling the embrasure intended for a piece of ordnance.

Within such a convent chamber, and in just such a light, a nun is seated. She is young, and despite the sad expression upon her face, exquisitely beautiful. There is a slight tinge of red upon her cheeks, relieving their general pallor. It is the same she wore before the altar, where on that morning she had been made a bride. It is like the last remote touch of the sun, lingering on the summit of some snow-crowned mountain, when gone leaving all cold behind it; for it was a bridal to which her heart had no happiness. It only recalled the thoughts of another bridal more consonant with her feelings that might have taken place about that very time, but the cruel chance despoiled her of him who should have been the bride-groom.

As Sister Dolores—for such was now the name of Ysabel Vallejo—sate in her silent cloister—for the time forsaken by the novitiates who had acted as her tire-maids—who could blame her for reflecting on the past, happy to end—who chide her for dreams of that great city of the North! There the white sunlight of her life seemed to concentre in a flood of soft ethereal light—the light of her holy love!

Who did think of it; and then, as if awed at the presenting mortal thoughts to intrude upon the pure spiritual existence to which she had that day vowed devotion, she sank repentant upon her knee, and poured forth her soul in prayer.

As she rose to her feet, and stood erect in her little chamber, she felt resigned to her new life. Nothing now remained but to devote herself to its tranquil duties.—Such was the reflection that passed through her mind.

How little knew she what is before us! Little thought Sister Dolores, as she rose from her attitude of prayer, that in five minutes afterwards a passion would be re-kindled within her breast—making the walls of that sacred cloister hideous in her sight, as though they were the surroundings of a convict cell!

She fancied she was dreaming, as a piece of white paper, folded in the form of a note, came swirling through the window, and fell at her feet on the floor.

It aroused her the consciousness of a dream as she mechanically took it up, and unfolding it, read what was written inside.

'Ysabel! You believe me dead.—Would that it were so! After what I have this day seen—for I was present at the closing scene of the ceremony—death has now no terrors for me. No, it would be but a relief; and I shall seek that end by whatever unreal means it may be accomplished. I pray that we may meet in another world; but, before leaving it, I ask of you one word—a sign—to say that you still love me, as I know I deserve to be, since, to learn you are not dead; but, O Ysabel! if you know how I have suffered, you could not but forgive me. And you will not deny me this last asking? It is no sin for you to grant it; under the bars between us has no antagonism with that now fastened upon your Saviour. No, Ysabel! Whatever your spiritual advisers may tell you, the two are compatible; for our love was pure as that of the angels.—Speak, then, loved and lost one—though without fear! Be silent; and I go to my grave with the darkest sorrow that ever sank upon a broken heart.

'HENRY CLINTON.'

Long before the new-made nun had finished the reading of the strange epistle, her trembling limbs refused to sustain her; and she sank upon the side of her couch.

As she reclined the consolation, and the well-remembered rapture came under her eyes, the note fell from her hands; both bosoming themselves over her breast, as if to prevent her heart from bursting forth!

For some time she sate there, the heart's quick, heavy throbbings being the only sounds heard during the silence. And after she had ceased to sleep her breath, she repeated, in low unmeasured words—

'Mother of God! He is still alive! And still loves me!'

She could hear her own voice uttering into her hands the precious sheet; once more reading what was written upon it; and then placing her lips in contact with the same as regards?—Not even the Virgin herself, who walked out of her niche to look upon the sea!

For the third time going over the glad words as if to fix them for ever in her memory, she saw something that caused her to start—giving her hope of still further gratification. It was the little Bible Ysabel at the corner of the page, and in pencil—over.'

She understood the signification, and quickly turned the leaf.

And on the other side, written also in pencil, she read:

'SENORITA VALLEJO! You will remember me as the friend of Henry Clinton. I am his bosom friend; and he has intrusted me with the delivery of this note. He who places it in your hands will be clear to bring back an answer. If you feel true to the sufferer who sent it, you would, I know, make that answer anything. I am myself safe what is called a man of the world.—Still am I capable of sincere friendships. One of these embraces Henry Clinton and yourself. Armed with good intentions towards both, I approach you with a request, that I hope you will not hastily reject. You have been shut up in a convent, if not against your will, certainly by a mistake in the intention. It is not yet too late to remedy all; and if you do not, you will take the life of Henry Clinton to answer for. He swears not to live without you for wife—not you, like to him wouldst be more than death. With you his happiness on earth, would be complete. And you would not also spare it. For both your sakes, I have contrived a plan for your escape from the prison. From the tear you have shed it is still wetted. It was made under a misconception; and God, if not man, will surely absolve you. Fear not then to follow my intrusion. Consent to save the life of your lover, and my friend. Say that the word, and the way will be made open and easy. He who writes to you, holds to his hand the key of the convent.

'JEROME VAN VLIET.'

Never in her life was there so wild a struggle in the breast of Ysabel Vallejo.—It was a strife between two fierce loving little affinity with each other—the love of God, and the love of man!

Had they been antagonistic, the former might have triumphed. They were not; and the latter gained ascendancy.

With trembling fingers the new-made nun tore off the leaf written in pencil, and with a pencil of her own wrote on the only white space left—

'I consent.'

She stepped forward, and looked out through the little window. There was a man scattering outside, whom she recognized as the gate-keeper of the convent.—His eyes glancing furt

...in the shadow of the shrubbery, they approach the bank of the building, with as much stealth as if they were bent upon an errand of crime. They take no heed of the sweet strain of the musk-bird poured forth from the top of the royal palm; though it helps to conceal the noise of their own footsteps. They climb at the sheer risque of moonlight, which it guides them to the place they are seeking to reach.

This is the sundown—a stone stair-way which continues the long corridor of the central dome into the garden.

They discover it at length; and take stand by the bottom step—still keeping under shadow, with eyes fixed upon the massive door at the stair-head. It is closed; looks dark and forbidding; but they have been so far, and open, else they would not have been there. They seem to be awaiting a signal.

It is at length given by the heavy convent bell, beginning to toll the hour of twelve.

Its first knell has silenced the song of the nightingale; but almost at the same instant their ears are saluted by a sound more welcome, if less melodious. It is a slight grating, heard as the heavy door is drawn inon its hinges; and, then proceeding itself in the moonlight appears a face encircled in black crape, but white, soft, and beautiful as might be the daughter of Leon herself.

Henry Clinton recognising the face of his beloved Ysabel, can scarce restrain himself from rushing up the steps, and flinging her arms around her. He is held back by Van Vliet, who perceives the danger of such a rash act; and they wait for her to descend.

She glides down silently, but without fear. Nor is she terrified, when on reaching the last step, a cloaked form comes out from the shadow of the trees, with arms stretched forward to receive her.

She does not shun the embrace; for she knows they are the arms of her one and only lover.

But a whisper is exchanged between them—the words "Henry—Ysabel."

In another instant his sleep is around her, and he raises her from the ground with the strength of a tiger, but tenderly kissing as he carries her away.

The wicket is cleared, and received by the thoughtful Van Vliet; for a few seconds, the wheels of a carriage are heard rattling along the street pa...the clock-bell has ceased its lugubrious tolling; and the mock-bird is once more filling the convent garden with his sweet music song.

* * * * * * *

A boat is crossing the harbor of Havana towards a yacht anchored for out. It is about an hour after midnight; but before the morning light has superseded that of the moon, the yacht silently takes up its anchor. Then, with all sail set, it sweeps past the frowning walls of El Moro, and is seen standing towards the shores of a land where no convent walls may keep Ysabel Vallejo from the joys of the world, nor if from beholding her beauty.

THE CREEDS OF AMERICA.

The American Ecclesiastical and Educational Almanac for this year gives the following statistics. The whole population of the United States is 34,250,000, of whom are Roman Catholics 5,000,000 and Greek Church 10,000. There are 27,000,000 Protestants of various names, and the balance is made up of Jews, Mormons, Chinese, Communists, Infidels, &c., &c.

1. Of the Protestant bodies the Methodist family stands first in point of membership, embracing two branches with 13,594 travelling, ministers and 2,763,969 members, which, supposing that a third of the other sects are in membership, would make the Methodist population 7,091,907. Of this body the Protestant Episcopal Methodists number over one half.

2. The Baptist family stands second in numerical strength, having in its several branches 13,507 ministers and 1,966,006 members. As it is not at all probable that so large a proportion of Baptist families are church members as of Methodist families, it would probably be under the mark to multiply the membership by five to ascertain the Baptist population, which calculation would give 9,830,030.

3. The Presbyterian family comes third in point of numbers. It is, like the Methodist, divided into two bodies with an aggregate of 7,003 ministers and 706,778 members. As there is not, probably, nearly so large a population of Presbyterians in communion with the Church as of Methodists, and not so many servants who have no families, it would, probably, be fair to estimate the Presbyterian population at least at six times its membership, which would give 4,228,668.

4. The Lutheran Church has 350 000 communicants, which probably includes a third of the Lutheran population, giving this denomination 1,050,264.

5. The Congregational body has no subdivisions. It numbers 3,070 ministers and 296, 676 church members, which is probably less than a sixth part of its adherents. It may, therefore, be supposed to include a population of 1, 780,044.

6. The Episcopal Church, which has no subdivisions, contains 47 bishops, 2,736 ministers, and 194,592 communicants. It has, however, probably at least six times as many adherents as communicants, which would give it a population of 1,168,152.

7. Then follow the German Reformed Church with 115,843 members; the United Brethren with 108,122 members; the Reformed Protestant Church with 59,806 members; and the Moravians with 6,856 members,—the aggregate being 289,769, representing, at four adherents to a communicant, 1,159,076.

8 Then follow the Universalists, Unitarians, and Friends, which do not count by membership; and Shakers, Adventists, Irvingites, &c., which are very small bodies.

Upon the above calculations, of which every reader may estimate the accuracy as he sees fit, the population of the United States would be divided as follows:—

	Members.		Population.
Methodist	2,763,969	x 3 =	7,091,907
Baptists	1,966,006	x 5 =	9,830,030
Roman Catholics	5,000,000	=	5,000,000
Presbyterians	706,778	x 6 =	4,228,668
Lutherans	350,088	x 3 =	1,050,264
Congregationalists	296,676	x 6 =	1,780,044
Episcopalians	194,592	x 6 =	1,168,152
German Reformed and United Broth ren, &c., &c.	289,769	x 4 =	1,159,076
All other classed and unclassed			3,761,859
			34,250,000

The United Brethren, Bible Christians, and some other smaller bodies should, we believe, be classed with the Methodists; in which case their members would be increased by nearly 130 000 members and half a million of population.

If estimated by wealth, in proportion to membership, it is probable that the Congregational and Presbyterian bodies would stand highest. If estimated by liberality, in proportion to means, probably the Methodist and Catholic bodies would stand highest. If estimated by rapidity of increase, probably the Methodist and Baptist bodies stand highest. If estimated spiritually, the Judge of all the earth alone can tell which denomination stands highest.

The following circular has been sent up with request to publish it:—

To the Lay Members of the United Church of England and Ireland, the Diocese of Toronto.

DEAR BRETHREN,—

"The Congregational Assembly of United Church of England and Ireland, by the Diocese, desire to address to you words of brotherly counsel, at the present crisis in the affairs of our Church.

You are called, in the good province of Canada, to great privileges and high responsibilities. You have the power of choosing delegates to represent you in our Diocesan Synod, who may be required, in conjunction with the Clergy of the Diocese, any year (for no one can tell what a year may bring forth) to elect your Bishop. You have the power of electing the ninth delegate, whose duty it is to elect yearly, from among three clerical, twelve gentlemen to represent you in the Provincial Synod, who, together with twelve clergymen chosen at the same by the clergy of the Diocese, and an equal number of clerical and lay delegates from each Diocese, and the House of Bishops, make laws and regulations for the good government of the Church in the ecclesiastical province of Canada, as an independent branch of the church of Christ.

Surely every one should feel the RESPONSIBILITY of exercising aright these great privileges.

We have reason to believe, that parishes and missions in the Diocese have, sometimes, been represented in Synod by delegates, whose votes on important question have been at variance with the views and opinions of a majority of those whom they represented.

At the last Provincial Synod, a good measure was adopted in regard to the important question of RITUALISM; but it was only carried, after four day's discussion, by the most strenuous and untiring exertions of those who are conscientiously opposed to the novel practices in the church, which have been lately declared illegal by the highest courts in England. There were in favour of condemning these practices only small majorities of the whole Synod and we are sorry to say, that we can find, in the published Reports of the Proceedings, no single instance, where the names of a majority of the lay delegates from the Diocese appear in favour of condemning those practices, in the many divisions, that are recorded in reference to that very important matter, until the final vote, when, finding all further opposition useless, Canon Baldwin's motion was carried unanimously.

That could not have been the case, had the several parishes or missions been fairly represented in the Diocesan Synod by delegates, whose church principles were in accordance with the principles of the great majority of those whom they professed to represent; for, unquestionably, the laity of nine-tenths of the parishes and missions of the Diocese are strongly attached to the principles for which our Protestant forefathers bled and died.

It is all important to remember, that the lay element in our Synods is purely representative in its constitution and character; the object of the admission of such lay representatives into our Synods being to give every parish or mission, however small or thinly peopled, an equal voice in the councils of the Church with the most populous and influential. This most valuable boon and important trust should not, therefore, from motives of mere economy, be either disregarded or treated as of little value or importance. The life, vigour and purity of the administration of the affairs of the Church must, under the Divine blessing, be greatly promoted by the presence and hearty co-operation in the work of our Diocesan Synods, of resident representatives from every parish and mission of the Diocese. We are not so illiberal or unreasonable as to say, that you should select only those who hold views similar to those which are dear to us, but we do say, that those who attend the Synod as your delegates should be bona fide representatives of your views and feelings on the leading church questions of the day. It has not unfrequently happened in past years, that those churchmen who have attended the meetings for the election of delegates to the Diocesan Synod have accepted nominations of parties in Toronto and elsewhere, of whose church principles they know little or nothing.—This, doubtless, was often done for the purpose of avoiding expense. But it seems to us, that it would be much better in country places where three members of the congregations cannot be found willing and able to attend the meetings of the Diocesan Synod to elect one delegate only, or, rewarding their own views, and send them at the expense of the parish or mission. Indeed it would be better, that such a parish or mission should not have any delegate at all, than that it should be unrepresented. The privilege accorded by the constitution of our Synods to the laity of taking equal part with the clergy in all the counsels of the church, is one which cannot be too highly prized, and should be more carefully and conscientiously exercised in every parish and mission of the Diocese; since on measures can be carried, either in the Diocesan or Provincial Synods, unless a majority of the lay delegates attending the Synod concur in it.

Besides the approaching session of our Diocesan Synod is peculiarly important one. That Synod will meet in June, for the first time clothed by an act of the Legislative Assembly," with all the corporate powers of the late church Society of the Diocese, which is now merged into it. It will, then be called upon to make rules and regulations for carrying on the work of the church in the Diocese, including the appointment to the Rectories as they may fall vacant, the raising and disbursing of monies, and the management of all the various funds of the church. It will then act for the first time as an executive body, in addition to its former duties as a legislative body. It, therefore, becomes more imperatively necessary than ever before, that each parish or mission in the Diocese should be well represented in the approaching session of Synod.

And this can only be done by every churchman attending the meetings for the election of lay delegates, and by doing all he can, both before and at the meetings for that purpose, to have his fellow churchmen to choose those only for delegates, who, they know, will truly represent them.

This may require time, trouble and exertion. But, surely no true churchman will hesitate or refuse to give his time and attention to so important and object, when he reflects upon the high interests at stake, and that the purity and well-being of our beloved Church depend so much upon the right use of the privileges confided to him.

We are, dear brethren,

Yours very faithfully,

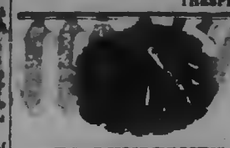
EDMUND BALDWIN,
F. W. KINGSTONE,
Secretaries.

Toronto, 10th March, 1869.

Vernon Harcourt (Historicus) has been appointed Professor of International Law at Cambridge.

Flour, is $4 p barrel in Seaforth.

THESPIANS!
THESPIANS!
THESPIANS!



TO LUMBERMEN

We have on hand any size of MANILLA Rope, here or in Lindsay, at 14½ cents, freight paid.

GEO. STETHEM & Co.

Peterborough, February 10, 1869.

We have received, from Massachusetts, a lot of TAFT'S LACE LEATHER, suitable for Cotton Mills, Woolen Mills, and for the heavier belting of Saw Mills. It is the best Lace Leather ever shown in Peterborough.

G. STETHEM & Co

Sign of the Cross-Cut Saw, next door to T. Donnelly's Saddlery Store.

Peterboro, February 10, 1869. 6

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

New Spring Goods—John Erskine.
Large Arrivals—Montreal House.
Drugs and Chemicals—Kincaid & Co.
Just Receiving—Montreal House.
Theoplane—Tuesday evening.
To Farmers—R. Hamilton.
Peterborough Sewing Machine Company.
Notice—W. McKelvy.
Teacher Wanted—T. O'Connor.

The Peterborough Examiner

THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1869.

OUR POLITICIANS.

We would invite attention to the speech of Mr. Blake in part in last week's Examiner. Mr Blake enters at some length into the policy of the present government and their wandering about the country speech-making, wherever they can find a few people to hear them. Both John Sandfield and Mr. Richards appeared at Brooklyn, South Ontario, when they felt that Dr. McGill was about to be called to account for his change of principles, and for lending aid to a government that a majority of the people of Ontario do not respect. Mr. McDonald gave the key to all his nonsensical speeches every where, at such times Saint Sandfield is "not accountable" for what he does say. But then something must be said if even the Premier of Ontario should declare to the world that he is positively unfit to be at the head of the government of a tribe in central Africa. And Mr. Richards also was there buying grain for the Department of Crown Lands—we suppose he is going into the clearing up of our wild lands. He will not tell them except in places where no one can get at them. They are too valuable to be given to the sons of our Canadian farmers, who have made the country what it is. They will not even sell them, but since Mr. Richards has gone into buying seed grain, we may expect to hear of large tracts of lands sold by this Sacred fund of surplus money, Treasurer Wood has invested in Dominion bonds! It is not often that lawyers turn or the grain market, and rarely have we found members of Cabinets going about the country declaring that they were buying grain; might they not as well be said to be buying up the farmers of Ontario. John Sandfield thought $50,000 a big offer for all the Reformers of South Ontario; why, if he were not under the influence of glenlevitt, he would have remembered that it cost the Government over $70,000 to procure the election of Mr. Gibbs, and then they only bought a few weak-kneed fellows, something like Dr. McGill. At the rate of $50,000 per Riding, the surplus will soon go however.

MR. COCKBURN, OF NORTH ONTARIO,

Was also face to face with his constituents last week. He is one of the worthy nine who went over to the Conservative for the grog. John Sandfield found work spot in them, and as an early date promised some thing for his Riding. This was too much for Mr. Cockburn and he caved in; went over to Saint Sandfield.

One after another these traitors to principles is being called to account, and such a wholesome lesson of instruction given them that it will have a salutary effect on others who may have strong temptations thrown in their way. Money will not be spared to induce support and maintain its end most assuredly, the Combination will strain every nerve to retain the control of their surplus funds they say they have, to buy support.

OUR WILD LANDS.

We have brought this subject before our readers very often owing to the fact that they are so sadly mismanaged. Complaints are pouring in from every quarter, of the extreme foolishness of the government scheme of managing this department. It is well known that the new settler requires leniency in the matter of arrears. But when we are told by Mr. Blake that :—

"In this County, Essex, some $150,000 were owed in this way, and undoubtedly the effect of the Government notices was greatly and needlessly to alarm the unfortunate men who owed this money and even unable to pay. The Loan Offices and Leading Members of this Province have been crowded with the applications of persons desiring to raise money on their farms; and for the past three or four months the majority of such applications have been from the owners of these unpossessed lands.—These men have to borrow large sums to pay the principal and interest of their debt and pay 16 or 18 per cent per annum for this accommodation. The money thus raised is paid over to the Crown and they get 3½ per cent interest on it. Now, sir, I say that it is an infamous shame that men should thus be taxed and harrassed unnecessarily. The effect of such measures has been to drive many out of these counties, and many others have so heavily mortgaged their farms that I am afraid they have lost them altogether. (Hear Hear.) Many of these men will go to the Western States; and sir, we will be the sufferers. For every man who leaves the country an additional burden is placed on your shoulders as well as on mine; and therefore, in the material as well as moral view, it is necessary that these men should be encouraged. (Cheers.) Had the Government imposed perhaps asking all who were able to pay only a certain debt, and allowed such as were not able to pay all up, to pay a portion, and the balance in annual instalments, it would have been far better for the unfortunate men and for the Government too. (Cheers.) I felt deeply in this matter, Mr. Chairman. I found my County rapidly becoming a mortgaged County; and I wrote a letter to the Commissioner of Crown Lands, explaining how these matters were spanning, and asking what action the Government would take on the subject.—[He here read the letter.] I received in reply from Mr. Dennis, that I should have an expenditure of $2,000 in my County. No sum had been placed to my credit. I attended their meeting, and I told them plainly that he never would get a letter, and I would tell the people nothing about it. (Hear Hear.) I have been in communication with the Government ever since, but I have never received a letter, either from Mr. Dennis or any one else. But he never answered the letter, either cause he did not choose to attend to his business, or was determined to screw as much money as possible out of the settlers before giving any further information. Now, sir, I say that this is a most unjust and unfair way of dealing with the settlers. Why, sir, you have in the Province of Quebec the Seigniorial system, and the Seigniors there have to give way to the settlers, and they are compensated by the Government. The other day I saw there a gentleman's estate, found there six mortgages, one of which was from a township in the section I represent, and two from my own County. Both of these mortgages were from a township in the section I represent, and two from my own County. Both of these mortgages were from a township in the section I represent, and two from my own County. Both of these mortgages were

An Affecting Scene.

DOGS AFFECTED WITH HYDROPHOBIA.

From the Toronto (N. Y.) American, 13th March.

Mr. Emerson, who died of hydrophobia, at Gaddis River, had to be held by five men at once, and during his lucid intervals begged to him his wife, who was very ill in another part of the house. Just before his last dreadful fit he pleaded so piteously to him her once more before he died, that, striking the consequences they took her to his bed. The dying man carefully wiped the froth from his face, compressing his teeth tightly to prevent any of the poisonous saliva oozing from his mouth, kissed the lips which he had so often pressed in love and affection, and then resolutely turning away, after bidding her adieu forever, relapsed into a dreadful paroxysm and died. The man who kept the dog which bit Mr. Emerson, after knowing that it had been bitten by another dog a week before Mr. Emerson's death gave him fifty dollars as compensation for injuries sustained, and persuaded Mr. Emerson, to sign a paper of release from further claims. The neighbours are very indignant, and talk about clubbing together to carry on a suit against the owner of the dog, on behalf of the widow and orphans. The neighbours think that the very least Mr. Hopper can do is to pay off a mortgage of $700 resting on the Emerson place, and they threaten a law-suit if he does not lift that mortgage.

Fearful Accident on the Grand Trunk Railway at Napanee.

NAPANEE, March 15.—A dreadful accident occurred near Napanee on Saturday evening, March 13th. A man named Wm. Farrell, while walking on the railway track about 11 o'clock at night was run over by the express train, No. 2, going West, and his body was mangled in a shocking manner and strewed along the track for some 400 yards. It was impossible to recognize the body only by the hat which he wore, and a book which was found on his person with his name in it, and containing one dollar and five cents.

A jury was summoned before Dr. Chamberlain, Coroner and a verdict returned "that the deceased came to his death by being run over by the cars, while he was in a state of intoxication, on the Grand Trunk Railway, near Napanee bridge."

The friends of the deceased live at Tyendinaga, and he has resided at Onondaga, N. Y., for the past six years, and was unmarried. His remains were taken to Tyendinaga for interment.

A terrible avalanche occured at Point Levis, melancholy to relate, 4 lives were lost. Between 8 and 9 o'clock two small detached houses on the cliff side of the road near the Grand Trunk depot were buried by the descent of an immense mass of snow from the hill in rear. So great was the force of the avalanche that the ruins were carried across the turn-pike road on to the track. The workmen in the ship-yard at the time at once repaired to the spot and proceeded to extricate the unfortunate victims of this horrible disaster,

It was found that 11 persons were buried in the snow and of these 7 were got out comparatively uninjured. Three however were found dead and a fourth only survived her recovery a short time. The names of the killed are Francis Ray, labourer, and his wife; an elderly couple aged about 60 and a child named Turcotte, aged about 2 months; also Mulvina Couture, aged 6 years, who lived about an hour after being recovered from the debris.

Ray and his wife were at breakfast at home and the other persons buried in the avalanche were all inmates of his and the adjoining house. The sad occurrence has caused much grief and excitement at South Quebec.

A Reminder and a Hint.—The Attorney General has issued a circular to the County Judges of Ontario in reference to the auditing of certain accounts connected with the administration of Justice. The circular says, among other things: 'The Attorney General desires that you will be pleased hereafter, to request the County Attorney to notify such a number of the Magistrates of the County as may, in your opinion, be necessary to secure a quorum; and who can most conveniently attend; of the time and place appointed for the audit; and in the event of any similar difficulties arising, that you apprise him of the fact, with the names of the magistrates who were summoned and neglected to attend on that particular occasion.' The circular is calculated to correct an evil which has been very generally felt throughout the colony. It frequently happens that a sufficient number of magistrates do not attend the sessions to constitute a quorum, which is necessary to pass accounts. If an account is presented the party presenting it is frequently put to the necessity of running round at considerable loss of time in order to get magistrates to attend. The hint that the names of those whom the County Attorney may summon, and who neglect to attend, are to be forwarded to the Attorney General, will no doubt produce a happy effect upon the magistrates.—Hamilton Times.

Arrest of a Noted Swindler.—Henry M. Bragg, of Haverhill, Mass., one of the most noted swindlers in the United States, having been indicted for obtaining goods under false pretenses in the State of N. H., fled from the pursuit of the officers to this city, and is now in the hands of Chief of Police Dunn. Bragg has left a wife and child in Haverhill and has been mingling at the Tremont House with a young lady from Haverhill, who eloped with him, having a wealthy and industrial, and is now here. He has taken a warehouse on James street, and undoubtedly intended to establish himself on a plane for business. There is also another man here under suspicious circumstances by the name of A. Sargent, of Boston, instead of New York, as registered at the hotel. We advise our merchants and all others to look out for these individuals, as their character for anything like a legitimate business is decidedly bad. Bragg was traced to this city by Detective H. M. Hunter, of the Boston metropolitan detective police force, at whose instigation he was arrested.—Hamilton Spectator.

Queen's College.—The Globe says. The effort for the endowment of Queen's College goes on still very prosperously.—The talk is now to aim rather at $150,000 than the mere hundred thousand. By all means when they are at it let them do it thoroughly. There is some talk also, we are glad to know, among the members of the Canada Presbyterian Church about an effort for the endowment of Knox College. A beginning was made some time ago by Mr. Mc[illegible]. It ought [illegible] to be completed. The Presbyterians [illegible] Queen's [illegible] from a dollar to [illegible] a thousand; why should not the same thing be done for Knox [illegible]. It is quite as much a constitutional necessity as Victoria or Queen's.

Principal Snodgrass and Professor Mackerras visited Brockville last week, and obtained subscriptions amounting to $1,237. This success is regarded as being in proportion, fully equal to what has been realized in other places out of Kingston.

A Cement, made by dissolving rubber cut fine in benzine, may be used to mend rubber boots and shoes. This cement will firmly fasten on the rubber patch.

FAREWELL!

Farewell! Farewell! the summer air
Is blowing through the heaven,
And all the earth is glowing fair
With silken'd, gaudy flowers;
The [illegible] sun is glinting bright
Upon the western sea,
And decks that bank with golden light
That bears thee far from me.

Farewell! Farewell! that ship doth part
In pride, the ocean wade,
I feel within my sinking heart
We parting shall meet again;
In other climes beyond the sea
A fairy home there'll find,
And give, alas! no thought to me
There'st left so far behind.

Farewell! Farewell! the shades of night
Are gathering thick and dark,
And wrap from my still straining sight
That fleet, majestic bark;
The golden morn, in radiant bloom,
Will lighten up the sea;
But oh! no glory hath perfume
Can bring no joy to me.

G. P. R.

Peterboro, March 20th, 1869.

IAMATOLOGIA!

At a Public Meeting held in Buffalo a few days since Ex-President Fillmore is reported to have said, that he would do nothing to excite the ire or provoke the hostility of his Canadian neighbours, they were a worthy people, and were for the most part friendly; an immediate outbreak was not to be anticipated, but he would advise his fellow citizens to heed the lessons which history had taught all nations. "In time of peace prepare for war," hence it would be well to have our Northern frontiers well fortified.

Is not this a lesson to us to fortify our Southern frontiers? and while doing so would it not be well to fortify ourselves against the attacks of rheumatism, coughs, colds, chollcs, bowel complaints, and all other diseases incident to this climate by supplying ourselves with the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," One be had of any Medicine Dealer for 25cts per bottle

Don't Know What to Do. We sometimes hear persons say, "my horse is sadly out of condition, and I cannot tell either what is the matter with him, or how to get him into better order;" they appear to be ignorant of the fact that there is within their reach a remedy safe, sure, and effectual in all cases. Many persons who deal in horses use large quantities of it, and certify that its effects are most satisfactory. One horse dealer informs us that his horses' condition and appearance are so much improved by its use that they sell more rapidly and for higher prices. The article is 'Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy.' Nothing else is equal to it for the same purpose. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Herd &Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

The Lumber Trade.—We cannot deny that we are suffering severely in our lumber regions for want of a market for course lumber. The Americans, on account of their troubles have not made any purchase in the Provices the past year, and being able to compete with the North of Europe we can't ship it to England, but serious as this matter is, it is gratifying to know that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" is a great favorite among our Lumbermen, for curing coughs, sudden colds, cramps in the stomach, burns, bruises, frost-bites, chilblains, &c., and they do not depend upon a foreign market for it, it is sold by all Medicine Dealers at 25 cts per bottle.

Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or Cough and Voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25cts per box.

The discovery of many copies of the Holy Scriptures has established the purity of the text of the sacred law; the discovery of the laws of Motion and Gravitation has almost perfected Mechanical Philosophy; the discovery of the circulation of the blood has accomplished in Anatomy what is at last accomplished in Hygeine by the Great Bloshonees Remedy, which has so often checked the inroad of those lung diseases of the throat which imprudence and exposure have united to make so common.

DIED.

Lamb—Cresswell.—At Cresswell, on the 11th instant, Isabella Lamb, spinster, aged 73 years. Deceased was a native of Roxburghshire, Scotland.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Peterborough, March 24, 1869.

Flour ₱ bel	$4	00	@	$5 00
Wheat ₱ bush. fall	0	00	@	0 00
Spring Wheat ₱ bush	0	00	@	0 00
Peas "	0	75	@	0 85
Barley "	1	00	@	1 10
Oats "	0	55	@	0 60
Potatoes "	0	45	@	0 50
Hay ₱ ton	13	00	@	15 00
Hides ₱ cwt	6	00	@	6 50
Beef ₱ cwt	6	00	@	0 00
Sheepskins	1	00	@	1 25
Wool ₱ lb	0	20	@	0 21
Pork ₱ cwt	7	50	@	0 00
Eggs, per dozen	0	15	@	0 20
Butter,	0	18	@	0 20
Cordwood	2	50	@	0 00
Fowl, per pair	0	30	@	0 40
Geese	0	40	@	0 50
Turkeys	0	40	@	1 00

LINDSAY MARKETS.

(From the Warder.)

Lindsay, March 23, 1869.

Fall Wheat	$0	00	@	$0 00
Spring Wheat	0	00	@	0 00
Flour (Fall) per bbl	5	00	@	5 00
" (Spring) ₱ bbl	4	50	@	0 00
" (Mixed) ₱ bbl	4	75	@	0 00
Barley	0	00	@	1 20
Oats	0	50	@	0 00
Potatoes	0	40	@	0 50
Hay	8	00	@	10 00
Butter	0	20	@	0 25
Pork ₱ cwt	9	00	@	10 00
Mess Pork	25	00	@	0 00
Prime Mess	20	00	@	0 00
Oatmeal	7	50	@	0 00
Cornmeal	4	00	@	0 00

Toronto Markets, from yesterday's Globe:—No 1 super $5m, $4 90; Spring Wheat, 4 car loads, 90c; Oats, 50c.

On the street.

Lots continue very dull and prices are unchanged:—

White wheat	$0	95	@	$0 00
Midge proof	0	00	@	0 00
Spring do	0	00	@	0 00
Oats	0	00	@	0 00
Barley	1	00	@	1 15
Peas	0	73	@	0 00
Rye	0	65	@	0 00

Abandoned stores are reported in the great grain depots, and hence knowing ones predict a downward tendency.

Country Markets, from the Sun:—Fall Wheat, $1. 10 to $1. 25; Spring do., $1. 00; Barley, $1. 10 to $1. 15; Peas, 70c to $1. 00; Oats, 35c to 70c; Corn, 80c to 90c; Potatoes, 45c to 55c. Other articles are quoted at about Peterboro prices.

IAMATOLOGIA!

New Advertisements.

Teacher Wanted.

A TEACHER wanted for School Section No. 6, Asphodel. Apply to
T. O'CONNOR,
Sec'y and Treasurer.
Norwood P. O.

Norwood, March 22, 1869.

NOTICE.

THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION of the Township of Minden, will meet at Mr. BENJAMIN SAWYERS', Minden Village,

On Tuesday, 27th day of April, 1869, commencing at the hour of Ten o'clock, a m., for general business and as a Court of Revision.

All parties interested are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

WM. McKELVY,
Clerk.

Clerk's Office,
Minden, March 24, 1869. 13-4in

TO FARMERS!

I have just received a supply of SORBY & SON'S AUSTRALIA PATTERN of

Sheep Shears

Warranted the Best in the Market.

A Large Assortment of AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS and General HARDWARE always on hand.

R. HAMILTON,
Sign of the Circular Saw.

Peterboro, March 24, 1869. 13

THESPIANS!

MUSIC HALL,

Tuesday Evening, 30th March,

BENEFIT OF

A. H. RACKETT

And Orchestra.

Two act Comedy of

SEVEN CLERKS;

OR

The Three Thieves and the Denouncer.

And the Farce of

Lend Me Five Shillings!

Reserved seats 50 cents; Pit 25 cents.

Tickets to be had at the Bookstores.

PETERBOROUGH Sewing Machine Com'y.

ROOMS OVER T. DONNELLY'S STORE.

All kinds of Large and Small

SEWING MACHINES,

FROM THE BEST MAKERS.

Shuttles, Genuine Needles, Oil, Springs, &c., always on hand.

Instruction Free.

☞ Every Machine Warranted.

Peterboro, March 24, 1869. 13

SPECIAL NOTICES.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

GREATLY facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay All Pain and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and Can Say in Confidence and Truth of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—Never Has it Failed in a Single Instance to Effect a Cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak of terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. In a word in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW" after years of experience, and Placed our Reputation for the Fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the Infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by druggists throughout the world.

Price, only 25 Cents per Bottle.

Offices:—215 Fulton Street, New York, 205 High Holborn, London, England, 441 St. Paul Street, Montreal, Canada.

October, 30th 1867. 44-1yr

Allen's Lung Balsam!

FOR THE CURE OF

CONSUMPTION,

And all diseases that lead to it,

Such as Coughs, Neglected Colds, Pain in the Chest, and all Diseases of the Lungs.

As an Expectorant it has no Equal.

It has now been before the public for a number of years and has gained for itself a

World Wide Reputation!

Physicians recommend it in their practice, and its formula from which is prepared is highly commended by Medical Journals. Call at the Druggists and get a Pamphlet.

Every Druggist sells the Balsam.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Montreal,

27 Sole Agents for Canada

TO THE WORKING CLASS. I am now prepared to furnish constant employment to all classes at their homes, for their spare moments. Business new, light and profitable. Fifty cents to $5 per evening is easily earned, and the boys and girls earn nearly as much as men. Great inducements are offered. All who see this notice please send me their address and test the business for themselves.—If not well satisfied I will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing to me. Full particulars sent free. Home to travel by mail for the entire 5-4in E. C. ALLEN, Augusta, Me

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE!

New Spring Goods

2 Cases Men's Hats and Caps,

2 Cases Small Wares, &c.,

1 Case Hosiery.

JOHN ERSKINE.

Peterboro, March 24, 1869. 13-2in

KINCAID & Co.,

No. 1, Market Block, George Street, Peterboro.

IMPORTERS OF BRITISH AND FOREIGN

DRUGS AND CHEMICALS.

Extracts, Perfumery, Dye Stuffs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES,

Fancy Soaps, Patent Food, Brushes, Combs,

LAMPS, WICKS, &c.

K. & Co., have just received a very large stock of the varied assortment of

Druggists' Sundries,

AND WOULD RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT A CALL.

A Large Stock of COAL OIL on hand for sale CHEAP.

Peterboro, March 24, 1869. 13-1yr

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER.

A Family Medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier, alterative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phathisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, Diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and in fact superseding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an efficient and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, br ises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious cholic, cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.

Price only twenty-five cents per bottle.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.
General Agents for Canada.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh, in Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

MOTHERS READ THIS.

HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY for worms in children and adults. As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and the cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, associated entreralties, offensive breath, frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; pain in the head and stomach, acquiet sleep, fainting, trembling coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh. Holloway's Worm Lozenges are palatable and safe administered to the child. drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C. W., who are the sole proprietors.

N. B.—Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges, and take no other. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. 29

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy and Condition Medicine

IS positively superior to any or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph or that secretion which in Heaves clogs them causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, rendering the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

D. W. HUED, Successor to Hess & Co.,
Maiden Lane, New York,
SOLE PROPRIETOR FOR THE UNITED STATES.
NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, C. W.,
Proprietors for the Canada
PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter and Ormond & Walsh, in Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

Over a Million Dollars Saved!

Gentleman:—"I had a negro man who took cold from a bad heart failing, and was useless for over a year. I tried everything I could hear of without benefit, until I used the Western Medicine Lindsay. It soon effected a permanent cure."

J. L. DOWNING.

Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1859.

Lyon's Extract or Pure Jamaica Ginger—for Indigestion, Nausea, Heart-burn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c., where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity makes it the best and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere, at 50 cts. per bott'e. Ask for "Lyon's Pure Extract. Take no other

Sharpless spring Water, sold by all Druggists

The Great English Remedy.

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS,

Prepared from a Prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

This well-known Medicine is no imposition but a sure and safe remedy, for Female Difficulties and Obstruction from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, it contains nothing hurtful to the constitution. The married ladies it is peculiarly adapted. It will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of nervous and spinal affections, pain in the back and limbs, heaviness, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart lowness of spirits, hysterics, sick headache, whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed.

☞ These Pills have never been known to fail, where the directions on the second page of the Pamphlet are well observed.

For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

N. B. $1 and six postage Stamps enclosed to any authorised Agent will ensure a bottle, containing Pills, by return mail.

NORTHROP & LYMAN,
Newcastle, Ont.
General Agents for Canada.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Sir James Clarke's Female Pills are extensively Counterfeited. The genuine have the name of "JOB MOSES" on each package. All others are worthless.

Sold in Peterborough by J. W. Gilmour, A. W. Kempt, Wm. Coulter, and Ormond & Walsh, in Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co., C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

Court of Revision Notice.

THE first meeting of the Court of Revision for the Township of DUMMER, on the Assessment Roll of 1869, will be held at the Town Hall, commencing at 10 o'clock, A. M.

On Saturday, the 1st of May, 1869.

All parties interested please take notice.

W. DARLING,
Township Clerk.

Dummer, March 15, 1869. 11

TEACHER WANTED!

WANTED A TEACHER, holding a Second or Third Class Certificate for School Section No. 4, in the Township of Snowdon.

Address to
WM. GIDLEY, } Trustees.
or JAS. PEACOCK, }
Kinmount P. O.

Snowdon, March 6, 1869. 11

FOR SALE!

At ALLANDALE MILLS,

Twenty Tons of Mill Feed,

Deliverable at the Mills or in Peterboro.

THOS. SHORT, Agent.

Allandale Mills, Feb. 24, 1869. 9-4f

NOTE LOST.

ANY person having found a Promissory Note, made by Robert Phillips, of Douro, in favor of John Graham, of Hastings, for the sum of $27, with interest, will confer a favor by sending it to

HUGH DRAIN,
South Dummer P. O.
or JOHN GRAHAM,
Hastings P. O.

March 3, 1869. 9-3in*

NOTICE!

WE hereby respectfully request all parties indebted to us, to call and settle their accounts without delay, as money is much wanted and must be had.

L. ROBINSON & Co.

Peterboro, Feb. 24, 1869. 9-4in

FOR SALE.

AN EXCELLENT FARM, within two miles of Peterboro, being Lot No. 24, in the 13th concession of Otonabee. This Lot can be sold in portions to suit purchasers.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro, March 18, 1869. 12-4f

Money to Loan,

ON LAND SECURITY, on easy terms, to suit borrowers. Mortgages bought. No commission charged.

Apply to W. H. MOORE,
Solicitor.

Peterboro', April 8, 1868. 15

AN EXCELLENT FARM FOR SALE OR TO LEASE—The North half of No. 4, in the 6th Concession of Eldmore.

Apply to JAS. HALL.

Peterboro', Feb'y 18, 1869.

Large Arrivals OF Spring Goods for 1869,

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Just Received a Large Assortment of

NEW SPRING DRESS GOODS,
NEW BLACK AND COLORED LUSTRES,
NEW PRINTS AND BRILLIANTS,
NEW FACTORY COTTONS AND SHIRTING,
NEW BLEACHED COTTONS,
NEW TWILLED BLEACHED SHIRTINGS,
NEW TICKINGS,
NEW SHIRTINGS,

Purchased early to avoid the recent advance in Cotton Goods.

ALSO, A VARIETY OF

LADIES' FANCY EMBROIDERED AND CLUNY COLLARS,
" CHEMISETTES,
" PAPER COLLARS AND CUFFS, &c. &c.

☞ WATER-PROOF AND FANCY CLOAKINGS.
DAMASKS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Peterboro, March, 1869.

JUST RECEIVING

A Large Assortment of

NEW SPRING CLOTHS,

CONSISTING OF

TWEEDS, SILK MIXTURES,
DOESKINS, FANCY TROWSERINGS,
MELTONS, VENITIANS, BROADCLOTHS, &c.

Our CLOTHING DEPARTMENT is still under the charge of Mr. BAKEWELL, who is prepared to execute, in best style, any orders entrusted to him.

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Peterboro, March, 1869. 13

NEW SPRING HATS!

We are now receiving the New Spring Styles in Gents' English and American

HARD and SOFT FELT and FUR FELT HATS.

The JOCKEY CLUB, in Black and Drab;
The TYROLESE; The NOT FOR JOSEPH;
The BURLINGTON; The ALPINE, &c.

Also, a nice assortment of GENTS' BLACK SILK HATS, fashionable styles.

GREEN & ROCHE.

Peterborough, March 12, 1869. 11-3in

Great Bargains IN FURNITURE,

At GEO. TANNER'S, Hunter Street,

SIGN OF THE MAMMOTH CHAIR

And a call will be enough to convince any one who wishes to select from the Largest and Best Stock, that at the Sign of the Mammoth Chair is the place.

There they can buy Bed room Setts from $16 to $100; Parlor Setts from $35 to $200; Parlor Chairs, in hair cloth, very good at $2.75 each.

ALSO, A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF

CANE AND WOOD SEAT CHAIRS

BEDS IN GREAT VARIETY.

Intending purchasers will please Call and Examine the Stock.

N. B.—Pictures framed with neatness and dispatch.

GEO. TANNER.

Peterborough, October 6, 1868. 41

BOOKS AND STATIONERY!

A. B. KIDD,

Having bought the Book and Stationery business of Messrs. STRATTON & ARMSTRONG, respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. His stock will be found to consist of

BOOKS,

Historical, Scientific, Religious and Educational, including the

NEW SCHOOL BOOKS;

Fancy Goods, suitable for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS,

In variety, such as Writing Desks, Ladies' Work Boxes, Glove and Handkerchief Boxes, Ladies' Companions, Book Slides, Inkstands, Blotters, Books with Fancy Binding, &c.;

PAPER AND ENVELOPES

Of all kinds, Blank Forms for Mortgages, Deeds, Leases, &c.;

Account and Blank Books;

ROOM PAPER

Of Latest Patterns and at all prices; also WINDOW BLINDS Plain and Fancy;

ALBUMS

In great variety, Diaries for 1869, Violins, Concertinas, Flutes, &c.

The principal

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

And American and English Magazines supplied at the Book Store or mailed to parties at a distance.

Everything commonly found in Book Stores, kept on hand. Orders for books not in stock promptly filled.

Peterboro, December 16, 1868. 51

PETERBORO WOOLEN MILL.

THE subscriber begs to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has of late had his Machinery put in the best possible working order for Manufacturing, and REMOVED IT INTO THE NEW MILL ON DICKSON'S RACE. He will therefore be enabled to meet the wishes of those who may favor him with their patronage, with promptness and dispatch, combined with first class workmanship.

In addition to Carding, as usual, for customers, he has made arrangements to Card, Spin and Reel for 14c. per pound.

An assorted stock of Tweeds, Full Cloth, Flannels, Blankets, and Stocking Yarn kept on hand to exchange for wool.

Wool taken in as usual to manufacture, at the old price.

Please call and examine for yourselves before trading elsewhere.

D. BROOK.

Peterborough, April 28, 1868. 16tf

Auction Sale OF LANDS!

Belonging to the Estate of the late SAMUEL STRICKLAND, Esq., with other lands.

I will be offered for sale on

Wednesday, March 31, 1869,

AT NOON o'clock, a. m.,

AT CAISNOVE HOTEL, PETERBORO,

By Mr. CHARLES STAPLETON, Auctioneer, the following lots:

TOWNSHIP OF BURLEIGH.

W.½	Lot	6	in the 8th con.	100	Acres
W.½	"	7	" 8th "	100	"
E.½	"	6	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	7	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	8	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	9	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	10	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	11	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	12	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	13	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	14	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	15	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	16	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	17	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	18	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	19	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	20	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	21	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	22	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	23	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	24	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	25	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	26	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	27	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	28	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	29	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	30	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	31	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	32	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	33	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	34	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	35	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	36	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	37	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	38	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	39	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	40	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	41	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	42	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	43	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	44	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	45	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	46	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	47	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	48	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	49	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	50	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	51	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	52	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	53	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	54	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	55	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	56	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	57	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	58	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	59	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	60	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	61	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	62	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	63	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	64	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	65	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	66	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	67	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	68	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	69	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	70	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	71	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	72	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	73	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	74	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	75	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	76	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	77	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	78	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	79	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	80	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	81	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	82	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	83	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	84	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	85	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	86	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	87	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	88	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	89	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	90	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	91	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	92	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	93	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	94	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	95	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	96	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	97	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	98	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	99	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	100	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	101	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	102	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	103	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	104	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	105	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	106	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	107	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	108	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	109	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	110	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	111	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	112	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	113	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	114	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	115	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	116	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	117	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	118	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	119	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	120	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	121	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	122	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	123	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	124	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	125	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	126	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	127	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	128	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	129	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	130	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	131	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	132	" 9th "	100	"
"	"	133	" 9th "	100	"
"

Poetry.

Do You Mean to Propose.

NO ONE HAS A RIGHT TO MARRY WHO HAS NOT AT LEAST THESE THREE REASONS.

(From the London Owl.)

You come very often, 'tis all very well,
You're a very fine man, and a very big swell;
You've a very good heart, and a very long purse,
But now to the point—do you mean to propose?

The house is besieged both by rich and by poor
Who knock all day long at grandmamma's door;
They turn up their eyes, and they turn out their toes,
But what is all that if they do not propose?

You say that you love me, but love all alone
To unmarried girls is a thing quite unknown;
You sigh and look down, and protest me a rose,
But that is all stuff!—do you mean to propose?

I am not so hard hearted as I may appear;
Why stoop and look sheepish?—there's nothing to fear.
You men are such geese! only Beelzebub knows
The trouble you give us before you propose!

'Tis almost two seasons since I have been out;
You simper and smile and you whirl me about;
But this is not business, the horrid time goes,
Another will have me if you do not propose!

You take all the airs of a man I've preferred;
You keep off the rest, and you don't say a word.
This is not fair play—sure a fellow who shows
Such uncommon devotion should speak and propose.

I want to be married—do you understand?
You'd give me a world!—only give me your hand!
One can't go on always with eyes and with prose;
Never come here again—or be frank and propose;

Tarieties.

THE THREE CRIMES.

AN EASTERN TALE.

Hamet Abdallah was an inhabitant of a grotto on one of the slopes of Mount Olympus. When he stood at the entrance of his humble dwelling, he could embrace with one glance all the territory originally possessed by Othman, the founder of the Ottoman empire; and as he flew times a day offered up his prayers to Allah, he invoked blessings on the head of Solyman, the Magnificent, the reigning Sultan in whose time he lived. Indeed, Abdallah was renowned for his sanctity; and the inhabitants of the vicinity of his dwelling treated him with the most marked respect.

He was not, however, entitled to this excessive veneration by his age; for he had scarcely attained his fortieth year when the incidents of this tale took place. His venerable father, who was himself a device of great sanctity, and whose years amounted to fourscore, resided with him in the same grotto; and unfortunate was deemed the individual who, on his way along the slopes of Olympus, was allowed to join the prayers of the two devices, kneeling upon the ground at the entrance of the cave, and turning their countenances toward the holy cities of Mecca and Medina.

Hamet Abdallah was one morning roaming amidst the groves and woods, which extended up the mountain far above the grotto, and pondering upon the passage in the Koran which he had been pursuing but a short time previously, when his foot suddenly struck against something hard upon the ground. He looked downward, and saw an iron ring fastened to a small brass plate, which was let into a square of stone-work, and seemed to cover a hollow place or well. Obeying a sudden impulse of curiosity, Hamet applied his head to the ring, and pulled it with all his force. After many vain exertions, the brass plate yielded to his strength, and he fell backwards with a sudden shock.

Before he had time to rise and examine the aperture thus laid bare, a dense volume of smoke issued from the hole, and ascended in the air, to the height of several thousand feet. Hamet gazed with astonishment upon this strange apparition; but how much more was his wonder excited when he saw the smoke gradually become more and more palpable and shorply, and at length assumed the form of an immense giant, with a long flowing white beard, and a tremendous pine tree in his right hand.

Hamet fell upon his knees, and was about to put up a prayer to heaven, when the terrible apparition addressed him in a voice of thunder.

'Nay—mention not the name of the Deity, or I will cut thee in ten thousand pieces.'

'Who art thou?' demanded Hamet, rising from his supplicant posture.

'I am Kara, an evil Genie, whom a victorious power shut up in that cursed hole, where I have languished for two thousand years. It is an evil day for thee that brought thee hither.'

'And wherefore, proud Genie? demanded Hamet.

'Because I am about to kill thee, in order to avenge myself upon some one for this long captivity,' replied the giant.

At these words Hamet trembled very much, and besought the Genie to spare his life. For a long time the Genie was inexorable, and ordered him to prepare for immediate death; but at length he suffered himself to be moved by the prayers and entreaties of the virtuous dervise.

'Hark ye,' said the Genie; 'I am willing to spare your life upon one condition.'

'Name it,' cried Hamet, his heart leaping with joy.

'I will grant your request, I say,' proceeded the Genie, 'on condition that you perpetrate some crime which may diminish your overweening pride of conscious virtue. Do not interrupt me, or I will kill you upon the spot; but listen, I give you the choice of the three most heinous crimes which I can imagine. You shall either violate the law of the Prophet, or drink your fill of good wine; or you shall murder your venerable old father; or you shall curse the name of the Deity whom you worship. Choose between these three crimes.'

Then Hamet was very sorrowful, and he endeavored to melt the heart of the evil Genie; but all his prayers and entreaties were unavailing. He accordingly began to reason with himself.

'If,' said he, 'I assassinate my father, no contrition can wipe away my crime, and moreover the law will overtake me with its vengeance. If I curse the name of the great Allah, I may sigh in vain for future happiness in the gardens of Paradise. But if I become inebriate with the juice of the grape, I can expiate that fault by severe mortification, penitence and renewed prayer.'

Then, turning his countenance upwards towards the Genie, he said, 'O fountain of all evil! I have made my choice, cause thou art determined upon the injury.'

'Name the object of that choice,' said the Genie.

'I will get drunk with wine, as the least of the crimes which you propose,' answered the dervise.

'Be it so,' cried the Genie; 'this even ing, after the hour of prayer, thou wilt find a jar of Cyprus-wine upon thy table, when thy father has retired to rest in his own cell. Thou canyest fulfil thy promise ville, but woe unto thee if thou deceivest me!'

The Genie gradually thereafter lost palpable as he spoke these words; and, by the time the concluded sentence passed from his lips, he had vanished altogether. Hamet returned his steps towards the grotto, with a sorrowful heart; but he would not outside his anticipated diagreon to the affectionate parent who welcomed his return.

The day passed rapidly away; and in the evening, Hamet and his sire knelt down at the door of the grotto, with their faces towards the south, to raise their voice in prayer. When their vespers were concluded, the old man embraced his son tenderly, and retired to the inner part of the grotto.

As soon as Hamet knew that his father slept, he lighted a lamp; and, as the Genie had told him, he saw a large decanter of wine standing upon the table. The unhappy, devotee raised it to his lips, and drank freely of the intoxicating draught. A glow of fire seemed to electrify his frame, and he laughed as he set the vessel down upon the table. Again he drank; and he felt reckless and careless of the consequences. He drank a third time; and when he had emptied the measure, he ran out to the door of the grotto, and threw it down the slope of the mountain; then as he heard it bounding along, he laughed with indescribable mirth. As he turned to enter the grotto, he saw his father standing behind him.

'Son,' said the old man, 'the noise of revelry awoke me from my slumbers, and I rise to find my well beloved Hamet drunken with wine! Alas! is this merely one of many nights' orgies; and have I now awakened to the dread truth of thine impiety, for the first time? Alas! thou hast cast ashes upon the head of thy father!

Hamet could not brook this accusation, and the implied suspicion that he was accustomed to indulged in wine while his father slept. He felt suddenly indignant at the language of his sire, and cried, 'Return to your couch, old dotard! Thou knowest not what thou sayest!'

And, as he uttered these words, he pushed his father violently into the grotto. The old man resisted, and again remonstrated with Hamet. The brain of the son was confused with liquor; and a sudden dread of exposure to the world entered his mind. With the rage of a demon he rushed upon his hoary-headed sire, and dashed him furiously against the stone walls of the grotto. The old man fell with his temple against a sharp flint—one groan emanated from his bosom—and his spirit fled forever.

Suddenly conscious of the horrid crime of which he had been guilty, Hamet tore his hair, beat his breast, raved like a maniac. And in the midst of his ravings he lifted up his voice against the majesty of heaven, and cursed the Deity whom he had so long and fervently worshipped.

At that instant a terrible din echoed round about—the thunder rolled—the tall trees shook with an earthquake—and amidst the roar of the conflicting elements were heard shouts of infernal laughter.—All hell seemed to rejoice at the fall of a good man, whom no other vice had ever tempted away from the paths of virtue, until drunkenness presented itself. The rage of the storm increased—the trees were torn up by their roots, and fragments of the rocky parts of Olympus rolled down the hill with the speed of an Alpine avalanche. Then suddenly the Genie appeared before the wretched Hamet, and exclaimed, 'Fool! by choosing to commit the crime which seemed to thee the least, thou hast committed the other two likewise! For there is more danger in the wine cup than in all other means of temptation presented by Satan to mankind!

And the last words of the Genie mingled with the redoubled bowling of the storm, as Hamet was borne down the slope of the mountain by the falling masses, and dashed to pieces at the bottom.

The Drunkard's Bill of Fare.

If you wish to be always thirsty, be a drunkard, for the oftener and more you drink; the oftener and more thirsty you will be.

If you seek to prevent your friends raising you in the world, be a drunkard, for that will defeat all their efforts.

If you would effectually counteract your own attempts to do well, be a drunkard; you will not be disappointed.

If you are determined to be poor be a drunkard; and you will soon be ragged and penniless.

If you would wish to starve your family be a drunkard; for that will consume the means of their support.

If you would wish to be robbed be a drunkard; which will enable the thief to do it with more safety.

If you would wish to blunt your sense, be a drunkard; and you will be more stupid than an ass.

If you would become a fool, be a drunkard; and you will soon lose wide standing.

If you wish to unfit yourself for rational intercourse, be a drunkard; that will accomplish your purpose.

If you are resolved to kill yourself be a drunkard; that being a sure mode of destruction.

If you would get rid of your money without knowing how, be a drunkard; and it will vanish insensibly.

If you would have no resource when past labor but a workhouse, be a drunkard; and you will be unable to provide any.

If you would be reduced to the necessity of abusing your creditors, be a drunkard; and you will have reason to prefer the by-paths to the public streets.

If you would be a dead weight on the community, and "cumber the ground," be a drunkard; for that will render you useless, helpless, burdensome and expensive.

If you would be a nuisance, be a drunkard; for the approach of a drunkard is like that of a dunghill.

If you wish all your prospects in life to be clouded, be a drunkard; and they will soon be dark enough.

If you would destroy your body, be a drunkard; for drunkenness is the mother of disease.

If you mean to ruin your soul, be a drunkard; that you may be excluded from heaven.

A recent writer says: "There is many a proud-spirited, sensitive woman, who feels herself a beggar, and, unless from absolute need will go without rather than ask her husband for money for her own use." Poor dears. We should like to have married such a wife.

The Rev. Mr. Nesby intimates that President Johnson would be an acceptable candidate for the Spanish throne, because he has all his life been putting the Bourbon down.

A one eyed schoolmaster is seldom a thriving man, because its so easy to get on the blind side of him, and he's always one pupil short.

A paper is about to be published under the name of a "Calmet," which shows this every week.

READY-MADE CLOTHING

OFFERING

VERY CHEAP

AT THE

MONTREAL HOUSE.

Heavy Winter Overcoats,

Winter Sack Coats,

Winter Shooting Coats,

Winter Pants and Winter Vests.

Offering at very low prices to clear out stock.

☞ BOYS' CLOTHING Selling at Cost Price.

MONTREAL HOUSE,

Peterboro, January, 1869. 5

Ontario Carriage and Waggon Factory!

LOCKHART & MILLAR,

Beg to inform the inhabitants of Peterboro and surrounding district that they have opened an EXTENSIVE SHOP on Corner of George and Murray Streets, opposite Dr. Kincaid's residence, where they are prepared to manufacture

Carriages, Wagons, Cutters, Sleighs, Harrows, &c.

OF THE

BEST MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP!

and where customers may rely on getting

GOOD VALUE FOR THEIR MONEY.

☞ HORSE-SHOEING and JOBBING of every description done on short notice.

Peterboro, October 7th, 1868. 41-1y

PHOTOGRAPHY!

FOR GOOD PICTURES

GO TO THE

ONTARIO GALLERY!

Having fitted up his rooms to the best possible advantage, and procured the latest improvements in everything belonging to the art, MR. BARRIE is prepared to take

BETTER PICTURES THAN EVER,

From life size down to the smallest that are required for lockets or rings.

If you want a

GOOD PORCELAIN PICTURE,

Give him a trial; they are the most beautiful ever yet offered to the public.

A Good Assortment of Frames, Albums and Cases

Kept constantly on hand.

Remember the place, over Mr. T. Chambers & Son's new building, corner of Hunter and Water streets. Entrance on Hunter street.

Peterboro, Sept. 23, 1868. 39

THE ÆTNA

LIFE INSURANCE Co'y.

OF HARTFORD, CONN.

CANADIAN REFERENCES:

Hon. George Brown, Proprietor Toronto Globe, Toronto.
Hon. J. Simpson, President Ontario Bank, Bowmanville
Hon. Louis Renaud, M.L.C., Montreal.
Thomas N. Gibbs, Esq., M. P., Oshawa.
A. R. McMaster, Esq, Wholesale Merchant, Toronto.
Thomas Clarkson, Esq., Official Assignee, Toronto.
Messrs. Ferrier & Co., Wholesale Merchants, Montreal.
Alex. Milloy, Esq., Superintendent Inland Steam Navigation Company, Montreal.
G. Cheney, Esq., Superintendent Canada Express Company, Montreal.
H. E. Irish, Esq. (Manager British and American Express Company, Toronto.
John Lowell, Esq., Publisher, Montreal.
Kershaw & Edwards, Sole Manufacturers, Montreal.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Agent at Peterborough.

Peterboro, Feb. 26, 1868.

Galway Mining Company.

NOTICE is hereby given that a Dividend at the rate of Thirty per cent per annum, for the half year ending 15th January, 1869, has been declared on the capital paid in at that date, and that the same is payable at the Office of the Company, at Peterborough, on and after Monday, the fifteenth day of February, 1869.

By order of the Directors

JOHN BURNHAM,
Secretary & Treasurer.

Peterborough, February 1, 1869. 6-3in

To Rent or for Sale!

THAT Comfortable Dwelling House, with three acres of land attached, lately occupied by E. M. Boucher, Esq.

Also, for sale on favourable terms, that parcel of Land immediately adjoining to the north, the premises of Mr. Gilmour, in parcels of Eight Acres each or otherwise, to suit purchasers.

Apply to U. A. WELLER.

Peterboro, August 20, 1868. 32-tf

FOR SALE.

LOTS 4 and 5 in the 5th concession of the Township of Smith. Improved farm Price $10 per acre.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor,
Peterboro.

Peterboro, February 27th, 1868.

MAGISTRATES' BLANKS can be obtained at this office.

A HANDSOME

Christmas Gift.

AS Handsome and useful a Christmas present as you can make to your wife, your——, or a friend, is one of those nice Sewing Machines which you can get at the Peterborough Sewing Machine Company's Rooms, over T. Donnelly's Store.

Raimond's $12 Machine. Grout & Co's., $18 Champion Lock Stitch. $18 New Lock Stitch. Singer Pattern $25. Ditto with stand $30. Wanzer $40. Wheeler & Wilson $45 and $55. Singer $45, $50, $55, $60, $65. Williams & Co. $25. Howe $55.

Needles, Oil, Shuttles, &c., for all first class machines.

Every Machine warranted or no sale (except the Champion.)

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1868.

S. Crowell, Pres't. E. W. Crowell, Vice-Pres't.
F. Shaw, Sec'y.

Phœnix Insurance Company,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

OFFICES:

No. 1 Court Street, Brooklyn, N.Y. No. 139 Broadway, New York.

CASH CAPITAL, - $1,000,000,

With a large and constantly increasing surplus.

Insurances against Loss by Marine, Lake, Canal and Inland Transportation.

R. S. HOWELL, Agent.

Port Hope, April 22, 1868. 17

FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale that Valuable Farm, the South half of Lot No. 24 in the 12th concession of Smith.

There are 96 acres of good tillable land, nine acres of which are in woods. There is a good Log House on the property; also, Stables and Barn, and an Orchard beginning to bear.—There is also a good Well near the dwelling. It is situated 4½ miles from the Village of Lakefield. There is a Blacksmith Shop, a Store and a Post Office on the Lot.

For further particulars apply to

THOS. HOULIHAN,

Selwyn P. O., On the premises.
Smith, January 27, 1869. 4

FOR SALE.

THE south-west quarter of Lot number eight, in the eleventh concession of North Monaghan, will be sold cheap.

Apply to D. W. DUMBLE,
Solicitor, &c.,
Peterboro'.

Peterboro', February 24, 1869. 9

JOSEPH HALL

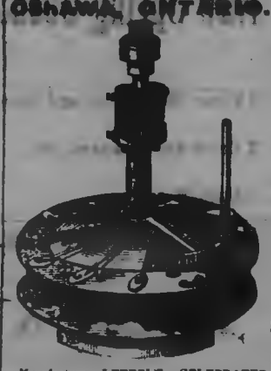
MACHINE WORKS!

ESTABLISHED 1861.

JOS. HALL MANUFACTURING CO.

PROPRIETORS,

OSHAWA, ONTARIO.



Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Dec. 29th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Pottery, Farmers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both way, and refund all payments made to us therefor. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞ We also manufacturing all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Muley Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c. Also Shingle Machines and Jointers, Leather Splitting Machines, Knife-Grinders, Woolen Machinery, Washington Hand Printing Presses, Gordon's Power Press, Taylor's Cylinder Press, and Blake's Patent Steam Pump.

Catalogues containing full information furnished free to all applicants. Address—

F. W. GLEN, President.
Oshawa, Ont.

Oshawa, Dec. 30, 1868. 53-13in

Farm for Sale.

ADJOINING the Village of LAKEFIELD, Township of Douro, Concession 7, Lot 16, containing 200 acres. On the farm there are a good frame house, containing hall, dining room, parlor, six bed rooms, kitchen, pantry and a good cellar; a never-failing well of spring water; two good running streams; and two good frame barns, 50 x 30; underneath one barn there is a good stone built stable. There are upwards of 80 acres cleared, well fenced. The property is very desirably situated, being in the immediate vicinity of the Railway terminus, in the rising and beautiful Village of Lakefield, where there are two grist mills, a large saw mill, woolen factory, machine shop, and a number of stores and mechanics; a good school, and four Protestant Churches. The Village of Lakefield stands at the head of the broken waters, on the Otonabee river, and is the main outlet for the new country now settling along the Burleigh road. The above property, if required, will be laid out in small lots to suit purchasers.

For further particulars apply to the proprietor, on the premises.

WM. C. NICHOLLS,
North Douro P. O.

December 9, 1868. 50

Lands for Sale.

South half of Lot 18, in 4th Concession of Douro; 100 acres, 40 acres cleared; title good.

East half of Lot 10, and North East quarter of Lot 9, in the 10th Concession of Dummer, containing together 150 acres. Good frame house on the farm. Title good.

Also other lands in the County of Peterboro.

☞ Terms reasonable.

Apply to

FAIRBAIRN & CASSELS,
Barristers.

Peterborough, December 9, 1868. 50

Houses and Lots for Sale!

THAT Commodious Stone Dwelling House and Lot on Brock street, not far from the Commercial House, Peterboro.

Also, the Lot on Mark street, Ashburnham, at present occupied by the owner, will be sold on moderate terms. For particulars apply to

MARIA FOSTER,
Ashburnham.

January, 19th, 1869. 3

MILLER'S

Infallible Tick Destroyer

FOR SHEEP,

DESTROYS THE TICKS. Cleanses the skin, strengthens and promotes the growth of the wool, and improves the condition of the animal.

It is put up in boxes at 35c. 75c. and $1.00. A 35c. box will clean 20 sheep.

HUGH MILLER & Co.,
Proprietors.

167 King street East, Medical Hall, Toronto.

Toronto, October 16, 1867. 42

To TOWNSHIP CLERKS

Collectors' Books of Receipts.

Blank Declarations of Office and Qualification.

Blank Forms of Notice of Meetings of Council, and

Notices of Meeting for Nominating Reeves and Councillors,

Can be obtained at this office, very cheap.

BARLEY, OATS,

PEASE and RYE.

ALTHOUGH the undersigned has retired from politics for the present, he has not retired from business as yet. He still continues to pay the

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

For the above mentioned Grain at his Grain Store.

D. SUTHERLAND.

Ashburnham, 22nd August, 1867. 34

J. H. AMES,

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

George Street, Peterboro, next door to Lamotte's Tin Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he is manufacturing a first class article of

Men's and Women's Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c. &c.,

For the Fall and Winter Trade, which he will sell as cheap as any house in town.

A Large Stock of IMPORTED BOOTS, &c., always on hand, and will be sold at the Lowest Prices.

CUSTOM WORK, Sewed or Pegged, promptly attended to.

All Work Warranted.

A share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

J. H. AMES.

Peterboro, September 2, 1868. 37

REMOVAL

To the VICTORIA HALL, over W. Coulter's Drug Store.

R. THOMPSON & SUN

MUST SHINE.

THE public will find by calling at R. T's New Rooms that old things have passed away. There has been no pains spared to make it one of the first class Galleries of the Dominion. There is nothing to surpass their Sky-Light, and the Instruments they use are made in England and have taken the gold medal from the world.

The proprietors of these Rooms are determined to produce effects second to nothing on the Continent.

We take Portraits in every style of this beautiful art, from Miniature to life size.

Frames of all kinds kept on hand.

R. THOMPSON & SUN.

Peterborough, July 16, 1868. 29

Photographic and Fine Art Gallery!

EWING'S OLD STAND.

Having procured the Latest Improvements in English and American Style, MR. SPROULE fears not to make pictures equal to those made in either of those countries, so that persons wishing to send photographs to friends at a distance would do well to give him a call. No expense has been spared to make it one of the

FINEST GALLERIES IN THE DOMINION.

Pictures of all sizes from 3 ft x 2 ft down to those suitable for Lockets and Rings.

Pictures of deceased friends copied and enlarged, and colored if desirable.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG CHILDREN.

Picture Frames of all sizes, shapes and patterns on hand, and made to order at the cheapest rates.

A full stock of Photographic Chemicals, Nitrate Silver, Collodian, Alb Paper, Glass, &c., always on hand.

Scenery—Winter, the Latest Novelty, suitable for Sportsmen, Ladies and Children. Sea Shore, for parties pleasure taking, promenade or silent study. Forest, for Pic-nic Parties, Hunting, Fishing and Shooting.

Copies of the Latest Steel Engraving on hand.

Peterboro, November 18, 1868. 47

DOMINION HOUSE,

PETERBOROUGH.

GREEN & ROCHE,

Have commenced this day to sell off the remainder of their Stock of

WINTER DRY GOODS,

At greatly reduced prices, consisting in part of

PLAIN AND FANCY DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS, WOOL TWEEDS,
CLOAKS, WHITE AND GREY ETOFFES,
WINCEYS, HEAVY PILOTS,
FLANNELS, BEAVERS,
BLANKETS, GLOVES,
BALMORAL SKIRTS, HOSIERY, &c.

Also, a Complete Assortment of

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS,

VERY CHEAP.

THE MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS,

Under the management of First Class Milliners, is also worthy of attention. Some special inducements offering in

JACKETS AND MANTLES.

An Experienced Cutter to attend to the Clothing Department.

☞ A call is respectfully invited.

GREEN & ROCHE,
Dixon's Block, George street.

Peterboro, January, 1869. 53

THE PUBLIC ARE RESPECTFULLY NOTIFIED

That the business heretofore carried on by ORMOND & GILMOUR, will in future be conducted as usual by

J. W. GILMOUR

In the Old Stand, corner of George and Hunter streets, where a Large Stock of

PURE DRUGS, PERFUMERY,

Paints, Oils,

DYE-STUFFS, LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, SEEDS, &C.,

Will be kept on hand, and constantly renewed, under his immediate supervision.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS

Will be carefully prepared by an experienced Apothecary, who will devote himself to the careful preparation and compounding of Medicines.

The Subscriber being already well known to the community, hopes by careful attention to the wants of his customers, and the requirements of the business, to merit a continuance of public patronage.

J. W. GILMOUR.

Peterborough, January 15, 1868. 2-tf

NOTICE!

DANIEL McFARLANE, having retired from the Drug business carried on in the Ontario Drug Store, corner of George and Simcoe Streets, the public are respectfully informed that the business will in future be conducted by KINCAID & Co., who are authorized to collect all accounts due the firm during the time of MR. McFARLANE'S connection with it.

KINCAID & Co.

Would also remind the public that they intend to keep constantly on hand a first class stock of

PURE DRUGS AND MEDICINES

TOGETHER WITH

Perfumery, Brushes, Combs, Toilet Setts,

SHOULDER BRACES, TRUSSES,

Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Varnishes,

Glass, &c.

Also, a complete assortment of

LAMPS, CHIMNEYS, WICKS, COAL OIL, &C.

KINCAID & Co.

Peterborough, August 27, 1868. 35

Pure Drugs and Chemicals.

ORMOND & WALSH,

Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, in returning thanks for the very liberal patronage they have received since commencing business in their New Store, on George street, corner of Simcoe, beg to intimate that their Stock is now replete with Drugs and Chemicals of the best and most reliable kind. Also, Patent Medicines obtained direct from the Proprietors. They would particularly impress upon their Friends and the Public generally, the importance of dealing at a Drug Store where both the proprietors have been regularly brought up and trained to the business, and where customers are waited upon by either of the Principals personally, and who are not only competent and willing to compensate for all articles being correctly supplied, and properly labelled.

The undersigned being fully impressed with the responsibility of a retail Drug House, beg to assure their customers that Physicians' prescriptions and Family Recipes are at all times compounded by one of themselves, and as one or both of the partners are at all times on the premises both by Day and Night, the public have the best guarantee for satisfaction and promptness as to their prescriptions. Their Stock consists of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a respectable Drug Store, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Chemicals, Fancy and Toilet Articles, Coal Oil, Coal Lamps, &c., &c.

CHARLES ORMOND, | WILLIAM WALSH.

Peterboro', Jan. 18, 1869. 3-12in

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

OF

CONSUMPTION!

IN CANADA.

MESSRS YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs,—I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating great quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these means and as well on the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different receipts, but all without any good effect. Squire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottle, at once, with the Pills; as soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing its use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER O. V. MILLER,
Ramestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify, that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman Peter O. V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPER,
Rector of Bath, Ont.

SUGAR-COATED.

